High Death Toll in Guatemala

Santa Maria Volcano Erupts and More Than 400 Perish; Lava Still Flowing

Eyewitness from Airplane Sees Helpless Victims Tragically Marooned

GUATEMALA CITY, Nov. 6. (AP) The death toll from the eruption of the volcano Santa Maria is established officially today at more than 400.

The plume the eruption, which began last Saturday and is continuing today, as one of the most severe volcanic disasters in the Americas. The casualties have not approached those in the eruption of Mt. Pelee in Martinique in 1902, when 30,000 were estimated to have perished, but greatly exceed any reported in recent years.

Lava still is pouring from the crater pretty equally on the volcano, but it is following the course of other flows and has caused no further damage. The authorities have sent numerous relief expeditions to the stricken area, and many miles north of here. A graphic account of the scene as seen from the air was sent the Associated Press today by [illegible], superintendent of stations of the Mexican Aviation Company, who flew over the region.

LOOKS ON CRATER

"Time and again I have flown my ship low down into the crater of the old volcano Santa Maria," he said. "One division of the airline operated by the Pan-American Airways, Inc., goes from Mexico to Guatemala and the route takes the planes close to the crater with the pot of seething lava in front above. I have watched when it would boil over and the last time was in October, 1928. The day before yesterday I was on the day previous, when flying back to Mexico, I looked down into the huge bottomless pit at its base and saw the forces working in the crater. I guessed by every method I knew, darkness to the depth of the crater before I would again go to Guatemala.

VICTIMS MAROONED

"No danger was ever present in my flights over the ruins of Santa Maria, and I remember was in the plane flew through which holes have been dug for years to reach the lava to prove the coffee for which Guatemala is famous.

"Today I flew back and the havoc wrought by the latest outbreak was plain to be seen from far away. The usual green color had turned to brown, the color deepening as the closer we approached. From the still smoking crater red hot lava was flowing down toward the sea.

"Many were my very hacienda and

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Nov. 6. [To the Editor of The Times:] Virginia went back to normalcy yesterday. I can see Mr. Hoover looking for a new fishing ground next summer. Tammany Hall showed that it was as strong east of the Hudson as it is weak west of there. In fact, the Democrats won in pretty near all the cities for Mayor. Funny thing how people will vote for 'em to run a town but not to run the country.

Any ambitious hostess that wants to give a dinner party and have it well advertised can't do worse than to invite Senator Brookhart. He don't know what liquor is, but he can tell where it was last seen.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

Speech Pictures Put on Screen

New York Electrical Group Sees Shadows of Words Again Made Vocal

Key for Translating Photos of Sounds Has Not Yet Been Worked Out

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—Pictures of spoken words were shown to the New York Electrical Society tonight and discussed as a new kind of possibility for enabling the deaf to hear conversation.

These speech pictures were thrown on a canvas screen, where they literally talked, by turning themselves back into speech. The pictures were the sound track of a motion-picture film, magnified with a stereopticon until the row of jagged shadows which represents spoken sounds was as large as a line of icicles. As this row moved across the canvas the alternating lights and shadow penetrated a slit in the cloth and fell upon a mirror, thence they reflected to a photoelectric cell and were turned into words.

SHADOWS OF SOUNDS

As the speech translation was instantaneous, the audience could see the shape of shadows that made the

AIR CRASH KILLS SIX

Prince Escapes in Fiery Wreck

Giant German Craft Strikes Hill in England During Fog and Then Burns

Cousin of ex-Kaiser's Sister and One Other Man Get Out Seriously Hurt

MARDEN PARK, SURREY (Eng.) Nov. 6. (AP)—Six out of eight persons aboard a large German air liner bound from Croydon to Berlin were killed today after the pilot had lost his way in a fog. The machine crashed into a clump of trees on a hillside and burst into flames, trapping three passengers and three of the crew.

Prince Eugene Schaumberg-Lippe, a cousin of the former Kaiser's sister, escaped through the torn fuselage. He was second pilot of the liner. Commander Glem Kidston, well-known racing driver, got out the same way. Both were badly burned.

The three passengers killed were O. P. Milne of Calcutta, G. S. Gaspar, Sr., of London, and D. L. Jones of Blockwell.

Pilot Rod Schinka, Mechanic Ulrich and Wireless Operator Niklas also were killed.

TRYING TO FIND WAY

"We were trying to find our way back to Croydon, which we had left about twenty-five minutes before," Kidston said.

"We crashed into the side of a hill. On two previous occasions the pilot had to pull the stick sharply back and once we only just cleared the tree tops."

After having his injuries dressed, Commander Kidston returned to Croydon, chartered another plane and went aloft for a ten-minute flight "to keep my nerve." He is in a hospital tonight with his head and shoulders swathed in bandages. His burns are severe.

PRINCE BADLY BURNED

Prince Von Schaumberg-Lippe was so burned about the face he was scarcely recognizable. All his clothing was burned from his body. He was taken to a hospital, where he was identified. He is the son of the late Prince Max Von Schaumberg-Lippe and of the same family as the first husband of Princess Victoria of Prussia, the ex-Kaiser's sister, who later married Alexander Subkoff, the Russian dancer.

The Prince never had an air accident before, though he has risked his life scores of times, his friends said. He is a stunt flyer by inclination, and only a fortnight ago he performed hair-raising stunts over Templehof Air Field, Berlin, swinging on a trapeze hanging from a flying airplane. He was qualifying on the regular Berlin-Croydon-Amsterdam service for a full pilot's certificate. He is 30 years of age.

BYRD PLANE TAKEN FROM ICY HANGAR

Trimotored Ford Kept During Winter Months in Snow-Covered Shelter

BY RUSSELL OWEN

(Copyright, 1929, by The Los Angeles Times, New York Times, and the St. Louis Post Dispatch. All rights for publication reserved throughout the world.)

LITTLE AMERICA (Antarctica) Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—The three-motored Ford of the Byrd expedition came out of its hole in the snow yesterday, center engine roaring, men pulling on a rope fastened to the skis, its wide, thick wing lifting slowly over the snow until it stood perched on top like a prehistoric bird of this lost continent. Now it stands beside the smaller Fairchild, looming above it, and this floating hunk of ice on the edge of the wilderness begins to look like an aviation camp.

Getting out the Ford, which is named the Floyd Bennett, after the man who flew with Commander Byrd over the North Pole and who would have been his pilot on this polar flight if he had not died in an attempt to rescue the German trans-Atlantic flyers, was a two-day job. It was buried in a snow hangar until only its wings showed above the surface.

When it was first put away last fall, with the center section and wing motors in place, a deep hole was dug, a wall of snow blocks built around the edge and the top covered with canvas. There it lay safely all winter up to its neck in a snowdrift, a unique hangar. A little while ago the aviation gang went to work on it. They set up a stove made of a gasoline drum in one corner from which a tin chimney carried the fumes of burning seal blubber to the surface just behind the wing.

It was desperately cold for such work when they began on the engines some time ago, 50 deg. below zero. They could not work with gloves all the time and although they covered their hands with grease they became burned and blistered from handling metal tools. Getting off a carburetor or overhauling valves had to be done with dogged patience and pain.

ROBOT FLIES AIRPLANE

Device Better Than Pilot

Gyroscopes Control Army's Trimotored Ship in Dayton-to-Washington Hop

Machine More Accurate in Keeping Smooth Flight on Level Course

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Perfection of a robot to fly huge transport planes more smoothly than possible by a pilot was announced today by the War Department coincident with the flight here from Wright Field, Ohio, of an army trimotored Ford plane equipped with the device.

The plane arrived at Bolling Field after having been flown all but the last thirty miles of the way from Ohio by a gyroscopic pilot. Over Leesburg, Va., the propeller of a wind-driven generator furnishing power for the robot snapped, leaving it without power.

BALANCE PLANE

Two gyroscopes, one placed vertically and the other horizontally, form the "brain" of the robot. They maintain a definite position, regardless of the position of the airplane. If the plane tips to one side from a gust of wind, an electrical contact is made by one of the gyroscopes, actuating a clutch which grasps the proper control wire and rights the plane.

There are three clutches to control the three attitudes of the plane—directional, lateral and longitudinal. The clutches operate from a flexible power shaft from a wind-driven generator.

The device, a development of Elmer A. Sperry, inventor of gyroscopic devices, has been under test for nearly fifty hours in flights in all kinds of weather between New York and New Bedford, Mass., and between New York and Dayton, O.

Lieut. Albert F. Hegenberger of Wright Field is in charge of the experiments.

SET ON COURSE

"All that is necessary for the pilot to do," Hegenberger said, "is to set the plane on its course, put the automatic pilot in operation and let it go. It has functioned splendidly."

The automatic pilot, it is said, is sensitive to a movement of half of one degree of a plane about its axis, which is considerably more sensitive than the average human pilot. For this reason its action operates the plane more smoothly.

PILOTS MUST TURN

It is pointed out that the device is designed only to control planes in level flight and that during turns and in landing and taking off it must be operated by a pilot. In straight flying in large transport planes it will relieve the pilot of any strain and permit him to devote his time to navigation and watching his instruments.

The gyroscopic pilot has been under development by the Sperry company for eighteen years. With a similar device Lawrence Sperry, son of the inventor, who lost his life in the English Channel, won a "safety in flight" competition in France in 1914.

Twenty-five of the automatic pilots are to be built in the Sperry factory for installation on army planes.

Firebugs Sought for New Blazes

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—Three more fires in the redwood section of Santa Cruz county, apparently deliberately set, led to the launching of an investigation today by George I. Gillette, State forest ranger, into a series of nine blazes since last Saturday, all believed to be incendiary. All of the fires were checked before serious damage was done.

The State forester's office in Sacramento was warned by the Weather Bureau that the next few days will be a critical fire period.

NEW 'IDEAL' ANESTHETIC MAY BE BOON

Injected Avertin Will Supplant Present Method, Say Chicago Doctors

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—A new anesthetic, avertin, was described today at the meeting of the American College of Physical Therapy. Dr. M. Reese Guttman and Dr. Joseph R. Guttman, brother physicians of Chicago, told of its qualities. They indicated a belief that avertin may supplant the anesthetics now in use in America.

Avertin is not inhaled but is injected. Developed in Germany and widely used in Europe, it has not yet been adopted generally in America. It is a white, crystalline substance with the chemical name of tribomethyalcohol.

Telling of some of the effects on patients who have been subjected to it, Dr. M. Reese Guttman said:

"From the patients' viewpoint the anesthetic is without equal. First, the peaceful induction without strangling sensation, coughing and other phenomena, that are dreaded by patients in the inhalation of anesthetics; and second, the peaceful awakening without any nausea."

Talkie Composed for Mary Garden

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Mary Garden, prima donna of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, is planning to make a talkie opera. Hamilton Forrest, who composed "Camille," which he has termed a jazz opera, and in which Miss Garden will have the title role, now is working on the "grand talkie."

Forrest said that he is not at liberty to give the title, but that it had an Egyptian theme and a setting in ancient Alexandria. It will be one act and probably will be produced next spring.

Denver-Mexico Hop Scheduled by Latin Aviator

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 6. (AP)—A nonstop flight from Denver to Mexico City has been included in plans of Capt. Miguel Colorado of the Mexican Army Air Service for a series of hops late this month.

Capt. Colorado plans to fly first, without stopping, from Mexicali to Merida and then on another nonstop flight from Tapachula to Matamoros. From the latter city he intends to make a nonstop flight back to Mexicali, thence to Denver and from Denver to Mexico City.

He intends to use the Baja California No. 2, Mexican-made plane used by Capt. Roberto Fierro on his good-will flight to Cuba last year. Capt. Colorado formerly was a mail pilot on the Mexico City-Nuevo Laredo run.

Dornier Tells How Huge Ship Can Rise in Air

BERLIN, Nov. 6. (AP)—Dr. Claude Dornier, builder of the giant DO-X flying boat, today explained to the Scientific Society for Aviation how the huge ship, even with heavy ballast, can be raised from the water in a few seconds.

He said the crankshaft of the DO-X is vibrationless and that all twelve motors can be started running in from four to five minutes.

Dr. Dornier pointed out that the increase in the ballast capacity of airplanes from 3.7 tons in 1918 to 7.5 in 1928 has been tripled by the DO-X with 22 tons. He is confident this can be increased within a decade for seaplanes to 100 tons.

He said the fuel consumption of the DO-X, inclusive of lubrication, is 180 grams per horsepower hour.

Cotton Inquiry Asked in Senate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Investigation by the Secretary of Agriculture of the 1926 decline in cotton prices was asked today in a resolution by Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas.

The inquiry, asked by the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association, also would include causes of price declines in 1927 and 1928, determination of the amount of futures sold, the amount of short selling in 1926 and the placing of responsibility.

Exemption Plea Voiced to Mellon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—A delegation from the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs today asked Secretary Mellon to use his influence to obtain greater income-tax exemptions for single persons.

The delegation pointed out that under the present law single persons received only an exemption of $1500, while married men or heads of families received exemptions of $3500, with an additional $400 for each dependent person.

STANDARDS OF CINEMA DENOUNCED

Editor Says Efforts to Improve Films All Have Been 'Merely Camouflage'

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—Don C. Seitz, associate editor of Outlook, today told a motion-picture forum luncheon of the National Council of Women of the United States that he has found all of the bodies created to improve motion pictures have been appointed by heads of of the picture industry, and "the attempts to raise the morals of the films merely camouflage."

"The motion-picture industry has but one standard, and that is the filling of seats in every theater," he said. "One of the chief crimes of the films is the bait they hold out to little children to lure them into those infernos on the side streets. When such tactics are used deliberately to display pictures containing suggestive and degrading scenes to children it is high time that some one should be hanged."

DE MILLE CALLS STATEMENT "RIDICULOUS"

Cecil B. De Mille, head of the Motion-Picture Producers' Association, informed of a statement made in New York by Don C. Seitz, associate editor of Outlook, that attempts to raise the morals of the films are "merely camouflage," had ten words to say. They were:

"I do not think a statement so ridiculous requires comment."

Other producers had referred inquiries to De Mille.

Mysterious Break in Pri Hurls Wall Street Into Fresh Turmoil

Sales Total Near Six-Mill Mark Despite Short Day of Trading

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—An expected and somewhat myster break in stock prices, rivaling in tent any heretofore recorded lacking much of the hysteria of cent reactions, threw Wall st into turmoil again today as it struggling to get back on its after the wild sessions of the vious fortnight.

Prices of many leading issues the New York Stock Exchan dropped $10 to $30 a share, som of them falling below the low le established in the spectacular cline October 29, last, with a s kling of inactive specialties fro $31 to $100 a share. Similar cines took place on the New Curb Exchange. First Natio Bank stock dropped $1000 a sh being quoted at $6000 bid, and m of the other New York bank trust company shares fell $10 $130 a share.

EARLY CLOSING

In accordance with a ruling nounced before the opening Monday's market, the Stock change closed at 1 o'clock today stead of 3 p.m., but the final tation was not printed until hour and forty-five minutes a the closing gong had sounded. tal sales for the three-hour sess were 5,914,760 shares, which c trasts with 6,302,990 shares in full five-hour session Monday.

The market opened heavy blocks of 5000 to 25,000 shares dumped at initial declines of $1 $6 a share. Losses were exten gradually with trading orderly m the last few minutes, when pri of several issues broke $1 to $5 tween sales in a mad rush of s ing. At no time was there any dication of a general rally, altho a few stocks made moderate rec ery on final sales.

SELLING PROVES PUZZLE

Wall street was puzzled by t fresh outflow of selling, altho numerous explanations were for coming. The New York bank group, headed by J. P. Morgan Co., which was organized to ma an orderly market when the f bad break occurred October 24, is held no meetings today and issu no statement.

In many quarters the bulk of day's selling is believed to rep sent the liquidation of weak speculative accounts which been carried through the first two Considerable selling also is tributed to disappointed trad who bought stocks on the rally l week or at the opening Monday anticipation of a further rebou in prices.

Two unfavorable business dev opments, the sharp decrease freight car loadings and the fall off in steel demand, which so observers construed as an indicati that the recession in security pri has extended to general busine also tended to weaken confide and influence liquidation by nerv investors and speculators.

Hoover in Letter to Johnson Voices "Deep Pain" Ov "Mistake" in Invitation Affair

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—In a letter expressing "deep pain President Hoover explained today to Senator Johnson of Californ that his failure to receive an invitation to a White House dinner la night along with other members of the Senate Foreign Relations Co mittee was "due entirely to a mistake."

While the capital seethed with gossip over the incident, Mr. Hoov prepared his letter to his fellow-Californian and dispatched it ea this morning to him by Lawrence Richey, his personal secretary, i stead of through the usual medium of a White House messenger.

"Under no circumstances would press last night that you did n I have commented upon or discussed the incident," Senator Johnson said on receipt of the President's letter. "In the present situation, of course, it is wholly ended."

Things moved quickly as the morning papers displayed the failure of Senator Johnson to be invited to the dinner given to Ambassadors Dawes and Guggenheim. Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, one of the White House dinner guests, was an early caller at the executive offices. He conveyed to Senator Johnson the personal regrets of the President. The letter quickly followed.

TEXT OF LETTER

The letter of Mr. Hoover, which was made public at the White House later, read:

WEST POINT CADET ELOPES

Colonel's Daughter Taken as Bride During Game; Discharge from Academy Follows

WEST POINT (N. Y.) Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—It seems that the afternoon of the Army-Yale game was momentous in the romantic, if not the sport annals of the United States Military Academy. A cadet named Paul Capron of the yearling, or sophomore, class elected that afternoon to elope from New Haven to Brewster, N. Y., about sixty miles away, with Miss Marguerite Gillespie, daughter of Col. Alexander G. Gillespie, serving on the West Point post as instructor in ordnance and gunnery. Cadet Capron's pere is Prof. Paul Capron, civilian English instructor at Annapolis.

The young man drove back in time to stand in the formation as the cadet corps marched out of the bowl, but he returned to the academy in an ineligible state, there being a provision in the regulations which stipulates that no member of the corps shall have any horse, dog, wife or mustache, in the order named, under pain of such discipline as the commandant in his discretion may decree.

The bride returned to her home at the post and the bridegroom went to his barren quarters. That evening the bride mentioned the matter of the marriage to her parents and Cadet Capron was summoned to the office of the commandant to explain. His discharge ensued.

The young man called for his bride and took her to Boston, where he now is employed on the staff of the Transcript.

ED PLOT FOR OVERTHROW OF JAPAN MADE PUBLIC

okio Government Reveals Details While Pacific Relations Group Holds Meeting

[Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune.]

TOKIO, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—At the height of the sessions of Institute of Pacific Relations, the World Power Conference the World Engineering Conference, when hundreds of dele- es, mostly Americans, are gathered in Tokio and Kyoto, the anese government has made public the long-suppressed details a huge Communist plot participated in by 825 Japanese sub- s, including many university students and younger members first-class families, the purpose of which, it is officially stated, to overthrow the Japanese empire.

rnational as are the details involves in this empire, whose jects may be jailed on the sus- on of possessing "dangerous ights" without proof of danger- action, even greater interest been aroused in foreign circles concerning why the govern- t has kept strict police ban on details since March, 1928, the first raids began, and selected the present moment more representatives of for- powers are here than perhaps before in the history of the ntry.

PRESS PLAYS STORY

he Japan Times, an English- uage daily, but Japanese-owned, which has been known in the past to be government subsidized, gave only a reasonable amount of space to the story yesterday, but this afternoon it devotes four full columns to it and gives special prominence to the report that the plot was supported by a "certain foreign country," and that the soviet trade commissioner here is suspected of having used official privileges to be liaison officer between the native radicals and the Moscow Third Internationale.

The Rengo news agency, owned by Japanese newspapers, further reports that the Cabinet last Tuesday considered the lodging of formal protest with the soviet Ambassador, calling attention to the Russo-Japanese treaty of 1925 concerning propaganda activities.

ADDED COMPLICATIONS

Coincident with these facts, the significance of which one can only guess, there is the constantly increasing gravity of the Manchurian situation as far as Japan is concerned—not so much because of the present border battles but because of the developing wealth of the Japanese interests there—together with the slightly inflamed sentiments concerning Manchuria growing out of the current Pacific Relations Conference in Kyoto. Only two days ago Yosuke Matsuoka, former director of the South Manchurian Railway and a prominent Japanese, openly stated somewhat arrogantly in his paper at this conference that had Japan known that China and Russia secretly regarded Nippon as a common enemy at the time of the Russo-Japanese War, Japan would have annexed South Manchuria then and there and would have done with the problem for all time.

Whatever significance of the government's choice of this date for lifting the ban on details may be, having been revealed they are most sensational. Of the many hundreds who were arrested at the beginning of March, 1928, and ending some months ago, 425 are indicted and facing penalties ranging from death to ten years in prison. More than 125 of these are graduates and students of Japan's two imperial universities. Seventeen are women, two of these daughters of imperial judges and others members of influential families. It has been revealed that a great number of women who have been arrested and not yet indicted are geisha who are notoriously superior in intelligence to the average Japanese woman, and who entered the Communist plot and greatly aided through intimacies with government officials who frequent their houses. It is believed many such officials were duped by the geisha girls and unwittingly aided the cause themselves by carrying secret messages and telling of the government's doings.

MANY LEADERS ESCAPE

Several ringleaders of the plot, it is admitted, have escaped the country to Moscow but the government announces that the Communist activities have been entirely wiped out within the empire for the time being. The raids which furnished much thrilling melodrama for the police over a long period of time came to a climax unexpectedly by the arrest of Katsumi Kikuchi, the ringleader, when he innocently walked into a neighborhood then surrounded by police searching for a robber.

The government apparently considers that one of the most serious aspects of its problem is the evidence that a great number of the young intellectuals, heretofore considered the flower of Japan and for whose education parents leave sacrificed much, are implicated in the plot.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAIMED

President Hoover Calls Attention to Nation's Prosperity and Assurances of Peace

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—The American people were asked to give thanks for blessings bestowed on them during the last year in a Thanksgiving proclamation issued today by President Hoover.

In the first document of this kind he has issued, the President said assurances of peace at home and abroad had been strengthened, that the harvest had been abundant and that both capital and labor had enjoyed "an exceptional prosperity."

The proclamation set November 28 as the day of thanksgiving. Its text follows:

By the President of the United States of America.

A proclamation.

At this season of the year, when the harvest has been gathered in, the thoughts of our forefathers turned toward God with thanksgiving for the blessings of plenty and provision against the needs of winter. They came by custom to look to the chief magistrate to set apart a day of prayer and praise, whereon their thanks as a united people might be given with one voice in unison. God has greatly blessed us as a nation in the year now drawing to a close. The earth has yielded an abundant harvest in most parts of our country. The fruits of industry have been of unexampled quantity and value. Both capital and labor have enjoyed an exceptional prosperity.

Assurances of peace, at home and abroad, have been strengthened and enlarged. Progress has been made in provision against preventable disasters from flood and pestilence. Enlightenment has grown apace in new revelations of scientific truth and in diffusion of knowledge. Educational opportunities have steadily enlarged. Enduring advances have been gained in the protection of the public health. Childhood is measurably more secure. New experience and new knowledge in many fields have been recorded, from which a deeper wisdom may grow. We should accept these blessings with resolution to devote them to service of Almighty God.

Now, therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, President of the United States of America, do appoint and set aside Thursday, the 28th day of November, as a day of national thanksgiving, and do recommend that all our people on that day rest from their daily work that they should extend to others less fortunately placed, a share in their abundance, and that they gather in their accustomed places of worship, there to render up thanks to Almighty God for His many blessings upon them, for His forbearance and goodness.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the United States.

Done at the city of Washington, this fifth day of November, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, and of the independence of the United States, the one hundred and fifty-fourth.

HERBERT HOOVER.

Irene Bordoni Gets Annulment

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Irene Bordoni's marriage eleven years ago to E. R. Goetz, New York play producer, was annulled today by Judge Williams in Superior Court.

The actress sued for annulment on grounds that her husband had not been divorced a year when they were married, as the Illinois law provided.

in the foregoing stocks add up $34,497,746, of which sum $22,000,000 is a depreciation in the stock of the bank he heads, which fell from $6000 to $5000 a share. Its high price for the year was $6800. Baker's holdings of First National Bank stock amounts to 22,000 shares.

He also is the largest individual stockholder in A. T. and T. and Steel common, last records showing he owned 63,643 shares of the former, which dropped $22 a share today for a loss to him of $1,395,746, and 76,000 shares of Steel, which receded $14.50 a share, causing a shrinkage of $1,102,000 in the value of his holdings in it.

The depreciation in the value of Baker's holdings in other stocks could only be conjectured.

Idahoans Name State's Highest Peak for Borah

BOISE (Idaho) Nov. 6. (AP)—Senator Borah has accepted the honor of having Idaho's highest mountain peak named for him. In a letter, received by the State Geographic Board, the Senator said he feels highly complimented.

The new name of the peak, which is in the Pahsimerol range in Eastern Idaho, has been sent to the United States Geographical Commission for enrollment in the permanent files and for inscription on the official map.

COLORADO TOWNS REPEAL BLUE LAW

DENVER, Nov. 6. (AP)—Two cities in Colorado voted yesterday for Sunday motion-picture shows. Boulder, where the University of Colorado is located, repealed Sunday blue laws by a wide margin. At Monte Vista voters adopted an amendment to the city charter permitting Sunday films.

today I wondered at the fate of those no longer there to wave a greeting. sounds. In reading the shadows, said the demonstrator of the picture, John Bellamy Taylor of the General Electric Company, lies a possibility of relief for the deaf. He warned, however, that there is no early likelihood of this relief.

Tonight, for example, when he wished to show the shape of speech, he had to stop the picture, turning it into a silent still. Even so, only the simplest vowel sounds could be exhibited. Nevertheless Mr. Taylor said it is conceivable that methods can be devised of turning the moving shadows into a series of stills which the eye can see while speech goes on. Ordinarily the shadows move so fast that they are a blur. He said that although he knows of no one now able to read the words in these sound tracks, the key to shadow translation may yet be discovered.

CANVAS DOES TRICKS

Mr. Taylor made the talking canvas do astonishing tricks. By changing the speed of the shadows the speaker's voice became that of a seemingly different person. A sentence spoken by a man ranged all the way from a startling imitation of a pig's grunt up through intelligible speech in higher and higher key as the speed increased, until it became an unintelligible high-toned warble. But the man's voice never became feminine. Women's voices, said Mr. Taylor, undergo similar changes.

Then the screen spoke the words backward, and demonstrated that reversing the order of spelling does not reproduce the sound backward. The name Taylor when reversed sounds as if spelled oriate. This is because the voice pronounces whole sound instead of letters.

"Betay eye sauce le keert kelly kawye oon," said Mr. Taylor. He put the picture of this sound on the canvas, reversed the direction, and the canvas said:

"New York Electric Society," that was what Mr. Taylor had said backward.

War Tanks Turned Over to Soviet Army

Twelve Years of Communism to be Observed

MOSCOW, Nov. 6. (AP)—Thirty war tanks built in soviet factories from money raised by a fund known as "our answer to Chamberlain," the one-time British Foreign Secretary, were presented to the Red army today as part of the twelfth anniversary ceremonies of the 1917 revolution.

The tanks bear individual names such as railway worker, printer, miner, textile worker, sailor and soldier. They are of various sizes and are said to combine the best principles of European and American tanks.

In preparation for tomorrow's ceremonies, which mark the foundation twelve years ago of the soviet regime headed by Lenin, Moscow, Leningrad and other large cities blazoned out today in great splashes of red and miles of revolutionary placards.

Overnight there sprang up everywhere speakers' platforms, allegorical floats and huge decorative exhibits to remind Russia's 146,000,000 citizens of the twelfth year of the Communist regime.

While Moscow's famous Red Square was being rapidly transformed into a huge amphitheater of red for tomorrow's huge military and civilian parade, Vladimir Illich Lenin, the father of Bolshevism, rested in eternal sleep in a small room in the Kremlin from which he soon will be transferred to his new granite mausoleum.

HOOVER SENDS JOHNSON NOTE

bers of his unexplained absence at the White House dinner. Some of them said they would not have gone had they known he had been overlooked in the invitation to Foreign Relations Committee members.

MUCH SPECULATION

Not in a long time has a social incident received such attention in official Washington. There was even a rumor that some members of the Foreign Relations Committee wished to have the committee take action, but this was before Mr. Hoover had forwarded his explanation.

Until the Presidential letter was made public the speculation centered on what particular incident might have provoked the Chief Executive into omitting an invitation to his fellow-Californian. It has been common knowledge that the political views of Mr. Hoover and Mr. Johnson have not coincided for many years. Nevertheless, there has been no open warfare.

During the campaign last year when he was running for the Senate and Mr. Hoover was candidate for President, Senator Johnson called on the Republican nominee at his home in California. After Mr. Hoover entered the White House he had the Senator and Mrs. Johnson to dinner.

The Senator has been active in opposition to the Hoover program in the Senate on farm relief and the flexible provision of the tariff.

Last week when Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, read the message issued by President Hoover on the tariff situation in the Senate, Johnson questioned it and remarked:

"It seems incredible that any such statement should have been given out by the President."

Senator Johnson is the ranking Republican on the committee, which is headed by Senator Borah of Idaho. Some members of the committee had been called twice and urged to attend.

Bank Treasurer Sent to Prison

AUBURN (Me.) Nov. 6. (AP)—Wilbur H. Davis, former treasurer of the People's Savings Bank of Lewiston, converted $128,000 of bank funds to his own use, it was learned today when Justice Harry Manser sentenced him to serve from three to five years at hard labor in State prison on his plea of guilty to a charge of embezzlement.

A Test Every Man Past 40 Should Make

Medical authorities agree that 65 per cent of all men past middle age (many much younger) are afflicted with a disorder of the prostate gland. Aches in feet, legs and back, frequent nightly risings, sciatic pains are some of the signs—and now a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science has written a remarkably interesting free book that tells of other symptoms and just what they mean. No longer should a man approaching or past the prime of life be content to regard these pains and conditions as inevitable signs of approaching age. Already more than 50,000 men have used the amazing method described in this book to restore their health and vigor—and to restore the prostate gland to its proper functioning. Arrange immediately for this book. Call in person if possible, otherwise mail your request to the Electro Thermal Company, Dept. B-160, 303 Van Nuys Bldg., Los Angeles—the concern that is distributing this book for the author—it will be sent to you absolutely free, without obligation. Simply send name and address. But don't delay, for the edition of this book is limited.—[Advertisement.

Mason & Hamlin

A MASTERPIECE

THERE are some productions of genius of such distinctive quality that they are separated from all others and classed as masterpieces.

In a true sense the Mason & Hamlin Piano is a masterpiece—a masterpiece in its tonal quality and furthermore in its exquisite workmanship.

As a result of its unique system of construction, developed in 1900, the Mason & Hamlin Piano has set a new standard of piano tone and durability and is pronounced the most beautiful piano the world has ever known.

It is presented to the public as a work of art to be judged solely on its merit.

SOVIETS SEIZED IN HARBIN RAIDS

Round-up Made to Prevent Violence Today

Russians Expected to Attack at Pogranichnaya

Wireless Propaganda Gives Hint of Plans

(Copyright, 1929, by the New York Times.)

MUKDEN, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—There has been a general round-up of suspicious soviet characters at Harbin, owing to the belief that the anniversary of the soviet revolution tomorrow will be celebrated by attempts at violence. Many arrests have been made during recent days.

A general attack by the soviet forces also is expected, particularly at Pogranichnaya, because of the transfer of important soviet forces thither from the Manuchria area. Strong Chinese reinforcements have been dispatched to Pogranichnaya.

It usually is possible to predict soviet intentions to attack by the propaganda from Khabarovsk wireless station. Recently it sent out a message asserting that the Chinese had attacked soviet forces at Pogranichnaya. Tonight stress was laid on the great interest that workers throughout Russia take in the Red army and the expectation of labor that this well-equipped force will acquit itself well in the near future against the forces of imperialism.

If warfare starts, it is possible that gas will be used by the soviet forces, as a few days ago Khabarovsk declared that the Chinese army was preparing to carry on chemical warfare.

The charge was strongly denied by Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang in a conversation with the correspondent today. He also branded as baseless the charges that White Russians have been employed or that Chinese forces ever raided soviet territory.

Largest Land Plane Passes Test in Flight

DESSAU (Germany) Nov. 6. (AP) The G-38, a giant new 2200-horsepower Junkers monoplane, believed to be largest land plane yet constructed, today completed its first trial flight successfully.

Its wings, which measure 150 feet from tip to tip, have a tapering arrow shape that gives the ship an appearance of lightness, but is considered by the Junkers engineers to be the strongest and steadiest type yet achieved.

The height of the airship is more than sixteen feet and its length is about seventy-five feet. It is equipped with Junkers motors, two central ones of 700 horsepower each and two outer ones of 400 horsepower each.

SINGER MUST SHINE WITHOUT SPARKLERS

Claudia Muzio

WRIT DIMS DAZZLE OF OPERA STAR

Claudia Muzio's Diamonds Attached Over Asserted Debt to Chicago Jeweler

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—In the ballroom scene of "La Traviata" at the Civic Operahouse tonight Claudia Muzio, dramatic soprano, singing the part of Violetta, was garbed in a jewel-trimmed gown. Magnificent diamonds sparkled on her fingers and arms. Envious shop girls in the gallery didn't know that a writ of attachment had been filed in the afternoon on all of the singers' gowns and jewels.

The writ was obtained by the Phillip Barnett Company, jewelers, at Michigan and Jackson boulevards. They charged that the opera star owes them $9284 for jewels she purchased. They posted a $20,000 bond and the writ was given to two deputy sheriffs to serve with instructions that they seize all personal effects of the singer.

An idea of the fondness for jewelry displayed by the singer, who is Mrs. Renato Liberti in private life, was given in the suit which detailed all the purchases made by her in the period from December, 1926, to December, 1927. She bought $25,534 worth of gems in that period, returned jewelry worth $1650, and paid $15,000 in cash, leaving an unpaid balance of $9284, according to the suit.

NAVY GROUP TO SAIL ON JANUARY 11

Liner Olympic Expected to Take American Party on Journey to London

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—The American delegation to the London arms conference now is expected to sail for England on the White Star liner Olympic, January 11.

State Department officials, who are preparing for the departure of the American commission, had expected the Leviathan, queen of the American merchant marine, could be used, but if present plans for the conference are followed that ship would land the delegation in England three or four days too late for the first meeting.

Tentative plans already have been made for the Japanese delegation to sail for England on the Olympic December 20, since that commission will desire to confer with British officials before the conference meets. The Japanese delegation expects to spend only a few days in Washington en route to London, for conferences with President Hoover, Secretary Stimson, the chief American delegate, and other American officials.

Both the Olympic and the French liner France sail for Europe January 11, and would land the American contingent in England in ample time for the conference.

Data on Taxes to be Delayed by Webb Ruling

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 6. (AP)—No private persons, corporations or associations, Atty.-Gen. Webb ruled today, can compel Reynold E. Blight, State franchise tax commissioner, to reveal corporation franchise taxes until all of the returns and amount of taxes have been approved finally and the time has elapsed for filing protests of taking appeals.

Blight asked for Webb's opinion after M. D. Lack of Los Angeles, tax counsellor of the California Taxpayers' Association, had asked him for a report on the difference between the 1928 and 1929 taxes of franchised corporations.

Blight contended that in obtaining the report on the 25,000 franchise corporations Lack's association would slow up the work of the depariment and perhaps delay the receipt of reports.

The Attorney-General likewise ruled that when such reports can be given legally that such shall be procured at the expense of the party receiving them and not at cost of the State.

NEW STATE BOARD TO MEET

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 6. (AP)—The newly appointed State Board of Agriculture is to hold its first meeting when it confers with Gov. Young at the capital Friday. Matters of policy and organization will be discussed.

SUGAR TARIFF LOBBY TRACED

Southern Association Plans Come to Light

President Called "Target" in Sentiment Drive

Pat Harrison Labeled as Foe of Protection

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Campaign plans of the Southern Tariff Association to obtain a high sugar duty in the pending bill were uncovered today by the Senate Lobby Committee.

Questioning J. A. Arnold, vice-president and general manager of the Southern Tariff Association for the fourth day, the committee produced a letter from Arnold to J. C. Barry of Lafayette, La., which said the Republican party probably would follow President Hoover's wishes regarding the sugar duty.

"My thought is that the President is the target," the letter added.

AIMS EXPLAINED

Arnold explained that what he had in mind was to "develop sentiment" in favor of the sugar duty and that the word "target" was ill advised.

"I never saw a President who was not amenable to public sentiment," he asserted.

Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, and Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the Finance Committee, were characterized in the letter as the leading opponents of a high sugar duty.

"Mention of a sugar schedule drives Senator Harrison insane," the letter said. "He would put you on the free list."

Another reference to Senator Harrison was contained in a letter from Arnold to E. A. Burguieres, New Orleans sugar man, which suggested that Harry D. Wilson, Louisiana, Commissioner of Agriculture, spend thirty to sixty days in protective tariff work in the South.

"I think he should spend a few days in Mississippi," the letter said. "Pat Harrison is the bitterest enemy you have on sugar."

SOME MONEY RAISED

Arnold testified some money was raised in Mississippi for the general work of the tariff association but that no effort was made to "build a fire under Senator Harrison."

In another letter to Barry last July Arnold said "our friends here" were interested in sending a Republican to Congress from the third Louisiana Congress District.

The letter added that a Democrat favoring the protective tariff "would help some" but that a Republican would be more influential in the councils of the Republican party "who must give you the tariff," than a Democrat.

"That was just personal," Arnold explained.

The committee directed Arnold to appear again tomorrow for further examination. He probably will be followed by C. A. Buck, vice-president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, who will be questioned in regard to the action of the Finance Committee in placing manganese on the free list.

Do You Know of Such a Man?

TO connect up a job with the right man is not easy. Frequently you hear of a good man who is looking for a favorable business opening.

The Equitable has an opportunity for a sales representative preferably between 30 and 50 years, of good personality, married or with some dependents, and who has shown his ability to save. He must be a self-starter but willing to accept supervision. (Selling experience valuable but not essential.)

The man we want must be willing to work as hard for himself as he would for some one else and utilize to his own advantage the unusual freedom of action which the nature of the work offers. To such a man training facilities and educational advantages will be offered to aid in his success.

CHILD WELFARE STUDY TO BEGIN

Wilbur Announces Program Will Set World Mark

Three Months' Preparatory Labor Now Complete

Leaders in Field Asked to Aid Hoover Project

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Secretary Wilbur, as chairman of the White House conference on child health and protection, announced today that its various committees are ready for the most sweeping study of child welfare "ever made in all the world."

H. E. Barnard, director of the planning committee, and other members of the committee, who were drawn from all types of organizations engaged in welfare work, finished three months' labors recently by recommending the most complete study possible of all work being done for the advancement of the child, from which suggestions will be drawn for future action.

WORK OF CONFERENCE

The work of the conference has been divided into four major sections, medical service, headed by Dr. Samuel McHamill, of Philadelphia Public Health Service and Administration; Surgeon-General, Hugh S. Cumming, chairman; education and training, headed by Dr. F. J. Kelly, president of the University of Idaho, and study of the handicapped child, to be directed by C. C. Carstens, director of the Child Welfare League of America.

Under each of the major sections have been placed certain particular phases of child study, each with a chairman recognized as an authority on the subject. Under the medical service division will come prenatal and maternal care, medical care of children and study of child growth and development.

The public health division will study public-health organization, communicable-disease control, and milk production and control. The division on education and training will have separate groups studying family and parent education, the infant and preschool child, the school child, vocational guidance and child labor, recreation and physical education and special classes.

The group studying the handicapped child will devote special attention to State and local organizations for the handicapped child, the study of physical and mental handicaps, and delinquency.

Secretary Wilbur said that in all about 500 men and women, all known and recognized authorities, have been asked to help in the widespread study of conditions. It is believed that a year or more will be required before the first preliminary report and recommendations.

The White House conference on child health and protection was called three months ago by President Hoover. The Chief Executive has informed Secretary Wilbur that he considers its work one of the most pressing needs of the country.

OLD WINE DISPOSAL SOUGHT

California Stocks Worry Owners and Officials; Method of Legal Use to be Found

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—An inquiry into the wine storage situation in California looking to the legitimate disposal of old wine stocks has been initiated by Prohibition Commissioner Doran at the instance of Representative Lea, Republican, California. Frank R. McReynolds, field supervisor at Los Angeles, will conduct the inquiry.

Hundreds of owners of old wines in California who have paid out large sums of money for storage since the prohibition law was enacted, Lea said, have appealed to him to help find a method of disposing of the stocks legally.

SALES INSUFFICIENT

The sales of wine for sacramental and medicinal purposes are insufficient, he said, to meet the expense involved in storing the wines.

Lea today made public a letter from Commissioner Doran which said:

"I am very much interested in the matter of disposition of old stocks of wine so that there will be no violation of the law and the greatest possible return to the legitimate owners. Maj. McReynolds, field supervisor, is personally going into this wine situation and I hope that he may be able to do something that will be helpful."

Lea previously had written Commissioner Doran as follows:

WINE STOCKS PUZZLE

"I find there are still a good many stocks of wine which have been held in California a long number of years. These dry wines deteriorate in quality and the storage involves much expense and worry to their owners. Without going into the details of the situation I have wondered if permits could not be so controlled as to lead to the lawful utilization of these old stocks. They have furnished a temptation to law violation and in many cases have caused a real hardship to their owners.

"If the alcohol in these wines could be used for some other lawful purpose or if permits for new wines could be restricted so that the old wines could be legitimately disposed of, it would, in my opinion, not only help enforcement, but it would also contribute to the economic justice of the situation."

SOCIALISTS AND POLICE BATTLE

Polish Demonstrations End With Sixteen Arrests

Many Hurt in Clashes Over Closing of Sejm

Strike Proclaimed in Coal Sections of Country

WARSAW, Nov. 6. (AP)—Socialist demonstrations took place here and in several provincial cities last night in protest at thirty-day adjournment of the Sejm.

The demonstrations here passed off practically unnoticed, but in Lwow, Cracow, Lods and many Galician cities there were clashes with police.

At Lods the conflict lasted throughout the night, the police finally dispersing the Socialists. A number were injured and sixteen were arrested. Many newspapers were suppressed, particularly at Lwow.

The Socialists today proclaimed a strike in all coal districts in Poland. This, however, is only an economic strike, decided upon some days ago, and has no bearing on recent political events.

President Moscicki yesterday adjourned the Sejm for thirty days to allow solution of a crisis brought about last Thursday when 100 army officers attended what was to have been its opening session, ostensibly to pay their respects to Marshal Pilsudski, Minister of War. The speaker refused to open the session as long as they were present.

HART GIVEN APPROVAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—The Senate Relations Committee today favorably reported the nomination of Charles C. Hart, former Pacific Coast newspaper correspondent and now Minister to Albania, to be Minister to Persia.

Youth Has Found The Way!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has cultivated the fertile field of opportunity and invites everyone to roam in search of desired pursuits. Nothing remains of that ancient prejudice which bound the apprentice, without choice, to his career.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

The finest tobacco—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically sealed in penetrating heat at minimum, 250°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by many as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

EX-CHANCELLOR OF KAISER DIES

Prince Max Von Baden Was Active in Armistice

Royalists Never Forgave Part in Abdication

Program of Democratization Too Late for Empire

CONSTANCE (Baden, Germany) Nov. 6. (AP)—Prince Maximilian Von Baden, last Imperial German Chancellor, and heir to the Grand Duchy of Baden, died here today at 5:45 a.m. He was 62 years of age.

Prince Maximilian had been ailing for a year from arterial trouble. About three weeks ago he had a fall indoors and broke two ribs, necessitating removal from Salem Castle, his home, to the Municipal Hospital, where his condition grew rapidly worse.

FAMILY SUMMONED

His wife, Marie Louise, nee Duches of Brunswick-Luenenburg a Royal Princess of Great Britain, was summoned to his bedside Saturday with their two children, 23-year-old Berchold and 27-year-old Marie Alexandra. The latter is married to Prince Wolfgang Von Hesse.

He was unconscious then but Sunday rallied and seemed better until last night when he collapsed.

Prince Max, as he was more widely known, was called to the Imperial Chancellorship in the closing days of the World War, October 5, 1918.

At that post he negotiated with President Wilson and the Allied leaders the terms under which an armistice finally was granted, and he announced to the German people the abdication of the Kaiser.

SUBJECT OF ATTACK

He subsequently was subjected to attack by Nationalist elements, which claimed he had advised the Kaiser falsely to flee Berlin and had withdrawn governmental support of the army.

In July, 1919, when he left to reside temporarily in Switzerland, it was said Communists had threatened his life; other plots against his life subsequently were revealed.

In his memoirs, published in 1927, he gave his version of the last days of the empire, charging the Kaiser told him it was necessary to leave Berlin at that critical period because his physicians had warned him of the danger of contracting influenza.

FAREWELL TO EBERT

Later he found it exceedingly difficult to get into communication with the Emperor at all and related to him the events which made his abdication necessary.

He told also of his farewell to the Socialist leader, Ebert, after he had refused his offer to be a Regent. Prince Max said he started to leave the room but turned and said:

"Herr Ebert, I confide the German empire to your care."

Ebert answered simply: "I already have lost two sons for the Reich."

Prince Max was born July 10, 1867, a nephew of the then Reigning Grand Duke Frederick I, whose daughter became Queen Victoria of Sweden. He studied law at Heidelberg and Freidburg and later became commander of the Badenese Dragoons.

BELIEVER IN LEAGUE

Later he declined all military appointments as contrary to his democratic ideas, instead accepting the presidency of the Baden House of Lords, where his humanitarianism gained him a host of friends.

In that capacity he stirred the House on December 14, 1917, in a speech in which he denied the right of the United States to act as a judge of humanity, adding, however:

"Let us not be deceived. The American people want this war and hope to realize their great idea of making the world safe for democracy." He confessed himself also a believer in the League of Nations.

CAME TOO LATE

Politicians believed his program of democratization for the imperial government might have saved it had it been invoked a little sooner, but as it was it came along too late.

After his retirement from the chancellorship Prince Max was detested by the Royalists because they asserted he had brought about the Emperor's abdication, and consequently he never returned to political life.

COMBATS "WAR GUILT"

He and his wife lived quite modestly, occupying only a part of huge Salem Castle on the northern shore of Lake Constance, the remainder of the premises being devoted to an educational establishment run on modern lines of comradeship.

A visitor once remarked, "this community is somewhere near Socialism." Prince Max replied smilingly, "Yes, but with a benevolent autocrat at its head."

The latter part of his life was devoted to combatting the "war guilt lie" abroad.

SHERIFF GOES TO GET PRISON GATE CRASHER

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Nov. 6. (AP)—W. A. Shay, Sheriff of San Bernardino county, comes here occasionally with prisoners who have been sentenced, but today he came to take away a man who attempted to "crash" into prison society without the formality of a sentence.

When Frank E. Clement was convicted in San Bernardino county for illegal possession of a still, his attorney carried an appeal to Appellate Court, and then to the Supreme Court. Meanwhile Bates, out on bail, moved to Berkeley. When his attorney was advised the Supreme Court had sustained the conviction he wired Clement to surrender to the warden at San Quentin prison. This Clement did several days ago.

But San Bernardino's District Attorney, informed of Clement's action, said that was not the proper way to get into the prison. Clement, he said, will have to be returned to San Bernardino county, produced in court by his bondsmen and formally sentenced.

Kidnaping Boast Causes Inquiry

WINDSOR (Ont.) Nov. 6. (AP)—A racketeer's reputed boast in a hotel here on October 27 that William J. Scripps, 24 years of age, of Detroit had been kidnaped and that newspapers would not publish the story, was investigated here today.

The racketeer also is said to have made threats against newspaper men who might use the story.

TARDIEU READY FOR BOW TODAY

New French Ministry Will Get Warm Reception

Foes Expected to Attack it Right at Beginning

Radical Socialists Decide to Oppose Premier

PARIS, Nov. 6. (AP)—The new Tardieu government, which replaces the Cabinet of Aristide Briand overthrown October 22, will make its bow to Parliament tomorrow afternoon. According to present indications, it will get a warm reception from friends and foes alike, and perhaps particularly from the foes, who are eager to bring it down as fast as possible.

The Radical Socialists, who refuse to collaborate with the Ministry, did not wait for M. Tardieu's declaration of policy to prepare their attack. They decided unanimously today to vote against the government and made the adverse vote a matter of party discipline.

This narrows the Premier's already scant margin of safety.

The Cabinet members discussed the ministerial declaration at length and announced in an official communique that they are "in perfect unanimity on all points at issue." This includes a demand for immediate discussion of the government's general and foreign policy.

The Premier refused to comment on the declaration beyond saying it is short and covers clearly and categorically all pending questions of foreign and internal politics. He added that it will take about twenty minutes to read it. He wishes to give Parliament itself the direct revelation of his policies.

THIS THANKSGIVING Can Be a Whole Year Long

THOUGHTFUL people are usually the most thankful ones. For by their forethought they have warded off the evils and dangers which bring sorrow and pain.

Thoughtful people guard their possessions with insurance, their futures with savings. For that most precious of all assets, health, they are quick to adopt the new safeguards which science develops.

Such a safeguard is the General Electric Refrigerator. It cannot cure disease and sickness but it can prevent much of it. It will keep perishable food wholesome for long periods of time, and most germs and poisons enter our bodies through food we eat.

Soon every family will take this vital precaution to protect their loved ones. Hundreds of thousands of families have already done so.

In this very lovely month of November many hundred more Southern California homes will buy their General Electrics. They will be thankful, too, for the time this refrigerator saves, the convenience and help it brings to their kitchens, for the refreshing quality it adds to meals, for the very real economies it achieves.

The skill and integrity of the General Electric Company is assurance enough that their satisfaction will continue through all the years to come.

Let Your Budget Pay for It

Contrary to what many people think, a General Electric Refrigerator is not difficult for the average family to buy. It requires a very small capital investment . . . adds an easily absorbed amount to the family budget. Few permanent possessions cost so little as a General Electric. 43c a day pays for the small family model. Larger models proportionately more. Find out how much the model best suited to your home and family will cost on this plan.

VIRGINIA VOTE TRUE TO FORM

Victory of Democrats There Nothing Unusual

Bourbon Jubilation Held to be Without Basis

National Questions Failed to Get in Campaign

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—"The Dutch have captured Holland."

That is the logical comment to apply to the return of Virginia to the Democratic fold, when John Garland Pollard, regular Democratic candidate, was elected Governor over Dr. William Mosely Brown, independent Democrat, who received the nomination of the Virginia Republicans on a coalition ticket.

But a directly opposite view of the significance of the Democratic victory in the Old Dominion, and the Democratic successes in mayoralty and other fights elsewhere was taken by Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, in his analysis of Tuesday's voting. Instead of taking the Democratic success in Virginia as a natural return of that State to its traditional Democratic moorings, following the victory of Herbert Hoover in carrying the State for the Republican national ticket just a year ago, Shouse sees in it an indication of a general trend through the entire country.

"Tuesday's election proved," he said in a statement, "that there is a distinct trend against the party in power and that the country is becoming Democratic-minded."

NATURAL TREND

This statement was made in the face of the generally recognized fact, admitted by Republicans as well as Democrats, that Democratic gains were inevitable because the party went down as far as it could possibly go in the Democratic debacle of 1928 when Hoover carried such States of the "solid South" as Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and Texas, not to mention Tennessee and Kentucky.

In view of the fact that the gains made in the South last year were such as had never been recorded by the Republicans since the reconstruction period following the Civil War, it was recognized that they were exceptional, and the fact that there has been some swinging back now does not leave the Republicans disheartened. They realize that, for the most part, the fights were local and only in a few instances State-wide, and that for the most part the national policies of the Washington administration had no bearing whatever on the results.

CANNON IN FIGHT

It is true that in Virginia, Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, sought this year to rekindle the fires of hatred that made the Virginia campaign of last year so torrid. He contended that the Democratic State organization was still under the domination of the Smith-Raskob leadership, and he demanded that it be purged. But long before the campaign came to a close Bishop Cannon sailed away for South America, leaving the fight in his home State for the coalition ticket to be carried on by others.

The fight largely became a contest to determine whether the Democratic policies of Gov. Harry Byrd should be continued by the election of Dr. Pollard. A Virginia Governor is not eligible to re-election, and Byrd and his State organization threw their support to Pollard.

"WHITE SUPREMACY"

Such national issues as President Hoover's legislative policies, the tariff, naval disarmament and farm relief barely came in for discussion at all but the old cry of "white supremacy" was raised and the "DePriest Incident" was capitalized to the limit. The action of Mrs. Hoover in following traditional custom of inviting the wives of Congressmen to tea at the White House, regardless of color, probably swayed a hundred votes to every one changed by national issues. Circulars were scattered over the State in an attempt to link Representative DePriest with Republican leadership.

In appraising the Virginia results, Democratic spokesmen, as well as the Republicans, confined themselves to generalities, which was the safe thing to do. Mr. Shouse, who had gingerly sidestepped every blow struck him during the campaign by Bishop Cannon avoided comment on the Smith-Raskob issue. Undoubtedly there was a temptation for him to assert that Virginia had vindicated the /Raskob leadership of the party, but with his eye on the States farther south where this question will be tested more generally next year in the Congressional elections, he decided to crow with caution.

POLLARD SAYS IT

Governor-elect Pollard went further than national leaders were willing to go when he asserted in his formal statement that the voters of Virginia had repudiated the religious intolerance issues injected by Bishop Cannon. Nevertheless, the two gubernatorial candidates both were Protestants and both out-and-out drys.

There is a disposition among impartial observers to feel that if Alfred E. Smith had been running in Virginia this year he would have been found no more acceptable than he was a year ago and that therefore the question of religious intolerance in the State has not been settled at all.

It is not unusual for Virginia to give a Democratic majority of 80,000 as it has given this year. It is very unusual for it to give a Republican majority of 25,000 as it did last year. Hence the comment that "darned if the Dutch haven't captured Holland."

KENTUCKY STAYS JUST ABOUT AS USUAL

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Nov. 6. (AP)—A Democratic gain of two members in the lower branch of the 1930 General Assembly was indicated today by unofficial returns of yesterday's election. The 1930 State Senate, half of the members of which were elected yesterday, will be composed of twenty-four Democrats and fourteen Republicans, the same as in 1928, the returns indicate.

Based on complete unofficial returns from practically all of the 100 Legislative districts, sixty-four Democrats and thirty-four Republicans were elected to the House.

POLLARD MAJORITY REACHES ALMOST 70,000

RICHMOND, (Va.) Nov. 6. (AP)—John Garland Pollard's majority had reached nearly 70,000 votes tonight with nearly all the State's precincts having reported the result of the election which yesterday brought an avalanche of Democratic ballots. The Governor-elect, on the face of unofficial returns from 1640 of the old dominion's 1683 precincts, had registered 167,315 votes as compared with 97,750 for Dr. William Moseley Brown, gubernatorial standard bearer of the coalition ticket of the Republican and the anti-Smith Democratic party.

Dr. Pollard said he sees the decisive triumph as a warning to those who "may hereafter seek, for partisan purposes, to revive religious strife."

CALIFORNIA DAM PLANS CONSIDERED

Representative Lea Seeks Data on Sacramento River in Antiocean Campaign

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Study into the practicability and advisability of introducing a bill to provide for the construction of a $15,000,000 dam on the Sacramento River in Iron Canyon, Cal., is being conducted by Representative Lea, Republican, California. Lea has held conferences with persons from Sacramento Valley on the proposal. He said the dam is needed to impound water to be used in increasing the flow of the river during the summer so that the river flow can hold back the salt water that has been flowing into the stream when the reclamation projects drain the river to such a point the flow is below sea level.

The situation, Lea said, is acute because the sea water has penetrated the river as far as sixty miles, making it undesirable for use on reclamation projects in the delta area, and also for use for domestic purposes. Lea said, however, it has not been decided whether it is feasible to attempt to get such legislation as would be necessary passed at the regular session. He pointed out that in recent years there has been a disposition to avoid similar projects because of the agricultural depression.

PLANE AS AMBULANCE SUCCEEDS

Aircraft Carries Woman Patient With Ease When Train Would be Fatal

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Nov. 6. (AP)—The mission of an airplane used as a "flying ambulance" to carry a critically ill passenger who could not have withstood a train journey seemed successful tonight.

On their return here tonight Pilot Bill Cutter and Bert Blackmore reported Mrs. Mary Craft, 69 years of age, reached the end of the air trip from here to Stratford, Tex., in better physical condition than she was at the beginning of the flight.

The aged patient, snug in a specially prepared cot in the cabin monoplane, slept throughout the journey, the pilot and his companion said, and not even the landing at Stratford awakened her. She was awakened to be taken from the plane by her son, A. Z. Craft of Stratford, and a physician there said her breathing was good and "very likely better than when she left Albuquerque."

Mrs. Craft's physicians here despaired of life unless she were removed to a lower altitude, but they said she would have been unable to survive the seventeen-hour journey by train and automobile to Stratford.

Search Begun for Angeleno

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—Spurred by the possibility of violence, police today began investigation of the disappearance of George A. (Aleck) Patrick, oil operator of Los Angeles and Long Beach, at the request of Thomas H. Nichols of this city. Nichols told police he fears Patrick has met with foul play. Patrick, according to unverified reports, had a large sum of money with him.

He disappeared from a hotel October 23 last, leaving a note to notify Nichols he had left town. His baggage was left in his room, the rent on which has not been paid.

STORK TO OPEN PRISON GATES

Los Angeles Woman Convict Will Leave San Quentin to Bear Child

SAN QUENTIN, Nov. 6. (AP) Justice sometimes lifts her blindfold a bit.

This she will do in the case of Mrs. Francis Culp Leano, 30 years of age, who arrived at the prison here last April. Mrs. Leano, who is about to become a mother, will be removed from the prison to a San Rafael hospital so her baby may escape the stigma of being born in prison. Later the mother will be brought back.

Mrs. Leano was sentenced from two to five years for performing an illegal operation in Los Angeles.

SIX NEW NAMES WIN IN ELECTION

Five Bay City Supervisors Swept from Office

Defeats Laid to Laxity in Civic Affairs

Prophets See Effect on Governor Race

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY
"Times" Staff Representative

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—Although a modicum of uncertainty exists on yesterday's vote totals for Supervisorial candidates because clerical forces were unable to keep up with voting machines and got jammed up in their figures, it appears certain tonight five incumbent Supervisors have been washed out of office on a tide of ballots directed against laxity in civic affairs. Another failed to stand for re-election, so there will be six new faces among the eighteen members of the board when it is reorganized.

That reorganization, incidentally, will have a bearing on the next gubernatorial campaign, in the opinion of political prophets. Stripped of the devious channels by which political alignments are made, forces which could do Gov. Young considerable good in his anticipated campaign for re-election did not accomplish a great deal in gathering votes in the municipal election. On the contrary, forces which once were of great help to the present Governor but which are not considered friendly to him at the present time managed to roll up sufficient counts to insure at least two places among the six new members.

SCRAMBLE FORECAST

There is no question but what there will be a scramble from now on to get these men "placed" in the next State-wide vote-getting picture, and the bulk of the San Francisco vote may rest upon that effort.

On the face of rechecked, complete but unofficial returns, which now are undergoing a recount, the successful candidates for the board are Angelo J. Rossi, Franck R. Havenner, James E. Power, Jefferson E. Peyser, Carl W. Miller, William P. Stanton, E. J. Spaulding, Victor J. Canepa and James B. McSheehy. Havenner, Stanton and McSheehy are incumbents.

Power and Stanton are aligned with political forces none too friendly to the Governor. At least their campaigns were supported by that group. Rossi, a former Supervisor, whose return to the fold was a marked by the largest vote given any candidate, also is understood to be friendly to the same group, although he has made no open commitment.

On the other hand, this same organization took a beating in the defeat of Warren Shannon, a holdover Supervisor, in his contest for the office of Public Administrator and it is expected Shannon's attempt to defeat the incumbent, Phil C. Katz, will result in punishment to the extent of undesirable committee appointments in the board's reorganization.

Hence, Shannon's committee appointments will have more or less political significance.

ROLPH HAS AMBITIONS

Also, Mayor Rolph believes he finally has obtained control of the board and if such should prove to be the case, there is a large question as to where the support accorded him in Mayoralty campaigns will go in the gubernatorial campaign. The Mayor is known to have ambitions toward Sacramento and if he could feel certain of a good chance to become Governor, he probably would make the race. And he would run against Young if he thought it worth the effort. Such, at least, is the situation as it appears now.

No difficulties were experienced yesterday in San Francisco's 1300 voting machines. The troubles in amassing the count developed after the voting machine totals began to be reported, clerical forces being unable to keep up with the count in striking general totals. The recount, although it undoubtedly will show changes in the figures as they now exist, is not expected to make any change in the standing of the Supervisorial candidates, nor on the results of proposition totals.

The voters elected to have garbage disposed of by incineration and passed by a wide margin the proposal to establish the Municipal Court system. Late figures, however, disclosed the defeat of two propositions covering playgrounds and parks. Measures to enlarge Marina Park and purchase China Cove were defeated.

SAN JUAN (Porto Rico) Nov. 6. (AP)—In his first executive order issued today, Gov. Theodore Roosevelt called for strict economy in the government. "Every dollar must be made to do not only a dollar's worth of work, but a dollar's worth of necessary work," the order stated.

BROADCASTERS DISCUSS CRAFT

Indiana Meet Brings Forth Private Opinions

Conditions Not So Black as Painted, They Say

Administrative Aid Needed, Not Laws, Most Opine

BY MARTIN CODEL

WEST BADEN (Ind.) Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—Many more expressions about radio conditions throughout the country and about the way broadcasting is being administered by the Federal Radio Commission were voiced today at the annual meeting here of the National Association of Broadcasters than are contained in the resolutions that were passed.

The formal resolutions urged chiefly that Congress abolish the zone system and with it the Davis equalization amendment; that a permanent commission be established over radio; that station licenses be extended to one year, and that other changes be made to regularize and stabilize the broadcasting industry.

CONDITIONS NOT SO BAD

Most of the broadcasting station operators agreed at one of the sessions that radio listeners are making relatively few complaints, except in certain areas, because they are satisfied with reception conditions in general. Remedy the "bad spots" and much of the discussion about radio conditions will be quieted, they said. Many of them, including operators of high and medium powered stations, agreed that they would be quite satisfied if they could be assured that their stations would consistently serve a radius of about fifty miles.

Nevertheless, it was the consensus of opinion that high power and cleared channels were matters of administrative rather than legislative consideration. High power, several broadcasters stated, is needed in some parts of the country and not in others, notably along the seaboards, where half the service range is an expanse of ocean. Cleared channels should be set aside, they said, only if it becomes plain that only one station can operate on a particular channel without interference.

FAVORED ONES CRAB

Even the operators of stations which drew exclusive cleared channels out of the reallocation "grab bag" of a year ago were critical of the amendment to the Radio Act which requires equalization of wave lengths, power and hours of operation among five zones of varying areas and among States within these zones in proportion to population. Some of the views expressed were highly critical of the Federal Radio Commission, although the limitations upon that body were recognized.

The charge was made by Representative Clancy of Detroit that the equalization amendment is being used by the commission to condone a "multitude of sins." Members of the commission were criticised for their unwillingness to express openly, as they do privately, that equalization is unworkable and not working.

Both Senator Dill and Representative White, authors of the original Radio Act, were said to have spoken their conviction that the plan of equalizing facilities on a zone and State basis is physically an impossibility.

SON HEARS FATHER FIRE FATAL SHOT ON STREET

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (AP) — When Frank Smith died—he shot himself last night—he wanted his eldest son, M. E. Smith, notified first. This son was in turn to notify the younger son, Frank, Jr., and the two of them were to break the news to Mrs. Smith.

Frank Smith, Sr., was particular about it. He sought death at 61 years of age, but he wanted the news of it broken to his survivors in the manner he had devised. So he left the note.

Last night he stood beside a police call box and killed himself. Pedestrians came running. A policeman found the note. A young man pushed through the knot of people. There was a cry, and the young man tried desperately to wrest from the officer the gun that had been used in the suicide.

Just as Frank Smith, Sr., had feared, knowledge of his death came as a crushing blow to Frank Smith, Jr.

JURY TO DIGEST BROOKHART TIP

Decision on More Witnesses to be Made Today

Senator Appears to Tell of Wall-Street Dinner

Later He Keeps Silent on Liquor Disclosures

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—The District of Columbia grand jury is expected to reach a decision tomorrow whether it will summon additional witnesses in connection with a "Wall street booze party," attended by Senators, about which it was informed today by Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa.

District Attorney Rover announced late today he has requested the jury to decide by that time about this course of action. Senator Brookhart appeared before the jury for fifteen minutes to disclose the incidents of the party, which he previously had discussed on the Senate floor in a denunciation of prohibition-enforcement conditions.

The Senator later refused to reveal what he told the grand jury or whether he asked it to subpoena four men, including W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and Otto H. Kahn, New York banker, who he had asserted on the Senate floor were at the party. Rover said the issuance of subpoenas is solely "in the hands of the grand jury."

...on Utah history, nearly all writers appear to have been interested primarily in making out a case for or against Mormonism rather than in presenting an impersonal statement of facts. Certain it is, most secondary works are violently biased and consequently unreliable. The writer, therefore, has disregarded most of this material and confined himself largely to the manuscript sources of the Mormon church archives and of the University of California Bancroft Library and to the documentary materials of the United States government."

In a prefatory statement he singles out the important factor in the troubles with Utah with the words:

"There was much in Utah that was unique. Here we have a State that grew directly out of the founding of a new religion. So different from anything that had heretofore been known was that religion in its practices and pretensions that it was difficult for any who came in contact with the Mormons to be reconciled to them or to their creed. Hence, there developed a deep-seated prejudice against the Mormons which grew in intensity as their numbers increased and their influence became greater."

In the introductory chapter of the book leading up to the settlement of Utah, Creer lists the series of persecutions which caused the Mormons to select the desert regions of the Great Basin as their final home. Without attempting to examine the truth or falsity of Mormonism itself, he shows that in their dealings with their fellowmen and with the United States government the Mormons were more often sinned against than sinners. His careful perusal of records leads him to believe they were at all times endeavoring to be loyal citizens of the United States and that such revolts against authority as took place were more or less forced upon them.

PATROL BUREAU LEADER NAMED

J. J. Borree Made Inspector at Large in System

Teaching Officers Highway Laws to be His Task

Scale of Wages for State's Control Men Announced

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 6. (AP)—J. J. Borree, former Adjutant-General of California, today was named by Eugene Biscailus, superintendent of the State highway patrol, as inspector-at-large in charge of the bureau of education in the patrol system.

Borree is to fill the office temporarily until the State Civil Service Commission approves his appointment and salary of $300 per month.

The bureau of education is one of four such subdivisions in State highway patrol authorized by the Legislature of 1929. It will be Borree's task to set up an organization providing for the education of peace officers throughout the State as to provisions of the State Motor Vehicle Act. Later, it is planned, the bureau may conduct an education course for the general public.

TWO NOW CHOSEN

Two bureau heads thus far have been appointed. Otto Langer, captain of the San Diego county traffic squad, was named recently as head of the traffic buresu, to study ways of eliminating traffic problems in the State.

Heads of the bureaus of lights and brakes and commercial vehicles and weights have yet to be appointed.

The scale of wages, ranging from $175 a month for patrolmen, to $350 for inspectors-at-large also was officially announced by Biscailus. The scale is to affect all county units taken into the State-wide highway control system.

Following is the scale as announced:

Patrolmen, $175 to $225 a month; captains, $225 to $250; district inspectors, $260 to $295; inspectors-at-large, $300 to $350.

CHANGES FOR SOME

The scale will change radically in some cases the salaries received by State traffic officers under the county control system. Under this plan salaries have ranged from $150 in Calveras county, to $500 in Humboldt county.

Salaries prevailing in some of the counties are as follows:

Butte, captain and patrolmen, $275; Colusa, captain, $300; El Dorado, captain, $275; Glenn, captain, $275, patrolmen, $325; Nevada, captain, $325; patrolmen, $300; San Joaquin, captain, $295; patrolmen, $265; Solano, captain, $350, patrolmen, $250; Cutter, captain and patrolmen, $325; Yolo, captain, $450; patrolmen, $300.

These salaries were to cover the cost of purchasing and maintaining equipment, which will not be necessary under the State-wide control plan for the State is to take over purchasing and maintenance of motorcycles and automobiles used by the traffic officers.

SPEED LIMIT TO BE RIGIDLY ENFORCED

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—Rigid enforcement of the forty-mile-an-hour State motor speed law was ordered today by Frank G. Snook, chief of the State division of motor vehicles.

Snook declared that a policy of leniency in the enforcement of the speed limit on the open roads was in effect during the summer, but increased accidents have convinced him that the motorists abused the privilege.

"Experience has proved that speed fiends are a menace to traffic on the highways and we propose to see that the menace is eliminated by rigid enforcement of the speed law during the winter months," he said.

"I class as wanton murderers the excessive speed maniacs, the drunken drivers and the motorists who drive cars without tail lights."

Snook said that with the approach of winter motorists must be made to realize that tires worn smooth as glass, defective brakes and bad headlights are a menace under normal driving conditions and "become a grave hasard to safe travel on the highways when the speed limit is violated on wet pavements."

POSTAL RECEIPTS GAIN OVER OCTOBER, 1928

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Postmaster-General Brown announced today that postal receipts at fifty cities for October showed an increase of 4.52 per cent over those for October, 1928. Total receipts for last month were $35,742,848 compared with $34,196,153.

Both Senator Patterson and Mr. McCulloch, who has been appointed to succeed the late Senator Burton of Ohio, were born when the New York Republican leader, Roscoe Conkling, was at the height of his stormy career in the late seventies.

BOY PIRATES BOARD SHIP, TAKE CASH

River Band Seizes Captain of Freighter Loading at Dock in Portland

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 6. (AP)—Youthful river pirates boarded the steamer Edgar F. Luckenbach at the Luckenbach terminal here early today, bound Capt. Carl Alberts and Quartermaster Elmer Atkinson and robbed the ship's safe of $397.60. They escaped.

Atkinson told police he had returned to the steamer early today and was in the pantry drinking a cup of coffee when a pistol was thrust in his back. He said he was taken to the paint locker where he was bound and locked in.

Capt. Alberts told police the thieves broke down his door and bound him with ropes to his bunk after forcing him to open the safe.

Both ship's officers told authorities they recognized Peter Media, 19 years of age, discharged boatswain of the steamer, as one of the pirates. They said he ordered his companions to carry out the robbery. It was not told why Media had been discharged.

The Edgar F. Luckenbach has been loading general cargo for New Orleans, Houston and Mobile and was to have sailed later today.

Mitchell Vises Shortridge Bill for Judge Here

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—It was learned today that Attorney-General Mitchell has decided to recommend passage of the Shortridge bill providing for the appointment of a fourth Federal judge in Southern California to relieve docket congestion that has arisen under prohibition.

With this approval from the Department of Justice Senator Shortridge is confident the bill will pass early in the regular December session and that the additional judge can be confirmed and set to work by the middle of next year.

JURY ACQUITS TEXAS SLAYER

Verdict Quickly Reached in Hamilton Case

Defendant, at Hotel, Fails to Appear in Court

Killing Followed Elopement of Student Pair

WEATHERFORD (Tex.) Nov. 6. (AP)—R. H. Hamilton tonight was acquitted of murder in the slaying of his 21-year-old son-in-law, Tom Walton, Jr., in Hamilton's Amarillo law office last May 4.

The jury returned to the courtroom one hour and forty-nine minutes after leaving. The verdict was reached on the third ballot, the first being eight to four for acquittal, the second eleven to one. J. E. Whitsett, the only juror not a farmer, was the foreman.

Hamilton was not in the courtroom when the verdict was read. District Judge Carter did not demand his presence since the verdict was one of acquittal.

SON THANKS JURY

After Judge Carter read the verdict, Robert H. Hamilton, Jr., a student in the University of Minnesota, walked to the jury box and said to Foreman Whitsett:

"I really don't know how to thank you," and then shook Whitsett's hand, as did Dexter Hamilton, the accused man's brother.

The jury then disbanded. Robert and Dexter rushed to the hotel where Hamilton awaited the decision.

Less than two-score persons were in the courtroom when the verdict was returned. The verdict brought to a close one of the most colorful murder cases tried in Texas in the last decade.

SLAYER PROMINENT

The case attained much publicity because of the prominence of the man accused of murder and the facts revealed immediately after the shooting. The youth Hamilton killed was his son-in-law, who married Hamilton's daughter, Theresa, then 17, while they were students in the University of Texas.

Theresa and Walton were first-year students. When Walton was slain he and Theresa had been married nearly two months. They eloped from Austin to Georgetown, near-by county seat, got a marriage license and were married by an Austin justice of the peace on February 10.

Hamilton pleaded self-defense in slaying Walton.

THOUSANDS SEE REVIVAL OF RACING

First Texas Track Meet in Twenty Years Draws Crowd Without Betting

ARLINGTON DOWNS (Tex.) Nov. 6. (AP)—Renewal of horse racing in Texas after a lapse of twenty-two years drew 10,000 turf fans to the $3,000,000 plant of the Texas Jockey Club here today. Almost perfect weather attended the running of six races, for which purses totaling $6000 had been set up by Col. W. T. Waggoner, millionaire Texas cattleman and founder of the Three D stables.

The turnout of spectators was in answer to Col. Waggoner's challenge to the State's sporting instincts and apparently justified his contention that a racing meet could be conducted without benefit of wagering of any kind.

Scores of officers in plain clothes were in the crowd to prevent bookmaking.

The elaborate grand stand was packed to capacity before post time for the first race.

Two Men Jailed for Swindle in Huge Stock Deal

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 6. (AP)—Two asserted swindlers, H. L. Skinner and E. J. Chambers, were under arrest here today, despite their denials of any fraud in connection with the sale of stock, said to total nearly $500,000 in value, in a proposed 17,000-acre summer resort project near Manitou, Colo.

The two men were arrested here last night in a fashionable south side apartment by city detectives, accompanied by Sheriff B. L. Strawn, Garden City, Kan. Sheriff Strawn carried warrants asserting false pretense, sworn to by Garden City investors in the Manitou enterprise.

It is charged that Skinner and Chambers operated in Garden City, Wichita, Kan.; Ponca City and Tulsa, Okla., and other cities of the Southwest.

FULL FARE ORDERED FOR PRIVATE CARS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission issued a formal order today directing railroads to discontinue the practice of transporting private passenger cars of one carrier over the lines of another carrier free or at other than published tariff rates.

In instructing the roads to desist from this practice before January 15, 1930, the commission held it is a violation of the Interstate Commerce Act and that the transportation of persons in private passenger cars at the rate charged passengers provided only with ordinary coach accommodations is discriminatory and unduly preferential.

GRAF MAY LAND IN FRIGID WILDS

Plans for Arctic Trip Told by Explorer-Official

Passengers Will Get Chance to Survey Country

Dogs Will Be Taken Along to Frozen North

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—The Graf Zeppelin, carrying three Americans and nine other scientists on a polar exploration sponsored by the International Aero-Arctic Society, may land in an unexplored portion of the Arctic Sea next spring, in order that the passengers may survey the isolated region at their leisure.

Dr. Walter Bleistein, treasurer of the society today described the progress of preparations for the research journey, which he said will be made in safety and in comparative comfort.

VARIED EQUIPMENT

He described apparatus for transmitting photographs, particularly of weather charts, by air; for making ocean depth soundings from the air, and for recording by radio in the Graf Zeppelin meteorological data which will be gathered without human manipulation by automatic recording instruments in free balloons that will float in the air of the white frozen country. All of this equipment, he added, has been perfected and is ready for use.

Dr. Bleistein said that formal requests for co-operation are to be made to the Navy and Commerce departments while he is in Washington, particularly with a view to receiving weather reports by naval radio.

"One of the chief goals of the society," explained Dr. Bleistein, "is to determine the feasibility of establishing bases on the ice of the Arctic region for the use of future explorers. The expedition next spring, he said, he expects to be helpful in this connection.

GREAT SAFETY

"The approximately 500 members of the Aero-Arctic Society," he continued, "represent twenty-two nations. They believe that previous polar explorations in dirigibles were unsuccessful because the airships were only semirigid and too small. That is why they have contracted with the Graf Zeppelin Company for use of its great vessel, and the ship's commander, Dr. Eckener, has said he believes that the journey will be made in safety—far greater safety, in fact, than the Graf's around-the-world trip."

Under the command of Capt. E. A. Lehmann, the Graf Zeppelin with the twelve scientists will carry fresh provisions for five days, the longest period it is expected to remain away from its bases at Tromsoe, Norway, and Fairbanks, Alaska. Emergency provisions for ninety days will be carried and full equipment for traveling on foot on the ice.

Twenty-three Eskimo dogs will go along. The ship will be manned by its regular crew of about thirty-five.

Parachute Saves Air-Mail Pilot

RINGTOWN (Pa.) Nov. 6. (AP)—An air-mail plane flying from Cleveland to Hadley Field, Newark, N. J., caught fire and crashed on the side of Big Mountain, three miles north of here, this morning. The pilot, Thomas P. Nelson of North Plainfield, N. J., made a successful parachute jump and recovered five of the eighteen mail bags in the machine. The other thirteen pouches were burned. The plane was destroyed.

OLD GUARD HIT IN TARIFF TILT

Administration Senators Bow in Defeat.

Democrats With Westerners Cut Pig Iron Duty

Reed's Comment Causes Hot Reply from Norris

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—In the first dispute over a major industrial tariff, the administration group in the Senate bowed today to an overwhelming majority of Democrats and western Republicans who succeeded by 48 to 38, in reducing the duty on pig iron from $1.12 1-2 to 75 cents a ton. The Finance Committee Republicans had proposed an increase to $1.50.

The 75-cent rate was sponsored by Senator Barkley, Kentucky, a Democratic member of the tariff-framing finance committee. This was the same duty carried in existing law until it was raised by Presidential proclamation to $1.12 1-2, which rate the House left untouched.

JOIN DEMOCRATS

Nineteen Republicans, including many regulars and a Republican member of the committee—Sackett of Kentucky—joined twenty-nine Democrats in support of the lower duty. Four Democrats—Broussard and Ransdell of Louisiana; Heflin of Alabama, and Kendrick of Wyoming—combined with twenty-six Republicans against the decrease. The roll call follows:

Democrats for the Barkley amendment: Ashurst, Barkley, Black, Blease, Bratton, Brock, Caraway, Connally, Copeland, Fletcher, George, Harris, Harrison, Hawes, Hayden, McKellar, Overman, Sheppard, Simmons, Smith, Steck, Stephens, Thomas of Oklahoma, Trammell, Tydings, Wagner, Walsh of Massachusetts, Walsh of Montana and Wheeler. Total 29.

Republicans for: Blaine, Borah, Brookhart, Capper, Cutting, Frazier, Howell, Johnson, La Follette, McNary, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Pine, Sackett, Schall, Steiner, Thomas of Idaho and Waterman. Total 19. Grand total, 48.

THOSE AGAINST

Republicans against the Barkley amendment: Cousens, Dale, Deneen, Edge, Fess, Glenn, Goff, Goldsborough, Gould, Greene, Hale, Hastings, Hatfield, Hebert, Kean, Keyes, Metcalf, Moses, Oddie, Phipps, Reed, Shortridge, Smoot, Townsend, Vandenberg and Walcott. Total 26.

Democrats against: Broussard, Heflin, Kendrick and Ransdell. Total 4.

Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, who had urged the $1.50 rate to assist merchant furnace operators on the Atlantic seaboard, said the vote proved the futility of attempting further arguments in support of industrial tariff increases and reiterated the bill is dead, since the House never will agree to the wholesale changes being wrought by the coalition.

NORRIS IN REPLY

This brought a stinging reply from Senator Norris, Republican independent of Nebraska, who said he is tired of listening to "lectures" from the Pennsylvania Senator and contended Reed had come "perilously near violating the rules of the Senate," at least having violated "ordinary sportsmanship."

It was not "becoming" of Reed, continued the Nebraskan, to "lecture" and question the intelligence of his fellows after several hours of debate had resulted in a decision not to his liking. While not questioning the accuracy of Reed's argument in favor of a higher tariff, Norris said he was not going to sit by and be "indirectly accused of being an enemy to my country or a free trader."

FREE TRADE DISCLAIMED

Disclaiming any free trade opinions, the Nebraskan asserted advocates of higher tariffs are doing more harm than good by demanding an embargo tariff wall.

Reed described Democratic talk about a competitive tariff as "political" and added that the coalition had determined to knock out every increase in industrial rates, so it might as well go ahead and pass the bill and send it to conference with the House.

"The House and Senate never will agree!" he exclaimed.

Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, also replied to the Pennsylvanian, saying he "almost wept" during the speech.

"You didn't weep, but you will after the next election," Reed retorted.

DEBATE LIMIT OPPOSED

Two Democratic attempts to limit debate on committee amendments to the metals schedule, the same procedure as was in effect yesterday and today on the earthenware and glassware section, met with objections and at adjournment Senator Oddie, Republican, Nevada, and others were arguing against the proposed transfer of manganese to the free list.

Urging adoption of the higher duty on pig iron, Reed said the distress of the farmer is nothing compared with the small merchant pig-iron producer on the Atlantic seaboard, who is suffering from imports from India, where wages are 14 cents a day. He cited figures to show that many of these eastern furnaces have closed down because imports had forced domestic prices down below the cost of production and said the major steel producers farther inland would not derive a nickel of benefit from the rise.

NO TARIFF NEEDED

The Pittsburgh district, he said, needed no tariff at all because it has freight-rate advantages and low-priced imports cannot hurt producers like the United States Steel Corporation.

Senators Barkley and Walsh, Democrat, Montana, contended the trouble with the pig-iron industry is domestic rather than foreign competition, and asserted the higher duty would result in higher prices of all iron and steel products in the interior as well as on the seaboard.

Bloodshed in Kentucky Poll

MANCHESTER (Ky.) Nov. 6. (AP) Taylor Harris was shot, Will Lipps was stabbed in the back and half a dozen others were cut and bruised in a fight over the election of a magistrate, it became known here today. The fight occurred in the Goose Rock precinct of Clay county, in an isolated district.

Tom Lipps, member of the Clay County School Board, surrendered to County Judge Little in connection with the shooting of Harris. Officers were told that John Harris stabbed Lipps, who is in a serious condition.

PARTY REACHES SINGAPORE

SINGAPORE (Straits Settlements) Nov. 6. (AP)—The steamship Malolo with a party of members of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce aboard, arrived here today. The American itinerary includes a visit to a rubber factory after which the visitors will entertain prominent business men of the Singapore Chamber of Commerce aboard the ship.

ENTANGLEMENT SIDE-STEPPED

United States Refuses Part in Alien Policy Parley

(Copyright 1929 by Chicago Tribune)

PARIS, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—George Gordon, first secretary of the American Embassy and unofficial American observer at the conference on the treatment of foreigners in session here, informed the delegates today that his government cannot be a party to any international convention which might be drawn up.

"My government is greatly interested in the work of the conference," the American observer informed his hearers. "But most of the questions, such as the treatment of foreigners and especially foreign business concerns are matters which come under the jurisdiction of our separate States and not the Federal government and for this reason my government is unable to enter into any convention which might be reached here."

Mr. Gordon then explained to the surprised delegates the division of powers between the Federal government and the individual States.

Waukegan Bars Absent Aide of Mrs. McPherson

WAUKEGAN (Ill.) Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—The anti-Volva element in Zion and Waukegan who persist in believing the world is round has decided to go on believing it without the guiding hand of Estie Binkley Locy, disciple of Aimee Semple McPherson and absent founder of the Four Square Gospel tabernacle at Waukegan.

After building up a large patronage at her tabernacle she went to Milwaukee to conduct a revival, leaving Rev. J. Stuart Hydenus in charge. Then Mrs. McPherson became involved in new legal entanglements in Los Angeles and Mrs. Locy dashed away to be at her side.

It was then that her followers in Waukegan rebelled, locked the doors against Rev. Mr. Hydenus, wired Mrs. Locy not to return, and hired another evangelist, a Mrs. Jean Reid of Detroit.

Mrs. Locy wired back that she will be back. A spirited battle is expected.

RUSSIA POLICY SHIFT DOUBTED

Stimson Believes America Will Ignore British Step

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Secretary Stimson said today he does not believe the decision of the House of Commons favorable to resumption of relations with Russia will have any effect on the non-recognition policy of the United States.

The Secretary added such decisions abroad have not had any effect on American policy in the past.

Officials here generally interpret the Commons decision as an internal political question in England.

LIQUOR TRANSPORTER SHOT

SEBRING (Fla.) Nov. 6. (AP)—Overtaken near here today after a fifty-mile race through two counties, Bob Hall of Miami, was shot and probably fatally wounded by P. C. McWilliams, a customs agent, as he abandoned a liquor-laden automobile and fled.

Pretentious Five-Year Building Program Outlined for Wilshire Distri

A Five-Year Construction Program Calling for the Erection of 500 Hotels and Apartment Houses at a cost of approximately $50,000,000 was revealed yesterday by A. W. Ross, Wilshire Boulevard real estate broker. A tract of 200 acres on Wilshire west of La Brea, now dotted with oil derricks, will be the site of the construction. It is shown above, outlined with broken line. The area in lower right-hand corner inclosed in solid line is Hancock Park, in which La Brea tar pits are located.

DECISION MADE ON WORLD BANK

Supervision of Deliveries in Kind Declined

Baden-Baden Conference Apprises Committee

Fear Felt Some Governments May Lose Interest

BADEN-BADEN (Germany) Nov. 6. (AP)—The conference for establishment of an international settlements bank tonight after long debate decided that it should have nothing to do with supervision of deliveries in kind in German reparations payments. They informed the deliveries-in-kind committee that any supervisory function is incompatible with the spirit of the international bank.

Should the deliveries-in-kind committee decide that the supervision hitherto exercised by the reparations committee must be continued in some form, then the second Hague conference on reparations will have to wrestle with the problem. The committee was depressed visibly by the decision of the conference and went straight to demand when the next train left for Paris, where their sessions are held.

M. A. Traylor, American delegate, had attempted to compromise on the problem. He submitted a memorandum in which he said that under the Young plan the bank could not escape a certain amount of responsibility of supervision and suggested that it could appoint a committee outside its directorate for such a special purpose as supervising deliveries in kind. Although there seemed general support in principle for his suggestion it failed of adoption because of the zeal of the conference to keep the bank out of politics.

The possibility now exists that certain governments, notably Great Britain, which is not strong for the international bank, may lose interest altogether or suggest political cintrols which may prove embarrassing to the bank and run counter to the Young plan.

EMBASSY AIDE ORDERED TO BERLIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Edwin C. Wilson, first secretary of the American Embassy in Paris, has been instructed by the State Department to proceed to Berlin to assist with the negotiations for a new agreement between the United States and Germany for the direct payment of German reparations to the United States.

The text of an agreement for such direct payments to be made outside the machinery of the Young plan was forwarded to Berlin through Wilson, who will take the text to the German capital with him.

Five Wounded in Cincinnati Street Fight

CINCINNATI, Nov. 6. (AP)—Five persons, two of them women, were shot here late today by one of three men who were seated in an automobile in front of the Crosley radio plant and had been making remarks to women employees leaving the building.

The victims are: Claude Hughes, 36 years of age; Miss Lorraine Wagner, 19; James Crowe, 25; Edward Mappes, 18, and Flora Gray, 49. Hughes's condition is critical.

Hughes had driven to the plant for his wife, Mrs. Mattie Hughes, an employee. He protested when the men directed several remarks at his wife, he said. They became abusive and an argument ensued, leading to the shooting. The three escaped.

Sousa Observes His Birthday by Directing Band

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—John Philip Sousa, veteran band master, today spent his seventy-fifth birthday directing his band.

Mr. Sousa took sufficient time from his music to observe, after listening to a reproduction of his own voice and the music of his band, that nothing astonishes him any more.

"It is impossible to set a limit to mechanical ingenuity, particularly in America," he said.

BOY DENIES MURDER HE CONFESSED

Signed Statement When Promised His Freedom by Detective, Lad Avers

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—A 12-year-old boy who signed a confession that he had killed an aged widow told a judge in Children's Court today the only reason he signed was that the detectives told him he could go home to his mother if he did.

Testifying at his trial for juvenile delinquency, the boy, Edward Moran, repudiated the "confession" absolutely. In it he was quoted as saying he strangled Mrs. Clara Hewes, 76 years of age, widow of "Hewes the magician," when she caught him stealing $3 from her dresser top.

Detective John McGee, who questioned the boy at the police station, admitted under cross-examination that he had made no attempt to check the accuracy of the statements the child made in the confession.

Court adjourned without a decision.

MacAlpine and Party Return to Canada by Air

OTTAWA (Ont.) Nov. 6. (AP)—Col. C. D. H. MacAlpine and his seven aerial explorers were landed safely tonight on the mainland of Canada by Capt. G. S. Blanchet and his rescue party, according to radio messages received here.

Four of the MacAlpine party are billeted at Bathurst Inlet and the others at Brunside River.

Capt. Blanchet and his three companions flew today from Bathurst Inlet to Cambridge Bay, where Col. MacAlpine and his men were found Monday after having been missing for eight weeks.

Straton Estate Goes to Widow

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—Rev. John Roach Straton, who died October 29, last, at Clifton Springs, N. Y., left his entire estate to his wife, Mrs. Georgia Hillyer Straton, according to the terms of his will filed for probate today.

The petition states that the estate is "more than $10,000" in personal property and "more than $5000" in real property. The widow was named executrix without bond.

Today's Fact on SINUS TROUBLE

No. 8—Drainage Relieves Sinusitis

IRRIGATION" and "drainage" are the two words that describe the method of treatment that nose specialists employ for the vast majority of diseases of the nasal sinuses—those troublesome cavities in the skull adjoining the nose.

The aim of all treatment should be to aid the sinuses to drain properly. Once drainage is established, nature does the rest. Frequently, in chronic cases of long standing, a sinus must be opened by a surgeon to establish this vital drainage. But in the great majority of acute attacks of sinus trouble spontaneous healing will occur, if aided by the cleansing effect of Sina Siptec in the nasal cavities.

With the exception of cases where an operation is necessary, the most important method of home treatment recommended by specialists for obtaining drainage is "irrigation."

The average case of an acute sinus flare-up should respond to the irrigation of the nasal cavity with the aid of the ordinary glass douche. About 90 per cent of the acute cases thus treated will clear up in several days. (Next article, No. 9, Tuesday, "Irrigation and Drainage.")

Sina Siptec washes away the drainage from sinuses and rids the nasal cavity of toxic secretions. Reduces congestion and inflammation. Quick relief for head colds and catarrh! Highly recommended by thousands of users everywhere. Comprehensive booklet, "What Is Sinus Trouble?" in every package. At all druggists.

BILLINGS'S PLEA WINS APPROVAL

Young Glad Court May Get Pardon Petition

Felon Linked With Mooney in Bay City Bombing

Governor Has Latter's Case Under Consideration

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—Gov. Young today expressed his approval of the action of Warren K. Billings, serving a life sentence in Folsom prison for participation in the San Francisco Preparedness Day bomb disaster, in petitioning the State Supreme Court for a pardon recommendation.

Billings has been convicted twice of felonies, and under the law the Governor cannot consider a pardon in his case, unless the State Supreme Court recommends such action.

The pardon application of Thomas Mooney, who is asserted to have been Billings's partner in the crime and is serving a life term in San Quentin prison, is before Gov. Young.

"The cases of Billings and Mooney," said Gov. Young, "are parallel. The testimony in each is similar and it is difficult to consider one without the other. Since the Mooney case is before me, I regard it as fortunate that efforts are being made to provide for legal consideration of both pardon applications at the same time."

The inference from his remarks, which the Governor declined to amplify, is that the pardon of both men may depend on the recommendation of the Supreme Court in the Billings case.

It is considered virtually a certainty the Billings pardon will be granted if the Supreme Court recommends it, and Mooney doubtless will receive identical treatment.

On the other hand, if the Supreme Court fails to recommend the pardon, it is inferred that the Governor likewise will refuse a pardon to Mooney, at the same time avoiding any political complications by shifting all responsibility to the Supreme Court.

PACT WITH MEXICO ON WATER NEAR

International Commission to Report Within Week, President Informed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Labors of the International Water Commission attempting a settlement between the United States and Mexico will be completed about the 10th inst., members of the commission today informed President Hoover.

No official announcement was made of the progress of the commission toward a determination of the international water rights of the two nations along the border. At the conclusion of its deliberations the commission will issue a statement and it is expected an agreement will then have been reached on which a treaty may be made which will settle many vexing questions.

The present session of the commission began last August in Mexico City.

LACK OF JURIST BALKS HEARING

VISALIA, Nov. 6. — Because the plaintiff had not obtained a judge to hear the order to show cause here yesterday, and local judges were disqualified, the $225,000 damage suit brought by Joseph Basile, Jr., of San Francisco, against the Kaweah Delta Water Conservation District, was continued on stipulation, with the restraining order in force, but modified to permit the removal of brush and trees already cut from the banks of Cross Creek.

JERSEY FLYER KILLED IN FALL FROM PLANE

HASBROUCK HEIGHTS (N. J.) Nov. 6. (AP)—Henry Forgeita, a student pilot, was killed today at Teterboro airport by falling from the plane in which he was flying with Lieut. G. W. West, an instructor. The plane had hit a downward current of air while banking 150 feet from the ground.

SCENIC ROADS TO BE CLEARED

Entrances to High Sierra Included in Sign Ban

County Chambers Meeting Unit for Elimination

North and South Gateways Will be Cleaned Up

VISALIA, Nov. 6.—Both north and south highway entrances to Balch Park and Camp Nelson in the high Sierra regions of Tulare county last night were agreed upon as part of the scenic roads for signboard elimination, at an all-county meeting of Chamber of Commerce representatives held here by invitation of the local chamber. The south entrance to the two mountain playgrounds is by way of Porterville eastward over the Springville highway, and the northern entrance leads over the Blue Ridge route via Exeter and the Yokol Valley.

Men at the meeting here, forty in number, backed by the civic organizations at home, were unanimous in their desire to clear Tulare county of its roadside clutter.

Following a recently published order of County Supervisor Pfrimmer that all signs erected along county highways in his district must come down, five truckloads of the signs were removed by county employees, in addition to a large number taken away by their owners.

It was found in many instances that the signs belonged to firms long gone out of business, while others called attention to persons and events no longer of interest to the passing public. Pfrimmer, who is chairman of the Tulare County Board, is also a member of the road committee of the State Chamber of Commerce.

An orderly plan of regulation worked out by Riverside County Supervisors was outlined to the gathering by a representative of the Southern California Automobile Club.

Four of the five county supervisors were present at the meeting; also Col. John R. White of the national parks, A. E. Miot of the Tulare County Board of Trade, representatives from the Tulare, Porterville, Lindsay, Strathmore, Exeter and Visalia chambers and two agents of the Foster-Kleiser Company, who gave valuable information and stated that their company desired to co-operate in the regulatory movement.

Denver Sued by Mother of Needy Family

DENVER, Nov. 6. (AP)—Mrs. Nellie Wassmer, mother of five, today sought by law to force the city of Denver to save herself and her children from starvation.

Through an attorney whose funds have helped the family she petitioned in District Court for a writ of mandamus to force provision of food by the Board of Health, the city and charitable organizations, because the children are "now actually suffering for necessary food to keep them properly nourished or properly fed."

The family is under quarantine as a result of a doctor's diagnosis of one girl's illness as whooping cough. The mother is unable, because of the quarantine, to go about her work to provide money. The father earns only $12 a week as a dishwasher in a restaurant.

The children range from 18 months to 12 years of age.

Hearing on the petition was set for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Hold-up Trio Robs Jeweler

ANDERSON (Ind.) Nov. 6. (AP)—Two men and a woman escaped with diamonds and other jewelry valued at $100,000 after holding up L. E. Ross, local jeweler, in his store two blocks from the police station here, late today.

The jeweler said he recognized the men as having been in the store recently to purchase a diamond.

HIT-RUNNER KILLS PIONEER

John B. McNew, Prominent Bakersfield Man, Hurled Hundred Feet by Impact; Police Scour County

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 6.—John B. McNew, 48 years of age, long-time resident of this city, was instantly killed late last night on the North Chester-avenue highway when struck by an automobile and police are combing the county for the driver who sped away without giving aid.

McNew was killed about 10:30 p.m. while walking along the highway near the National Supply Company's warehouse, at 3401 North Chester avenue. The hit-and-run motorist, traveling at a high rate of speed, struck McNew from behind with such force that the body was hurled more than 100 feet.

The unknown driver sped toward the downtown business district after the crash. There was no eyewitness to the tragedy and police have no clew.

A report broadcast by local traffic officials this morning included the meager description of the hit-and-run machine as being a small black car with its headlights demolished and its front covered with blood. This description is based on a report made to the police by C. M. Isaacson, National Supply Company employee, who arrived at McNew's side a few seconds after the crash, also on the condition of the body. The victim's throat was slashed by broken glass, police believe.

McNew was well known here, having resided here more than twenty years. He was a part-time employee of the Rite Theater as a stagehand. He leaves a brother, Dr. Harry McNew, formerly of this city, now located in Pasadena, also two sisters living in Los Angeles.

TWO OIL WORKERS INJURED WHEN CAR TURNS OVER

HANFORD, Nov. 6. — When the small touring car in which they were riding, overturned on the Blakeley levee road, ten miles southwest of Stratford, about 2 p.m. today, J. M. McCuish, 28 years of age, and H. H. Gibson, 32, oil workers in the employ of the Associated Oil Company at Oil City, were injured, McCuish perhaps, fatally.

The men were found by N. A. Reap of Fresno, McCuish was unconscious with a basal fracture of the skull, and Gibson was dazed. Neither was able to tell how the accident occurred.

Reap went to the Blakeley ranch, two miles away, and called an ambulance which brought the men to the County Hospital.

Gibson, who suffered only a fractured collar bone, was released early this evening. McCuish, however, is seriously injured and hospital surgeons hold little hope for his recovery. Both men have been employed at Oil City about seven months. They came to that place from the oil district at Huntington Beach.

The KENWOOD

The STRATFORD

The CHESTERFIELD

DAY AFTER DAY—season after season—year in and year out—over half a million thrifty Foreman & Clark customers have made their way up the dollar-saving stairways of F & C stores. They've put Foreman & Clark clothes to the best of all tests—they've actually worn them. Then they've given the most convincing proof of their satisfaction—they've returned again to Foreman & Clark at the rate of 83 out of every 100. These smartly dressed thrifty men have given Foreman & Clark the most overwhelming vote of confidence ever before received by any clothier.

And here are the five reasons why!

COAST TO COAST UPSTAIRS STORES SAVE A MILLION YEARLY

Our nation-wide stores enable us to give nation-wide service and nation-wide savings. Any F & C customer can duplicate his New York savings in our San Francisco stores. He can take advantage of our famous after-purchase-service to its fullest extent. No matter where he bought his F & C clothes he can have them sponged, pressed and all minor repairs taken care of in any F & C store absolutely with no charge.

Before ever our fabrics are bought—10 U. S. Bureau of Standards tests prove they're uniformly woven of all wool for long wear—that their dyes won't fade—that the cloth won't shrink. Our reliable style sources from the fashion centers of the world insure correctness in cut and character. Exactly 36 hand tailoring operations give positive assurance that our garments will be upstanding as well as outstanding.

[3]

5 FOREMAN & CLARK OWNED AND OPERATED FACTORIES

Here 4000 expert craftsmen tailor F & C quality garments the year round. This 100% annual production enables us to keep our overhead down to 6% though the government deems 30% as reasonable, it's an important reason why F & C clothes are so consistent in their unprecedented values and unsurpassed style.

FOREMAN & CLARK'S CASH BUSINESS WITH NO CREDIT LOSS

There's no room in Foreman & Clark prices for collectors' salaries, attorneys' fees and other credit losses. We know it's not fair to make the prompt paying patron stand the gaff. And most of all—we know that thrifty-minded F & C customers realize it's best in the long run to pay as they go—to buy for cash and own the clothes they wear.

A $10,000,000 GUARANTEE WITH EVERY F & C GARMENT

Here's a guarantee as unrestricted, clear, plain and binding as any you'll find in the land. It says we'll make good in every particular of savings, service, and style. It gives you proof that you've saved at least $10 on your purchase—that we've made but 55c on our sale.

LOST IN STOCK MARKET CRASH

Why risk your money in stocks when you can invest with absolute safety in

HUNTINGTON PALISADES

"On Santa Monica Bay"

—where Values are increasing daily.

Every single homesite that has been resold here has brought a price higher than the original investor paid for it.

On the other hand, no one knows how many thousands of people have lost their all in stocks.

Listen to what Arthur Brisbane says: "With Stocks, Bonds and other so-called 'Securities' the sky is the limit. A hundred millions can take the place of fifty millions and then the hundred millions can be wiped out, vanishing into the air. But the Earth is limited. That Security cannot be changed into watered stock. When you own a piece of the earth, you own something that cannot be taken away from you, something that, if intelligently chosen, will make you rich."

Unprejudiced comparisons stamp Huntington Palisades as the most desirable residential property in Los Angeles . . . and, like the Earth, IT IS LIMITED.

Obviously, those who invest in Huntington Palisades today can exact a substantial profit from those who defer making selections now. Take advantage of this opportunity . . . and BUY NOW.

STANDARD OIL MELON VOTED

California Company Will Pay Dividend in Stock

Distribution at Rate of Two Per Cent Announced

Regular Quarterly Declared of 62 1-2 Cents a Share

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6. (AP)—The board of directors of the Standard Oil Company of California today declared a stock dividend of 2 per cent in addition to the regular dividend of 62 1-2 cents a share, payable December 16 to stockholders of record the 16th inst.

The dividend will comprise 251,382 shares. No fractional shares will be issued, but the company will pay market price to those entitled to less than a full share.

The dividend will be paid out of current earnings.

FINANCIAL AID OFFERED EMPLOYEES

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—The Standard Oil Company announced today an offer of assistance to employee-stockholders who have suffered through the depreciation in the price of stock deposited as collateral under loans. Nothing was said in the statement relative to stock purchased on margin through brokers.

"Many of the employees of the Standard Oil Company of California," the announcement stated, "are investors in the stock of the corporation, and to these employees who have made loans which under the present depressed condition of the securities market may threaten their investment, the company has offered assistance. There are thousands of employees who are stockholders, most of them having acquired their holdings through the operation of the company's stock investment and savings plan."

Declaration of the 2 per cent extra in stock is the first stock dividend authorized by the Standard Oil Company of California since December, 1922, when 100 per cent in stock was paid. Other stock dividends were distributed in April, 1916, 50 per cent, and April, 1917, 33 1-3 per cent.

Extra cash dividends were paid in September, 1918, and March, 1919, 2 1-2 per cent each in Liberty bonds; December, 1919, 1 per cent cash; 1920, 4 per cent cash; March, 1921, 1 per cent cash; March, 1927, 12 1-2 cents cash; December, 1928, 50 cents cash.

AMERICAN YVETTE EARNINGS REPORTED

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—American Yvette Company today reported net earnings for seven months ended June 30, last, of $108,229 after all charges including depreciation while net sales for the period were $1,266,188. No comparison with the corresponding period a year ago is available. Net income for the year ended December 31, last, was $281,159 after charges and taxes, equal after preferred dividends to $2.23 a share on 90,000 shares of common stock outstanding.

ESTIMATE INCREASED ON COTTON

Memphis Agency Raises Crop Figure to Total of 15,003,000 Bales

MEMPHIS, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—Reports to the Commercial Appeal indicate very small net changes in the cotton crop prospect during October, the paper says today. As of the 1st inst., the indicated probable production is 15,003,000 bales, 500 pounds gross weight equivalents, compared with 14,971,000 bales, the Commercial Appeal estimate of October 1. Government estimates of October 1 were 14,915,000 bales. These estimates are exclusive of linters and repacks.

The crop in the central belt and in Alabama and Georgia is turning out somewhat better than expected a month ago, while the crop in Oklahoma and Texas seems to be even worse than expected. On many Texas farms bolls, especially toward the close of the harvest, were so few that great difficulty has been experienced in obtaining pickers. Most of Texas, it appears, is from 25 to approximately 100 per cent picked, most of the cotton remaining to be picked in Texas is in the west and northwest.

Recent Texas and Oklahoma receipts show little, if any, improvement in staple, the breaking of the drouth early in September having benefited cotton, apparently, at least, in no important particular.

Rainy weather was reported over most of the belt toward the close of the month. Texas and central belt harvesting was delayed to some extent the first important delay of the season.

Killing frost was reported in portions of the Texas panhandle over most of Oklahoma and in north and some central portions of Arkansas, between the 20th and the close of the month.

The crop belt as a whole appears to be approximately 75 per cent ginned.

Warm Weather Hits Business

Wholesalers and manufacturers depending on California business report that the continued warm weather will materially decrease this year's profits, according to the weekly summary of the Bradstreet Company on business in the Los Angeles metropolitan area, issued yesterday. Rain and cooler weather would move considerable merchandise of the retailers, it was stated.

While the department stores are now featuring the holiday goods, the small retailer is more interested in selling seasonable merchandise. Collections are still slow and unsatisfactory in many lines. Crude oil curtailment, according to the report, is helping the oil industry.

Bank Combine May be Delayed

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (Exclusive) Several large stockholders of the National City Bank have withdrawn their proxies indorsing the merger with the Corn Exchange Bank which comes up for ratification tomorrow, it was learned here today.

It is understood that this action has been taken because it is believed the present time inopportune to execute a consolidation involving such a large sum. In the event the merger does not go through tomorrow it is understood the consolidation plans will not be discontinued but resumed at a later date.

SIMMONS COMPANY SALES SHOW GAIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (Exclusive) October sales of the Simmons Company totaled $5,951,026, against $3,843,969 in October, 1928, a gain of 54.8 per cent, it was announced here today. Sales for the ten months this year aggregated $43,952,972, against $31,427,103 for the same period last year, a gain of 39.8 per cent. Incoming orders since the stock market break show a favorable increase on a comparative basis with last year, it was stated.

CONTINENTAL OIL HEAD TO FORM NEW COMPANY

NEW YOK, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—S. H. Keoughan has resigned as chairman of the executive committee of the Continental Oil Company, it was announced here today. It was reported that he is organizing a new company with New York associates.

OIL CONTROL NEAR AT HAND

Return of Prices to Former Level Expected Before End of Week; Seal Beach Takes Lead

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Competent operators in the oil business ventured the opinion yesterday that production in the flush fields in Southern California will be under effective control by today or tomorrow. This prediction was based on figures showing daily output hovering just above the requirements set forth in the curtailment schedule.

If this supposition is correct, it is believed that the old price scale for crude oil in these fields will be restored within a day or so, or probably before the end of the week. As soon as the field umpires inform the purchasing companies that operators are conforming fully to the program the announcement of the higher prices is expected to follow.

SEAL BEACH EXAMPLE

Corroboration of this point of view was given late last night through the announcement by the Standard Oil Company of the restoration of the old price schedule at Seal Beach. This field came into line Tuesday on curtailment, and recognition followed one day later. This action plainly indicates that the same policy will be followed in the other flush fields.

Yesterday it was estimated that Signal Hill production was within 3 per cent and Santa Fe Springs within 6 per cent of the required figures. Ventura avenue progress was not so satisfactory, but operators believe that this field will come quickly into line. When all these fields are down to the output specified in the curtailment schedule the State's daily production will run around 650,000 barrels.

What the restoration of crude oil prices to the former basis will mean to the State of California cannot be overestimated. Prevailing prices of about 50 per cent under the old level represent a sharp reduction in the State's total income and affect especially the total purchasing power in Southern California.

From the standpoint of the stock market quotations on oil securities, the upward readjustment in crude oil prices would be expected to react beneficially. Crude oil producing companies would be directly benefited and refining and marketing companies would naturally share in the results from the healthy relationship of production, consumption and price.

STOCKS TO BENEFIT

Improvement in the prices for oil stocks would lift the shadows from hundreds of investors in California. Psychologically, this development would be the most efficacious tonic injected into this State for some time.

Producing companies likely to benefit directly through higher crude oil prices include Pacific Western Oil, strictly a producing unit; Shell Union Oil, a large seller of crude; Universal Consolidated, Bolsa Chica, Wellington, Exeter, Occidental, Bandini and other small producing companies.

Refining and marketing companies standing to reflect improved conditions in the industry include Standard Oil, Union, Richfield, Texas, Rio Grande, Tide Water Associated and others.

The action yesterday of the Standard Oil Company of California in declaring an extra dividend of 2 per cent in stock is bullish on the oil shares. The decision to make this extra distribution would seem to indicate confidence in the prospects for stabilizing the industry and also a reflection of satisfactory progress by this company so far in the current year. At the same time the payment in stock rather than cash reflects a policy of conserving cash resources for whatever emergencies may arise.

Exchange Elects Committee Head

A. R. Walker of Walker & Eisen, member of the board of governors of the California Stock Exchange, has been appointed chairman of the committee on admissions of the exchange, Jacob Nathan, manager, announced yesterday. The committee embraces members of the executive staff and will be enlarged by the addition shortly of a number of exchange members, he stated.

"The committee on admissions will begin to function immediately and we expect to announce our first list of members within a very few days," Mr. Nathan stated. Work on the trading floor is progressing rapidly and a definite date for the opening will be set shortly.

Association of Brokers Forms

Brokers who recently laid plans for the formation of an association of California security dealers to foster a more active over-the-counter stock market and to more readily facilitate financing of new companies and refinancing operations, held a meeting yesterday in which they adopted the name of California Brokers' Association for the organization. The constitution will be voted upon next week.

Jack Hines, secretary of the association, stated that a streng code of ethics has been adopted and a censorship committee appointed. The membership is to be limited to 200 and no initiation fee will be required. The association has chosen permanent headquarters in the Financial Center Building.

E. J. NOLAN STARTS ON EUROPEAN TRIP

E. J. Nolan, president of the Bank of America of California, will leave Los Angeles today for a two months' vacation in Europe, accompanied by Mrs. Nolan. In the past three years, Mr. Nolan has personally supervised two major banking consolidations and the heavy duties incident to these mergers have not before permitted him an extended vacation. He will return to his desk January 1.

Average Drop for Group of Stocks Heavy

Showing a decrease of 18.7 per cent from the preceding month, the market value of 100 representative stock issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange depreciated $7,579,043,000 in October, according to an analysis just released by Frazier, Jelke & Co. The 100 stocks which were appraised at $40,530,401,000 at the end of September were worth but $32,951,358,000 at the closing prices October 31, last, which were at least several billion dollars higher than those prevailing at the lows of October 29, last.

The month's largest decline was recorded in the amusement stocks which showed a decrease of 34.7 per cent. The second largest decline was in utilities, ten of which were selling 30 per cent lower at the end of October than at the close of September. The electrical equipment group dropped 29.2 per cent while motors showed a 27.4 per cent depreciation. Incidentally the 100 common stock issues now include over 417,000,000, while on December 29, last, these companies had outstanding but 334,000,000 shares, the analysis points out.

Chatham Phenix Corporation in New Expansion

Chatham Phenix Corporation announced yesterday that as a result of the completion of negotiations with the William R. Compton Company, it has taken over the offices and personnel of the latter concern in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, Des Moines, St. Louis, Cincinnati and Kansas City and is now operating them as offices of the Chatham Phenix Corporation.

At the same time Rollin C. Bortle, president of the enlarged Chatham Phenix Corporation, announced the following official staff of the enlarged company: Frederick L. Chapman, vice-president and secretary, New York; Charles H. Jones, vice-president, New York; Richard C. Noel, vice-president, New York; Herbert C. Hautau, assistant vice-president, New York; Harold E. Ryder, treasurer, New York; Robert J. Dunlop, assistant secretary, New York; Kevin Lyons, assistant vice-president, Boston; L. Paul Close, vice-president, Philadelphia; Joseph D. Murphy, vice-president, Chicago; Frank W. Bowen, assistant vice-president, Chicago; Marvin O. Leggett, assistant vice-president, Chicago; Eugene W. Sloan, vice-president, St. Louis; John R. Thomas, assistant vice-president, St. Louis, and Proctor M. Masters, assistant vice-president, Kansas City.

Golden State Milk Products Adds New Unit

Another step in the expansion program of the Golden State Milk Products Company was revealed yesterday with the announcement by L. E. W. Ploda, chairman of the board, that the Liberty Dairy of Santa Barbara had been acquired through merger. H. S. Baird, former manager-owner of the acquired dairy, will be in charge of Golden State's business at Santa Barbara.

The Liberty Dairy has been favored with a rapid increase in its local field in the past four or five years, as has the Golden State in its more expansive territory, Mr. Ploda said. Combined operations of both companies in Santa Barbara will be handled through the Golden State plant, capacity of which has been doubled to provide for the increased business.

In addition to the usual increase in the milk and butter divisions of Golden State, October was an unusually good month in ice cream sales with the San Francisco territory reporting the second largest month of the year in this respect, according to Mr. Ploda.

BROKER CONCERN IN BANKRUPTCY COURT

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed today against Baran & Co., Inc., a stock brokerage concern. First National Corporation was the petitioner. The petitioning corporation, a Massachusetts concern, alleges that the defendant corporation is bankrupt and demand is made for the appointment of a receiver. Baran & Co. is not a member of the New York Stock Exchange.

PRICE OF CRUDE OIL RESTORED

Standard Announces Return to Old Quotations at Seal Beach

Increases in the price paid for crude oil in the Seal Beach field, which restore the price structure in this field to the level prevailing before the recent cut, were announced last night by the Standard Oil Company of California. The announcement follows:

"The Standard Oil Company of California announces the restoration of prices it offers for crude oil produced at Seal Beach, bringing the schedule back to the prices in effect prior to the recent cut of October 21. The advanced prices will be effective on all deliveries made on or after the 4th inst., that being the date on which the production at Seal Beach was curtailed to the amount agreed upon in the general curtailment plan for the Southern California flush fields.

"While the contract form under which the company purchases crude oil specifies that price changes become effective ten days after publication, the company in this case has waived that clause, giving the sellers the immediate effect of the advanced prices. The increases in the prices offered for crude oil at Seal Beach are approximately 50 cents a barrel."

Pacific American Gives Summary of Operations in First Year

Total premiums written by the Pacific American Fire Insurance Company in the twelve months from November 1, 1928, the date the company started operations, amounted to $890,742, according to a report issued yesterday by D. W. Pierce, Sr., vice-president and general manager. While officially the first year's business was up on the 1st inst., the writing of business did not actually get under way until December 1, 1928.

Practically all of this business has been derived from California and Arizona, Mr. Pierce stated. The company has branches at present in New Mexico and Oregon and arrangements are being made for representation in Washington and Colorado, but the entry into States other than California and Arizona has been so recent that the business secured has had comparatively little effect upon the total, he explained.

The total premiums for this year from January 1 through December 31, next, will exceed $1,000,000, the executive estimated. The company started operations a year ago with a capital of $1,000,000 and a net surplus of $3,000,000. Final figures to the 1st inst. are not available but a statement as of October 1, last, showed that after allocating $371,635 to premium reserves as provided by State laws, the net surplus had increased to $3,416,587, or a net growth during the brief period the company had been in operation of $416,587. October earnings will increase these amounts.

Plans are now being made which are expected to result in the company's entry into a number of southern States and in the Middle West in 1930.

London Market Trading Quiet

LONDON, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—The stock market had a quiet tone today with business on a small scale. Issues of trans-Atlantic interests were generally lower. The mining list was easier and the oil and rubber group were quiet with price changes small. Talking machine issues had a steady tone, while artificial silks, textiles, margarines and match shares were easier. Tobaccos were neglected. Ford Motors, Ltd., was quoted around £2 7-8, Brazilian Traction around 47 1-4 and International Nickel around 38 1-2.

The gilt-edged division had a firmer tone. Foreign issues were steady with Brazilians and Egyptians in better demand. Home rails were quiet and Argentine rails and Canadian Pacifics had a steady tone.

LOEW'S DECLARES EXTRA DIVIDEND

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—Loew's, Inc., today declared an extra dividend of 75 cents and a quarterly dividend of the same amount on the common stock, payable December 31 to stock of record December 13. This places the stock on a $3 annual basis as against $2 previously.

MEETING POSTPONED

PLAN FOR BANK MERGER HIT

National City-Corn Exchange Deal Imperiled by Collapse of Stock Values

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—An interesting situation in the field of big business has come to light as a result of the drop in stock exchange prices during the last few weeks.

It will be recalled that on September 19, last, the boards of directors of the National City Bank and the Corn Exchange National Bank, both of New York, announced, subject to the approval of the stockholders, the sale of the stock of the Corn Exchange to the National City Bank at $360 a share.

At the time, the Corn Exchange had 605,000 shares outstanding. So the total sale price was $211,750,000.

The National City stock then was selling at about $500 a share and Corn Exchange at about $400 a share. So the arrangement worked out by the bank officials was four shares of National City to be exchanged for five shares of Corn Exchange. Those preferring cash were to be paid in cash on that basis—there was the rub.

Since that time, something crashed. That something was the smash in the bank stock prices of these two banks. Yesterday, the Corn Exchange closed at $190 bid and $210 asked. At such a figure, the Corn Exchange stock is worth about $121,000,000.

Naturally, nearly every Corn Exchange stockholder will want to exchange as National City Bank stock has dropped also from $500 a share to $305.

So at the meeting of the stockholders of the National City Bank today, it is predicted that the deal in its present form will be voted down.

So that's another stock-market casualty.

Events of the last few days show

Dependability Looms Large on the Security Horizon

NEVER before have security of principal and certainty of income loomed so large on the investment horizon.

Never before have so many investors been asking "Is it dependable?" rather than "Will I double my money?" when selecting an investment.

Never before has the public mind been so much in accord with the policy of conservatism which has been the guiding force of this organization since its inception. Since 1912, our officers and executives have always held that conservatism pays best in the long run and our business has been built around this principle.

A list of high-grade bonds meeting these requirements will be sent on request.

PACIFIC FINANCE CORPORATION
The Common Stock of this Corporation at current prices presents attractive investment possibilities.
The Corporation has a paid-up capital of over $14,000,000 and a surplus of over $15,000,000.
Since organization nine years ago earnings have consistently increased. Activities have been expanded to cover various fields of commercial financing and the Corporation is not dependent upon any one class of business.
Although one of the four largest of its kind in the United States, the Corporation operates in only about 20% of the national territory. It has sufficient capital structure to expand operations into the balance of the territory, which is indicative of the possibilities of future growth.
Two subsidiary Corporations contribute to the earnings and at present rate of growth should shortly earn sufficient themselves to pay the entire dividends of the Corporation on the present basis.
The Directorate is composed of men who have been instrumental in establishing and developing the most successful industrial and financial institutions of the West.
During the nine years of its organization the Corporation has added to surplus a sum approximately equal to the amount paid in dividends on the Common Stock. Our analysis of the last statement of the Corporation shows an increase of Profit and Loss surplus for the nine months ending September 30th of over $800,000, after dividends paid and accrued.
The cash surplus of the Corporation and Management policy are a surety of the continuance of at least the present dividend scale. Recently announced earnings would justify an increase of the cash dividend.
At the present stock and cash dividend rate the yield is 8½% at current prices.
We will gladly give you additional details regarding the Common Stock of this company, listed on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange which we consider is at an attractive price today.

mittee. He began his banking career as a clerk in a Boston bank in 1885, became assistant bank examiner in 1891, then an officer in several of the Boston banks for the next eight years. In 1899 he entered New York as vice-president of the National Park Bank. Five years later he transferred to the Chase as vice-president and became president in 1911. In 1921 he became chairman of the board.

W. C. Potter, head of the Guarantee Trust, was a mining engineer, who entered the banking field a few years ago. After leaving the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, he became an engineer on the Atchison Railroad and left to work for the Guggenheim copper and smelting interests. His work was so conspicuously successful in that field that he was offered the presidency of the Guarantee Trust Company.

Seward Prosser, head of the Banker's Trust Company, entered the banking field in another way. He began his business career by selling life insurance for the Equitable Life Assurance Society. Then, in 1907, he entered the banking business as vice-president of the Astor Trust Company of New York, moved from there to the presidency of the Liberty National and then went to the Bankers' Trust as president. He has been chairman of the board since 1923.

Mr. Lamont, the chairman, has said repeatedly to the writer that it was not the aim of the committee to support stocks at certain levels; but rather to see that the market shall reach its own level in an orderly and natural way.

How much money has the committee poured into the market? No figure has been given out. But this banking committee controls assets which reach considerably above $10,000,000,000.

That's no mean figure even in rich America.

UNITED FRUIT

The United Fruit Company leads all competitors in the volume of banana imports into the United States and England. The company is also one of the five largest sugar-cane producers in Cuba. Ninety-seven steamships are operated in the Caribbean trade, handling tropical products grown mainly on its own plantations. In the tropical properties about 2300 miles of railways are operated, and warehouses, wharves and terminal facilities are maintained at all principal ports in this region. Considerable passenger carrying is done in addition to cargo carrying.

For the first nine months of 1929 net income amounted to $14,305,000 or $5.41 per share on the common stock, as compared with $17,700,000 or $6.74 per share for the same period in 1928. This decline was attributed to adverse weather conditions and unstable conditions in the sugar industry. Passenger revenues showed a decline, in the steamship division, but freight revenues increased. Cash on hand after payment of October 1 dividends amounted to $23,000,000 against $35,000,000 in 1928.

A Tax Lien

On An Entire City—to Yield 6% Tax Free

IN EFFECT a municipal obligation, yet yielding a much higher rate than most municipals, City of Alturas, California, Acquisition and Improvement District No. 1 6% non-callable gold bonds will commend themselves to the tax-exempt bond buyer seeking bargains.

Bonds are payable principal and interest from a direct ad valorem tax against all lands within the district which in this case embraces the entire City of Alturas. Bonds were issued to cover the cost of a sewerage system. The city, which has a population of 4000, is the county seat of Modoc county, California, and the trading center for a large area. A large lumber mill employing 1000 men is located at Alturas, which is also a division of the Southern Pacific.

Assessed value of real estate and improvements exceeds $1,000,000 and the only other bonded indebtedness besides this $88,000 issue is a $24,000 issue of water bonds. Actual value of real estate and improvements is appraised at $2,526,000.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Petroleum Issues Resist Selling Wave That Breaks Other Stocks 3 to 6 Points

Prices were swept to still lower levels on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday as the downward movement, which began Monday and was carried through Tuesday's session when eastern markets were closed, was forcibly extended in a large measure by liquidation brought on by the break in New York. New York stock and curb issues listed here suffered to the greatest extent but throughout the entire board no low marks were scored below last week's bottom levels.

While Transamerica, Pacific Finance, Southern California Edison, Pacific Lighting and a few others were knocked down from 3 to 6 points, the major oil issues exhibited far more resistance to the general depression and slipped back less than 2 points for the most part. Barnsdall was the exception with a break of 6½ points to 24½.

Standard of California, despite the expectation of an extra dividend, fell off 2 3-4 points to 64. The extra 2 per cent dividend in stock was declared after the close of the market. However, Richfield, Rio Grande and Union oils were, next to Transamerica, the most active issues on the board and indicated largely the underlying strength of the oil market following the agreement of California operators to cut back crude production approximately 200,000 barrels daily.

Richfield closed off 1 5-8 points to 28½; Rio Grande, 7-8 to 21½; Union Oil, 1 7-8 to 46, and Union Associates 1 1-4 to 45½, each of the issues recovering from slightly lower levels which occurred when the New York market was in session.

Southern California Edison closed low for the day at 57 3-8, off 3 1-8, and Pacific Lighting acted in a similar fashion, hitting 78½, off 6½. Pacific Finance slumped 8 points to 112 and recovered to 114. Security-First National and Citizens' National banks each dropped 3 points to 120 and 115, respectively. On lighter sales, Western Pipe and Steel sank 4½ points to 25; Douglas Aircraft, 3 points to 19, and Pacific Western Oil, 2 points to 15.

Sales totaled 68,281 shares valued at $2,730,337; previous day, 35,358 shares valued at $1,301,990.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Buyers became cautious in San Francisco's stock exchanges today, and while their operations increased considerably over yesterday's, sellers outbid them and most prices gained 1 to 3 points in trading tame. The hesitation was the effect, result of renewal of bear attacks in New York markets. Traders and investors were reported by investment houses to be holding aloof until they could judge for themselves where the stabilization point would be, following the erratic fluctuations of the last few weeks.

Transactions, as usual, was hammered hard. Many western holders of this stock turned it into cash today to satisfy margin calls. Pressure at the outset forced it down at the opening, and it sank gradually to close at 41½, down 6½ points from yesterday's last sale.

Bargain hunters bought Transamerica and other leaders, all of which slumped from fractions to more than 5 points, and in one case 32 pts., early in the afternoon with vengeance inspiring yesterday, and at 4:30 today, down 7, later recovering 5. The drop was of unknown proportions because of the low turnover—only 3,000 shares.

Oil stocks showed considerable resistance, and suffered with the rest of the list when brokerage houses called for more money on margin accounts. Standard of California was down 2½ points, later recovered. 2½; Richfield, 1½; Union, 2, and Union Associates, 2½.

A strengthening tendency was noticeable toward the close. Several stocks closed up fractionally to 2 points above the day's low point. The declaration of Standard Oil of California of a 2 per cent stock dividend in addition to the regular cash disbursement tended to revive confidence.

Stocks declining 2 to 5 points without new developments to account for their weakness were Pacific Lighting, Caterpillar, Gas and Electric, Pacific Gas, Diesel, California Packing, Golden State Milk, Consolidated Packing, Byron Jackson and Kolster Radio. Bright lows were reached by Schlesinger A, General Paint and Hupmobile Campbell, Wood Machinery and Parent common.

Shares changing hands were nearly double yesterday's total, 43,100, and values at $4,150,304. Averages, while showing marked decline from yesterday's levels, were in all groups well above the lows for the year.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—A break of from $3 to $3.50 a bale in the cotton market today was attributed to further speculative liquidation and southern selling, promoted by the action of the stock market and the trend toward increased estimates of the crop. All months except July broke below the 18-cent level and the midafternoon market was unsettled, with active months showing net losses of 40 to 50 points.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Despite the continued low volume of selling, prices on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange yesterday dropped substantially below the levels of preceding sessions in sympathy with the trend on other security markets. Mexican Seaboard Oil again led the activity but was relatively firm with a drop of but 1 point to 15 1-4.

Intercoast Trading, also a leader in activity, slipped back 1 3-8 to 23 3-8 and Pacific Mutual sold in large volume to yield 1 3-4 points to 90 1-4. On lighter sales, Consolidated Steel hit a new low at 14½, off 2 1-4, and the preferred dropped 1½ to a new bottom at 23. Diamond Electric fell off 3 1-4 to 39 3-4; Glaulding McBean, 3 1-4 to 69 3-4; Fokker, 2 7-8 to 21 1-8; Caterpillar, 3 1-4 to 89; Aviation Corporation, 7-8 to 7 3-4; Claude Neon Electrical Products, 4 to 36¼, and Electrical Products of Washington, 2 to 14½.

Sales totaled 69,711 shares valued at $465,715; previous day, 56,257 shares valued at $206,535.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—Another drastic decline carried prices on the New York Curb Exchange down precipitately today. However, the volume, although above normal, was far below the record-smashing figures established last week, totaling 2,001,600 shares.

Losses of 1 to 18 points developed in the more active utilities, where the selling pressure was severest. A few stocks, chiefly high-priced specialties, showed wider breaks, notably Middle West Utilities old, off 50½, and Electric Investors, off 30. Commonwealth Edison lost 35 points and Penn-Ohio Edison 46, both on small sales. The latter touched a new low.

Electric Bond and Share was a conspicuous weak spot, breaking 18½ points. American Gas & Electric, Central States Electric, Northern States Power A, Standard Power & Light, and United Light & Power B broke 11 to nearly 18 points.

Oil stocks were again soft. Cities Service opening at 35, or 3½ points lower, declined to 29 and closed at 29¾ for a net loss of 5. The initial block was of 125,000 shares, but trading thereafter was of nominal proportions. Cosden Oil dropped nearly 16. Humble, 4½; Vacuum, 3½; Standard of Indiana, 2¾, and Standard of Ohio, 1¾.

Aluminum Company of America tumbled 54 points, while American Cyanamid "B" was off 9¾ to the new low of 28¼. Tubize Artificial Silk "B" made a maximum drop of 38, but rallied to close 29 points net lower.

Investment company shares were sold freely and the close found some issues near the lows established last week. Goldman Sachs fell more than 13 points and Lehman Corporation 7½.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

Safeguard

Your Principal and Income

With Sound Investments

IN every period of market depression the high-grade utilities are conspicuous for their strength and stability. This is because of their sound underlying security and dependable earning power.

Fitkin securities have enjoyed an enviable record, and many investors in all parts of the country have safeguarded their principal and improved their incomes through the purchase of these high-grade stocks and bonds.

The outstanding groups of public service properties whose securities have been underwritten and distributed by the Fitkin organizations, are:

NATIONAL PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATION and its subsidiaries
(Formerly Fitkin-owned and operated)

INLAND POWER & LIGHT CORPORATION
and its subsidiaries
(Formerly Fitkin-owned and operated)

WESTERN UNITED CORPORATION
and its subsidiaries
(Formerly Fitkin-owned and operated)

PACIFIC PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY
and its subsidiaries
(Formerly Fitkin-owned and operated)

To investors who realize the fallacy of speculation, and who now wish to place their funds where they will be properly protected against market crashes, and where they will produce liberal interest or dividend returns, with opportunity for enhancement in value, we shall be glad to offer specific recommendations.

Without obligating yourself in any manner, simply fill in and mail the coupon below.

WE OFFER OUR SERVICES to those investors to whom security of principal and adequacy and certainty of return are of the utmost importance.

For nearly thirty years this company has supplied conservative Southern California investors with sound investments producing the largest returns consistent with maximum security of principal.

Securities which we offer do not possess speculative attraction and we have never held forth inducements of quick profits or rapid speculative gain to our clients. We have always believed and now re-assert our conviction that the surest road to financial independence is through saving, and investment in stable, income producing securities representing the well secured obligations of responsible borrowers.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—Buying of bonds was highly selective in today's abbreviated market, although the list was fairly active, totaling $17,000,000 for the three hours, and the tone was firm, but strength was noticeable chiefly in seasoned issues of investment character. It was apparent that investors were proceeding cautiously.

Whereas on Monday virtually every bond on the long list improved, there were soft spots today, especially in secondary obligations. Convertibles broke generally, sellng off about 2 to 14 points in sympathy with the weakness of the shares they represent.

Low-coupon rails and first-grade industrials and utilities displayed improvement that was largely of fractional proportions. United States government securities shaded lower, but only the Liberty 3½s and 4¼s 4¼s moved in any volume.

Atchison issues, Canadian Pacific 4s, Erie general 4s, Kansas City Southern 5s, Louisville & Nashville 5½s, Missouri-Kansas-Texas prior lien 5s, Rio Grande Western collateral 4s, Southern Railway general 4s, St. Louis & San Francisco prior lien 4½s, West Shore 4s, Baltimore & Ohio first 4½s and a few other rails led the moderate advance. Gains ran as high as 2 points in some of the less active issues.

Buying support was given the Armour 5½s and 4½s, American Smelting 5s, Chile Copper 5s, Consolidated Cigar 6s, Liggett & Myers 5s, and several of the oil company issues.

Columbia Gas & Electric 5s, Consumers Power 5s, Consolidated Gas of New York 5½s, Duquesne Light 4½s, North American Edison 5½s, and Northern States Power 6s showed gains of about a point on the average.

Foreign bonds moved irregularly. French republic issues, German 7s, British 5½s and Chile 8s forged ahead, but Colombian bonds and some of the other South Americans declined.

American Telephone 4½s led the dealings in the convertibles with a total of 14 issues. Other issues were: American Tobacco, Chemical 5½s, International Telephone 4½s, 5; Atchison 4½s, 6; International Match 5s, 6; Public Service of New Jersey 4½s, 2, and Commercial Investment Trust 5½s, 2.

The adjoining quotations represent sales of bonds (the thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices of the day. Figures given in connection with the odd issues are to facilitate transaction. The "unofficial" where the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says: Little change is noted in demand for heavy rolled steel products in the Pittsburgh district, but the trend still is downward. Incoming business in merchant steel bars continues light, with restricted activity in the automotive industry accounting for a large share of the current quietness. Plate demand shows considerable vitality in the East and bookings recently by eastern mills represented some improvement.

Financial tests get tougher

THE TEST OF TIME GETS ROUGHER . . every year . . for financial institutions . . whose officers or directors . . are softened by leisure or luxury . . and desire to delegate all responsibility to underlings.

This softening shows up in loan-losses, and down in Pomona Valley the old-fashioned, small-town MUTUAL Building and Loan Association OF POMONA takes just as much pride in its record of ONE loan-loss in 36½ years—as we take pride in our THREE STATE THRIFT RECORDS.

WE HAVE NO SHOW-WINDOW DIRECTORS . . and the MUTUAL Building and Loan Association OF POMONA . . keeps no man on its official staff . . just for the imaginative weight of his name . . after he's quit working.

WE HAVE $3,000,000 PAID-IN CAPITAL, surplus and reserve, carrying UNLIMITED LIABILITY, and it is a policy of cautious self-preservation which keeps lazy, listless big-names off our Board.

$14,000,000 RESOURCES, guaranteeing your 6% account convenient withdrawal, backed by old-fashioned economies, in Los Angeles, too—with 10th floor offices. Garage-basement just south of 7th, on the west side of Spring, with one hour's free parking, and you take the elevator to the MUTUAL offices.

Wheat Futures Turn Lower on Nervous Mart

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Severe new breaks in stock market values dazed the wheat pit at times today, together with adverse disclosures about affairs of the Canadian growers' pool. In some cases, wheat prices tumbled down to below the level which the United States Farm Board has set as a basis for loans. It was revealed that the Canadian wheat pool still has not only the 1929 wheat crop unsold, but also a good part of the 1928 crop.

After a succession of quick changes, the Chicago wheat market closed, highly nervous, 1½ to 1½c a bushel under yesterday's finish. Corn closed unchanged to ½c off, oats 1¼c to 1⅝@1⅝c down, and provisions at 10 to 20c drop.

Unsettlement of the wheat market was in the face of indications of continued better export demand today for wheat from North America and notwithstanding announcement that railroads had removed embargoes on shipments of wheat to Galveston and other Gulf ports. These factors had temporarily rallied wheat prices to well above yesterday's finish, and durable earlier weakness in sympathy with the stock market had brought about transient enormous purchasing of wheat future deliveries here. Moreover, the Liverpool wheat market, although depressed at first, appeared to be promptly following wheat price rallies on this side of the Atlantic.

All of a sudden, however, buying power in the wheat trade seemed to give out completely, as a result of persistent weakness of the stock market and because of unfavorable reports about the financial showing of the Canadian grower's pool. Simultaneously, prices for December delivery of wheat at Kansas City fell to below the Federal Farm Board's stabilization point. Toward the last, however, something of a recovery in the Chicago wheat market was witnessed. Export sales of North American wheat today were estimated at 1,000,000 bushels, with yesterday's sales figured as high as 2,000,000 bushels in addition.

Corn wavered when wheat weakness became acute, but rallied later. Oats went down owing to liquidating sales by holders. March and May oats touched a new low price record for the season.

Provisions were without any aggressive support.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY GOOD STOCKS

The recent reaction in the market has brought practically all stocks down to lower levels. Many of the country's outstanding banking, investment, utility, oil, rail and industrial stocks are selling at an unheard of low level. Unquestionably the bottom has been reached and a rising market will rapidly follow. ¶ Today there is offered the greatest opportunity for the man of limited means to buy sound investment stocks at genuine "bargain prices." Not since the days of the World War has there been such an opportunity as this. Perhaps it will never again present itself.

PAY ONLY 20% DOWN

Our Convenient Partial Payment Plan offers you the safest and easiest way to buy any good listed stock on the New York Stock Exchange, New York Curb Exchange, San Francisco Stock Exchange or the Los Angeles Stock Exchange by paying only 20% down and the balance in 20 convenient monthly payments.

Business IS Sound

It is our belief and conviction that the general industrial and business condition of the country is fundamentally sound and is essentially unimpaired.

We see nothing in the present situation that should stop the steady, forward, deliberate progress of America.

American Business and Industry will go forward with assurance of full banking co-operation.

This is the considered judgment of our Directors, representing many phases of American Commerce: Manufacturing, Transportation, Merchandising and Finance.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

The Continental Oil Company is building derrick at Richfield for its Mondotte No. 2 near the corner of Placentia - Yorba Boulevard and Adams street. This well will be drilled as a companion to Mondotte No. 1, which was completed a short time ago at a depth of 4550 feet, and now is yielding approximately 300 barrels of 21-deg. gravity oil per day.

In the same general area the Superior Oil Company is constructing derrick for its Davis No. 1 wildcat. The company's Bennett No. 1 and Griffith No. 1 both are exploring for deep production. Considerable acreage has been leased for additional wells in this area if the land proves to be productive.

Selects Field Office

In order to be better able to make inspections of well gauges at Santa Fe Springs and to be in the field during the ninety-day curtailment program entered into by major and independent operators, H. Paul Grimm, oil umpire for that district, has established a field office at the corner of Little Lake Road and Ward street, and placed William Kleinman in charge to assist in gathering the necessary information on flow of wells.

Contracts for Plant

The Western Natural Gasoline Company, subsidiary of the Western Oil and Refining Company, has contracted for the construction of an absorption plant in the southeasterly portion of the Montebello field to care for the wet gas production expected from the Montebello Trust's Meyer No. 1. The plant will cost approximately $100,000 and when completed will be capable of making 10,000 gallons of gasoline daily.

According to officials of the Montebello Trust, the Meyer No. 1 yesterday was preparing to run in a new supply of heavy mud to control the gas pressure. Bottom of hole is below 4470 feet. This project is on a thirty-acre lease near Union Company and Texaco producers.

MARKET FLASHES

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—Stocks weak; American Can and General Electric at new lows on reaction.

Bonds firm; low coupon rails advance.

Curb weak; utilities break sharply.

Foreign exchanges irregular; Japanese yen up 1-3 of a cent to new 1929 high.

Cotton declined; weak Wall street and liquidation.

Sugar lower; disappointing spot demand.

Coffee lower; weak Brazilian markets.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Wheat easy; bearish weather; weak stock market.

Corn easy; larger receipts.

Cattle irregular.

Hogs steady to lower.

Several years ago Pan American drilled three shallow tests there, but suspended operations because of mechanical difficulties.

No Showings

No showings have been encountered in the Ohio Oil Company's Recreation Gun Club No. 1, drilling below 6100 feet at Playa Del Rey, although a few stringers of oil sand were found higher up.

Deep Test Drilling

The Barnsdall Oil Company's Trust No. 1, on a 158-acre lease in the Rosecrans field is drilling below 3480 feet in hard sand. The test is just west of the company's O'Dea lease, where there are several good producers.

Nearing Completion

Three deep Clarke sand projects of the Standard Oil Company at Santa Fe Springs are expected to go on production within a week. The Weisel No. 16 is swabbing for water shut-off with bottom at 7943 feet; Weisel No. 17, with bottom at 8063 feet, deepest of the three, is bailing for production test, and Weisel No. 18, at 7993 feet, started to flow several days ago, but later stopped and attempts are being made to bring it in.

At Huntington Beach Standard's No. B-63 has set nine-inch casing at 4499 feet, with bottom of the hole at 4690 feet, and may soon complete it.

To Test Soon

The Western Gulf Oil Company has set and cemented five and three-quarter-inch casing at 3200 feet in Hollister No. 2 at the foot of Gaviota Pass in Santa Barbara county, and will drill out plug within a week for a production test.

This project blew in several weeks ago and put out approximately 6,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day, and later tested wet. It was deepened, into the formation. About 700 feet west of this undertaking Western Gulf originally drilled Hollister No. 1, which blew in several months ago. It tested wet and was suspended.

Sidetracking Down

The General Petroleum Corporation now is sidetracking below 6800 feet in Ochsner No. 2, on Section 25, on the north dome at Ketchman Hills as a result of lengthy fishing job that has tied up drilling operations with bottom at 7321 feet.

To Try Gas Lift

Failing of normal completion, the Barnsdall - Rio Grande combination's Tideland Permit No. 94-1 at Elwood may be brought in within a few hours by gas lift from a depth of 3512 feet. Consistent swabbing for a full day did not bring the well in. It is the fifteenth project at Elwood for these operators. Thirteen of their wells are producing approximately 23,000 barrels daily since a portion of the output has been curtailed.

Number of Permits Drop

The number of drilling permits issued last week by the State Mining Bureau dropped more than one-half compared with the list granted the preceding week. Of the eleven issued four were in the fields of Kern county, one each at Santa Fe Springs, Seal Beach, Ventura avenue, Santa Maria, Monterey county, Sacramento country and Tehama county.

Following are the permits: Continental Oil Company's McGrath & Selover No. 33, at Seal Beach; Bell View Oil Syndicate's Santa Fe No. 6, at Santa Fe Springs; Shell Oil Company's Taylor No. 53 in the Ventura-avenue field; Pacific Inland Oil Company's No. 1 in Monterey county; Shell Oil Company's Careaga No. A-1 in Santa Maria field; H. L. Wiston's Whiston M. M. No. 1, in McKittrick district; North American Oil Consolidated's Kerckhoff No. 2, in Sunset district; Ohio Oil Company's No. 33 at Belridge; Petroleum Securities Company's Glide No. 18 at Poso Creek; Crockett Drilling Syndicate's No. 1 in Tehama county; Sacramento Petroleum Company's Meiss No. 1, in Sacramento county.

In Oil Sand

The Western Oil and Refining Company's Pooler No. 1, near the corner of Twenty-seventh street and Myrtle avenue at Signal Hill, is drilling below 6400 feet in oil sand and shale. This project is located on the Butler tract. It will be drilled considerably deeper before a production test is made.

EXTRA DECLARED

OMAHA, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—Standard Oil Company of Nebraska today declared the usual extra of 25 cents a share and the regular quarterly of 62 1-2 cents a share, payable December 20, next, to stock of record the 29th inst.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—Weakness on the stock exchange and lower cables from the London market were reflected in futures on the local rubber exchange today, wherein the most active session for the past month deliveries wound up the day's business with losses ranging from 40 to 60 points. The close was about 50 points lower. London spot was steady and 1-8d lower at 8 5-8d.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—There were 907 head held over from Tuesday, while approximately 500 arrived yesterday. Active demand developed for the fresh supply, while the holdover supply, largely common cows, thin lightweight steers, including Mexicans, and a good supply of stockers and feeders, met a slow and draggy trade, with only a small portion selling. Prices generally on all classes were fully steady.

A car of top medium 1106-pound Utah steers topped at 10.90, while half a load of 1034-pound weights brought 10.85. Four loads of plain steers, mostly Utahs and Idahos, sold from 10.35@10.50. A few lots of common steers went over from 8.75@10.00, while common lightweight steers, including Mexicans, sold from 7.25@8.50, with a few on the cutter order under 7.00. Several lots of plain feeder steers cleared from 7.00@8.00.

Two loads of Nevada and Utah heifers sold for 8.90 and 8.85, with odd lots higher, while two loads of good 1082 and 1053-pound Nevada cows topped at 8.40. Medium and low good cows sold from 7.50@8.25, while common kind turned largely from 6.25@7.00, including loads of Arizonas at 6.25@6.50, while mixed cutter and common cows, including Arizonas, sold from 5.50@5.75. Cutters and low cutters were fairly liberal from 3.00@5.00. Most bulls were over from 7.00@7.75, with odd head down to 6.00.

CALVES—The general market was slow and 25@50c lower. Odd lots of milk vealers cleared from 13.00@14.50, while most calves went over from 9.50@12.00, including a short load of 770-pound Nevada weights at 11.50, and a part load of 431-pound Arizonas at 9.85. Very thin lined and extreme heavies sold down to 7.50.

HOGS—A good clearance was made of the early supply at mostly 15@25c lower prices, quality considered. Two cars of good 158 and 205-pound Colorado and California butchers topped at 11.25. A load of 150-pound local fed trucked-in butchers made 10.75, while other offerings, mixed 190 to 267-pound Nevada, California and Texas butchers, sold from 10.50@10.75. The fairly liberal supply of packing sows sold from 9.00@9.50. A load of late arrival New Mexico butchers were still unsold.

SHEEP—None. Medium to choice lambs were quoted from 10.25@12.25, with medium to choice ewes from 5.00@6.50.

EFFORT TO RUIN DAVIS REVEALED

French Dancing Girl Tells Story to Chief

Two Discharged Policemen Among Accused

Conspiracies to Blackmail Also Recounted

Two discharged police officers, an investigator and underworld characters attempted to prepare false testimony against Chief of Police Davis and joined together in a conspiracy to ruin him, according to a sensational statement given the police yesterday by Miss Odette R. Bachelard, 22-year-old French dancing girl.

Miss, according to Miss Bachelard, when she refused to have a part in the affair threats were made against her and she was ordered to leave the city or face deportation proceedings because she "knows too much."

The dancing girl's story was told yesterday to Chief Davis and his assistant in Central Police Station after the young woman had appealed to the authorities for protection and, according to Davis, will be investigated from every angle, and if substantiated presented to the Grand Jury.

PLOTTING REVEALED

Startling tales of underworld plots to blackmail others as well as to oust Davis with false testimony are highlights of Miss Bachelard's story, which took several hours to tell and through the entire account of the asserted plots ran the name of the two discharged police officers and others.

The story of a woman—"a girl of police character"—who plotted against Chief Davis at the behest of Councilman ——, secret agent brought by John ——, a Hollywood promoter-politician, was the principal blame for the assistance secretary by Miss Bachelard.

According to the woman, according to the detail worked with two discharged police officers, and a special investigator. Besides Miss Bachelard, the detail in her story of plots into the hands of the heads of the various schemes to discredit were proposed by which wealthy persons were blackmailed.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY TAKES HAND

Shortly after we took an affidavit that she brought these charges to our attention, Miss Bachelard told me," continued Chief Davis, "that she was going to see Miss Chief Davis was out and that then I was to tell her me and then would be all right. She left as she did when I refused to see the Chief."

According to Miss Bachelard, after she was taken by Investigator —— and there met a prominent officer known as "Pat," and he was joined by her two companions in a conference against Davis. The officer, refused to have anything to do with the affair. But after the flat refusal conferences several others said to have been held between the two discharged officers and the investigator, and the woman that a case could be made against Miss Bachelard, she said.

REASON TO LEAVE

Miss affair came to a head one night, according to Miss Bachelard, when she became afraid that the two discharged officers had told that she was going to the police and also told the janitor of her apartment-house of her supposed threats. Then it is said the police were notified by investigation revealed the woman packing her belongings preparatory to leave for the East.

Miss Bachelard says that all of the men in the reported plot to ruin Chief Davis and her were working for Councilman ——, and were only contacting Chief Davis from instructions contained in letters which also was contained in Miss Bachelard's statement.

Chief Davis and his men were attempting to check Miss Bachelard's story last night, it became known that two guards, said to have been placed by a certain member of the Police Commission, have been watching the woman named by Miss Bachelard, and that her apartment-house she could not be found.

Efforts to locate the three men named by Miss Bachelard last night also failed. Answers to reports of detectives assigned to the case by Chief

R.-K.-O. PLANS RECORD SIZE STRUCTURE

Contract Will be Given Today for Talkie Stage to Cost $300,000

The contract on what is declared to be the largest structure in the world exclusively devoted to the production of sound motion pictures is expected to be let today by the Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation.

The building, which will contain four separate sound reproduction stages, will be 447 feet by 150 feet over all and will cost $300,000 exclusive of fixtures, mechanical equipment or ground valuation.

Plans as prepared by the architectural and engineering department of the corporation, call for a high-ceilinged one-story steel building with double sound-proof walls.

The contract, according to information in construction circles, will be let to Robert Millsap, general contractor, with the steel award going to Consolidated Steel Corporation.

Magruder Will Address Lions

Rear-Admiral T. P. Magruder, commanding the fleet base force in San Pedro, will be principal speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Lions' Club at the Biltmore tomorrow noon. Rear-Admiral Magruder wil be accompanied by his aide, Lieut. J. P. W. Gray.

The program, which will be in observance of Armistice Day, will be broadcast over radio KHJ between 1 and 1:30 o'clock, during which time Admiral Magruder is scheduled to speak. Included in the program are selections by the Oneonta Military Academy Band, consisting of twenty boys in charge of Capt. Oscar Leudtke and Roy Tucker.

AIR BASE NEWS STIRS CONTEST

Narrowing of Field to Two Sites Arouses South

Los Angeles Organizing to Back Camp Kearny

San Francisco Urges Site at Sunnyvale

Persons interested in Southern California's aviation progress turned seriously yesterday morning to consider a dispatch from Washington in which it is stated that Secretary of the Navy Adams is considering a report by a special board of naval officers recommending San Diego and Sunnyvale, Cal., as sites for the Navy's proposed Pacific Coast dirigible base.

This, according to local observers of the situation, indicates that it lies between Southern California and Northern California as to which is to provide the place where the Navy will establish a $2,000,000 to $5,000,000 naval dirigible base for the Pacific Coast, at which shall be housed the two largest dirigibles in the world now being built for the Navy at an expense of $8,500,000.

INTERESTS ORGANIZE

Sunnyvale is a small town between San Jose and Palo Alto. The San Diego site is at Camp Kearny. So the contest for this huge naval enterprise, which is certain to become the nucleus for world events in this sort of aviation development, appears, according to local interests, to have narrowed down to these two sites.

Los Angeles, previous announcements on the subject have declared, was slated to line up in support of any Southern California site that seemed most agreeable to naval experts. Various interests yesterday were organizing to "bring home the bacon" for Southern California.

Last July and August, the naval board, headed by Rear-Admiral Moffett, inspected many proposed sites in California. It returned to Washington and submitted its report and recommendations to the Secretary of the Navy. Not until the dispatch appeared yesterday morning was it known what had been recommended. Further information concerning the report was withheld by Secretary Adams, saying it probably will be some time before he is ready to make public the final choice for the site.

FREE SITES OFFERED

The report ordinarily will go to the general board of the Navy, be considered and acted on, then to Congress for legislation providing for the project.

This makes it appear, it has been pointed out, that not only are aviation interests at stake, but also that various interests in Congress and in parts of California probably will be in the consideration. San Francisco interests are understood to have begun already a formidable move to procure the base for Sunnyvale.

San Diego has voted a bond issue to provide free to the Navy 1000 acres adjoining Camp Kearny. Backers of the Sunnyvale site, it was learned, have informed the naval board that they, too, will provide 1000 acres free. Now both have been recommended by the board and Washington officials will determine which is to be selected.

Suit Entered for Return on Tax

Suit was filed yesterday in the United States District Court by the National Thrift Corporation against Galen H. Welch, as Collector of Internal Revenue, seeking return of $11,913.34 previously paid in income taxes.

The plaintiff company asserts the government assessed it as income the full face value of contracts which run over a period of years, sometimes as long as ten years, and that the face value of the contracts does not represent a part of the company's income.

MORE TRADE WITH JAPAN PREDICTED

New Consul Takes Post With Optimism Regarding Outlook for Commerce

Los Angeles business men are eager for more business with Japan, according to Toshito Satow, newly appointed Japanese Consul for this city, and in a statement yesterday he said that although he has only assumed his duties here this week he is sure that the volume of business between Southern California and the Island Empire can be increased.

TOSHITO SATOW

Mr. Satow came to the consulate here from the Japanese Embassy in Washington, D. C., where he was second secretary and has previously served in consular posts in this country. During 1921 he was Vice-Consul for his government at Seattle.

The post of Consul for the Japanese government in Los Angeles is one of the most important diplomatic offices in the foreign service of that country, according to Mr. Satow, who said that his consulate is charged with the care of 20,000 Japanese in the Los Angeles district as well as 30,000 additional in Arizona, New Mexico and Lower California.

The new Consul takes the place of Kosaku Mizusawa, who was transferred four months ago to the Embassy at Washington and who has assumed the post left vacant by Mr. Satow at that point. Tinchiro Takaoka, Vice-Consul here, has conducted the affairs of the consulate during the vacancy period.

Refueling Test Set for Today

First refueling contact between their Sunbeam endurance biplane and Paul Whittier's Carrier Pigeon is scheduled to be made this noon over Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport by Miss Bobbie Trout and Elinor Smith, young air skippers who will take off before next Monday on an attempted endurance flight.

The practice contacts will continue this afternoon and probably tomorrow, with the final take-off scheduled for Saturday or Sunday morning.

REVERSING the historic event of the Pilgrims landing in America, two American pilgrims, Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Newman of Long Beach, wearing the Pilgrim costumes of their ancestors, will land in Spain early in December, bearing with them a gift to the King of Spain.

Mr. and Mrs. Newman, who are revivers of the old colonial art of hooked-rug weaving, will sail on the N.O.I. Line from New York City on the 29th inst., taking with them a California-made rug which will be exhibited at the Barcelona and the Seville expositions, and then will be presented to the King of Spain. The rug is of fifteenth-century Spanish design and was awarded a medal at the Pacific-Southwest Exposition. It has been on display at Bullock's the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Newman are representing the city of Long Beach, going with the city's official seal and sanction, carrying with them a letter of greeting from Dr. Hauge, Mayor of Long Beach.

The visit to Spain is a deferred honeymoon for the Newmans. They met through their mutual interest in the Spanish language, Mr. Newman being a teacher of languages, who sings and speaks Spanish like a native.

The Newmans expect to have a duplicate of their rug woven in Spain, and will exhibit it in the principal cities of the United States on their return.

Film Controlled From Last Row

An innovation in the projection of a talking picture was inaugurated at the Chinese Theater Tuesday night, it became known yesterday. The entire projection, in so far as amplification is concerned, was controlled by Eugene Grossman, engineer, who sat in the last row of the theater.

It was announced at the Fox studio this is the first time in this city that control has been attempted from the auditorium. It was pronounced a success by the engineers.

With a small instrument board before him Grossman controlled projection as to volume during the laughter of the audience, so that the voices from the screen were heard over the audience noises and the picture slowed up during prolonged laughter, so that as little as possible of the dialogue would escape the audience. It is said this will be done at all performances. The picture is "Sunny Side Up," with Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell.

SPANISH LECTURE LISTED

The second of a series of nine Spanish lectures organized by the Los Angeles Public Library, under the direction of Prof. Cesar Barja, will be given by Dr. Manuel P. Gonzalez of the University of California at Los Angeles, at the Central Public Library tomorrow at 8 p.m. The subject will be Ruben Dario, greatest contemporary Spanish-American poet. Selections of Dario's poems have been translated into English.

SECRET PORTER CAMPAIGN FUNDS LISTED AT QUIZ

Inquiry Witnesses Say Thousands Used Unknown to Mayor; Slot Machine Man Aided

Many thousands of dollars were spent by the Porter-for-Mayor campaign headquarters in the June municipal election without the consent or knowledge of the Mayor, other Porter supporters hired workers and paid other election expenses independently of the headquarters, and some of the Porter funds were stolen, according to statements made yesterday in connection with the investigation by City Prosecutor Nix of asserted gross irregularities in the Porter election contest.

In his own affidavit of campaign costs, filed on June 12, 1929, Mayor Porter gave the total expense as $1579.

Cole Salling, one of the Porter campaign managers, produced an adding machine strip in Nix's office during yesterday's hearing which showed an expenditure of $17,792.95 for printing and advertising. Other witnesses testified to the disbursement of additional funds for workers and other items.

With few exceptions, each asserted that the money was spent without Mayor Porter's knowedge.

SLOT MACHINE HELP

Probably the most astonishing information furnished Prosecutor Nix during a day of greater or lesser political surprises was an asseveration by Lester Vaughn, Porter campaign leader, that Robert J. Gans, local slot machine manufacturer, had given financial aid to the Porter forces with the consent of the Mayor.

Vaughn said he told Porter that Gans had offered to make a contribution. He said he then advised Porter not to accept, but that later he agreed he could see "nothing wrong" in permitting Gans to aid the Porter campaign independently.

In a letter to Porter, which was read into the record by Salling, Gans denied that he had given money to Porter or to the Mayor's campaign representatives.

Later, however, on being asked concerning Vaughn's testimony, Gans confirmed it in essential points, saying that he had employed eight Porter canvassers and had paid for Porter-for-Mayor newspaper advertising in some of the community newspapers on the East Side of Los Angeles.

PHONE BY PORTER

Gans said that he informed Vaughn he would not participate in the Porter campaign unless Porter himself approved, and that subsequent to this conversation with Vaughn Gans received a telephone call from Porter in which the Mayor expressed appreciation for the services Gans was prepared to render. Asked how he was able to recognize Porter's voice, Gans said he had met the Mayor with a number of other persons in the office of Attorney Rex B. Goodcell.

"I did not pay any money directly or indirectly into the Porter campaign headquarters," Gans said, "and what I did for the Mayor was done because I was requested to do so by Mr. Vaughn with Mr. Porter's approval. I had no thought of making any request of Porter in the event of his election and have not seen the Mayor since he was elected."

Mayor Porter, who has been out of the city for several days and who did not reach his office until this afternoon, declined to comment on the day's developments in the hearing before Nix other than to say that he sought at all times to have his campaign costs comply with the election laws.

EXPENSE AFFIDAVIT

In his affidavit of expenditures, Mayor Porter made the following statement:

"There was contributed, disbursed, expended or promised by me and to the best of my knowledge and belief, by any and every other person or association of persons in my behalf wholly or partially in endeavoring to secure my election the sum of $1579; that of said amount the sum of (blank) was contributed, disbursed or expended or promised by me, and to the best of my knowledge and belief, by other persons the sums hereinafter set opposite their names, respectively: Charles R. Rowett, $1579." Thereafter appear the names of persons to whom the foregoing amount was paid.

Salling testified that the disbursement of more than $17,000 by himself representad an expenditure of $4060.45 of his personal funds, the balance being supplied by George Pepperdine, proprietor of the Western Auto Supply Company. Pepperdine's name does not appear in any public report or election return as a contributor to the Porter campaign.

PANTAGES CASE RUSE ASSERTED

Jurors Make Charges; Shuler Name Figures in Plea by Defense

Attorneys for Alexander Pantages yesterday filed at the District Attorney's office affidavits in which two of the jurors of the panel that convicted the theater magnate asserted that they were told in the jury room that unless they joined in a verdict of guilty their names and actions would be given to Rev. R. P. Shuler for radio discussion.

The jurors' statements were included among seven affidavits which Defense Attorneys Giesler, Gilbert and Ford submitted in support of their motion for a new trial for Pantages. Argument on the new trial motion is on Superior Judge Fricke's court calendar for Saturday morning.

Mrs. William Ingles and Mrs. Christina Ulrich are the two former jurywomen who made the affidavits which mentioned the Shuler matter.

WHAT THEY SAY

Mrs. Ingles declared in her affidavit that William Vellage (another of the jurors) "threatened to tell Bob Shuler how this affiant acted and voted unless she joined with him in a verdict of guilty and further stated that he would see that Shuler made a statement over the radio in reference to it."

Mrs. Ulrich supported Mrs. Ingles in another affidavit, asserting that Vellage not only had threatened to tell Shuler, but also to inform the grand jury and the Board of Supervisors.

After reading the affidavits District Atty. Fitts asserted that he had had previous knowledge of the statements of the two women and that Vellage had denied that he had ever made any of the threats as outlined by the affidavits.

BIFFLE ANGLE

In addition to the Shuler angle, Mrs. Ingles and Mrs. Ulrich both stated in their affidavits that it was known by the jury that Garland Biffle, defense witness, had been arrested shortly after he had testified for the first time at the trial, and Mrs. Ulrich asserted that it was discussed among the members of the panel and when she stated that she believed the testimony of Biffle she was confronted with the statement that Biffle had been arrested.

An affidavit from Mrs. Lotta C. Steiner, another of the jurors, also was among those presented to the District Attorney, and she also declared that she knew that Biffle had been arrested.

All three of the women jurors, according to their affidavits, were misled by assertions that if the words "leniency" or "clemency" were added to verdict of guilty that it would be within the power of the court to make a sentence of lesser degree than that imposed by statute, and that if they had known that this was not true they would not have voted guilty.

Mrs. Ulrich further asserted that during the deliberations of the jury, members of the panel had stated that Pantages got his start in a gambling house and that the woman who assisted him in that period was present in the courtroom and lived at the same hotel in which the jury was quartered.

STATEMENT BY FITTS

After digesting the contents of the jury women's affidavits, Fitts made the following statement:

"It seems rather peculiar to me that since the verdict was returned three jurors have had a sudden change of heart. Pantages was given a fair trial. The jury returned its

PATRIOTISM—AND LEGS

The ladies of the City Club doubtless dilated with excitement when Dist.-Atty. Buron Fitts roasted the American public for lack of patriotism—for being uninterested in the public welfare except when it concerns a pretty girl who shows her knees and has melodramatic tears.

At that, Fitts let them down easy. The lack of patriotism comes from lack of brain. Standing in line for countless hours in the hope of seeing a millionaire squirming under such charges is indication of an 8-year-old intellect.

Just so, the mobs who block the street traffic—until cars can't get through—when an ambulance picks up a bleeding victim. You can put it down as a settled fact that in such a traffic jam, there is not a composite brain large enough to assist a canary in finding birdseed.

NEGLECTED HEROES

The death of a great-grandnephew of Daniel Boone at San Bernardino reminds us of a most melancholy fact.

The two most neglected characters in American history are Daniel Boone and Kit Carson. The long wars against the plains Indians and the Apaches and Comanches were battles already won—it was the long brave retreat of a defeated people. But while Boone fought his way down the lonely rivers to Tennessee and Kentucky there was a doubt whether the white man would ever find a foothold in the West. With incredible courage he blazed a trail; then was allowed—by an ungrateful nation—to spend his old age in misery and poverty.

All that Fremont got credit for was done by Kit Carson. He wrecked his health extricating Gen. Kearney from a stupid blunder at the battle of San Pascual and gave California to the United States.

Kit's daughter is eking out a wretched existence by posing for tourist photographs at Taos.

CIRCUS ANIMALS

An indignant circus man writes to me that the caged animals are better off than in the jungle. By the same token the average man would really be better off in jail, where he would not have to worry about making a living. The philosophy of this viewpoint does not seem to have received popular acclaim, however.

THE WEST COMES BACK

One of the best pictures I have seen since the talkies came in is "The Virginian"—which means that you will see westerns come whooping back.

These Broadway babies pictures—where the kiss that the lover saw was only intended as a platonic kiss—and these same dramas (Yes-I-Love-Him-but-I-have-loved-him-and-whatahell-do-you-know-about-that?) will be dragged back to the attic—or the garbage pail.

The most dramatic episode in the life of any modern people was the settlement of the American border. Actors like Gary Cooper and Mary Brian have come to their own in these western dramas.

A PUP, A CAR, A CRASH! HOT DOG, WHAT A HASH!

Pedestrians and motorists in the vicinity of West Adams and Figueroa streets yesterday found themselves unexpectedly witnessing a serio-comic performance involving a dog, a man and an automobile—not to mention two policemen and the fire department—because the small, but unruly, dog insisted on trying to escape from the car.

The dog, a police puppy answering to the name of Teddy, began his tactics while his master, Sherman Smith, of 1548 West Twenty-third street, was driving east on West Adams street. Several times Teddy tried to go over the side and each time Smith seized his collar and yanked him back.

At West Adams and Figueroa street, the dog made a particularly determined effort. Again Smith reached over and frustrated the leap; but in so doing lost control of the speeding car. With a resounding thump the machine piled up against a palm tree; and the impact broke the gasoline line. Backfire caused the car to burst into flames. Teddy jumped and so did Smith. Somebody called police and somebody else called the firemen.

Ten minutes later, Smith, his patience exhausted, sold to a junkman for $25 the twisted mass of metal that once had been an automobile. Then, to avoid any recurrence of his adventure, he presented Teddy to the first passing motorist who offered to take him.

HUGE WILSHIRE DEAL NEAR

Construction Program Involving $50,000,000 Will Start in July on Hancock Oil Lands

A $50,000,000 construction program, starting in July, 1930, and continuing for five years, in the course of which 500 hotels and apartment-houses are expected to be erected, was revealed yesterday by A. W. Ross, Wilshire Boulevard real estate broker.

The area to be developed comprises approximately 200 acres now dotted with oil derricks north of Wilshire Boulevard, south of Third street, west of La Brea and east of Fairfax.

Oil leases on the tract, which is owned by G. Allan Hancock, expire next July. At that time the derricks will be removed and the 200 acres cut up into residential lots devoted exclusively to hotels and apartment-houses.

DONATES PARK

Streets will be cut through from Wilshire to Third and also paralleling the boulevard. Mr. Hancock has donated thirty acres of the original tract to the county for park purposes and the acreage to be developed will front the park on the north, east and west sides.

Plans of the owner, according to Mr. Ross, call for the erection on their frontage of hotels and apartment-houses varying in height from six to twelve stories. Included in the development will be the $5,000,000 forty-story hotel recently announced by Mr. Ross and associates.

A careful survey of the tract reveals that there is sufficient space for approximately 500 buildings and that these, when completed, will house 150,000 persons.

Because of the oil leases the Hancock tract has become an island in the progress of that particular section of the city. Buildings have been going up on all sides in recent years, approximately $5,000,000 having been spent in the last two years

Junior Chamber's Plane Tour Reaches El Centro; Lindsay Gillis "Cracks Up" But Escapes Injury

BY BURTON L. SMITH
"Times" Staff Representative

EL CENTRO, Nov. 6.—The first and only incident to mar the goodwill tour of California being staged in airplanes under the auspices of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce happened here this afternoon when Lindsay Gillis, 31 years of age, flying an Aeromarine single passenger ship, cracked up while making a landing at the Imperial county airport near Imperial.

Gillis by a miscalculation as to speed hit the runway much faster than he expected. Realizing that his ship was about to strike a Ford trimotored plane amidships Gillis forced his ship abruptly into the air, avoiding the collision but the sudden motion was too much for the small craft which turtled and fell about fifty feet to the ground.

AVIATOR UNHURT

The aviator was not injured and was able to climb out of and walk away from the wreck of his airplane. Gillis receive d his private pilot's license the day before the good-will tour started from Los Angeles. While the accident caused a great deal of excitement at the field and among members of the touring party it in no sense dampened the enthusiasm of the party.

Adhering strictly to the schedule arranged in advance of the trip, the cavalcade left Fresno this morning after spending the night in the Raisin City. The flight to Visalia was made without incidens and more than 500 residents of Tulare county were assembled to bid the birdmen welcome to their city. L. H. Gadsby, City Engineer of Visalia, and R. J. Bagby and W. J. Ward, members of the Visalia City Council, became guests of the tour and continued with the flying party to Bakersfield in the press ship. It was

ADVISER ON TAX RETURNS GUILTY

Miss Berger Convicted by Federal Court Jury

Case Involved Income of Dorothy Mackaill

Prison and $10,000 Fine on Each Count Possible

With no sign of emotion, Miss J. Marjorie Berger, Hollywood income-tax adviser, yesterday listened to a jury in the court of United States District Judge Henning find her guilty on two counts of aiding and assisting in the making of false and fraudulent income-tax returns for Dorothy Mackaill, film actress. The verdict was returned within 5 minutes after Judge Henning had given instructions to the jury. The case, involving many intricate income returns for various motion-picture actors, actresses and directors, had been in progress for more than two weeks. During that time intimate details regarding the incomes and deductions from taxes for Miss Mackaill, Dorothy Sebastian, William Haines, George F. Marion, Jr., and several others were explained in court.

It was brought out in court by United States Attorney McNabb and Assistant United States Attorney Davis that Miss Mackaill's income for 1926 was $77,000, but that she had taxes on much less than that amount.

The charges on which Miss Berger was found guilty carry a maximum sentence of five years in prison and $10,000 for each count, or the sentences may be made much more and to run consecutively. She is to appear next Monday for sentence.

Wife Files Suit Against Lawyer

Paul Vallee, attorney, was sued for separate maintenance by his wife, Mrs. Ruth E. Vallee, on grounds of cruelty, yesterday. Mrs. Vallee asks $725 a month alimony for the support of herself and two children.

The couple separated last August 15. Vallee said her husband's attitude toward her was cool, and distant, and that he associated with other women.

ANNEXATION ELECTION INTENTION ANNOUNCED

A group of citizens yesterday notified Council of their intention to circulate a petition calling for an annexation election in a small community known as the Lennox Addition. The matter was referred to the City Planning Committee and the Water and Power Committee. as Council has established the policy of not allowing annexations of territory where a drain on the water resources of the city will be created.

MRS. LUCILLE TUPPER EXPIRES IN FLORIDA

News of the death of Mrs. Lucille Tupper, wife of Dr. Kerr Boyce Tupper, at Orlando, Fla., on October 28, was received yesterday by friends of the Tupper family in Los Angeles. Dr. and Mrs. Tupper were spending the winter season at Lake Hall, Orlando. The family formerly lived in Los Angeles and Dr. Tupper, for several months during the present year, acted as supply pastor of some of the largest local churches.

NINE NAMED IN FEDERAL TRUE BILLS

Grand Jury Then Resumes Its Inquiry Into San Diego Liquor-Fixing Cases

Nine persons were indicted in as many true bills returned yesterday by the Federal grand jury before United States District Judge James. The jury also resumed its investigation of the so-called liquor-fixing cases in San Diego during the American Legion convention there last August.

Charles H. Mulock, now a prisoner in the San Diego County Jail and said to have been given the liquor-selling concession during the convention, yesterday was a witness before the grand jury. It is understood his testimony was completed and that the investigation will be drawn to a close next Wednesday. Previously Mayor Clark and Chief of Police Hill of San Diego testified. Other witnesses are expected Wednesday.

Among those indicted is Louis Kaschak, who was accused of sending an obscene letter through the mails to the late David Antink, murdered secretary of the Sun Realty Company. Bond for Kaschak was fixed at $2500. Four indictments were for violations of the Dyer Act, in transporting a stolen automobile from one State to another, and three were for violation of the Immigration Act. Another was for violation of the Harrison Narcotic Act.

IMPROVEMENT ORDERED

The final ordinance for the improvement of Banning Boulevard between J street and Anaheim street was passed by Council yesterday.

LIBEL TRIAL OF SHULER LOSES DAY

Defense Counsel's Illness Results in Delay of Case; Resumption Due Today

Trial of Rev. R. P. Shuler on charges of criminally libeling former Mayor Cryer will be resumed this morning before Municipal Judge Pope. A recess was taken yesterday on account of the illness of Paul D'Orr, defense attorney.

Cryer, who was on the witness stand when court adjourned Tuesday, will resume it this morning. At the time court adjourned he was relating details of the real-estate transactions in which he engaged, he said, as a sideline to his practice of law.

Other witnesses expected to be called by Deputy City Prosecutor Brockman, in charge of the case of the State, are bank officials and the county Tax Collector, through whom he hopes to establish that Cryer's wealth, which Brockman charges Shuler intimated came from City Hall graft, was due to his holding and trading in Los Angeles real estate.

Judge Pope warned the jury yesterday that the trial will take longer than expected when he told the jurors they probably will be locked up over Armistice Day next Monday.

Publisher of Magazine for Mexicans Dies

Federico Garcia y Alva, publisher and editor, of 217 West Fifty-fourth street, died yesterday of heart disease, following three weeks' illness.

He was owner and editor of Mexico, a bi-monthly magazine published at 121½ South Broadway. Prior to founding it, he was an editor of the Mexican Herald, published in Los Angeles.

He was 56 years of age, and was born in Orizaba, Vera Cruz. As a young man he entered journalism in Mexico City, where he became president of the Metropolitan Newspaper Men's Association, and was director of the Diario Oficial, the government daily gazette, during the Huerta administration. In 1914 he moved to the United States and came to Los Angeles in 1918.

He leaves his widow, two sons, Enrique and Guillermo Garcia, and a daughter, Noemi. Cremation at Inglewood Cemetery today will be private and the ashes will be sent to Mexico.

Woman's Death Stirs Suspicion

An analysis of the vital organs of Mrs. Helen de Sales Breen, wife of Ed Breen, formerly secretary to Thomas Lee Woolwine while the latter was District Attorney, was ordered yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Coleman following the discovery of arsenic in the woman's liver.

Mrs. Breen died in an Alhambra hospital nearly a month ago, apparently from natural causes. Since then, however, circumstances have arisen which caused the investigation to be pressed.

WOMEN'S BREAKFAST CLUB CIRCUS AIDED

Louis B. Mayer, film leader, yesterday offered the assistance of himself and his players to the Woman's Breakfast Club. The club is giving a charity circus and Mardi Gras at the Breakfast Club grounds on Riverside Drive Saturday and Sunday the 16th and 17th inst. Mayer also has donated two silver cups. Mrs. Buron Fitts is executive chairman.

Altadenan Kills Self as Police Sift Bunko Case

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Nov. 6.—Russell H. Killgore, 31-year-old automobile salesman, committe dsuicide by firing a rifle bullet through his heart this afternoon, police reported.

RUSSELL H. KILLGORE

Killgore's death by his own hand followed the arrest yesterday in Los Angeles of Henry L. Stewart, a local sheet-metal worker, on suspicion of grand theft bunko. Stewart was arrested as a result of his assertedly fraudulently obtaining of $1800 from R. H. McDaniels and L. P. Richards, operators of a service station at 2100 Pasadena avenue, Los Angeles.

McDaniels and Richards, according to the police, charge that Stewart, representing himself as Killgore's emissary, told them that Killgore was about to fall heir to $2,000,000, against which he wished to borrow money.

Detective Lieutenants Armstrong and Blye of Los Angeles went to Killgore's home, 2303 Pepper Drive, Altadena, today, to question him regarding his possible implication in the Stewart case, and left their cards when they found he was not at home.

Going to the unoccupied home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Addie M. Shepp of 1423 Lincoln avenue, while the Los Angeles detectives were pressing their search this afternoon, Killgore seized a 30-30-caliber rifle and shot himself through the heart, dying instantly. The body was taken to the Lamb Mortuary.

Killgore was widely known in local fraternal circles and as an automobile salesman. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Martha Killgore, and four children, Bernice, 15 years of age; Doris, 13; Ronald, 10, and Jean, 3.

Motorist Seized After Quarrel

Elmer P. Christenson, 36 years of age, said to be a wealthy contractor of 682 Hayes avenue, yesterday was arrested on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, as the result of an asserted altercation with another motorist at Beverly Boulevard and Vermont avenue. According to Patrolman Hanahan, who made the arrest, Christenson engaged in an argument over traffic right of way with Max Johnson of 5180 Melrose avenue, terminating it by crowding the latter's car to the curb.

REAPPORTIONMENT TO BE TOPIC AT DINNER

Agitation for legislative reapportionment will be furthered tonight at the All-Parties Reapportionment Committee dinner meeting at 6:30 o'clock at the City Club, 633 South Spring street. The committee will present a proposed Constitutional amendment, providing for fairer and more equitable apportionment of members of the State Legislature, it is announced. The committee hopes to place this proposed amendment on the ballot in 1930. Speakers announced are Ralph Arnold, Isadore Dockweiler, S. C. Graham, Joseph Scott, City Attorney Werner, Ex-Judge Leslie R. Hewitt and Ex-Representative William Kepner of San Diego. William L. Pollard, chairman, will preside.

JOHN McCORMACK TO BE FETED TONIGHT

John McCormack, tenor, will be welcomed to Hollywood tonight with a dinner in his honor at Fox-Movietone City in Beverly Hills.

At the speakers' table will be Mr. and Mrs. McCormack, Miss Gwendolyn McCormack, William Collier, master of ceremonies; Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Borzage, Mr. and Mrs. Sol M. Wurtzel, Tom Barry and Mr. and Mrs. Irving Thalberg.

McCormack made his first appearance before microphone and motion-picture cameras in Ireland two months ago and shortly will resume work on his production at the Fox studios.

PROTESTS TURNED DOWN

Council yesterday denied protests against the lighting of Plymouth Boulevard from Wilshire Boulevard to Francis avenue, the improving of the walk near Clayton avenue, the sewering of Ninety-third street and the sewering of Portola avenue at Henderson street.

the first flying experience of either of the gentlemen.

BAKERSFIELD STOP

At Bakersfield a record-breaking crowd was assembled at the fine Kern county landing field and gave an enthusiastic welcome to the caravan of ships. The flight to Bakersfield was one of the most interesting in the entire trip and conveyed a practical lesson to the passengers in the newspaper ship, teaching as nothing else can the great advance aviation has made toward the goal of absolute safety.

Flying at an altitude of 2000 feet, Tommy Tomlinson, piloting the great ship, shut off one of the motors and climbed to an altitude of 3000 feet, leveling off the craft. At this point the flyer stopped another motor, leaving but one engine propelling the ship, which experienced no difficulty in holding its altitude and moving along at a speed of more than eighty miles an hour. This test was made with sixteen passengers in the ship and was completed without the slightest tremor or vibration.

The fleet left the Oil City in the north and had journeyed but a few miles when it became necessary for the ships to attain an altitude of 7000 feet to clear the Tehachapi range of mountains. After this a gradual descent took the party over the Mojave Desert and into Antelope Valley, where the little cities of Lancaster and Palmdale are snuggled behind windbreaks of sycamore and eucalypti.

OVER THE MOUNTAINS

Scarcely had the valley been cleared than the ships again rose high over the San Bernardino Mountains, to descend to the populous section surrounding the city of San Bernardino. It was noon when the party arrived at the Gate City and busses were put into service to convey the members to San Bernardino, five miles away, and to the Californian Hotel, where the Chamber of Commerce had prepared an elaborate luncheon.

R. D. McCook, president of the chamber, presided at the speakers' table and introduced John P. Ralphs, Jr., Mayor of the city, who bid a most cordial welcome to the visitors. Kennedy Ellsworth, president of the Junior Chamber of Los Angeles, was introduced to the diners and while outlining in a brief way the all-California air tour and telling some of its aims and purposes, called special attention to the aircraft show which opens in Los Angeles Saturday. Mr. Ellsworth outlined the great scope that will be covered by the exposition and invited San Bernardino to be Los Angeles' guests during the display.

IMPERIAL VISITED

At Imperial, first afternoon stop of the flying caravan, Leo Hetzel, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Al G. Smith, head of the Imperial Junior Chamber, with Ben Hulse, ex-chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Imperial county, who, more than anyone else, is credited with the making of the magnificent airport which was utilized by the caravan in the afternoon stop, and Sam Rowe, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Imperial county, talked to the visitors before their departure for El Centro.

Tonight a banquet was served by the El Centro Chamber of Commerce at the Barbara Worth Hotel in El Centro, to flyers and guests who are participating in this greatest of all civilian air tours.

The caravan will leave tomorrow morning and arrive at Mines Field in Inglewood before noon, completing the tour. Much credit is due the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the event, and the whole-hearted and enthusiastic cooperation of the Southern California pilots.

Father Murder Hearing Delayed

Preliminary hearing for James Davidson, 20 years of age, on charges of stabbing to death his father, William C. Davidson, during a family altercation at their home at 963 Maltman avenue was postponed yesterday by Municipal Judge Ambrose until today. The delay was granted at the request of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Choate on account of a crowded calendar.

Choate expects to use Mrs. Emmaline Davidson and Frances Davidson, mother and sister of the defendant and reputed eyewitnesses of the asserted stabbing, as his principal witnesses at the hearing, he said yesterday.

SHRINERS TO SEE SHOW

More than 6500 Shriners and their families are expected to pack the Shrine Civic Auditorium Saturday night when Potentate Edwards and Past Potentate Heffner present a vaudeville and picture show free for all nobles and their kin. The doors will open at 7 p.m. The show starts at 8 p.m.

MESOPOTAMIAN SHEIK PLAYS FILM-LAND VISIT

Mesopotamia under the British protectorate, is becoming highly civilized. Sheiks no longer wear the traditional robes nor do they dress as in the films. No longer do they live in squalor despite the possession of great lands and many followers. They now live in much the same manner as Europeans or Americans—dressing for evening occasions and attending the theater and dances.

Sheik Stephen S. Kenderianis, 26 years of age, six feet five inches tall, powerfully built and possessed of wide, piercing eyes, gave out this message yesterday when he landed in Hollywood on a world tour from his native land, Mesopotamia. An inveterate globe trotter despite his youth, Kenderianis came to the land of motion pictures to renew his acquaintance with a war-time buddy, Capt. Victor McLaglen, late of His Majesty's forces in Mesopotamia but now a Fox Film player.

STEPHEN S. KENDERANIS

VICTOR McLAGLEN

The visitor's father is the possessor of a semi-independent kingdom in Irak, owner of vast acreages and reputed to be very wealthy.

"Roads have opened up the interior of Mesopotamia," he said. "We now ship much Egyptian cotton to England, something we never did before the occupation. The hundreds of thousands of acres owned by my family produce grain as well as cotton. In addition we are opening huge oil fields. The people of the country want to retain the protectorate because of the prosperity.

"The work accomplished in my country is due to the occupation some ten years ago by English troops of which Capt. McLaglen was a member. They restored order, built roads and started Mesopotamia on its way to happiness."

Kenderianis confessed the sheiks continue to possess many wives but he asserted his intention to remain single "as there are too many women in the world and it is hard to please them all."

Date Fixed for Annual Charity Ball of Shrine

The annual charity ball, sponsored by Al Malaikah Temple, A.A.O. N.M.S., will be held on the 29th inst. in the ballroom at Shrine Civic Auditorium, it was announced yesterday. Proceeds of the affair are devoted to the Christmas tree party given each year for the entertainment of poor children and the purchase of food and clothing for destitute families. Noble James W. Jump, it is announced, again is in charge of the event.

Preceding the ball, three free entertainments will be given at the auditorium for resident and visiting Shriners and their families. These are scheduled for the 9th, 16th and 23rd inst. and will be under direction of Noble Robert A. Heffner. The performances will commence at 8 p.m.

BUILDERS WILL MEET

Local building conditions will be discussed tonight at a meeting of the Southern California chapter of the Associated General Contractors in the Jonathan Club. President George Hess will preside. A nominating committee for the election of 1930 officers will be appointed. Members of the local chapter are expected to complete approximately $100,000,000 in building contracts during 1929.

PORT EXTENSION BATTLE BACKED

Chamber Urges City to Fight Against Abandonment

Harbor Engineer Nicholson Named to Committee

Group Will Attend Hearing on Breakwater Plan

Coincident with the selection yesterday of Harbor Engineer George F. Nicholson by the Board of Harbor Commissioners to serve on the committee of three who will represent Los Angeles at the hearing on the 26th inst., before the United States Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, in Washington, D. C., involving breakwater extension for Los Angeles Harbor, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce made public a letter it has addressed to Mayor Porter, in which the city is urged to disapprove the Federal Board of Survey's recommendation that the extension project be abandoned.

The board's recommendation was made as a result of the failure of Long Beach to agree with a committee representing Los Angeles on the matter of a joint port.

The other two committeemen to serve with Nicholson, previously named, are Clarence Matson, manager of the domestic and foreign trade department of the Chamber of Commerce, and Councilman Henning of the harbor district, chosen by the City Council.

WANT REPRESENTATION

Signed by President Shannon Crandall of the chamber, the letter was written to the Mayor at the request of the board of directors to urge the necessity of having Los Angeles fully and capably represented at the hearing on the breakwater project.

The need for proper city representation at the hearing was called to the attention of the directors at their last meeting by Eugene Overton, chairman of the harbor and foreign commerce committee of the chamber, according to Secretary-Manager Arnoll. In drafting the letter the chamber made three important suggestions to the Mayor relating to the personnel of the committee to represent the city at the hearing in Washington, and to the stand that should be taken by the city on the issues involved.

Latest word on the date of the hearing is that it will be on the 26th inst., another postponement having been announced since a telegram was received a week ago announcing the hearing date as the 26th inst. The hearing was postponed from last spring at the request of the greater breakwater committee, which sought the time for the purpose of making efforts to get Long Beach to agree on a joint port district, as required by Congress in order to obtain an appropriation for the breakwater extension.

PICKED BY MAYOR

The representatives on the committee were chosen with the approval of the Mayor at the request of the Board of Harbor Commissioners.

The committee will seek to show the Board of Engineers that Los Angeles worked in the best of faith toward obtaining an amicable agreement with Long Beach for a joint port district, but without success, and that therefore the joint district proviso should be removed and the breakwater extension put through as a necessary development to allow for port expansion and a protected anchorage for the battle fleet.

Long Beach is sending a delegation of five men, headed by Mayor Knapp, to Washington to urge the board of engineers to approve breakwater extension from its viewpoint.

TRAGEDY'S PATH MARKS THIS FAMILY

Wife Up for Life in Prison, Mother and Brother Dead, Valenti Held for Attack

Charged with attacking a young girl, Sam Valenti, 30 years of age, of 669 Moulton street, was lodged in City Jail yesterday just shortly after his brother Albert, 11, died in General Hospital under peculiar circumstances, and a day after their mother died. To complete the tragic record, the man is the husband of Josephine Valenti, sentenced to life imprisonment for burning her infant to death.

Officers of the crime-prevention bureau arrested Valenti on charges of attacking a juvenile and later he was formally charged with a statutory offense in a complaint issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Richardson. Police say Valenti was accused on a previous occasion in a case involving a girl under age.

Following the death of Albert Valenti yesterday morning the Coroner said the case possibly was one of poisoning and he ordered a chemical analysis made of the vital organs.

The mother of the two brothers, also named Mrs. Josephine Valenti, died at her home Tuesday. Police reported they were told by Dr. James Orten, who attended her, the other Mrs. Valenti died of lobar pneumonia. Her funeral has been ordered postponed until after the Coroner receives a report on the chemical analysis of Albert Valenti's vital organs.

JANSON ESTATE WILL GO TO HIS PARENTS

The $40,000 estate of Allen Janson, who died at the wheel of his automobile at Ninth street and Union avenue, October 20, last, will was administered by Attorney Edward C. Gilbert, according to an order by Superior Judge Stephens yesterday. When Janson died, his car, out of control, struck another car, then ran into a service station and house before it stopped. The decedent's property will be inherited by his father and mother, Mr. Lars E. and Emma Jansen of Chicago.

PICKED BY MAYOR

The representatives on the committee were chosen with the approval of the Mayor at the request of the Board of Harbor Commissioners.

The committee will seek to show the Board of Engineers that Los Angeles worked in the best of faith toward obtaining an amicable agreement with Long Beach for a joint port district, but without success, and that therefore the joint district section should be removed and the breakwater extension put through as a necessary development to allow for port expansion and a protected anchorage for the battle fleet. Long Beach is sending a delegation of five men, headed by Mayor Porter of Washington to urge the board of engineers to approve the breakwater extension from its viewpoint.

TRAGEDY'S PATH MARKS THIS FAMILY

Wife Up for Life in Prison, Mother and Brother Dead, Valenti Held for Attack

Charged with attacking a young girl, Joe Valenti, 20 years of age, of 939 Madison street, was lodged in the city jail yesterday just shortly after his brother Albert, 11, died in General Hospital under peculiar circumstances, and a day after their father died. To complete the tragic round, the man is the husband of Josephine Valenti, sentenced to life imprisonment for burning her child to death.

Members of the crime-prevention bureau arrested Valenti on charge of contributing a juvenile and later he was formally charged with a statutory offense in a complaint issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Richardson. Police say Valenti was accused on a charge growing out of an incident in a case involving a girl under age.

Following the death of Albert Valenti yesterday morning the Coroner ordered the case possibly was one of poisoning and he ordered a chemical analysis made of the vital organs.

The mother of the two brothers, Mrs. Mrs. Josephine Valenti, died at her home Tuesday. Police say they were told by Dr. John Green, who attended her, the boy, Valenti died of lobar pneumonia. Her funeral has been indefinitely postponed until after the Coroner receives a report on the chemical analysis of Albert Valenti's vital organs.

JASSON ESTATE WILL GO TO HIS PARENTS

The entire estate of Allen Jasson, who died at the wheel of his automobile at Ninth street and Union avenue, October 30, last, will be left to his parents, according to an order signed by Attorney Edward C. Gilbert, according to an order signed by Superior Judge Stephens yesterday. Jasson died, his car out of control, struck another car and then into a service station, crashing before it stopped. The estate, consisting of property will be left by his father and mother, Albert E. and Emma Jansen of Salem, Ore.

PAIR FACE CHARGES IN CHECK CASE

Woman May Be Victim of "City Slicker," Evidence of Police Indicates

Albert H. Shulman, 28 years of age, and Miss Helen Webb, 24, both of whom said they are transients with no permanent address, are being held for investigation, police announced yesterday, in connection with assertedly fraudulent check-passing operations which, according to the officers, may disclose the woman as the innocent victim of a "city slicker." Both are booked on suspicion of forgery.

MISS HELEN WEBB

Shulman was taken in custody on the 1st inst. as the result of a complaint by George Ross, proprietor of an auto-rental agency at 1015 West Seventh street. In renting a car, according to the report, Shulman gave Ross a fictitious address. When arrested by Detective-Lieutenants Hatcher and Swant, the man had in his possession four checks payable to Mrs. Helen Le Grand, who he said is his wife. In addition, Shulman also was carrying a number of pawn tickets.

Questioning of Shulman resulted in the arrest of Miss Webb last Sunday at Fifth and Hill streets by Detectives Sherrard and Swant. She stated she has known Shulman for some time, having made his acquaintance in a cafe, but denied she has knowingly cashed bogus checks. She said he represented to her that he had placed ample sums on deposit to their joint credit.

Steel Works Plans Branch at Compton

The Pacific Iron and Steel Company will break ground within sixty days for a $500,000 steel fabricating plant near Compton, according to C. E. Bradburn, general manager.

The plant, which will give employment to 250 workmen, will be a branch of the company's main plant on West Avenue 26, Los Angeles.

Erection of the plant is made possible by the purchase by Pacific Iron and Steel of a twenty-two and one-half-acre tract at Alameda and Lynwood, the property having been owned by W. G. Bullock.

Plans of the company call for fabricating 1000 tons of steel monthly. The main structure, 700x400 feet in dimensions and constructed of steel and corrugated iron, will be supplemented by a two-story brick office building.

Pierpont and Walter S. Davis handled the architectural plans and the Pacific company will handle the structural work itself.

Angeleno Will Get Tax Post

Official announcement from Sacramento of the appointment of George Acret, Los Angeles lawyer, to the post of chief counsel of the State Inheritance Tax Department in Los Angeles, is expected within the next few days. This was indicated yesterday by State Comptroller Ray L. Riley, who came here yesterday from Sacramento on State business. He returned to the capital last night.

The position, occupied by E. P. Werner until that official was elected to the post of City Attorney of Los Angeles last June, has been vacant since Werner assumed the duties of his new office. Announcement of Mr. Acret's appointment to the State post will be made by Comptroller Riley.

Mr. Acret has practiced law in California for the last six years. Before coming here he was District Attorney in the State of Washington. During 1923-24-25 he was City Attorney of Venice. He is 43 years of age.

Restaurant Man Held to Answer Bribery Charge

Ben Lurie, restaurant proprietor of 1735 North Broadway, was held yesterday for trial in Superior Court on three counts of bribery by Municipal Judge Stutsman. Bail was fixed at $2000.

Patrolman McCloud, the only witness called by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Broker, testified that Lurie, who, he asserts, is a bootlegger, gave him $200 for the fingerprint records of Anthony Solmene, George R. Momson, Hyman Chervin and Roy Kelsey, all of whom had been arrested on bootlegging charges.

McCloud delivered the records after photostatic copies had been made and watched Lurie burn them, he declared.

NEW CUT IN POWER RATES

City System Proposes Third Slash in Two Years; Saving of $1,100,000 to Consumers Expected

A marked reduction in the municipal power system electric rates, that is expected to save ratepayers in the city a total of $1,100,000 annually, was announced yesterday by the Board of Water and Power Commissioners.

The reduction by the city-owned power system was submitted to the Board of Water and Power Commissioners yesterday by General Manager Van Norman and was approved by the board. Drafted in the form of an ordinance, the rate reduction is scheduled to be placed before the City Council for action today.

If adopted by the Council the new rates will become effective on all meter readings made after January 1, 1930.

Under the new schedule the rates on all classes of service are reduced on an average of 12½ per cent below the present level, it was pointed out yesterday by officials of the Department of Water and Power. This reduction, it was stated, will mean a saving of approximately $1,100,000 to consumers served by the city-owned power system.

The rate reduction now proposed by the Department of Water and Power is the third sharp cut in electric rates made within two years.

LEGAL STEP CLEARS HER WAY FOR STUDY

Cecile Carstens

Cecile C. Carstens, 19 years of age, wanted to go to business college and learn to be a typist, but she didn't have enough money. Being a minor she couldn't borrow any on an insurance policy unless the Superior Court approved.

So yesterday Miss Carstens appeared with her mother, Mrs. Pearl Anderson, in Superior Judge Crail's court, and the judge appointed Mrs. Anderson her daughter's legal guardian. Attorney Sidney N. Bachtell represented Miss Carstens.

SEARCHERS FEAR GIRL PRISONER

Chum Tells of Note Given Her by Strange Man at Subway Terminal

Although her disappearance almost two months ago was apparently voluntary, the police are now working on the theory that Mary Ruth Bailey, 15-year-old Venice High School girl, is being held captive against her will.

MARY RUTH BAILEY

When she failed to return to her home September 18, last, the fact was reported to the police by her stepfather and her mother, Mr. and Mrs. Jess William Pettit of 832 Vernon avenue, Venice.

She had come into town with a school chum named Elisabeth Scott and the latter said that after they left the theater to go to the subway Terminal and take a car for home, the Bailey girl left her, promising to meet her in ten minutes at the station. When the Bailey girl failed to appear within that time, she said, she went home alone.

Four days after the disappearance of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Pettit received a short note from her, saying she was working and would soon leave for San Francisco.

Further questioning of the Scott girl then brought forth a story from her that while she and the Bailey girl were sitting in the theater, a strange man passed a note to the Bailey girl.

The girl is 5 feet, 4 inches in height, weighs 110 pounds, has dark brown hair, which is bobbed, and dark brown eyes. At the time of her disappearance she wore a short black velvet jacket, a tan silk dress with red and purple figures in it and blond low shoes and stockings.

Mickey Walker Exonerated of Liquor Charge

Mickey Walker, middleweight boxing champion, yesterday was cleared of liquor-possession charges before Municipal Judge McConnell, when Deputy City Prosecutor Smith moved for dismissal of the complaint against him following a plea of guilty entered by Ray Hallor, an actor. Mickey was charged jointly with Hallor and Arthur Housman, another actor. As a result of Hallor's plea, the complaint against Housman also was dismissed. Hallor was fined $50, which he paid.

The trio were arrested October 9 last, as the outgrowth of an asserted brawl in the Hollywood apartment of Dorothy Davis, motion-picture actress. At the time, police confiscated a bottle of liquor. Pending acknowledgment of its ownership, all three were held, being released lated on bail.

CLOTHING READY FOR NEEDY

Thirty Thousand New Articles Gathered by Guild Will be Distributed Today and Tomorrow

Minus any singing of its own praises, the Los Angeles branch of the Needlework Guild of America has been conducting its annual ingathering of new garments for distribution among the needy during this week, with the result that today and tomorrow approximately 30,000 articles will be sent to the 110 institutions supplied by the guild.

Under the direction of Mrs. Samuel Kreider, president, the collection has been concentrated in the basement floor of the Scottish Rite Building at 929 South Hope street, and some ninety-two volunteer workers have spent long hours counting garments, sorting them, registering them on charts, filling, as nearly as possible, the requisition slips from the institutions and getting the huge canvas bags ready for distribution. This work will be accomplished by noon today and at 3 p.m. four trucks, loaned by the Los Angeles Transfer Company, will start the work of delivery.

CHILDREN ASSIST

Membership in the guild consists of a yearly donation of two new garments and 10 cents, a requirement which is within the reach of almost everyone except those who actually are in need. The local chapter has about 5000 members and this year there also has been a junior section, composed of children from a number of the city and private schools, which has contributed some 2200 garments.

According to Mrs. Kreider, there are two reasons for collecting only new garments. Not only do they wear better but the guild also believes there is a sense of greater respectability that goes with new clothing. The guild does not want expensive garments but rather useful and substantial ones, she said, and appropriate for the uses of the persons to whom they will be given.

There are no paid workers in the organization and expenses are reduced to an absolute minimum. The scope of the work takes in a wide range of needy persons, regardless of race, color, or religion.

INQUIRIES MADE

The guild keeps in close touch with the Social Service Department of Los Angeles and the Americanization Department of the public schools in order to determine the cases most deserving of its attention, in addition to which guild members do investigating both of institutions and of a certain number of private cases. This year sixty private cases will be taken care of in the annual distribution.

Garments collected are divided into divisions which include infants' wear, household goods, children's wear for ages from 1 to 6 years, girls', boys', men's and women's garments. The work of the guild in no way conflicts with the work of the Community Chest, being distinctly a garment charity in contrast to the Chest as a money charity.

The guild was started in England many years ago and first was organized in this country in 1885. The local branch was organized here in 1895. Each branch in every large city in the United States is entirely local in its work except in the case of national disaster, when all branches function as a part of a great national organization.

ALIENATION AND DIVORCE SUITS FILED

Culver City Wife Wants $100,000 from Rival and $1,000,000 from Spouse

Asserting that Muriel Bermudes, said to be a South American society woman, alienated the affections of her husband, Mrs. Clair Doreen Phillips yesterday sued Miss Bermudes for $100,000 damages and made her husband, Raymond Ward Phillips, defendant in a divorce suit.

Miss Bermudez was not named co-respondent in the divorce suit, however, which asks a division of patent rights owned by Phillips, said to be worth $2,000,000.

The couple were married March 25, 1928, and separated April last. A. H. Mauer, attorney for Mrs. Phillips, filed both suits.

In her petition the plaintiff said her husband told her she reminded him of a toad and that he admitted associating with another woman, who really loved him.

Mrs. Phillips lives at 6940 Washington Boulevard, Culver City.

New Sums May be Voted for Usury Cases

Additional appropriations from the city funds to prosecute the approximately 140 usury cases arising from the Julian Petroleum Corporation crash loomed yesterday when it became known that Mayor Porter and Councilmen Randall and Williams have agreed to confer with City Prosecutor Nix on the matter of engaging counsel to handle the cases in Municipal Court.

Some time ago Council set aside $25,000 for these prosecutions, which have been on and off calendar for about two years. Of this sum only a few thousand dollars remain, it is understood, and if special counsel is engaged further appropriations must be made.

Young Rum Sale Suspect Seized

Buck Weaver, 21 years of age, of 465 South Main street, yesterday was arrested by Detective-Lieutenant Jordan and Police Sergeant Shoemaker at Sixth and Main streets and booked on violation of the Wright Act, involving possession of more than a quart, following his asserted sale to Jordan of a bottle of liquor.

According to the detective, Weaver has been dispensing liquor to all comers, including sailors and minors, from his post at Sixth and Main streets. When Jordan displayed his shield, Weaver tossed the detective's marked money to the ground, and made an unsuccessful dash for home.

OPINIONS CHANGE ON DAM SITE

Two Supervisors Declare San Gabriel Forks Site Now Seems Improbable

Two members of the County Board of Supervisors who have clung to the hope that a high dam can be built at the "forks" site in San Gabriel Canyon, stated yesterday that engineering reports available at this time make it seem improbable that any dam at all can be built at the site, where more than $3,000,000 has been spent in excavation and preliminary work.

Supervisor Beaty, whose district is situated in San Gabriel Valley, directly below the site, said that he cannot consent to a dam in the canyon "if there is any danger of its failure from any cause."

Supervisor Wright said that evidence is continuing to pile up that "makes it look bad" for the chances of a dam at the "forks" site.

Supervisors Shaw and Graves have opposed the "forks" site since the landslide September 16 revealed a weakness in the rock structure beneath the proposed dam.

Supervisor Wright said that with the people of Los Angeles county as acutely "dam conscious" as they are now, no sensible public official would consider building a dam where it might cause a wholesale loss in property values in the valley below.

"I will favor a dam at the forks only if all the engineers consulted agree on the safety of the site," said Supervisor Wright, "and, according to present indications, there will be no such agreement."

E. C. Eaton, engineer of the flood-control district, will meet with the Board of Supervisors today to discuss the extent of the report that will be required of the nine engineers retained to make a new survey of the dam. These men are being paid $100 a day and expenses.

FEDERAL ENGINEER WILL AID DAM SURVEY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—E. W. Kramer, Federal district engineer for California, has been named by the Department of Agriculture, it was announced today, to co-operate with a commission of engineers and geologists to investigate the safety of the proposed San Gabriel Dam site. The investigation will be conducted jointly by Federal and State authorities, it was said.

As a representative of the Federal Power Commission in this State, Kramer has analyzed plans and inspected construction work from the safety standpoint on the Exchequer, Almanor, Pardee, Salt Springs, Shaver and Florence Lake dams. He also inspected the Canyon Pablo Dam site, at which a 390-foot arch bridge is being built by the city of Seattle.

Court Hears Plea and Then Cuts Alimony

Mrs. Gertrude Cullinan told Court Commissioner Doyle yesterday how difficult it is to support two growing daughters on $30 a week, especially with her former husband, Oscar Fishbein, $360 behind in his alimony.

MRS. GERTRUDE CULLINAN

On Doyle's recommendation, Superior Judge Schauer reduced Mrs. Cullinan's alimony to $20 a week, on condition that Fishbein would pay the back alimony. This was because Mrs. Cullinan's attorney previously had agreed to the reduction because of Fishbein's straitened circumstances.

Mrs. Cullinan said her husband deserted her sixteen years ago, but that she since has remarried.

Mountain Lion Hunters Will Renew Search

Fatigued from their all-night search, but undaunted, the huntsmen who set out at midnight Tuesday to track down a pair of mountain lions in the Santa Monica Mountains announced yesterday that they will resume the pursuit at 10:30 tomorrow night. The hunt again is being organized by W. C. James, Bud Du Brock, Andy Rice, Jr., and Douglas Longyear, and will comprise about fifty armed and mounted men. Several women may join the party.

The lions were seen last Sunday by B. K. Partin, manager of the Longyear Ranch. They were chasing a $1000 polo pony owned by Bud Du Brock. On Tuesday the pony's partly devoured carcass was found in a ravine. Two dogs, four colts and a number of pigs also are known to have fallen victims of the beasts.

A State bounty of $100 awaits the hunter who brings down the lions.

STORM DRAIN BACKED

The Board of Public Works yesterday recommended to Council a report of City Engineer Shaw suggesting that in connection with the improvement of Fifth street from Central avenue to San Pedro street a storm drain be constructed, the cost to be spread over the assessment district. The report was transmitted to the Public Works Committee.

IDING THE INDIAN

What is the solution of the Indian blem? Our Federal Indian Bureau ms to consider that it lies in giving red man plenty of work. That, too, he idea entertained by many of those attended the recent Lake Mohonk ference, which went pretty thoroughnto the subject.

t first blush it would appear that h a solution would not be very ac-table to the Indian himself. His tra-ons run to sport rather than to labor.
to a hundred years ago and even e then he has favored the idea of ing the squaws do the work while he t fishing or hunting.

ut the Indian of today is not the Inn of yesterday. To a certain extent has become inbued with the indusl spirit of the white man. In many s he has had to work or starve. He no great mind for mechanics, but n is seen as a good farmer, cattlen or lumberman.

he program of the Indian Bureau
s to assist our red brother along vo-onal rather than academic lines. Ef-s will be made to prepare him in his th for a definite job—to fit him to nd alone and to go forth into the ite man's world and work out his own tiny instead of forever being a charge n the government.

o greater help can be given any man,
ite, black or red, than to provide him h the power to help himself. If the r, plundered, persecuted Indian can place on that independent footing a race that owes him so much the atest of earthly boons will be granted him.

POLICE EFFICIENCY

There is not much wrong with a police department which in two successive years, though handicapped by insufficient numbers and inadequate equipment, can turn in a record showing a decrease of 19 per cent in major crime. When it is added that during most of that time the head of the department has been under fire from politicians and fanatics, who, wittingly or unwittingly, have given comfort, aid and support to the public enemies, the making of such a record is remarkable.

The decrease in major crimes in the fiscal year ending in 1928 was approximately 6 per cent while that of the last fiscal year was more than double, or 13 per cent. There were 22,398 such crimes in the last previous report, only 19,389 in the report just issued. The reductions were scored in robbery, burglary, auto theft, theft from the person, theft by false pretenses, assault with a deadly weapon and murder. There were small increases in reports of grand theft and of issuing fraudulent checks.

The accuracy of these crime reports is attested by two high authorities, August Vollmer, Chief of Police of Berkeley, and Leonard Harrison of the New York Bureau of Social Hygiene, who are familiar with police record systems the country over and who unhesitatingly commend the Los Angeles system as unsurpassed.

In crimes involving the use of threats or violence, such as murder, assault with a deadly weapon, robbery and burglary, the decrease was more than one-fifth, or 21.7 per cent. That it is against such crimes that the public particularly needs and demands protection goes without saying.

So far as the murder rate is an indication of police efficiency, figures given a few weeks ago in these columns will bear repeating. Mentioning only northern cities (the murder rate in the South is far higher) the rate in Los Angeles is 4.4 per 100,000 of population; in New York, 4.5; in Philadelphia, 6.7; in Chicago, 9.6; in St. Louis, 13.9; in Detroit, 15.8, and in Boston, 23.6. Los Angeles thus has the lowest murder rate in any large city. Of the fifty-four murders committed in Los Angeles last year, only ten were listed as unsolved—again a very high percentage of efficiency for the United States.

The record shows that there were 9737 bookings for violation of the anti-liquor laws, of which 5694, or more than 58 per cent, resulted in convictions. This is a percentage of convictions seldom reached in American practice and probably compares favorably with any city in the country. Since the principal basis of the charges that are being prepared against Chief Davis is his asserted failure to capture a single bootlegger (whom he did arrest as soon as the man's activities were brought to his attention) his successful pursuit, through his subordinates, of 5694 is a matter that should not go unnoticed.

Among these 5694 were scores of liquor sellers whose operations were as extensive or more extensive than those of the man about whom all the fuss is being made. The efficiency of the Los Angeles police in curtailing the sale of liquor has been made the subject of official commendation on the part of the Federal prohibition administrator for this district, who would be the first to know, and the first to complain, if he were not getting proper co-operation.

As a whole the report gives point to the recent declaration of former Chief Vollmer that this city is getting an extremely high quality of police service.

The city owes the department that can give such an excellent account of itself, its hearty thanks and its cordial support. The city owes the chief that has led this department a restoration and continuance of confidence, and protection from malicious and unfounded attacks, especially by outsiders who have no legitimate interest in or concern with the city's affairs.

The charges against the chief were initiated, as the public has just learned, by a man who is not a resident of the city, not a voter, not a property holder and not a taxpayer; a man, in fact, who owns no property anywhere; whose citizenship is doubtful; who confesses he had no regular occupation for ten years; who is without income or assets; who says he lives by borrowing money, and whose demonstrated acquaintance with the forces of the underworld introduces a still further element of dubiety, especially as to his motives.

OFF-YEAR ELECTIONS

The victories of Mayor Walker, Tammany candidate in New York, and of J. G. Pollard regular Democratic candidate for Governor of Virginia, in Tuesday's poll were the results of Tuesday's off-year poll that attracted the most national attention. The capture of the Republican mayoralty nomination in New York by Congressman La Guardia, who has been almost everything but a Republican, made Walker's election a foregone conclusion and there is really little significance in Jimmy's plurality of 497,165. The principal benefactor of La Guardia's candidacy was Norman Thomas, Socialist, who polled 174,931, most of whom, probably, were conservative Republicans. Thomas's vote was personal and does not indicate Socialist strength.

The victory of Pollard in Virginia is interpreted as a political setback for Bishop Cannon, who, however, was not present during most of the campaign, but was in attendance at a church convention in Brazil. Before leaving Bishop Cannon denounced Pollard as a "Smith-Raskob" candidate. But Pollard is bone-dry and was so certified by the Virginia Anti-Saloon League.

The real Mayor of New York for the next four years will be John J. Curry, leader of Tammany Hall, provided Curry is leader that long. "In city and State Democracy I will follow the lead of Commissioner Curry," said Walker in a pre-election statement. Curry represents the old-timers in the Tammany membership and the "new Tammany" of Al Smith was defeated in his selection.

A shake up in the San Francisco administration is expected to result from the ousting of five of the present Supervisors. Among those to go was Con Deasy, who had served for eighteen years. The voters disapproved six propositions, some designed to extend municipal ownership, and favored only garbage incineration and the creation of a municipal court.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

FASHION shows are frequent in Los Angeles, but there will be one in the Indian room at the Ambassador November 18 which will be unusual—an Indian fashion show, in which real Indians will demonstrate costumes and headdresses of Indian make.

This show will be part of an entire evening of Indian entertainment under the auspices of the Cadman Creative Club, an organization headed by the famous composer, Charles Wakefield Cadman.

Chief Yowlache, who recently was soloist with the Philharmonic Orchestra, will sing several songs, including one of Anita Baldwin's. Louchey-nya, who has been soloist at numerous Indian ceremonials, including a notable one in Hollywood Bowl and the big Indian festival in Albuquerque last summer, also will be on the program. And of course some one will sing Cadman's famous Indian group, "The Land of the Sky Blue Water."

Indian Mecca

All good Indians come to Los Angeles when they get their oil royalties. Everyone has seen the handsome southern colonial home of Jackson Barnett, "the Indian millionaire," on Wilshire Boulevard. Or rather, the Indians say, it is the home of his white wife. "He lives in the garage most of the time—just sits there and watches the motor cars go by," one Indian told us. The other Indians somewhat resent the fact that Barnett has little to do with them.

But certainly there are many Indians here who are striving to do important things for the honor of their race, and are not content to live on reservations and be cared for by the government. Many of them make headquarters in the American Indian Art Shop on Hollywood Boulevard. Glimpa, who arrived there recently, is a niece of Chief Chee Dodge, "the Rockefeller of the Navajos," but wants to express herself in singing and dancing. There are half a dozen Indian men who are achieving real success as singers and musicians. And there is Roan Horse, Navajo artist, who is applying the technique taught at Otis Art Institute to the natural gifts he brought with him from the mesas.

Airplaning Indians

It isn't only western Indians who are here, but many from Oklahoma and the East. The Indian travel between Los Angeles and Oklahoma is heavy and many of the travelers prefer to travel by plane. Lou-chey-nya, for example, loves Southern California and is one of the group of Indians who hope to launch an all-Indian grand opera here, but her husband continually wants to foregather with friends in Oklahoma, so they compromise by flying from place to place.

Laconic Indian Humor

Roan Horse moved the other day and when he went to have the gas turned on in his new home the clerk looked at his name questioningly. He thought Roan Horse was spoofing him.

"What's your real name?" he asked.

"That's it. All the name I got."

"You mean a roan horse like runs around a pasture."

"Ugh! Yes. And sometimes they kick, too!"

Indian Archery

Iron Eyes isn't like Roan Horse, though. He has taken on an American name, too, that of Cody. Iron Eyes is said to be the champion bow-and-arrow golf player. He belongs to the Southern California Archery Club, a member of which invented the game of bow-and-arrow golf, which is a contest between an archer and a golf player, the former shooting an arrow which must light and stick in the ground in each "hole," a more difficult thing than hitting a target. Last year Iron Eyes tied with Dunn, a Scotch professional, on the Ambassador links and his picture has been noticed by many guests of that hotel.

Iron Eyes says Indian archery differs from European archery in that the Indians shoot quickly, drawing and aiming all in one action, almost as quick as the action of an old-time gunman. "I have been hunting with the champion archer of the world," he says, "and I killed rabbits and such quick game much better than he did, but at big game he outshot me, as big game gave him a better chance to draw a bead."

Indians of Tomorrow

White Bird, who is general manager of and big sister to half the Indians here who are trying to achieve something, tells us we ought to write a Leeside about Indians of tomorrow.

"Indians at last are coming into their own in the land which once was theirs," she says. "Quite a number of the rising generation are in school here in Los Angeles, growing up as modern Americans, but inspired by Indian pride toward achievements which will honor their race. For a long time, after being conquered by the white men—and the white men's vices—the Indians were hopeless, sullen and convinced that equality of opportunity was denied them. Then followed years of a sort of gloomy resignation. But the new generation is born to the white men's game and more and more growing ambitious to play a creditable and distinctive part in it. The friendly interest of people like Cadman and Anita Baldwin means much to them, and convinces them that if they make good in this white men's world they will receive respect and due rewards in it. They no longer have the outlook of a beaten and cheated people, but of a rising people. And I believe Los Angeles is the place in which that spirit is most noticeable. We are confidently expecting great things from many of our Indians of tomorrow."

REIGN OF TERROR

An unusually large number of fires have occurred the past month. While the weather has been warm and dry, making grass and wood tinder, yet these conditions do not account for all the conflagrations. Too many of them are without apparent cause.

Firebugs are certainly responsible for some of them. There is always some one abnormal enough to catch a mental contagion and indulge in his favorite weakness. The pyromaniac seems to be multiple. Hardly any one person could fire all the buildings consumed in widely separated parts of the city simultaneously. One day eighteen fires broke out at the same time. Especially suspicious were those which kindled fraternity houses of the university.

The firebug seems to fly in swarms!

With the advent of the autumn months vagrants from over the nation with no other ambition in life but to prey and to destroy are drifting in. They are the annual influx of a type of tourist not sought by the All-Year Club.

They come to keep warm in winter. Some of them are bitter at society in general and vent their spite by sabotage. They lack incentive to work and are incensed at others with homes and business. They brag of their Bolshevism.

In other years the police watched the gates of the city and deported all undesirables to the place whence they came. They were given return tickets or policemen's clubs as they might desire.

But this year the Chief of Police himself is the object of attack at the time of crisis! Even if unintentionally, his accusers are playing in with the gangsters.

THE RED BANNER

Six young students at the Communistic camp in the Yucaipa Valley have been convicted under the State law which forbids the flying of the red flag as the emblem of anarchy. The Socialists are urging an appeal and talk of questioning the law. They hold that it is the inalienable right of every man to say anything or wave anything he wants. If he feels that his flannel undershirt is a better standard than the flag of his country and if he wants to tie it on a stick and head a parade it is his glorious privilege. Most of those who are peculiarly insistent upon the right of free speech only want it to be foolish with. By the same token those who fly the red flag only want to wave it when nobody else would be foolish enough to flaunt an emblem of any kind. The Communist is not content to practice his creed in calmness and peace. He has to be fussy about it and force himself into the reckoning of the stranger.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

Uncle Sam will put on about 70,000 extra clerks and carriers to handle the holiday business in the postoffices. Wall street may have given Santa Claus a hard bump, but it didn't put him out of business.

A TRIBUTE TO THE RAT

By James J. Montague

On learning that science is trying to prove that he can reason

For science I shall always hold
An ardent admiration:
It showers benefits untold
Upon widespread creation.
Deep cause for gratitude have we
To the profound and grave men
Without whose efforts we should be,
Mere whiskered, low-browed cave men.

But Homer nodded now and then
And, like that laurel wearer,
The learned scientific men
Sometimes fall into error
When spent with toil and overwrought
They have their silly season,
Which must be why they've lately sought
To prove that rats can reason.

I'm no defender of the rat—
A base and greedy creature—
But it is undisputed that
He is a reasoning creature.
On man-reaped harvests he has dined,
His progeny has nourished,
And matched his wits with humankind
The while he throve and flourished.

Why prove what always has been known?
Why prove that bees make honey,
Find out if dogs will gnaw a bone
Or spendthrifts waste their money?
He is no dumb thick-witted mutt,
This prince of evil doers,
Not only can he reason, but Outreason his pursuers!

The Gravity Dam

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It was the care exercised by the Supreme Being over this section of California, and an event and circumstance ascribable to divine interposition and the exercise of foresight and care for the future of thousands of lives and loss of property of huge value, when the slippage and movement of earth developed at the site of the proposed San Gabriel dam. Nothing could have happened which could have made it more demonstrative and more pronounced warning, that the building of such a dam should forever be forgotten. The same argument applies to any other dam of the gravity type in any portion of Southern California for reasons given by the writer more than eighteen months ago. Geologically speaking, this is no country for dams of the gravity type. No such dams can be constructed in our mountain regions which can only be expected to care for a normal flood condition. History repeats itself, and rainfalls as in three previous seasons would make an attack on dam structure which would mean its destruction.

The use of concrete in the sections of high dams is still an open question due to the absence of positive knowledge as to the continued setting of the concrete in the interior of large masses. Carrying the work up very slowly or the leaving of numerous swallow holes to be filled later, may to some extent obviate this objection. Otherwise, the monolithic character of the concrete work is a peculiar and not altogether a safe adaptation.

A dam when once built approximates so closely to natural resources, and is so fully identified with the public welfare and a failure is so disastrous that its construction and location become a matter of solicitude above that of any engineering work in such an area as Southern California, which is affected with fault zones, and the formation so open to the water entering causing large areas to become highly saturated the rapidity of which increases according to the volume of water accumulated.

The St. Francis dam proved to be a death trap. Why repeat the same chance?

Science and Religion

TUJUNGA, Nov. 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It has been repeatedly argued that science is irreconcilably at variance with religion. In view of which some recent statements by Albert Einstein, author of the Einstein theory of relativity, are of peculiar value.

Asked as to whether he accepted the historical existence of Jesus, the answer was, "Unquestionably. No one can read the gospels and not feel the actual presence of Jesus. His personality pulsates in every word. No myth is filled with such life." Again referring to the claim of a critic that many of the sayings of Jesus paraphrase the sayings of other prophets, Einstein said: "No man can deny the existence of Jesus, or that his sayings are beautiful. Even though many of them have been said before, no one has expressed them so divinely as He."

This testimony from one of the world's greatest scientists who is also a Socialist and a pacifist, is to me not only convincing, but highly illuminating.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Basketball?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

A gymnasium class for men is conducted at the Sentous Evening High School, 1205 West Pico. The gymnasium is open on Mondays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays from 5 to 9 p.m. for practice and for match games in basketball. All commercial clubs in the city that are desirous of entering these match games should call at the school for reservations on any of the class evenings.

Men interested in joining a basketball team have only to go to the school while the class is in progress. The gymnasium is located in the school yard, reached by going through the school building or passing around it through a gate into the yard direct. The class is in charge of a State-certificated physical education man.

OFFICIAL RED TAPE

Oswald Garrison Villard, the famous publicist, told this:

"They tell a story about a French functionnaire, who was transferred to a provincial town. Well, when the man took over his new quarters he found half a dozen large rooms packed and jammed with thousands of faded, dusty useless documents, the accumulation of several hundred years. So needing space, he wrote to Paris for permission to burn the documents.

"He got an answer in due course. "'You may burn the documents,' it said, 'but make copies of them first.'"—[Chicago Daily News.

WHAT IS OUR MUSEUM

BY RANSOME SUTTON

A museum used to be regarded as a cross between a mausoleum and a morgue. Some museums are still that way, but the Los Angeles Museum is an active institution, working for everybody in this county, with twenty scientific workers on its research staff. The ancient and holy things exhibited in it—holy because they are ancient—represent just one phase of the work going on; they represent the work done by antiquarians. And it is work well done, because that stately exhibition hall gives a more vivid idea in one minute of prehistoric California than one could get from all the books through months of study. In showmanship Dr. Bryan ranks with Barnum. The Imperial elephant, in the center of the room, looks as big as he was, and he was four feet taller than the huge Jumbo of circus renown. In this room the 200,000 daily visitors see Pleistocene California, when brawn and tusks and claws and terrible talons ruled the land and air. But everybody knows the exhibition value of the museum, especially school-teachers who take their classes to behold the remains of these mighty monsters. What visitors do not realize is the discriminating work it took to restore these animals as they were 50,000 years ago. That work is now going on more effectively than ever before.

Upstairs, for example, Dr. Hildegarde Howard is assorting and selecting bird bones, so that we may see what kind of winged creatures flocked over this Southland when the ice sheets over British Columbia were one mile thick. And upstairs George Willett has his office, but he is a idom in it. For the county has placed a boat at his disposal, so he may learn about the water birds off our coast, which no one else has studied so carefully. He has learned that many species of very interesting birds, such as albatrosses, fulmars, shearwaters and petrels, live over our waters for a part of the year without ever lighting on the mainland. Our water birds, he says, are very different in winter and summer; for, aside from a few breeds, such as pelicans, cormorants and one species of gulls, they are birds of passage, which nest as far north as Alaska and as far south as islands of the South Seas. Then there is Dr. J. A. Comstock, assistant director, who studies insects. If you find strange bugs in your gardens or fields send him a few specimens and he will tell you whether they are good or bad. And in a quiet corner room, where Dr. Chester Stock spends most of his time "researching" for Caltech and the museum together, John Livzey Ridgway, formerly science-artist of the American Museum of Natural History, at Washington, is now drawing to scale the birds and beasts which now exist only in fossil form. There are a dozen other experts at work behind the long lines of doors on the third floor, and others in the basement boneyards.

The museum building stands on ten acres of Exposition Park land and it pays only $1 a year to stand there. That dollar, and all the dollars required to maintain it, are raised by county taxes.

Besides its indoor work, the museum is actively affiliated with several cultural institutions. It runs the Otis Art School, the house and grounds for which were donated by the late Gen. Harrison Gray Otis. On its board of nine governors sit two members nominated by the Historical Society of Southern California, two by the Fine Arts League, two by the Southern California Academy of Sciences and one by the Cooper Ornithological Club; so it is a clearinghouse of cultural activity. It also has less direct affiliations with about fifteen other historical and educational organizations. Through the Academy of Sciences, the scientific work being done in Southern California is broadcast in bulletins and also in monthly lectures, to which everybody is invited without special invitation or admission fee.

And the museum now owns about eight acres of what was Rancho La Brea, called Hancock Park in honor of Capt. G. A. Hancock, the donor, where the world's most enlightening outdoor representation of Pleistocene paleontology is rapidly becoming a reality. Here it is proposed to reconstruct the asphalt death traps as they were when mastodons, elephants, camels, dire wolves, saber-tooth tigers, lions and ferocious birds of prey were being caught in them. Excepting the pits, the land has already been largely parked. Around the pits we shall some day see grouped the remains of the very beasts which became entrapped in them—thousands of years before the earliest red men wandered into the scene.

All in all, we have a very active, great, growing, enlightening county institution, which is more than a mere depository for bones and even more democratic than the public schools, where students as well as sightseers are not only welcomed, but made to feel at home.

We are apt to think of the reign of French kings as being uncertain and tragically brief, but Louis XIV was king for seventy-two years, holding the record, while Queen Victoria is the second, with sixty-four years to her credit.

DETECTIVE STUFF

When people read detective fiction the plot's all they want; they do not care for grace of diction or thoughts that strike like fire. The less of love there is, the better, philosophy a bore; the story must get on and get wetter with some poor woman's gore. The author need not be a master, or artist, in his work; just so he keeps things moving faster, he's sure to make the grade. Sometimes I read a bloody murther, my weary soul repines; I doubt if I will read much further along such sort of lines. I'll get me books by gifted writers, where love prevails, and I'll forget the wretched blighters who put out detective tales. I feel that I am slowly drifting into a habit bad, and I will get me books with plenty of fine stories worth my while. So to the bookstore then I'll go with good motives all in bloom, and now I'll buy me one or two sweeter than tales of crime and doom. The bookman says, "Oh, hunkydory! You just got in a peach of a time! I've just got in a dandy story about an unsolved crime." And here's another, full of thrilling that came in today; the author doesn't seem unwilling to be known as Agatha Christie and one by Dashiell Dine; they'll make you weep with tears of joy, they're so beastly fine." But I have bought me my whole blasted destiny, and I'll take them to my shanty I have in the sticks, and there I'll sit down with a grin and say, "Now for a night of real gore," I mutter, in my glee, "I'll envy no man who's fond of reading these stories of mystery weird. But when I've read these I'll quit it, I'll never buy books no more; it is a habit, I admit, to waste time on gore."

Visit Among Children in Hospital Impressing

Quotas for Motion-Picture Organizations Set

Cecil B. DeMille again will head the motion-picture division of the Community Chest campaign, a post he held last year, J. A. H. Kerr, chest campaign chairman, announced yesterday.

"We are happy that Mr. DeMille is to serve as chairman of the motion-picture division," Kerr stated. "His efforts last year largely were responsible for welding the motion-picture industry into an effective unit. Repeated service on the part of leading men of the community is essential for building a strong campaign organization."

Following his appointment, DeMille made a tour of inspection yesterday of the Children's Hospital, a Community Chest agency, of which Mrs. DeMille is a board member, for the purpose of procuring first-hand information as to the type of service being given by Chest agencies.

DEEPLY IMPRESSED

"I was impressed deeply with what this institution is accomplishing," DeMille stated, following his visit. "As I went from room to room and from floor to floor and saw appealing little eyes reach forth to me, little wasted bodies being made whole, I felt that if this Children's Hospital was the only agency in the Chest the quota of $1,500,000 is little enough for the good that is being done.

"I was sorry to learn that the hospital has not enough funds to operate to its full capacity," he said; "that 120 beds, fully equipped, are vacant at the present time because of the inadequacy of the Chest budget. It is a crime, I believe, to allow a condition of this kind to exist. I understand what is true of the Children's Hospital is true, also, of the other 130 member agencies of the Chest."

A group of prominent motion-picture studio officials will aid DeMille in organizing the industry. They have accepted the responsibility of raising $200,000 as their special objective in the campaign. Each studio will be in charge of a chairman and each has been given its own quota.

QUOTAS ASSIGNED

The quota has been divided among nineteen studios as follows: Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Irving Thalberg chairman, quota $30,000; Paramount-Famous Players Lasky, M. C. Levee chairman, quota $26,000; Warner Brothers, Daryl Zanuck chairman, $25,000; Fox studio, Sol M. Wurtzel chairman, $20,000; United Artists studio, Al Rrentinger chairman, $20,000; First National studio, Harold Wallace chairman, $12,500; R.K.O. studio, William LeBaron chairman, $10,000; Universal studio, Carl Laemmle, chairman, $10,000; Metropolitan, William R. Fraser chairman, $8000; Pathe studio, William Sistrom chairman, $7500; Samuel Goldwyn chairman, $5000; Tiffany-Stahl studio, Abe Lehr chairman, $8000; Educational studio, E. H. Allen studio, John H. Stahl chairman, $4000; Inspiration studio, J. Boyce Smith chairman, $4000; Hal Roach studio, Benjamin Shipman chairman, $4000; Christie studios, Charles Christie chairman, $2000; Columbia Pictures Corporation, Harry Cohn chairman, $2000; Mack Sennett studio, Jack Waldron chairman, $2000, and Chaplin studio, Al Reed chairman, $2000.

DeMille announced that the executive committee of the Motion-Picture Relief Fund of America has postponed its own appeal until February 12, 1930, in order not to conflict with the Community Chest campaign. The committee urges the motion-picture industry's generous response to the Community Chest.

TWO MEN SEEK FREEDOM FROM TWICE-WED SPOUSE

Two men appeared in Superior Judge Schauer's court yesterday in an effort to obtain legal separation from the same woman.

They are Carl E. Mellott and S. W. Roswell. Roswell asked an annulment of a Tia Juana marriage last May and Mellott wants a divorce outright.

Mellott married Helen Rose Mellott, he said, in 1923 and lived with her until October 5, last, when he found she had married Roswell in Mexico.

Roswell testified that he did not know Mrs. Mellott was married when he took her to Tia Juana. His marriage was annulled after Mellott testified.

Mellott's divorce case will be heard next week, with Roswell as the star witness.

McDONALD TELLS BRIBE TALE AGAIN

Asserted Bootlegger on Stand in Second Trial of Police Trio

Harry McDonald, reputed bootlegger, yesterday repeated his story in Superior Judge Wood's court that he paid $600 "protection" money to Oscar L. Peterson, Harry M. Hill and Leonard F. Sale, police officers on trial for asserted bribery.

McDonald was on the witness stand the greater part of the day and testified the "payoff" occurred last January at one of his establishments on Compton avenue.

This is the second trial of the three defendants, the jury in the first case having been discharged after failing to reach a verdict.

The trial will be resumed this morning.

New York Broker, on Air Industry Survey, Tells of Great Potentialities

Describing Southern California as the largest potential market in the United States for the sale of good securities, E. W. Swackhamer, an official of Potter & Co., New York brokers, is in Los Angeles "with a view to getting the picture of the air industry," as well as a slant on the Southland's market possibilities.

"Your wealth here is enormous and it is growing rapidly. Eastern bankers and brokers look on the Southwest as the greatest potential market existing for the placing of desirable securities," said the visitor, who, with his wife, is at the Biltmore.

"Sometimes we in the East begin to doubt the statement that there is an aviation industry. We see ships in the air and we read much, but I wanted to come to California where, I have been told, there is a real, active aviation industry. My visit here, brief as it has been, has already revived my belief," Mr. Swackhamer said.

From Los Angeles the New York broker will go to San Francisco, Portland and Seattle, before returning to New York.

LOVE TALE OF MALIBU RECOUNTED

Woman Boarder-Detective Says Mrs. Withers Voiced Yearning for Romance

Testimony of Mrs. Annie Simpson, installed as boarder and private detective in the home of Mrs. Philbe Withers, was heard in Superior Judge Sproul's court yesterday, where Mrs. Withers and her husband, Harry Withers, are fighting for custody of two children, and a $100,000 ranch in the Malibu.

"All I heard from Mrs. Withers from daylight to dark, was the name of Jay Mahoney," said Mrs. Simpson.

Mahoney is a cowboy from an adjoining ranch.

"My husband's love for me has grown cold," Mrs. Simpson said she heard Mrs. Withers say. "Romance has deserted me in middle age and I mean nothing more to him than a housekeeper. Why shouldn't I find some one who cares for me. Haven't I the right?"

Mahoney, named as co-respondent, will testify today in his own and Mrs. Withers's defense.

JAIL TERM GIVEN FILM SCHOOL HEAD

Six Months' Sentence and Fine of $500 Imposed on Dailey in Theft Case

U. M. Dalley, film-school owner, was sentenced to serve six months in jail and pay a fine of $500, the maximum sentence allowed under the law, by Municipal Judge Sheldon yesterday following Dailey's conviction by a jury on petty theft charges filed in connection with his operation of the school.

Before imposing the sentence, Judge Sheldon denied a motion by Dudley Robinson, defense attorney, for a new trial but granted one to the United Talking Picture Company, co-defendant on the petty-theft charge. Robinson gave oral notice of appeal from Dailey's sentence, on whic hthe court set bail of $1000.

Deputy City Prosecutor Hornaday accused Dailey and the company of stealing $150 from L. F. Charry, 4110 Main street, Compton. Charry testified he paid the amount as tuition after being assured by Dailey he was excellent film material and could be made a star actor.

Funeral Service for David Dyas to be Tomorrow

Funeral services will be conducted at the Little Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale, at 10 a.m. tomorrow for David Stuart Dyas, brother of Bernal H. Dyas, Los Angeles merchant, who died Tuesday evening at his home in Ramona. He was 34 years of age. Death was caused by meningitis.

DAVID STUART DYAS

A POPULAR young navy subdeb who recently joined the service set at the harbor is Miss St. Clair Smith, who drove south with her mother from Bremerton when Capt. Arthur St. Clair Smith was ordered as chief of staff of the battle fleet with duty on board the flagship California. From 1922 to 1925 Capt. Smith was naval attache at the embassy in Peking, China, and during that time Miss Smith attended the Peking American school. When she returned to this country she was a student at the Mary Baldwin School in Staunton, Va., and also studied design at the Maryland Institute in Baltimore. During her sojourn in Long Beach, Miss Smith plans to continue her art work as well as taking active part in the social life of the Navy contingent during the winter season.

Keep Free from FAT in excess; it's easy now

Modern science has found that excess fat is largely due to an under-active gland. Starve as you will, exercise as you will, you are bound to fail unless you correct the cause.

That gland largely controls nutrition. When it is weak, too much food goes to fat, too little to fuel and energy. So modern physicians, in treating obesity, supply the gland substance which is scant.

That is the method employed in Marmola prescription tablets, prepared by a famous medical laboratory. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Anybody, in any circle, can see what a change has come. Excess fat is disappearing fast. New youth and beauty, new health and vitality, are conspicuous everywhere.

If you are abnormal in your weight, a certain gland is abnormal. Try Marmola. Feed the factor lacking. Watch the pounds go, the new vitality return. You will be amazed and delighted. But the formula in each box of Marmola will tell you the reason. To people who know, there is no excuse today for obesity. Start to remedy that ill condition now.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

A Bedtime Story

REDDY AND MRS. REDDY WORK TOGETHER

A task too hard for one to do,
May very simple be for two.
—Reddy Fox.

When Reddy Fox had left home Mrs. Reddy had been away hunting. She returned soon after. Her nose soon told her all she wanted to know. Reddy had left not long before. "Probably he has gone hunting," thought Mrs. Reddy. "For myself, I think I'll take a nap. I'm tired. Then, too, I've had a good dinner of mice, and a good dinner always makes one feel sleepy."

So Mrs. Reddy lay down on the doorstep for a nap. Now a fox is a light sleeper. Mrs. Reddy was in the middle of a dream of fat meadow mice just waiting to be caught when she heard a sound that caused her eyes to fly open. At first she wasn't sure that it was not a part of the dream. But in a moment she heard it again—a sharp "yap-yap" on the far side of the Old Pasture.

"That's Reddy," thought Mrs. Reddy. "He is barking for me. He has found something and he wants my help."

She barked once in reply, and then started off following the scent Reddy had left behind him. She knew that this would lead her straight to him. Sure enough, it did. She presently discovered him at one side of a small bramble tangle. She didn't show herself, but slipped around through the brush so as to join Reddy behind a big bush. She crept up beside him. Reddy said nothing. He didn't have to. Mrs. Reddy saw where Reddy was looking. He was peeking through the brush into a small bramble tangle. Mrs. Reddy peeked through. At once she saw Peter Rabbit.

Peter was awake now. He had heard Reddy Fox bark and he had realized that Reddy must be very near. But, though he had looked and looked, he hadn't been able to see Reddy. This didn't worry him much. He felt quite safe in that bramble tangle and he felt too miserable to think of much but his own feelings. Reddy crept back a little way and Mrs. Reddy joined him. "What is the matter with Peter Rabbit?" she inquired.

"How are you going to drive him out?" asked Mrs. Reddy

"I think he was hurt by a shot from a terrible gun," replied Reddy. "This is our chance to get him. I have been watching him for a long time. I don't think he can use one leg. On three legs he will have no chance at all. Now, here is my plan. I will drive him out of that bramble tangle and you will be hidden on the other side, where you can catch him as soon as he comes into the open."

"How are you going to drive him out?" asked Mrs. Reddy.

"I'm going to crawl into that bramble tangle," replied Reddy.

"You'll get scratched and your coat will be torn," said Mrs. Reddy.

Reddy grinned. "A rabbit dinner will be worth it. Now, my dear, you run along and hide."

So Mrs. Reddy noiselessly made her way around to the other side of the bramble tangle and hid. She was sure that Peter hadn't seen her. Reddy got to his feet and, without trying to keep out of sight, walked over to the bramble tangle. Peter was once more half-dozing. Reddy barked sharply. Peter saw him then.

"I'm going to get you this time!" snarled Reddy Fox, and began to force his way into the bramble tangle.

By this time Peter was very wide awake, indeed. For a moment he forgot his sore leg, but when he took a step with it, he was reminded right away of what had happened. He looked out on the bramble tangle on the side opposite to the one from which Reddy was coming. A little way off was another bramble tangle. A cowpath led right over past it. He could see that bramble tangle very plainly. But what he couldn't see was Mrs. Reddy hiding close to that path. He looked back at Reddy Fox. Reddy whimpered as the briars scratched him, but already he was halfway into that bramble tangle. It certainly looked as if Peter Rabbit was in real trouble this time.

FINAL ORDINANCES PASS

Council yesterday passed the final ordinances for the improvement of Finley avenue from Talmadge street to Commonwealth avenue, the improvement of the Carmelina avenue and Darlington Avenue District, and the improvement of Buena Vista Terrace between Tipton Terrace and Nolden street.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

STUFFED GREEN PEPPERS

Place in a saucepan two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of finely chopped onion and cook until the onion is a light golden color, add half a cupful of strained tomatoes, one cupful of cooked rice, one teaspoonful of finely chopped parsley, one chopped pimiento, and one cupful of finely chopped cooked meat of any kind, add a seasoning of salt and pepper and allow to simmer for ten minutes, remove from the fire, and add one well-beaten egg, cut the tops from even-sized bell peppers, remove the seeds and ribs, fill with the mixture, place in a baking dish, dot with bits of butter, and bake in a medium oven for thirty minutes.

QUINCE SOUFFLE

Four medium-sized quinces, three eggs, one-half a cupful of milk, one-half a cupful of stale cake or bread crumbs, one-half a cupful of sugar, peel the quinces, core and cut in quarters, place in the saucepan, add just enough water to keep from burning and when tender, press them through a coarse sieve, add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and a teaspoonful of grated lemon rind, soak the bread or cake crumbs in the milk and add to the quinces, beat the yolks of the eggs until light and lemon-colored, add the sugar to them and beat into the mixture, fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs, place in a baking dish, place in a pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven.

STUFFED HAM ROLL

One large slice of ham, three cupfuls of bread crumbs, one-fourth of a cupful of ham fat, two tablespoonfuls of chopped onion, one tablespoonful of finely chopped celery, two tablespoonfuls of capers, two tablespoonfuls of flour, three or four whole cloves, place the ham fat in a saute pan, add the onions and cloves, and cook until a light brown, remove the cloves, add the bread crumbs and cook for one minute, add the celery, season with a little paprika and, if necessary to make it spread, add a few drops of hot water, spread this mixture on a slice of ham, roll tightly and tie, place in a baking dish, sprinkle thickly with brown sugar and stick three or four cloves into the ham, bake in a hot oven for twenty minutes, reduce the heat, and bake until the ham is tender, basting occasionally with the liquid in the pan. It may be necessary to add a little hot water. Remove the ham to a hot platter, mix the flour with a fourth of a cupful of mild vinegar and stir into the gravy in the pan. Pour over the ham and serve.

STUFFED PEAR SALAD

Take the required number of halves of pears, drain them from their syrup and marinade them in French dressing, allow to stand in a cool place in the dressing for half an hour. Place half of a pear on shredded lettuce, fill the center of it with drained grated pineapple, sprinkle with finely chopped almonds, take a date, remove the stone, season creamed cheese with lemon juice and salt, place a small ball of the cream cheese in the center of the date, using two of them as a garnish.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department. PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

Health and Diet ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

...noises, or ear noises, are ...ly ones as ringing, humming. These annoyances ...e in one ear or both for a ...d of time. The condition in the ear is very annoying and the patient much ...ve even been known to ...

...ases, if the noise ...s the patient feels ...ad worse when the ...ened than in the evening when ears are fatigued. ...ds in the ear may be pressure of the ...ction of sounds. Sometimes it is a pressure on the ...ear from ear wax that ...ed. It is frequently noticed in cases of migraine, anemia and neurasthenia. When the patient is anemic, causing him take the reclining position will reduce the noise.

An inflammation of the ear will cause ear noises, as will accidents or blows on the ear, an excessive blood supply, high blood pressure or a catarrh of the eustachian tube. It is also noted in many cases of epilepsy and in congestion of the turbinates. Too much coffee, tea, tobacco or alcohol may cause it temporarily. Quinine is known to bring about a ringing of the ears. Any derangement of the heart or blood vessels may cause it. Telephone tinnitus is due to excessive use of the telephone, and some people are so sensitive to noise that after hearing rivet hammering or explosions for any length of time, even though the noise ceases, they continue to hear it.

In treating ringing of the ears the cause should be removed whenever possible. The nerves should be rested and strengthened. The patient should be encouraged to obtain plenty of sleep and avoid being overtired. It is also a good plan to follow a fasting regime as outlined in my cleansing diet course which was published a short time ago in this newspaper. This will assist in reducing the high blood pressure, if that is the cause, or in clearing out the catarrhal obstructions or inflammation. One should also have the ear examined to see if the trouble is caused by ear wax or some other mechanical pressure.

The only method of overcoming ear noises is to play fair with the ears by adopting those habits of eating, eliminating and exercising which will steady the nerves and give a healthy blood stream free from toxic wastes.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped, self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfit for the new baby, sleepless, rickets, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in nearly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, liver, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, rice water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

DON'T GO TO SLEEP ON JOB OF BEING A MOTHER!

How we do progress! Many years ago mothers had never heard of cod liver oil. Now there is scarcely a well cared-for infant anywhere who doesn't get his dose of cod liver oil as faithfully as his orange juice and formula. And now some progressive child specialists are recommending a concentrated cod liver oil—irradiated ergosterol—to take the place of plain cod liver oil.

A year or more ago my mail was full of letters asking about the use and dosage of the concentrated oils which were replacing cod liver oil in baby's diet. The concentrated oils, given as they are in drop doses, relieve the mother of that three-times-a-day struggle with a determined baby, and the strains and spitting-up incident to these forced doses.

Then one of the largest manufacturers of this new oil withdrew his product from the market. It had been found that the doses had not been sufficiently stabilized, and there was sufficient danger in overdosing to necessitate further experimentation. The product is now back on the market, as well as several more of the same type. If they are made by a well-known manufacturing chemist, and advised by your own doctor, the particular name of the product is immaterial as they are all the same thing—irradiated ergosterol.

And just what is there about this concentrated oil with the long tongue-twister of a name which recommends it? To understand we must remember that food is fuel to the body . . . the raw materials out of which the digestive organs manufacture blood and bone and tissue. One of these "raw materials" is calcium, that element in the diet which is utilized to build up the bony structure of the body. It has been discovered that sunlight acts chemically to help the body to make the most effective use of this calcium in the diet. Irradiated ergosterol is simply a chemical manufactured to imitate as nearly as possible the effect of sunlight in making use of the calcium in the diet to build strong bones.

The use of cod liver oil for the child up to 2 years of age as a preventive of rickets, disease of malnutrition and sunlight starvation, is sufficiently familiar to all modern mothers to need no explanation. She is used to cod liver oil and she will soon find herself becoming just as accustomed to the use of these concentrated oils in the daily diet.

In the administration of the new preparation there is more danger of inexpert dosages than there was in giving the plain oils. A mother should not buy a concentrated oil and dose the baby herself. She should leave that important detail to her doctor, who understands what he is giving and its effect on the child.

From past experience I know that I shall be deluged from now on by questions about this new product, its efficacy and dosage, and I'm just warning my readers that it will be time saving to ask the doctor.

CITY AMUSEMENT PARK ADVOCATED BY HJELTE

An amusement park operated for the public by the public may be established in Los Angeles by the City Playground and Recreation Department if the suggestion of Supt. Hjelte, contained in his annual report to the Playground and Recreation Commission, is followed.

The report, to be submitted today, recommends the project for consideration not only as a high type of entertainment center where the entire family would find wholesome, well-regulated amusements, but also as a means of earning additional funds for the construction of more tennis courts, swimming pools, playgrounds, and other recreation facilities in the city. The Playground Department soon will find itself unable to expand its system further unless such additional income is provided, the report states.

In making the recommendation, Supt. Hjelte calls attention to a similar project, called "Playland," developed at Rye Beach, New York, by the Westchester County Park Commission. This amusement park not only has provided entertainment for thousands at low fees, but also has netted a profit of more than $1,000,000 annually—enough to pay all costs of operating Westchester county's parks.

The Los Angeles play park, to be successful, would have to be close to the population center, on good waterways, and accessible by convenient transportation lines, the report declares. Among other places, the lagoon land at Venice would be a good location meeting these requirements, if the public lent approval to the project, according to Hjelte.

DISMISSAL ENDS BADHAM'S CASE

Municipal Court Sets Forth Its Lack of Jurisdiction

Belated Report on Election Outlay Trouble Cause

Legislature Declared Only Body With Power to Act

Charges against Assemblyman Badham of violating the primary election law were dismissed yesterday by Municipal Judge Wood on the ground that the Municipal Court has no jurisdiction in the case. Badham was accused of failing to file his primary election expenses within fifteen days after the election, as provided by law. The offense is a misdemeanor, with forfeiture of office provided in case of conviction.

Judge Wood held that the court has no power to enforce the penalty of forfeiture of office provided by law, which is an exclusive power of the Legislature. In his decision he said: "The Constitution provides that the Assembly shall be sole judge of the election, qualification and returns of its members and numerous Supreme Court decisions have upheld this provision. For this court to find the defendant guilty in this case would mean usurpation of the powers of the Assembly, since only the Assembly under the Constitution, can remove him from office.

OUT OF COURT'S HANDS

"It likewise is impossible to proceed with trial of this case as a misdemeanor, for the language of the Primary Election Law makes forfeiture of office mandatory in case of conviction and the court has no power to enforce this penalty. The language of the statute is 'and shall forfeit his office' which, in my opinion, removes the case from the courts entirely.

"Evidence in this case shows that the defendant was duly elected and seated as a member of the Assembly, which thereby passed on his qualifications to hold the office of Assemblyman. In addition, the Assembly is cognizant of this charge, as is shown by the Journal of the Assembly for April 17, last, when the charges were discussed.

DISMISSAL GRANTED

"The motion to dismiss is granted and the defendant is discharged."

Only two witnesses were called in the case, one by Deputy City Prosecutor Fox and one by Frank Smith, defense attorney. Deputy County Recorder Matschke testified that Barham filed his expenses in person on November 7, 1928, instead of before September 14, 1928, as required by law, and Badham, testifying in his own behalf, admitted this, but said the delay was due to sickness in his family and denied criminal intent.

Employees of Store to Dance

Members of the Broadway Department Store Employees' Association have arranged a costume carnival dance for Saturday night in the Shrine ballroom, all funds to be used for providing Christmas programs for the World War and tubercular soldiers at the Soldiers' Home, Sawtelle.

Benjamin Laletsky and his Shrine orchestra of twenty pieces will provide music. There will be special entertainment features as well as decorations, and prizes for the most novel and beautiful costumes.

Edwin L. Helms, president of the employees' association, has received an enthusiastic letter from Ruth Roland, motion-picture actress, indorsing the benefit.

Fanciers of Racers Will Meet Here

Miss Melba Nieto Loosing Birds

PREPARATIONS were started yesterday for the 1930 convention of the American Racing Pigeon Association in Los Angeles which is expected to be attended by 5000 bird fanciers from all States in the Union, Cuba, Canada, England, France and Belgium.

J. S. Michalak, chairman of the Los Angeles center, and W. H. Best, a committeeman, with the assistance of Miss Melba Nieto, yesterday loosed a flight of the racing pigeons carrying invitations to municipal officials of several Pacific Coast cities.

The convention is to be held the first week of next October.

FOUNDER OF REDONDO "DAILY BREEZZE" DIES

Funeral services for S. Deal Barkley, Sr., founder of the Redondo Daily Breeze, will be conducted today at 2 p.m. at Grace Chapel, Inglewood Park Cemetery. The Cate morticians will be in charge. Mr. Barkley was editor of the Daily Breeze from 1894 until 1914, at which time he sold the journal. He was influential in Redondo politics, serving fourteen years as city clerk, two terms as city trustee and four years as postmaster. For the past ten years he was associated with the Standard Oil Company in El Segundo. He was a member of the Foresters and Woodmen of the World. Mr. Barkley died at his home, 308 Virginia street, El Segundo, Tuesday, after an illness of nearly two years. He leaves his widow, Elizabeth L. Barkley, a daughter, Mrs. L. H. Heath, of Hollywood, and a son, S. D. Barkley, Jr., of Hollywood.

WARNER GOES EAST TO OFFICE SESSION

Jack L. Warner, vice-president in charge of production at Warner Brothers, is en route to New York on the Chief to engage in a series of business conferences with executives in the eastern offices. Plans for the next season's product will occupy a dominant part of the conferences, he said. He is accompanied by William Koenig, studio manager. Warner Brothers have about completed the product for the season just closing and, it is said, production probably will not be resumed until about January 15. The studio will be closed in so far as production is concerned until that time. Meanwhile story material is being worked out and many new improvements built at the studio.

SLAYER OF YOUTH SUED BY MOTHER

Tailor Jury Acquitted in Killing Faces Action for $105,000 Damages

Although J. O. Dudley, a tailor with a shop on Central avenue, was exonerated by a Coroner's jury and later acquitted when tried for the murder of William Armster, 20 years of age, a tap dancer, on April 25, last, he now is facing a $105,000 damage suit brought by Lillian Lane, mother of the deceased. The case went to trial yesterday before Superior Judge Tappaan.

Mrs. Lane asks damages in the sum of $75,000 for the loss of her son's comfort and companionship, $25,000 for the loss of earnings, the boy's expectancy of life estimated at fifty years, and $500 for doctor and funeral expenses.

According to the complaint, young Amster was shot and killed by Dudley during an altercation. In his defense, both during the criminal proceedings and the present civil action, Dudley contends that he shot in self-defense. The tailor asserts he used his pistol only when young Amster reached for his hip pocket, every indication pointing to the fact that he was about to draw a revolver.

Attorney Voltaire Perkins is counsel for the plaintiff while Attorney Willis O. Tyler represents the defendant.

Love Quarrel Lands ex-Grid Star in Jail

C. J. McRavey, 39 years of age, commander, U.S.N., retired, former star halfback on the Annapolis football team, was held in the County Jail yesterday for questioning because, he asserts, he let an affair of the heart sway his better judgment.

The former officer was taken into custody in the apartment of Mrs. Naomi Reed at 8326 Fountain avenue by Deputy Sheriffs Small and Collins after a neighbor had called and stated that some one was breaking into the woman's apartment.

McRavey told the officers that he had quarreled with Mrs. Reed two days ago and since then had been unable to sleep. He went to her apartment, he said, to try to effect a reconciliation and finding her out broke in to await her return.

Mrs. Reed is the former wife of Luther Reed, motion-picture director.

The officers indicated yesterday that it is probable that no charge will be filed against the man.

Identity of Train Victim Unknown

An inquest will be conducted at the Addleman Klingerman Funeral Parlors, El Monte, at 9:30 o'clock this morning in an effort to establish identity of an unknown woman who was killed by a Pacific Electric train on the Covina line 200 yards east of San Gabriel Boulevard early yesterday morning.

Deputy Sheriffs who investigated the case reported that the woman was walking along the right of way and apparently refused to step from the path of the approaching train. She was killed instantly.

Nothing was found on the body to aid in the identification. The woman was approximately 65 years of age. She wore a blue polka-dot dress, tan shoes and tan stockings.

Demurrers in Extortion Case

Appearing before Superior Judge Aggeler yesterday, Thomas R. Hart, former Deputy District Attorney under Asa Keyes, and Elon G. Galusha entered demurrers to the charge of cinspiracy to commit extortion, prefessed against them in a grand jury indictment.

Dr. N. L. Weiner, a defendant in the same action, pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Arguments on the demurrers will be heard next Tuesday.

The three men are accused of demanding $5000 from Fred Reed, sanatorium proprietor, under a threat to have him prosecuted by the State Medical Board.

RADIO WILL AID ARMISTICE DAY

Address by President Goes All Over Nation

McGroarty Will Talk Over KHJ on Monday

Noted Tenor Scheduled on Program Tonight

The Times Forum at 10:30 a.m. today presents Dr. Philip M. Lovell, editor of the Care of the Body department of the Times Magazine, and George Hood in old-fashioned readings.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Radio will bring the celebration of Armistice Day to the citizens of the nation next Monday as never before in the history of broadcasting.

An address by President Hoover delivered in Washington will pass through a coast-to-coast network of stations associated with the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System. It is estimated that 30,000,000 will hear him.

His patriotic tribute will be delivered before the American Legion Post of the capital at 5:30 p.m. (P.S.T.) but KHJ, the Don Lee station plans to go on with a fifteen-minute preliminary introduction of the event.

President Hoover will be introduced by Maj. O. L. Bodenhamer, National Commander of the American Legion, who will preside. A Presidential address at Washington on the Legion's Armistice Day program is now considered an annual event. Former President Coolidge spoke last year, but many more stations will handle it this year than formerly.

UNIVERSAL APPEAL

Throughout the nation during Monday, practically every broadcast station will present programs of commemoration. Locally, KHJ will send the voice of John Stephen McGroarty, poet, writer and author of the Mission Play, out on the Times' Forum period at 10:30 a.m. This will answer the request contained in many letters to The Times, asking for the poet of the hills.

As an advance program, Nicholas B. Harris will relate over KFI tonight at 8:30, an interesting story, entitled "And the War Was Over There." He will weave into the story the poem, "The Trial of the Ex-Soldier," which will be given by John N. Fyles, assisted by the team of Bob and Monte with war songs typical of Armistice Day.

FEATURE OFFERINGS

Raymond Paige, musical director of KHJ will present at 7 p.m. tonight Clark Sparks, tenor, who comes to Los Angeles with the Marion Talley scholarship in his pocket and the sponsorship of Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink further supporting his ability. The Sierra Symphonists will play and at intervals Sol Hoopii and his Hawaiians. Hulda Dietz, soprano, and June Parker, crooner of melodies, will complete the program.

The noted San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, Alfred Herts conducting, will again be heard by the Pacific Coast radio audience at 7:30 this evening over KFI, during the Standard Oil symphony hour. The alternate weekly program given by the San Francisco Symphony and the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, led by Artur Rodinski, are proving very popular with the radio audience.

WAVE CHANGES

Advices from Washington announce the following changes in broadcasting allocations as assigned by the Federal Radio Commission, for Southern California stations:

KFXM, San Bernardino, licensed: Owner, Lee Brothers Broadcasting Company; frequency, 1200 kilocycles (250;) power, 100 watts.

KBJK, Beverly Hills: Frequency, 710 kilocycles (423.)

KFVD, Culver City: Frequency, 1009, kilocycles (300.)

KGFJ, Los Angeles: Frequency, 1200, kilocycles (250.)

KGB, San Diego: Frequency, 1330, kilocycles (225.6.)

Cook Accused of Possessing 'Red' Literature

Edward W. Fitzwater, 61-year-old cook of 2626 South Figueroa street, yesterday was booked at the City Jail on a charge of suspicion of criminal syndicalism, resulting, according to police, from the finding in his rooms of a gun, a knife and a quantity of "Red" literature.

Fitzwater gained attention several days ago when he was discovered living in a restaurant next to his residence and refusing to vacate until paid $19 which he declared was owing him as wages. Locking himself inside the eating place, which he said had been abandoned by the proprietor, the cook had posted a placard proclaiming that he would relinquish possession of the premises to anyone who would pay him the $19.

Investigating a charge of disturbing the peace in connection with his lone vigil, police yesterday searched his room. The arrest followed.

WIFE RESENTED YOKE, HUSBAND TELLS COURT

Mrs. Evelyn Mackenzie demanded the privilege of entertaining men friends whether her husband liked it or not, George G. Mackenzie told Superior Judge Hazlett yesterday when asking for a divorce. During the three years of their married life, the husband said that his wife was always restless under the marital yoke. "She wanted the privilege of entertaining men and asked that we make some sort of an arrangement whereby she could do as she pleased," Mackenzie declared. A decree was granted.

COURT TO CONVENE IN CABIN

Trial of Stafford on Charges by Girl Employee Will be Transferred to Canyon Today

Judge, jury and court attaches will go this afternoon to a lonely cabin in Turnbull Canyon and there convene court at the scene of an asserted attack on Rae Schade, 22-year-old office worker, by her former employer, C. C. Stafford, El Monte grain dealer.

This was decided upon yesterday in Superior Judge Wilson's court, where Stafford is on trial on a charge of committing a statutory offense against the girl.

Stafford, under cross-examination by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Simpson and Clark, spent the greater part of yesterday's sessions on the witness stand. He held to the story that he told on direct examination: that Miss Schade voluntarily went with him to the cabin the afternoon of March 23, last, and that she offered no resistance to his advances. According to Stafford, she suggested their trip and then, when they were returning to El Monte, told him it would be an "expensive day" for him.

Miss Schade testified Stafford took her to the cabin under the pretext that they were going to his Puente office, and forced her to submit to him by choking and beating her.

Stafford was followed on the stand by Dr. William R. Molony, a physician and surgeon, who expressed the opinion that an injury suffered by Miss Schade could not have been due to the asserted conduct of Stafford.

The question of what caused the injury precipitated a heated controversy between the State's attorneys and Defense Counsel W. J. Ford and led to both sides propounding a number of hypothetical questions of a highly technical nature.

Following the court's visit to the scene of the asserted attack this afternoon it is expected the defense will rest its case.

CLUB TO HEAR BUTLER

Monroe Butler, assistant to the president of the California Reserve Company, is announced as speaker today at the luncheon of the Foreign Trade Club of Southern California, commencing at 12:15 p.m. at the City Club. His subject is "Democratizing American Business." Robert O. Vernon of the Dollar Line has charge of reservations.

CHURCHMAN COMES HERE FOR WINTER

Franklin H. Warner Will Arrive After Attending Dedication in China

Coming to spend the winter at Claremont, Franklin H. Warner, associate moderator of the National Council of Congregational Churches, will arrive in Los Angeles Harbor aboard the steamship City of Honolulu tomorrow from Peiping, China, where he attended the dedication of Yenching University, of which he is president of the board of trustees.

FRANKLIN H. WARNER

The new institution comprises twenty-six buildings covering an area of 105 acres adjoining the former summer palace and described by Dr. Mary E. Wooley, president of Mt. Holyoke College, as "one of the most wonderful sites in the world for a college campus."

MRS. FRANKLIN H. WARNER

The meeting of East and West, when notable Chinese guests joined visitors from the Occident at the dedication was described by Mr. Warner in a recent letter.

"On the evening of the transfer of the property," he wrote in part, "there was a notable gathering at President J. Leighton Stuart's residence, including Gen. Chang Chen, Governor of Peiping; Chang Hsueh-Liang, Governor of Manchuria, and his wife. I lost an opportunity to converse with the Manchurian lady on account of my timidity, not knowing she speaks some English. She is a woman of charming grace."

Mr. Warner's American home is in White Plains, N. Y.

DESIGNATION CHANGED

The name of Esmeralda street between Topaz and Raynol streets was changed to East Rose Hill Drive yesterday by ordinance passed by Council.

ARMY GIFT WINS JAIL FREEDOM

Pigeon Owner Dodges Term After Conviction For Violating Law

P. M. Ridge of 4302 Russell avenue, Hollywood, found guilty of violating a city health ordinance by keeping forty-one racing pigeons in his back yard, gained a suspended sentence from Municipal Judge MacCoy yesterday when he promised to present the pigeons to the United States Army.

A thirty-day jail term, imposed after neighbors, called by Deputy City Prosecutor Kaufman, declared they had been annoyed by the pigeons, was suspended on the condition Ridge make the gift immediately.

BUSINESS MAN KILLS SELF AS ILLNESS IRKS

With a shot through the heart Felix M. Notman, 68 years of age, killed himself yesterday at 209 South Norton avenue, the family home of the late W. H. Holmes, where he lived for several years. A note was left for Mr. and Mrs. Morris M. Taylor, the latter a daughter of Mr. Holmes, who was long a business associate of Notman, in which he explained his act by saying he had endured illness as long as possible. The death some years ago of Holmes which separated the two men after forty years of intimate association in the business field is believed by friends to have brought the illness which culminated in self-destruction. Notman's only known relative here is a son, who is manager of a law firm. Funeral services were announced for tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. at the family residence with interment to follow in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

W. C. T. U. MEETS TODAY

The Los Angeles W.C.T.U. will meet today at 2 p.m. in the First Methodist Episcopal Church at Eighth and Hope streets. Among the principal speakers will be Mrs. Cora Deal Lewis, who will speak on child welfare. Mrs. Lewis has been chairman of the Juvenile Court Committee for years. Allie Simmons Wheeler will sing.

IMPOSTOR ON HIS WAY TO PRISON

Gabor Pens Plea Against Deportation as He Starts for McNeil's Island

George R. Gabor, alias Taft Thew Houghton, youthful Hungarian impostor who successfully posed as a "Baron Von Krupp" and a son of a former American Ambassador until he was arrested and convicted for impersonation of a Federal official, left last night to begin a two-year prison term at McNeils Island.

Before he left in custody of Federal officers, Gabor addressed a letter to United States District Judge James admitting the impersonations and duping of nearly a score of nationally prominent citizens but imploring the court to intervene against possible deportation proceedings on expiration of the sentence.

Gabor's letter asserted that he twice has been deported to Hungary, but declared the proceedings illegal, and he now fears that he again will be banished from the United States after completing the prison term.

Venice ex-Mayor Freed on Bail

Gordon Parkhurst, former Mayor of Venice, was arraigned before Municipal Judge Ambrose late yesterday on charges of drunk driving and hit-and-run driving following his arrest in the beach city.

Parkhurst was released on $1000 bail pending preliminary hearing, which Judge Ambrose set for next Tuesday.

LIQUOR CASE SUSPECT CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

Clifford Carter, 25 years of age of 981 South Hoover street, was booked on a charge of violation of the Wright Act, possession, yesterday, when Detective Lieutenants Lakenquist and Grasmehr caught him at Eleventh and Parkview streets after a spirited chase that led from Bonnie Brae and Pico streets. As the officers approached Carter, according to the report, he dashed a bottle of liquor to the sidewalk and fled.

Company Filing Shows Growth of New District

BUTTONWILLOW, Nov. 6.—With the filing by Thomas W. McManus for permission to serve Avenal and the surrounding territory with gas and water through the Avenal Gas and Water Company, plans for development of what is considered the center of activities in the Kettleman Hills district were revealed. The application filed yesterday will be considered by an examiner from the State Railroad Commission on December 1.

According to McManus, the Avenal town site is owned by the Standard Oil Company of California and at present is the largest community in the Kettleman Hills area. It has a population of approximately 500 persons, he said. A water well to serve the community already has been drilled and is being tested at present. Gas will be supplied from the Kettleman Hills field.

Famed Tulare County Fiddler Gets Summons

VISALIA, Nov. 6.—Funeral services will be held from the Hadley Funeral Parlors here tomorrow morning for Stokely C. Stokes, 83 years of age, widely known Tulare county pioneer, who died suddenly at his ranch on the old Millwood Road last night shortly after he had been repairing two of his violins and apparently in his usual health.

Stokes won the old-time fiddlers' contest on Pioneer Day at the recent Tulare County Fair, and was well known throughout this county, in which he had lived since 1850 as a fiddler of note, claiming more than 150 tunes as his repertoire.

He was born in Decatur county, Iowa, November 14, 1845, and was brought across the plains in 1850 by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Yancy Stokes, settling near this city, where the father, one of the locaters of the famous old Mineral King mine, bought what is now known as the Tagus ranch owned by the Merritt interests.

Married in 1866, Stokes took his bride to the ranch where he lived until his death. During the Sontag and Evans days, the outlaws were sheltered many times on the Stokes ranch, and provisions supplied for their lookout cave in the mountain country above the place.

WATERSHED APPROACH OPPOSED

Irrigation District Men Want State-wide Support in Curbing Park Advance

FRESNO, Nov. 6.—Assistance of the Irrigation District Association of California in combatting the proposal to include the middle and south forks of the Kings River in the domain of the United States National Park Service will be sought by Fresno, Tulare and Kings county members at the meeting of the State organization which opens tomorrow in San Francisco.

W. P. Boone of Dinuba, chairman of the Pine Flat water conservation project and the Kings River Water Users Association; Charles L. Kaupke, Kings River watermaster and secretary of the river associations; George L. Swendsen, chief engineer and general manager of the Fresno Irrigation District, and other representatives of the Kings River Delta irrigation units left today for the meeting.

Boone and Kaupke will present the matter to the association, with the declaration that to include the Kings River area in an existing national park, or to form a new park there, would sound the death knell of the Pine Flat project, a water conservation plan, which has been in various stages of progess for twenty years.

Veterans' Fun Society Picks Shafter Man

TAFT, Nov. 6.—Jack Zimmerman of Shafter, prominent in American Legion activities of Kern county for several years, was elected Chef De Gare of Kern Voiture, No. 93, Forty and Eight Societies at the annual meeting here.

Other officers elected are: G. E. Montgomery of this city, Chef De Train; K. O. Felton of this city, Commissaire Intendant; J. R. Isaac of Shafter, Conducteur; Ray Lobre of Bakersfield, Garde De La Porte; A. O. Champlin of Taft, Commissaire Voyageur; Clyde C. Webb of Taft, Avocat; Nick Kitchalk and W. A. Healey of Taft and E. S. Terry of Shafter, Cheminot.

Following the election Harry O. Jackson, past correspondent of 1927 and 1928, was appointed by the new Chef De Gare as correspondent for the 1930 term.

Madera County Property Taken in Fresno Swap

FRESNO, Nov. 6.—City property here valued at $35,000 is included in a real estate transfer involving 2400 acres of Madera county land in a deal in which Charles B. Baker of this city and associates purchased the agricultural land from the Smith estate, a New York corporation, for approximately $120,000.

The Madera county land, except for 400 acres that is planted to cotton, is unimproved. Baker and his associates have been active in farmland purchases in this district recently, their activity including operation of the properties.

The local property, transferred to the Smith estate, includes semi-business property at the corner of North Fulton and Mildreda streets.

Farm Bureau Seeks Roll of Four Figures

ARVIN, Nov. 6.—A campaign to obtain 1000 members for the Kern County Farm Bureau has been inlliated by the membership committee, composed of Joseph Schneider, A. A. Sprehn and T. M. Martin, and will continue until December 10. Last year the bureau had approximately 900 members. This is the first time the organization has scheduled a membership drive on a county-wide basis. Campaigns in the past have been conducted by the various farm centers. Two membership teams will be organized, with Schneider heading one, to be known as the Cotton Team, and Ernest Roberts heading the other, to be known as the Alfalfa Team.

DOG AIDE DESERTS SIGHTLESS WOMAN

Blind, and deserted by her little fox terrier, Mrs. Emily Storer's misfortune was reported last night to the police of the Georgia-street division. A woman friend who reported the dog's disappearance, told police that Mrs. Storer yesterday spent her last nickel to buy a bar of soap to bathe the terrier, only to realize finally that it was gone. The dog is a female, 3 years of age, white with brown spots over the eyes and answers to the name of Toodles.

The police are attempting to find the pet. Mrs. Storer lives at 1417 1-2 Santee street.

HALF OF MILLION TO WIDOW

Relict of Late Pioneer Well Remembered; Twin Daughters Get Share

FRESNO, Nov. 6.—Asserting that his wife is entitled to one-half of his estate, which is community property, the will of David S. Ewing, wealthy and prominent pioneer attorney, filed today for probate, leaves the remainder of his estate to his twin daughters, Mrs. Blanche Dau and Mrs. Mildred Taylor, and his law partner, O. L. Everts.

While the will states that the estate is worth, in excess of $10,000 it has been estimated that it is worth more than $1,000,000.

Everts, who has been Ewings's law partner continuously for thirty-six years, and who is also his brother-in-law, is named executor without bond. Ewings's interest in the law firm is bequeathed to him and property owned by the firm is to be held in trust for the daughters.

Pageant of Past Will be in Line

TULARE, Nov. 6. — "The Pageant of the Past," accurately and colorfully portrayed by means of a dozen or more decorated floats, is expected to be the outstanding division of the parade which will inaugurate festivities here next Monday when schools, fraternal societies, civic bodies and service clubs throughout the northwest section of the county will unite here in celebrating the end of the World War.

Among the entries depicting the Far West section of the historic pageant will be that of a pioneer hardware firm of this city which will show thirty of the first pieces of "modern" farming equipment used in the San Joaquin Valley, a 1909 model tractor, a McCormick reaper of forty years ago, and a power derrick hay fork of about the same vintage.

Different periods in pageants have been assigned as follows: Indian, by Kawaeh Tribe of Redmen; Colonial, Visalia; expansion, including the westward tide of immigration and the War of 1812, Big Trees Legion Post of Woodlake, Lemon Cove and Three Rivers; Middle West and Civil War, Exeter; Far West, Tulare.

WILL ROGERS, Famous Humorist:

"Dear Literary Digest. I read you constantly because you and Woolworth can handle more things for 10 cents than anybody in the world."

Can Atheists Be Believed Under Oath?

If she had lied and avowed a belief in Heaven and Hell, the testimony of Mrs. Edith Sanders Miller, it is pointed out, might have been accepted in behalf of her husband, who, with six codefendants, was tried and convicted at Charlotte, North Carolina, for the murder of Chief of Police Aderholt of Gastonia.

Judge N. V. Barnhill, presiding, held that Mrs. Miller's views were pertinent evidence as to her credibility and were proper material for her impeachment as a witness. "If I believed that life ends with death and that there is no punishment after death," the dispatches quote him as saying, "I would be less apt to tell the truth." And for that Judge Barnhill is put on trial before the bar of public opinion.

But in another part of the State, in Concord, Judge A. M. Stack, presiding in another case, held exactly the opposite opinion. He declared from the bench, we read in the press reports of the trial, that "a man's character is made up of acts and his conduct, and you can not impeach him for what he believes."

Here we have a conflict in law which has captured the attention of the entire country and brought down on the head of Judge Barnhill and on the ancient Tarheel statute an overwhelming torrent of editorial maledictions.

In "The Literary Digest" this week, November 9th issue, the entire subject is reviewed and editorial comment is presented which shows the tense feeling that the controversy has aroused everywhere. Other striking news-features in this number are:

Goods start to market DAYS EARLIER

A Mid-Western manufacturer entering national distribution found the time his goods waited for mailed sales orders was eating up his profits. He solved this problem by Postal telegrams. Started each day's goods to market days earlier. Reduced inventories. Increased turnovers.

HOW POSTAL TELEGRAPH REDUCES COSTS IN NATIONAL DISTRIBUTION

A NEW RULE has come into National Distribution. It is: Delays on incoming sales orders must be avoided. For it is now discovered that slow arrival of sales orders results in high inventories, tied-up capital. National manufacturers are therefore instructing salesmen to telegraph in each day's orders.

The business world is becoming telegraph-minded in negotiations and transactions as well as air-minded in travel.

Speed, accuracy, reliability, privacy and a written record of all communications—offered by Postal Telegraph—are daily increasing the use of this vast telegraph system. The Postal Call-Box has become standard equipment in business offices everywhere.

The enlarged Postal Telegraph of today brings not only the markets of America, but also those of the whole world to your very door. Over Commercial Cables and All America Cables—parts of the International System—your messages are extended to Europe, Asia, the Orient and the countries of Central and South America.

COURT CLERK BLAMES THIEF

Suspended Official Avers Cash Drawer Rifled

Accused Pasadena Man Says Name Forged on Slips

Freytag Reiterates His Innocence of Charges

PASADENA, Nov. 6.—Charging that a sneak thief has rifled his cash drawer and that some unknown person might have altered jail slips and forged his name to make it appear that he was pocketing fines, Frank Freytag, suspended Police Court clerk, today reiterated his complete innocence in connection with an asserted $4500 shortage in the court funds.

City Manager R. V. Orbison has reported the apparent irregularities in the handling of local Police Court bail and fine funds to John W. Berwald, investigator for the District Attorney's office, and the case will be presented to the grand jury if warranted by a preliminary investigation.

Three missing court dockets and two asserted altered jail slips occupied the attention of City Manager Orbison today. On one of the slips the words "released, fine paid by mother" had been erased and made to read "released, time served out." On the other slip, the words "released, fine paid," had been altered to "released, time served out." The fine in each instance was $5.

NEGRO'S DOCKET MISSING

One of the missing dockets is reported to have been that of A. N. Trice, negro, who was fined $500 for bootlegging. After the defendant had served seven days in jail, a fine of $463 was paid, this amount being unaccounted for.

This morning a safe expert was employed by the city to change the combination on the safe installed a few days ago in the hall leading to the Police Court.

Freytag, despite his suspension, appeared at police headquarters today. When informed of the report that his signature followed the altered inscription on the jail slips, he declared that the signature in each instance was written in a fine hand with a hard lead pencil, while he invariably uses a soft pencil which he applies with considerable pressure.

LOSSES REPORTED BEFORE

"I am not guilty of any wrong doing," he asserted, "and am not worried in the slightest degree regarding the outcome of this investigation." He declared that his cash drawer has been robbed several times of amounts varying between $30 and $90 and that he had reported these losses and made them good from his own pocket.

The name of City Controller George H. Wood was drawn into the investigation today when it was stated that Robert Lawson, auditor employed by the city, told Wood a year ago that discrepancies existed in police-court funds. Wood asserted that while the system of handling police-court funds was not all that it should have been, that City Manager Orbison had been apprised of this condition.

C. W. Waite Will be Councilman

SAN FERNANDO, Nov. 6.—Charles W. Waite, local merchant, will take office as City Councilman next Monday night, following his appointment by the City Council, to fill the unexpired term of H. G. Muegge, who resigned last week.

Waite has been a resident of San Fernando for a number of years, and was recently elected president of the Kiwanis Club. He will serve until April, when voters will select three Councilmen, besides Waite, other retiring members of the Council will be C. W. Judy and F. E. Strader.

WIFE CHARGES ASSAULT

ONTARIO, Nov. 6.—S. P. Warren, local building contractor, was out on $500 bail today, ordered to appear in court later this month to answer a charge of battery filed by his wife, Mrs. Warren charges her husband used her as a punching bag.

LONGFELLOWS TIRED DUCKING

Santa Ana Junior College Organization of Six-Foot or Taller Members Urges City Council to Make Awning Men Comply With Ordinance

SANTA ANA, Nov. 6.—The thirty-three members of the Longfellow Club of the Santa Ana Junior College, none less than six feet tall and several more than six feet six inches tall, are tired of ducking their heads and dodging awnings as they walk down Santa Ana's business streets.

The club, through its head, John (Sky) Dunlap, a giant of nearly seven feet, last night asked the City Council to enforce a city ordinance requiring all awnings to be at least seven feet above the sidewalk. Members of the club pointed out that other city laws were obeyed and asked rigid enforcement of the law regulating the height of the awnings.

A suggestion that awning men be compelled to take out a city license to put up an awning was made. The Longfellows conducted a survey of Santa Ana's business district and found thirty-two out of thirty-three awnings did not comply with the law, Dunlap said.

City Building Inspector Sam Preble was placed in charge of a check on the awnings about town to determine their height and to see whether many persons have to duck under them.

TWO SCHOOLS COMPLETED

Pomonans Dedicate Structure for Grade Pupils and New Junior High on Successive Nights

POMONA, Nov. 6.—Dedication ceremonies were held tonight in the recently completed Roosevelt Elementary School at Huntington Boulevard and Texas street, with Vierling Kersey, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, giving the dedicatory address. Hundreds of local residents attended to celebrate the completion of the new institution.

Tomorrow night Fremont Junior High School, another structure just completed, will be dedicated by Dr. Ira W. Kibby, director of commercial education of the State Board of Education. Many additional seats were installed today to care for a large attendance at tomorrow night's ceremonies, according to Emmett Clark, Superintendent of City Schols.

Wife Clears Foster Curry

UPLAND, Nov. 6.—A jury in Police Judge George R. Crane's court found Foster Curry, Camp Baldy resort owner, not guilty of charges of battery and he was at liberty today. Curry was arrested several weeks ago upon complaint of Ben O'Rear, waiter at the camp, who charged that Curry and H. Kane, another waiter, made a physical attack upon him following a quarrel over division of tips.

Curry was defended in court by his wife and Dep. Dist.-Atty. O. A. Thompson prosecuted the case. Kane, co-defendant in the case, left the district the morning after the asserted disturbance and has since failed to appear.

YOUNG WILL SPEAK IN SAN BERNARDINO

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 6.—Word that Gov. Young has accepted the invitation of the San Bernardino-Riverside Building and Loan Union and will speak before that organization at its monthly meeting here the 15th inst., was announced today by a committee in charge of the program for that night. Members of the San Bernardino County Bankers' Association will be invited to attend the meeting to be held at the California Hotel starting at 6:30 p.m. The Governor will review the development of building and loan associations in California, their part in the building of communities and speak on general business conditions throughout the State. Gov. Young is contemplating a tour of Southern California which will include visits in Riverside, Santa Ana and San Diego, it was reported.

KIWANIANS ALL GOING TO DISTRICT MEETING

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 6.—Kiwanians of this city are planning to have a 100 per cent attendance at the convention of Division No. 1, of the California-Nevada District, which meets in Long Beach for three days, beginning Thursday. District Trustee Grover D. King, Maurice Sopp and Joseph Hillis will represent the club at the meeting. Louis H. Hamilton, prominent in local Kiwanis Club affairs, and chairman of the board of directors of the City National Bank of Huntington Park, will be recommended at the convention for the office of Lieutenant-Governor of the division.

NEW BRIDE VANISHES AT AZUSA

Mother Finds Farewell Note Saying Daughter Bound for Better World

AZUSA, Nov. 6.—Finding a farewell note from her daughter bidding her good-by and stating that she would see her in another world, Mrs. Della Vaughn of Grand avenue and Base Line Road notified Constable W. I. Hamblin yesterday that she believed her daughter dead.

The daughter, Mrs. Opal Jernigan, 18 years of age, a bride of only a few months, lived with her husband, Claude Jernigan, on Italia street, Covina.

Jernigan told officers that he had given his wife some money for groceries, and that instead of going to the market she went into Los Angeles. Mrs. Vaughn notified Hamblin that her daughter was not at the Young Women's Christian Association, where she usually stayed when in Los Angeles.

Press Club of Valley to Talk

VAN NUYS, Nov. 6.—Members of the San Fernando Valley Press Club will hold their next meeting Saturday afternoon at El Vaquero Saddle Club on Van Nuys Boulevard, with Al Snider, editor of the San Fernando Sun, as toastmaster. Among those slated for talks are David Carlson of the Owensmouth Gazette and Cecil Wilcox of the Reseda News. "Why Not Hang All Politicians?" will be the topic up for discussion at this meeting of the club.

Kenneth Bolley, valley representative of a Los Angeles newspaper, will argue that the so-called politician on whom everything is blamed is a sort of mythical person and not a distinctive entity, else something would have been done about it long ago. More than 100 writers and their guests are expected.

FROST PROTECTIVES DISSOLVE BUSINESS

CRAFTON, Nov. 6.—Formal articles of dissolution for three frost protective associations of the Crafton district have been filed with the County Clerk. The associations affected are the Crafton Protective Association, Colton Avenue Protective Association and the Mentone Protective Association. All previous to the dissolution had satisfied demands.

This action, it is understood, was taken for the purpose of winding up the business of the three companies under the old names and incident to the formation of the consolidated company, the Crafton-Mentone Protective Association, which is probably the largest mutual growers' protective concern in the State with facilities for storage of immense quantities of fuel oil.

GAS WASTAGE HEARING DELAYED

VENTURA, Nov. 6.—Continuance of the hearing on the appeal of the Associated, Shell and General Petroleum oil companies from the gas-curtailment order of State Oil and Gas Supervisor R. D. Bush, handed down a month ago, was taken until the 12th inst., when the oil and gas commission of the district opened the hearing this morning at the Courthouse here. Request for the continuance came from Supervisor Bush, according to Commissioner M. Mears.

BISHOP INVITED TO DEDICATE CHURCH

OWENSMOUTH, Nov. 6.—Bishop Charles Mayard Mitchell has been invited to deliver the dedicatory sermon when the new Christ Community Church is opened at Winnetka avenue and Arminta street. The new edifice is nearly completed and will soon be occupied. The definite date for the dedication will be fixed this week. The new church is in the center of the Weeks Poultry Colony district.

OCTOGENARIAN ROUTS BANDIT

Orange Resident Undismayed by Pointed Gun

Veteran Secures License Number and Trails Him

Marauder Traced But Makes Escape in Underwear

SANTA ANA, Nov. 6.—How a veteran of eighty years routed a would-be hold-up man who attempted to rob him at his home at Orange at the point of a gun, and how the octogenarian retained his presence of mind, noted the bandit's automobile license number and led police on his trail to this city where the robber escaped from his home in his underclothing, was being revealed by police today.

G. M. Bay, Orange dairyman, the intended victim of the highwayman, was accosted at his home. Bay was in no mood to be held up and said so. He went into action and the robber fled with Bay after him. Bay noted the license number of the man's speeding machine and called police.

After they had traced the license, officers surrounded a dwelling in the 900 block on West Chestnut street here and knocked at the door. A man slipped out of a side window and, eluding the officers, disappeared. Police continued to search for him today.

P.-T.A. to Hold State Meeting

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 6.—A State meeting of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers will be held in Santa Barbara in January, it was announced yesterday at the regional conference which opened for a day's session in the Methodist Church.

There were 125 parents and teachers in attendance, including many State and district officers who were guests of honor at a luncheon in the church dining-room.

GRAND LODGE MAY LAY CORNER-STONE

SOUTH GATE, Nov. 6.—The corner stone of the new unit of the Huntington Park Union High School, to be erected in this city, probably will be placed in position by the Grand Lodge of Masons of California. A request was made before a meeting of the board of trustees of the school and the request was given approval by the board. The affair will be sponsored by Guardian Masonic Lodge of this city.

The bids for the new building will be opened by the trustees on the 12th inst. and work on construction of the new unit will be started immediately following the awarding of the contract. It is stated that the corner-stone laying will be some time in January.

GLENDALE SEEKS TO PROTECT MERCHANTS

GLENDALE, Nov. 6.—Introduction of a new ordinance calling for a license fee of $10 a day and a bond of $300 cash or $600 surety from merchants who establish themselves in stores during the holiday rush, marks the opening gun in the campaign to keep out such stores and to protect the local merchants.

The ordinance was prepared after a conference between members of the city administration and Chamber of Commerce officials and has been introduced in the City Council.

The cash bond would be returned to any merchant who remained in business here for a period of ninety days.

MONTEBELLO PLANS FOR ARMISTICE DAY

MONTEBELLO, Nov. 6.—American Legion Post No. 272 is asking the citizens of Montebello to join with it in commemorating Armistice Day. Commander Ted Bowers is general chairman of the day's activities. Archie Malin will supervise and act as parade marshal.

A street parade will march along Whittier Boulevard from Montebello Boulevard west to the high school auditorium where a musical program, a war pageant honoring all the enlisted men of Montebello, and an appropriate address will be given. Judge Leon R. Yankwich of the Superior Court, who himself saw service in the World War, will be the principal speaker.

CHAMBER WILL ELECT

TUJUNGA, Nov. 6.—The Tujunga Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual election on the 12th inst., at which time six new directors will be named. Nominees are B. B. Baker, C. A. Neff, T. C. Bludworth, Ray L. Busse, Fred Bade, E. L. Benedict, R. C. Locke, Julius Eckert, C. N. Marks, W. A. Magee and William Nicholson.

IMAGINE HIS EMBARRASSMENT!

Police Judge Almost Overcome When Motorist Insists Upon Paying Fine for Illegal Parking and Commends Officer for Tagging Him

INGLEWOOD, Nov. 6.—Traffic violators who are cursed with a conscience should have more compassion for Police Judge A. F. Monroe than did Ed Keath, local merchant and prominent Kiwanian.

Imagine Judge Monroe's embarrassment when Keath walked in upon him and without further preliminary, pleaded guilty to illegal parking on Commercial street, and demanded that he be fined instead of being given a suspended sentence.

In all his years on the bench, this is the first instance of the kind to occur in the court of the veteran local jurist and the shock nearly overcame him, Judge Monroe confided later.

After regaining his customary composure, however, the judge imposed a $2 fine which was paid by Keath, after commending the traffic officer who tagged him, and adding that he appreciated the efforts of the police department in enforcing the ordinance.

Inasmuch as he had been one of the merchants most insistent upon the enforcement of the ordinance, Keath said in explanation of his attitude, he wanted to be sure that no exception be made in his case.

STUDENTS MAY DANCE

Recreation Forbidden for Twenty Years in Huntington Park School to be Allowed, Just Once Annually

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 6.—Twenty years ago the high school system was started in this city, and all during that time, dancing was prohibited. The question comes up for consideration almost every year, and, within the past few weeks, it again appeared with the result that the school trustees sent out questionnaires to the parents of the students, as to whether they were favorable or otherwise to dancing at any of the school affairs. Most of the questionnaires were returned, resulting in 622 being favorable to dancing as against 344 unfavorable.

However, petitions had been circulated among churches and other organizations against dancing, these petitions containing the signatures of 645 persons.

The trustees have decided to modify the dancing proposition and will permit dancing only once a year, and that will be at the annual Junior-Senior reception, which is always held the closing week of each school year, which is during the month of June.

SAN DIEGO 'SAVED' BY AIRPLANES

Battle Fleet Squadrons Repulse "Enemy" During Maneuvers Off Coast

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 6. (AP) — This city has been "saved" from an "enemy" attack, through the use of approximately 140 planes of the aircraft squadrons of the battle fleet, it was reported today from the office of Rear-Admiral Henry V. Butler, aircraft squadrons, commander.

The "attack" upon San Diego and vicinity was made Monday by warships basing at San Pedro, as part of the regular program of maneuvers. Operating with the "enemy" is the aircraft carrier Langley, with two squadrons of planes on board. Submarine divisions of the battle fleet, also based here, are participating in the exercises which are being held from thirty to fifty miles off shore.

Guns Bark in Dark, but All Shots in Jest

ONTARIO, Nov. 6.—While several prominent Ontario business men and members of the Ontario volunteer fire department fled in utter blackness seeking places of safety, two revolvers spit fire in the recreation hall of the fire department late last night and it was generally believed wanton murder was being committed.

Arthur L. Peterson, ex-fire chief, was on trial in a Kangaroo court for parking his automobile too near a fire plug. Ed Holman, acting as his attorney, and Jack Gordon, a witness, became involved in a heated argument.

Suddenly Holman drew a revolver and fired at Gordon, who returned the shot. The lights went out and those who didn't know the ruckus was a farce, ducked for safety. The guns continued to spit until the lights went on again and the guests were urged to come out of hiding and revived. Blanks were used in the barrage, but the guests thought the cannonading was the real thing.

Peterson was found guilty and was obliged to buy enough ice cream and cake for the entire assemblage.

Postal Receipts Show Increase

SAN FERNANDO, Nov. 6.—Postal receipts at the local postoffice show a gain for October of 18 per cent over the corresponding month last year. During the past month stamps and stamped paper to the amount of $3,010.05 were sold. For October 1928 the total was $2,551.79. This year to date shows a decided gain over 1928, with indications that 1929 will break all former records.

In view of the fact that some of the offices in Southern California are running behind last year in receipts, this showing indicates that business conditions in San Fernando are good, according to Postmaster H. C. Caldwell.

In the past five years, the receipts have about doubled, the total for 1923 being $20,527.74, while 1929 will show close to the $40,000-mark if the present increase continues.

COUNTY BUYS JAIL SITE

Ventura Supervisors Consummate Purchase of Land West of Courthouse Building

VENTURA, Nov. 6.—Purchase by the county for $17,100 of the Alexander Pratt and Brakey properties, proposed site of the new County Jail, was consummated today by the Board of Supervisors.

Options on the property had been taken previously. The new addition to the county property west of the Courthouse and fronting on Poli street, measures 87 feet, 75 feet of the Pratt holdings and 12 feet of the Brakey land. The latter extends back into the hill 150 feet, and brought $2100, while the Pratt land is 300 feet deep, and was purchased for $15,000.

Immediately upon completion of excavation of the hill behind the Courthouse, where it had been decided previously to locate the new jail, excavation of the Poli-street hill property will be started, Chairman T. G. Gabbert said.

Plans for the new jail building, Sheriff's office and Justice Court, to be erected there, are being drawn now.

Realty Brokers Meet Tonight

VAN NUYS, Nov. 6.—Members of the real estate boards of the fifteenth district of the California Real Estate Association will meet here tomorrow night in the Van Nuys Woman's Clubhouse in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Van Nuys board. Edgar A. Elin Elkins will be seated as president of the local body. Rockwell Smith is the retiring president.

Earl L. White of Burbank, retiring vice-president of the fifteenth district, will preside over the joint gathering, and will introduce the principal speaker, William Howard Daum, of Los Angeles, the new president of the State association. Daum, who is recognized as an industrial expert, will talk on "Industrial Development." Carl Spencer will speak on, "Developing a Real Estate Stock Exchange to sell Real Estate Securities." Leslie Taylor of Van Nuys, who will succeed White as vice-president of the fifteenth district, will speak on "Real Estate Problems." A turkey dinner will precede the speaking-and-music program.

Kiwanis Urges Another School

SIERRA MADRE, Nov. 6.—Adoption of a resolution backing the movement for a new elementary school as the principal objective for the ensuing year was one of the highlights of the annual meeting of the Kiwanis Club yesterday when new officers were elected.

Succeeding Ray Grant, Charles B. Klunk, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was elected to head the club for the coming year. Others elected were W. J. Lawless, vice-president; Grant, district trustee, and Clay C. Reavis was reinstated as secretary and treasurer. Lawless was appointed as a delegate to attend the Kiwanis district convention session at Long Beach this week. The new directorate will be installed in January, officials stated.

G. H. Meredith, assistant superintendent of Pasadena schools, discussed the local school situation and highly commended members of the faculty and school board on their work.

DATE PICKING NOW NEW DESERT SPORT

PALM SPRINGS, Nov. 6.—Date-picking contests among visiting Los Angeles society folk is the newest diversion of Palm Springs. Each contestant is assigned a certain date palm to work on and given five minutes to establish a quota. The contestants make slight wagers to make it more interesting and start picking at a pistol shot.

Angelenos who recently participated in such a novel sport at a week-end house party given by Harry L. Lewis at his Wonder ranch at Palm Springs included Dr. and Mrs. Louis Levien, Mr. and Mrs. William Bearman, Mrs. Anna Gabriel, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Katz, H. H. Rayner, Louis Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hoffman of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rankow, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Black, Miss Ruth Butler and Miss Mildred Title.

Other outdoor diversions enjoyed by the guests of Lewis include horseback riding, tennis matches and midnight swimming in the mammoth pool.

KIWANIS PICKS WEMPLE

LA CRESCENTA, Nov. 6.—Dr. E. L. Wemple has been elected president of the Montrose-La Crescenta Kiwanis Club, with Phil Belanger as first vice-president and Joseph Silver as second vice-president. Guy Carelton was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

DRIVER'S NECK CAUSES WRECK

Craning Over Side of Car to Investigate Tire Brings Disaster

ONTARIO, Nov. 6.—Stretching his neck over the side of his car in an effort to see if a rear tire was flat nearly brought disaster to a party of Los Angeles motorists in a car driven by A. M. Worden on California Boulevard here.

While Worden craned his neck and the car left the highway, struck a gutter and overturned, Worden and Miss Elsie Poerres, a passenger, were severely injured. Mrs. Worden and Miss Poerres's parents were slightly hurt.

ONE TOWN NOT TO BAN WINE TONIC

San Fernando Councilmen Refuse to Adopt Motion for Drafting Ordinance

SAN FERNANDO, Nov. 6.—Indications are that no official action to prohibit the sale of wine tonics containing more than one-half of 1 per cent alcohol will be taken by this city following the refusal of the City Council to adopt a motion to instruct the City Attorney to prepare such an ordinance.

The local Woman's Christian Temperance Union requested the Council to pass an ordinance forbidding the sale of such tonics and elixirs by local merchants. After discussion it was decided to postpone action until after the outcome of a similar proposition in the Los Angeles City Council. The latter body recently adopted the ordinance.

However, when the motion was again presented here, it was argued that, since Federal, State and county laws regulated the sale of alcoholic preparations, it was unnecessary for the city to pass such ordinances. Furthermore, the opinions were expressed by the Councilmen that such a step might harm the business of local merchants.

GLENDALE COMMITTEE TO ASK FOR BAN ON TONICS

GLENDALE, Nov. 6. — Efforts to prohibit the sale of wine tonics here were inaugurated today when the Glendale Ministerial Association appointed a special committee to request City Attorney R. C. Brennan and Chief of Police J. D. Fraser to conduct an investigation into the sale and distribution of these products here. At the same time the committee was instructed to ask the City Council to investigate the methods used in other cities in adopting legislation designed to check the flow of wine tonics.

Following the completion of the two investigations the association plans to ask the adoption of a city ordinance that will prohibit the sale of wine tonics in Glendale. A similar ordinance was adopted earlier this year but was repealed within a few weeks when it was shown that residents of this city who desired to purchase wine tonics could do so in any of the adjacent cities and that the local merchants were losing the profits from this trade.

The committee named today consists of Rev. Clifford A. Cole, president of the association and pastor of the Central Christian Church; Rev. George W. Thomas, vice-president, and pastor of the Grandview Community Presbyterian Church, and Rex C. Kelley, secretary of the association, and also secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Rifle and Pistol Club Organized

SAN FERNANDO, Nov. 6.—Organization of a Rifle and Pistol Club was completed at a meeting held at the City Hall last night. C. W. Cannon was in charge of the gunmen's session. Sponsors of the organization feel that numerous local residents will become interested in practice with the rifle or revolver which is to be used by the club.

CO-OPERATIVE FORM

Redlands Mutual Orange Company Reorganized as Mutual Association Under State Act

REDLANDS, Nov. 6.—The Redlands Mutual Orange Company has been reorganized into a strictly co-operative organization under the provisions of the State Marketing Act, it was announced today. In the future it will be the Redlands Mutual Orange Association. The first annual meeting of the new association will be held tomorrow night inst. with a dinner.

The officers of Redlands Mutual Orange Association are A. B. Cowgill, president; E. A. Stowe, vice-president; J. N. Hager, secretary and manager; Walter Shearing, J. A. Steward, Harry L. Wagner, Walter F. Hanson, Allen Wheaton, H. S. Abbott, directors. All of the officers and directors are citrus growers with marked success in the industry.

Redlands Mutual Orange Company is one of the pioneer packing-houses of the Redlands citrus belt. It was organized some twenty-three years ago and became immediately a member of the Mutual Orange Distributors. Since the date of its organization it has marketed the output of its growers through the latter organization. It is estimated that during the 1928-1929 season it has handled about 224,000 packed boxes of citrus fruits.

"Redlands Mutual Orange Association will but carry on the work of the Redlands Mutual Orange Company," Cowgill said today. "While we have always operated on a nonprofit basis, we believed it to

BEASTS OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Never yet had he failed to find some way out of his difficulties. The first consideration was to locate fresh water and make camp, for their term of existence upon this out-of-the-way island might be drawn out for years. Tarzan knew the nearest water and to this he led the party. Here the men fell to work to construct shelters while Tarzan went into the jungle after meat.

A daylight watch was maintained from sunrise to sunset upon a bluff near the camp which overlooked the sea. Here, ready for instant lighting at night, they assembled a huge pile of dry branches and from a lofty pole floated a distress signal fashioned from the mate's red undershirt. But never a speck upon the horizon that might be sail or smoke rewarded the eyes that strained in vigil across the vast expanse of ocean.

ARSENIC IN BODY STARTS INQUIRY

Robert Fissore Death Stirs Police Investigation

Victim Found to Have Gone to Party Before Demise

Possible Enmity of Someone There Now Considered

Discovery of what was described as a fatal quantity of arsenic in the nerve centers of the body of Robert Fissore, 26-year-old bread salesman, yesterday opened up a possible murder mystery to police. Presence of the poison in the body was reported by the county chemist's office, according to police.

Fissore, the Coroner's records show, died October 21, last, at the General Hospital. He had become violently ill, it was stated, after returning from a party in Chino.

ACTIVITIES CHECKED

Checking on the victim's activities on the day of his death Captain of Detectives Cato stated he learned that, with his fiancee, Miss Katherine Calandri, and Mr. and Mrs. Maurio Ferrero of 1459 North Main street, with whom Miss Calandri lived, Fissore drove to the home of Tony Datto in Chino. There a party was held at which about twenty-four persons were present.

A small amount of wine was consumed, Cato said, while the men played cards and the children and women played and danced to a phonograph.

About 10 p.m. the party ended. On the return home Fissore complained of feeling cold though the night was warm.

HE BECOMES ILL

Later that night he became violently ill, was treated by a private physician and then sent to the General Hospital, where he died.

Capt. Cato announced he has started an investigation to learn whether Fissore might have been poisoned by some enemy at the party. His aunt, Mrs. Mateo Oiocco, with whom he lived at 527 South Johnson street, declared that as far as she knew her nephew had never been involved in any trouble.

WIFE DIVORCES "JAILER"

Carl P. Walls locked his wife, Mattie A. Walls, in their apartment and kept her a prisoner so that she could not get out and see her friends and relatives, she testified yesterday before Superior Judge Hazlett when given a decree of divorce.

She was represented by Attorney Fred C. Bixby. The couple married in May, 1926, and separated three months later, according to the complaint.

Whirling-Wing Plane Inventor Locates Here

For twenty years John Hess, New Westminster (B. C.) building contractor, has been endeavoring to perfect an airplane that will combine its propeller and wing as a single unit, rise and land on a twenty-foot spot and drift gently earthward in case its motor fails.

He arrived here yesterday from his home with plans for such a plane completed and started a quest for a suitable place in Los Angeles to build it.

Tests conducted in his home town on scale models, the largest powered by a twenty-seven-horsepower motor, have demonstrated, Hess declared, that his ship will lift twenty pounds per horsepower with a seventy-five-horsepower motor; rise vertically a mile and one-half a minute and attain a forward speed of 120 miles an hour.

Two giant umbrella-like propellers, revolving in opposite directions, one on each side of the fuselage, are said by Hess to be the basis for lifting and knifing his plane through the air. If the motor should stop, Hess pointed out, flaps in the twelve-foot bladed structures would turn them into parachutes.

The first plane, Hess declared, will measure thirty feet from tip to tip and carry a twenty-foot fuselage. He is protected with patent rights in the United States and thirty-one other countries.

He said he was drawn here to manufacture his first full-sized plane because of the all-year flying weather and manufacturing facilities. He is backed by Canadian capital.

Vermont Area Boosters Meet

Plans for the development of a better neighborhood business understanding among the merchants of the Central Vermont-avenue district were formulated at a meeting of the Central Vermont District Chamber of Commerce yesterday. The meeting was in Polly's Patio Tea Room, 3033 West Seventh street.

Officers of the district Chamber of Commerce are U. G. James, president; H. W. Chotiner, first vice-president; Adolph Lessell, second vice-president; William Klatscher, treasurer, and Neal P. Olsen, secretary. The officers pledged themselves to an advertising campaign to develop local business enterprises.

OVERSEAS LEAGUE TO HAVE ARMISTICE FETE

Members of the Los Angeles Unit, Women's Overseas Service League, will observe Armistice Day next Monday, commencing with a ceremony in the California Botanic Gardens at 9 a.m. Flanders poppy seeds will be planted in the Garden of Memory by a group headed by Frances Eales. Park Commissioner Martha Nelson McCann, a member of the league, will speak. At 10 a.m. a bugle-call breakfast will be served at Sunset Golf Club. In charge are to be Jessie Brown, chairman, Mrs. Rose Connelly, Mrs. Beulah Brennan and Helen Wisler. Aimee Spurr will sing as will the Legion Chanters. An Elk trumpeter will sound taps at 11 a.m., and the minute of silence will be observed. League members will join the line of march for the Coliseum events in the afternoon.

MISS EARHART FLYING HERE IN OWN PLANE

Amelia Earhart, flying her own two-passenger Lockheed Vega plane, will arrive in Los Angeles from New York today to be the guest of honor and the principal speaker at a dinner sponsored by the Women's Traffic Club of Los Angeles and the Los Angeles Transportation Club. The dinner will be held at the Alexandria [illegible] at 7 p.m. Miss Earhart has the distinction of being the first woman executive of an aero transportation line here or abroad, as she is assistant to the general traffic manager of Transcontinental Air Transport.

UNCLE TOM'S GRAVE

A monument stands over a grave in a little cemetery in Dresden, Ont., bearing the name of Josiah Henson, who died May 5, 1883, aged 94. Henson, a coal black negro, was the original Uncle Tom in Harriet Beecher Stowe's immortal story. While Mrs. Stowe had Uncle Tom die at the hands of Simon Legree, Henson, though bearing the marks of his scourgings to his grave, actually escaped to Canada and became a well-known preacher there. He was invited to preach in the pulpits of many white clergymen. Once while on a visit to England he was received by Queen Victoria at Windsor Castle. Dresden, Ont., is still the home of a colony of negroes, all of whom are descendants of slaves who escaped to Canada. To them Josiah Henson has become a sort of patron saint.

ORDER WELCOMES VISITING LEADER

Horace W. McDavid

PRESIDENT OF KIWANIS CITY GUEST

Chief of International Order, Here for Meeting, Taken With Southland

Organized human effort looking toward service to others was held up by Horace W. McDavid, president of Kiwanis International, here yesterday as an ideal for which all humankind is striving. President McDavid, whose home is at Decatur, Ill., with Mrs. McDavid was guest of honor at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Los Angeles Kiwanis Club at the Biltmore.

President McDavid extolled the merits of Southern California hospitality and, although here for the first time, he was prepared, he said, to expect much of Southern California's climate. Both the speaker and Mrs. McDavid were given a rousing welcome by the Los Angeles Kiwanis.

Mr. McDavid was a guest yesterday of the Breakfast Club, which observed International Kiwanis morning. The Kiwanian president, together with Roe Fulkerson, editor of the Kiwanis Magazine, and George Filmer, district governor, will attend the opening session of the California-Nevada district annual convention today in Long Beach. Conferences of trustees, secretaries and other club officers are on the program for today. The initial business session begins tomorrow and the convention will close Saturday.

Veteran City Police Officer Will Retire

After twenty-two years service on the Los Angeles police force, Lieut. Henry J. Toomey, night commander of the uniformed men of central division, is to retire on the 15th inst. he announced last night. Having spent most of his life in this city, he contemplates making a trip around the world at the conclusion of his police service.

Recalling his appointment on August 20, 1907, he said that Los Angeles then had a population of 300,000 and a police force of 250. He was promoted to sergeant in 1917 and to lieutenant in 1922 and also served as an acting captain under former Chief Vollmer. Immediately following the dynamiting of The Times Building in 1910, Toomey was detailed with four others to guard Gen. Harrison G. Otis continuously.

Lieut. Toomey lives at 1813 West Twenty-fourth street, is married, and has a son who is an electrician in the United States Navy.

BOY HURT BY AUTO AS HE PLAYS NEAR HOME

Struck by an automobile yesterday while playing in front of his home, Benjamin Rodman, 9 years of age, of 3575 South Western avenue, received a fracture of the right leg and concussion of the brain. Dr. Spear of Georgia-street Receiving Hospital treated the injured boy. Police of University division investigated, reporting that the automobile was driven by James Jones of 1417 West Thirty-sixth street. He was not held.

BELL HEARING FAILS TO END

Rebuttal Testimony Brings on Further Delay

Hope of Closing Case Before Planners Fades

Arguments Open 21st Inst.; Decision This Month

An overtime session before the City Planning Commission which lasted from 6 o'clock until nearly midnight last night failed to bring the hearing of Alphonso Bell, for permission to open a stone quarry in the Santa Monica Mountains, to a close despite the hope expressed early in the session that the case would be ready for argument next week.

Charles Everson, a real estate man, formerly in the employ of S. H. Woodruff, a witness for the protestants, took the stand in rebuttal late last evening after everything appeared nearing a close and flatly contradicted the testimony of Woodruff. Attorney Arthur Smiley, for the protestants, said that he had agreed not to bring in rebuttal, but he felt that in justice he should contradict the testimony of Everson. Following this announcement it was seen that the sessions would have to be continued next week and President Donald Baker of the commission announced that there will be sessions next Tuesday afternoon and evening and on Wednesday following. Everson still will be under direct examination next Tuesday afternoon. Attorney McNitt for the petitioners announced that he has one more witness.

BAKER'S STATEMENT

Arguments will start on the 21st inst. and decision is promised for the last week of this month by President Baker.

"We feel that this has been the most important planning case that has come before the commission in years," said Mr. Baker. "It involves certain policies of the commission as well as policies of zoning, and we feel justified in taking time to hear both sides of the case. We have, for that reason, allowed full evidence to be presented by both parties.

MILLIONS INVOLVED

"Millions of dollars are involved in the case and more than 100 witnesses have been heard. There have been 400 exhibits offered for consideration and more than 1,700,000 words of testimony taken.

"The arguments will be given commencing the 21st inst. and will continue the two days following. We have asked that a copy of the arguments be given each commissioner. The commission will get to work immediately and for the next four or five days expects to work day and night formulating a report. It will be a carefully worded opinion. Not a man on the commission has expressed an opinion one way or the other.

DIFFICULT CASE

"Without question each commissioner will have something to say. The report may be unanimous and it may not. I do not know now. It has been a very difficult case and we feel that it has merited our attention."

The testimony last night was in rebuttal and was highly technical. J. M. Tate, assistant engineer of the Bell interests, testified as to the effect of blasts set off in the quarry on a mechanism used to determine shock impacts. He declared the mechanism indicated that blasts set off in the quarry would not injure property located near the proposed quarry.

PHOTOS AND MAPS

Wilke Woodward, chief engineer of the Bell interests, also was on the stand. Photographs and maps were introduced showing the approximate visualization of the country which would be affected by the quarrying operations.

Hearings have been under way before the commission since last February and close to ninety sessions have been held. The first fifty-five sessions were taken up by the Bell interests. The last two weeks also have been taken up by the petitioners in rebuttal.

The New in Stores & Homes

Novelties, Ideas, and Suggestions

By OLIVE GRAY

Quite as important as the gift itself, is the wrapping thereof.

First glimpse of the package carries the idea of the donor's idea. If you, the giver, do not think well enough of the article presented to dress it well, you are offering a slight to that gift. The Chinese know this, when they wrapped the proffered article in a "gift cloth," as valuable, or perhaps more costly, than the gift within. We are beginning to realize, and each season pay more attention to gift wrapping. This season, the papers and other "do-ups" are more valueful—than heretofore—or at least, more tasteful.

Behind the Scenes

"Seventh Heaven:" That is what they call it—the persons who there are engaged in making beauty. Well, it is a sort of heaven, to spend your time in creating loveliness, to make the world more happy. Isn't it? Then, too, the place is "away up high—and we always place any utmost happiness, high. Now, I have you guessing. This place is a studio; and it has much to do with Christmas happiness. For, here are gathered a coterie of pretty girls—for they are happy girls and all happy people are pretty—don't you think? These girls make and invent the wonderful "do-ups" for which this store never is seventh in preparedness. And, oh, what a joy it was to see these in the making! Lovely boxes, done up in beautiful papers, celophane or otherwise—and never were there such papers as this season offers—and great fluffs of celophane with flowers of various kinds; and so many ways of do-uping that you scarcely could count them all. In fact, these artist girls invent new ways appropriate for each gift, and their nimble fingers make such marvelous and dainty bows and flowers and everything pertaining to Christmas boxing, that you can but wonder if they dream them all out, or actually do surrept them from some "seventh heaven" of beauty.

For Envelopes

And, in that "do-up" section where one may find every kind of novelty for doing up Christmas packages, there is everything papery that you ever imagined, and many that never were thought of, until this season. For example, there are packages of papers, all different, for lining the envelopes of your Christmas letters, so that you may be different and distinctive, both in your greetings and in your letters of after-Christmas thanks.

Stickers

In the way of stickers, there are such clever silhouettes, in black and white. Quaint figurines, like the old-time Godey folk, and one especially keen, since the dog fashion is for Scottish terriers, is one of those so "out of drawing" little fellows, gazing quizzically at the Christmas tree, as if he really was striving to pick out the gift which might be his.

Precious Posies

Flowers, to add to the preciousness of Christmas or other gift packages are like actual corsage bouquets. The violets, especially, are as beautiful as gifts themselves; and even though they are fashioned from wax, are lasting, as the good wishes which they are to help in expressing. Just as I have finished telling you of the lovely violets, I recall the orange blossoms, which are equally as wonderful. A handsome gift of sterling silver—a floral center-piece, was all done up, in that studio, to be forwarded to a November bride. Covered with celophane, and centered by a huge fluff of the same transparent material, the silver showing through, the ultimate touch of artistry rested in the orange blossoms, nestling amid the great fluff—I can think of no better word for this—the entire package, one to draw and hold attention, however many gifts might surround it.

Fiber Ribbons

Do you remember the first of the fiber ribbons which came to our country, from Japan—several years ago? These, we thought interesting, because so different; but compared to these of present season import, they seem quite commonplace. The newer ones are in such lovely colors and many have such quaint figures, printed or fibered thereon, that they are quite irresistible. Inexpensive, too, these are; something of a consideration, when one realizes how many, many yards, are required to give that final lavish touch to a Christmas package or box.

These Baskets

With everyone wanting Christmas bags and baskets for taking home the shopping, the advent of these oriental bags of fiber is most opportune. Perhaps you had been awaiting the shipment, as several of us have, for the last shipload was immediately gobbled up and we were promised, several weeks ago, that there would be a renewal of these so popular bags or baskets from China, or Japan. Such bright and winsome colorings have these bags, and so harmonious the tints that they go well with whatever costume one happens to be wearing. Quite capacious, too; and very durable, we are told. So, when we secured several for use and also for gifts, we felt as though our Christmassing had happily commenced.

Stagg Pities Grid Critics

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Pickers of All-American football teams this season have the sympathy of Amos Alonzo Stagg, the "grand old man" of the University of Chicago. "In my forty years of football, I have never known a season when there was such a superabundance of real backs," Stagg said. "There are at least a dozen players who stand out from the pack—men who are entitled to consideration for All-American honors. Picking four of them will be a tough job for the experts."

Former Pilot of Bucs Take Over Reins of Chicago Club

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Donie Bush, a little man with a big job ahead of him, officially picked up the managerial reins of the downtrodden White Sox today.

DONIE BUSH

The former pilot of the Pittsburgh Pirates conferred with White Sox officials and began mapping out a winter buying and trading campaign which he figures should strengthen and lift the once-powerful baseball club to a first-division berth in 1930.

"We are wide awake and hustling for all the promising talent we can obtain and I think we are going to have a vastly improved club," Bush said. "I have the solid backing of the White Sox officials and

Cards Depart for Seattle

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—Thirty-one Stanford football players left this afternoon for Seattle, where Saturday the Cards meet the University of Washington Huskies. The latter squad is in the throes of one of its worst seasons in history, and although Coach Pop Warner took along all of his first-string men, the Card subs are expected to see most of the action. Assistant Coaches Chuck Winterburn and Tiny Thornhill, as well as Student Manager Steve Clark, accompanied the team.

STRIBLING IS WINNER IN PARIS

Georgia Heavyweight Trims Frenchman in Ten-Round Bout

PARIS, Nov. 6. (AP)—William L. (Young) Stribling defeated Maurice Griselle, French heavyweight, on points in their ten-round bout at the Cirque Paris arena before 6000 enthusiastic fans tonight.

YOUNG STRIBLING

Griselle, one of the stable of Francois Descamps, who managed the great Georges Carpentier, took an unmerciful beating through every one of the ten rounds. Stribling won every frame and knocked his opponent down three times in the first round, but was unable to finish him. Griselle took two counts of seven and one of nine. At the finish he was tottering around the ring with both eyes closed, but still was on his feet.

After the flashy first-round showing, the Macon (Ga.) fighter slowed up, apparently short on duration, and was unable again to knock the Frenchman off his feet.

The fans, who jammed the arena to its fullest capacity with 3000 more unable to gain admittance, were disappointed in Stribling's showing. This display, after the ballyhoo Stribling had received here on the strength of his showing against Jack Sharkey at Miami Beach last winter, made them believe that he must put up a much better battle to defeat the Italian giant, Primo Carnera, in London.

Griselle's reputation was based principally on his stopping Knute Hansen in six rounds a few months ago.

STEPONOVITCH BACK IN FOLD

Injured Trojan End Starts Against Nevada

Tony to Replace Arbelbide Next Saturday

Jones Drills Athletes for Notre Dame Game

Tony Steponovitch, hard-luck Trojan end, will get back into a game Saturday for the first time since the Washington contest. The clever wingman with the jaw-breaking name has been laid up with a charley-horse since that time, missing the Occidental, Stanford and California contests.

TONY STEPONOVITCH

Last night the Trojan medical staff pronounced him just about in shape, but refused to let him take part in the dummy scrimmage against Notre Dame plays. Coach Howard Jones, however, announced that he would start Steponovitch against Nevada Saturday.

Jones indicated that his probable line-up would include Tappaan and Steponovitch, ends; Hall and Seitz, tackles; Shaw and Baker, guards; Williamson, center; Saunders, quarter; Apsit and Mortensen, halfbacks, and Moses, fullback.

MOSES NOT IN UNIFORM

The latter was not in uniform last night, suffering from an injured shoulder joint sustained in the California game similar to the injury that kept Mortensen on the side lines recently, but he is expected to be able to play Saturday. His driving work against California indicated that he is ready to wind up the season in brilliant fashion.

Alph "Dutch" Wilcox, first understudy to Francis Tappaan at left end, contracted some internal malady yesterday which caused Dr. Thurber to order him to the Good Samaritan Hospital for an examination. He is expected to be ready to play Saturday.

The Spartans, with two all-Americans in the backfield, showed the varsity some of Notre Dame's pet formations in dummy scrimmage yesterday. The all-Americans were Aubrey Devine, who just returned from a scouting trip, and Morley Drury. Devine took the part of Frank Carideo, the smart Irish quarterback, while Drury occupied the three other positions in the backfield at one time or another. They tried passing plays mostly, to give the first and second-string performers a

SAGEHENS TOIL FOR ARIZONA

Coaches Drive Eleven in Preparation for Game With Classy Wildcat Team

CLAREMONT, Nov. 6.—With only two days left in which to prepare for the Arizona Wildcats, Coaches Nixon and Heath have been driving their Sagehen gridders as hard and long as numerous injuries and sickness would permit. The Pomona squad has been rather hard hit of late, several first-stringers being forced to look on. The latest casualty is Long John Judy, center. Judy received a bad kick in the leg last Saturday which resulted finally in a broken blood vessel. Big Tom Berry, the sophomore center, will fill in while Judy is on the shelf.

EUGENE NIXON

The varsity took on the Sagechicks for a workout tonight and showed a surprising amount of punch and drive. With Stancer and Hartman carrying the ball on end runs and Little Ally Putnam backing the line, it wasn't long before the varsity had pushed over several touchdowns. The Sagechicks looked rather weak at times and if they expect to clean up on the San Diego freshmen a week from Saturday, they are going to have to show a lot of improvement.

Nixon has announced that he will take only twenty-two men to Arizona and, consequently, the boys are putting on quite a battle to impress the popular coach as to their respective worth and desirability. If many more players receive injuries, Nixon will have no trouble in selecting his twenty-two men, as the Sagehen squad is not large.

The Pomona men are anxious for game time to arrive as most of the boys remember last year when the

GIRARD GOLF TOURNEY ON TODAY

Best-Ball Invitational Attracts Splendid Field; Host of Old-Timers to Compete in Annual Affair; Women to Stage Thirty-six-hole Event at Rancho

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

The scene of Southern California's golfing activity shifts to the San Fernando Valley over the week-end, where officers of the Girard Golf and Country Club are busily engaged in completing arrangements for their annual best ball invitation tournament.

W. L. JELLIFFE

Victor Girard reported last night that more than 200 golfers had signed up for the event, which starts this morning with an eighteen-hole qualifying round. The first round of match play is scheduled for tomorrow, two rounds on Saturday, and the finals Sunday morning.

Always on of the most interesting tournaments of the year, the Girard invitational has attracted another large delegation of old-timers, including a number of the best-known tournament players in the Southland.

As last year, when Maury McLoughlin and George Holstein of Bel-Air came through to annex the title, it looks like anybody's tournament. Girard will put several teams in the field with two strong entries in Bill Jelliffe and Bob Robinson, and L. Perry Ferguson and Billy Jacks. Ferguson and Jelliffe paired up a short time ago to win the Oakmont best-ball invitational, an event similar to the Girard tournament.

Holstein will play with Brad Eldridge this year, another Bel-Air golfer of note.

Among the old-timers scheduled to compete are Norman Macbeth, W. W. Campbell, Bud Yoakum, Harry Borde, Harlow Hurley, T. Ray Palmer and Scotty Armstrong.

Despite a par of 69, Girard will give the visiting golfers considerable trouble. The course has been put in first-class condition, and the addition of traps and other natural hazards has made the layout several strokes stiffer than the figures on the card. Several of the greens have been made smaller, and accuracy will be at a premium.

The entry will be divided into two classes, handicaps from 0 to 8, and from 9 up. Trophies will be awarded for low gross and low net in the qualifying round.

On Sunday afternoon a mixed

HEDGE CHOSEN TO LEAD CARD FRESHMAN TEAM

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 6.—Hamilton Hedge of San Francisco, former all-city end, was yesterday elected captain of the Stanford freshman football team. The yearlings customarily wait until the eve of their California game before choosing a leader. Hedge played for Lowell High in San Francisco and, at left end, is the most dependable player in the Card frosh line.

The little big game to be played in the Stanford Stadium Saturday is considered one of the choicest football tilts of the season and to draw a larger crowd than some of the varsity contests have. Stanford and the California appear to be exceptionally evenly matched, for St. Mary's frosh and the U.S.C. frosh have defeated both teams.

The Cal game last Saturday put Bill Bates, Coach Hunt's center, on the bench with a shoulder injury; accordingly Card will be used at pivot man.

Probable starting line-ups are as follows:

California		Stanford
Gill	L.E.R.	Twar
DeOlserio	L.T.R.	Choate

POETS ON EDGE FOR OXY TILT

Record Crowd Expected to Attend Annual Armistice Day Grid Clash

With Occidental scheduled to meet Whittier this coming Monday at Hadley Field in an Armistice Day encounter that looms as one of the most important Southern California Conference games of the season, Vernie Landreth, Poet athletic manager, is making preparations to handle the largest crowd ever to invade the Quaker gridiron.

COACH KIENHOLZ

Inaugurated a number of years ago, the annual Armistice Day game at Whittier has become established as one of the traditional encounters of Southern California Conference competition. With the Quakers meeting Oxy and Pomona on alternate years in the Armistice holiday affair, which always is a Poet home game, each season for the past several years has found the contest playing an important part in the crowning of the conference champion.

Two years ago a highly touted Oxy eleven invaded Whittier with the championship practically conceded to the Bengals. A supposedly weak Whittier eleven on that occasion upset all predictions and trimmed the Bengals, 7 to 2, in a game which cost the Eagle Rock team the title.

This season, once more, Occidental apparently has an excellent chance to grab the title honors, sharing these chances with Pomona. Pomona already has taken the Quakers into camp, but only after a hard-fought game that was never in the bag until the final whistle had blown. Whittier would like to take Oxy next Monday, and later in the season watch Occidental dump Pomona, thereby retaining at

Poly Eleven May Surprise Football Fans in Coliseum Struggle with L.A. High Ro

PARROTS POINT FOR PIONEERS

Hollywood-Franklin Game is Toss-up

Belmont Gets Crucial Test in Fremont Tilt

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

Prep fans who are harboring thoughts of the Los Angeles High Romans walloping the Poly Mechanics by a large score tomorrow in their feature classic at the Coliseum are going to be sadly mistaken. Coach Voyle Brennen has been working hard on the Mechanic machine for the last two weeks, ever since Poly pounded the Jefferson eleven, 20-0. Before that the Mechanics had met with little success losing to Manual and Hollywood in succession.

Brennen isn't holding out much hopes for a Poly victory and he isn't alone in the thought for the Romans will put a smart, fast outfit on the field tomorrow. If they show the same caliber football they exhibited against Manual last week, the Poly team can't win.

On the other hand, Poly has been coming along slowly, and if they are going to play good football this year, tomorrow should be the day. Last week, the Mechanics had a bye and all of them sat in on the L. A. High-Manual Arts struggle, so they ought to know just what they are up against.

Coach Bresee's outfit may suffer a letdown from thre tough games in a row. The Romans had a bye the first round but have played Lincoln, Franklin and Manual on successive Fridays. Both Franklin and Manual were tough games, with Lincoln far from being a set-up.

In the two other games scheduled Lincoln should beat Jefferson, while the Hollywood-Franklin game is a toss-up. The Tiger-Democrat battle will be played on the Jefferson field, while the Panthers will play host to Hollywood.

Playing on their home grounds may help the Panthers, who haven't had a game there since they walloped Lincoln in the first game of the season.

Whether or not Coach Sid Wilberew's Belmont Hilltoppers are of championship caliber will be decided tomorrow when the Fremont Pathfinders play host to the Green and Black warriors. Belmont has yet to be defeated in league play, having whipped Roosevelt and University. A scoreless tie against Fairfax is the only black spot on the Hilltoppers' record.

The two other games will find Roosevelt favored over University and Fairfax picked to beat Garfield. The Bulldogs may surprise the dopesters and trip the Colonial eleven.

BREA WILDCATS TACKLE FULLERTON INDIANS

Brea, capital of northern Orange county's oilfields district, tomorrow will become the football capital of the county, with "Shorty" Smith's Brea-Olinda Wildcats scheduled to clash with Coach Ernie Y. Johnson's Fullerton Indians in one of the first "test games" of the C.I.F. championship play-offs.

There is more than the ordinary feeling aroused in the entire county due to the unprecedented success of Smith at the little school tucked away among the derricks of the black gold country, and to the fact that Smith coached the Fullerton teams to nine Orange league, three Southern California, and one State championships during the nine years he reigned at Fullerton before resigning to accept his present post three years ago after dissension wrecked his authority on the eve of a State championship battle which resulted in a disastrous defeat at the hands of the Bakersfield Drillers in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

From a rank tail-ender three years ago Smith has brought the Wildcats along until today they boast one of the best grid squads in Southern California high school circles. Only one setback mars the record of the oil fields team—a 13-to-6 defeat by the Orange Panthers in the first league game of the season.

Brea-Olinda has registered seven victories in eight games to date, and has scored 179 points while holding opponents to nineteen. The Wildcats boast a strong line which will outweigh the Indians' forward wall, backed up by a versatile backfield of which Peak, quarterback, and Kellar, sensational open-field runner, are the backbone.

All other Orange league teams have open dates due to the C.I.F. play-offs. Anaheim will go to Redlands for a joust, and Orange and Huntington Beach will play their game at the seaside city next Monday as one of the principal features of the county's Armistice Day celebration.

POMONA TOILS FOR WILDCATS

Wildcats won after the Sagehens made more than three times as many first downs. However, the chances for a Pomona win are slight, as the Wildcats boast a much stronger team than last year, and the Sagehens are at the best, no better than the 1928 varsity.

BRUIN FROSH HARRIERS MEET GARFIELD TEAM

The cross-country team of the freshman class at the University of California at Los Angeles will test the qualifications of the peagreener runners for distance jaunts this afternoon. The Bruin frosh harriers will meet the cross-country squad from Garfield High School in a meet at the Bulldog institution. The freshmen have been working out on the Westwood campus for the past three weeks.

Mackenzie One of Stylists

ROLAND MACKENZIE
HIS LOWERED RIGHT SHOULDER AND BENT IN RIGHT KNEE PROVE THERE IS SLIGHTLY MORE WEIGHT ON LEFT LEG AT STANCE.

BY SOL METZGER

Most golf instructors, among them Arthur Goss, whose ideas concerning the golf swing we are now reporting, think Roland Mackenzie, United States Walker Cup team, one of the stylists of the game. His swing is orthodox.

It is interesting to note his stance. As he addresses the ball you will find that his right shoulder is lower than the left. This is due in part, of course, to the fact that the right hand must reach farther down the shaft in order to grip the club. It is also due to one other cause.

Mackenzie, if you will notice my sketch of him, slightly bends his right knee inward toward the left. This gives him the orthodox stance, a stance that puts a bit more weight on the left than the right leg at address.

Add yardage and accuracy to your drive by writing Sol Metzger, care of The Times, for his free leaflet on driving. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope.

chance to look over the various formations.

Jones lined up his first string last night with Tappaan and Tony Jurich at ends; Hoff and Anthony, tackles; Barragar and Galloway, guards; Williamson, center; Saunders, Edelson, Pinckert and Musick in the backfield. After more than an hour's work against the Spartans, the first string tried some offensive work in dummy scrimmage against a fourth-string squad, while the second-string worked against the Spartans. The second team consisted of Arbelbide and Joslin, in the absence of Wilcox, at ends; Hall and Seitz, tackles; Baker and Shaw, guards; Dye, center; Duffield, Apsit, Mortensen and Hill in the backfield.

AIM FOR NOTRE DAME

Jones has put all thought of the California game aside, and is aiming everything at Notre Dame. The weak, though improving, Nevada team is just another Saturday for the Jones athletes, and there will be nothing but drill, drill, drill until Tuesday night when the players depart for Chicago.

Word was received here yesterday that the Wolves will fly here for the contest. Coach George Philbrook is bringing thirty-two athletes by air to Glendale, the squad leaving Reno at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

DONIE BUSH IN SOX'S BERTH

while good baseball players are scarce we have lines out for several of them."

Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the club which was toppled from its pinnacle by the 1919 "Black Sox scandal," was unable to attend a reception given to his new manager at the club's offices today because of a bad cold, but Bush conferred with him privately.

Bush's arrival gave rebirth to many rumors of trades and sales in the White Sox ranks, one of them being that an effort was being made to obtain Bubbles Hargrave, catcher-manager of the St. Paul American Association club and former backstop for the Cincinnati Reds. Bob Fothergill, heavy hitting Detroit outfielder, and Mark Koenig, Yankee shortstop, also were mentioned as White Sox possibilities. Manager Bush, however, refused to discuss the rumors beyond a promise that the White Sox were out for two or three experienced hitters.

Ten minor league stars have been purchased since Bush was signed as manager.

ICE HOCKEY PROS TO OPEN UP NEXT WEEK

The professional ice hockey season will open at the Winter Garden Ice Palace a week from tonight. The Hollywood and Los Angeles Richfields clash in the opener, and one of the largest crowds in the history of the Garden is expected to attend. San Francisco and Oakland meet in the other game in the Bay region.

Hollywood has bought Shields and Peltier from St. Louis, Josephs from Boston and Lanksbury, a big defense man, from Calumet. These four men are expected to make the movie city boys strong contenders for the California title.

PIRATES AND LIONS TO CLASH SATURDAY

One of the outstanding ice hockey clashes of the season is booked for Saturday night, when the powerful Union Oil Pirates clash with the Gilmore Lions in the fourth amateur encounter of the season. This is the first meeting of the two husky Oilers and much rivalry is certain to creep out as they battle it out for a commanding position in the Southern California Amateur Hockey League.

Two referees will handle this meeting of the Union and Gilmore forces, as the players are very much likely to start rough elbow and stick work.

MAT RIVALS DECLARE WAR

Much Bitterness Between Champion Sonnenberg and Challenger Strangler Lewis

The battle between Champion Gus Sonnenberg and Ed (Strangler) Lewis, who are scheduled to clash in a return finish wrestling match at the Olympic Wednesday night, has already started.

Before these two step into the ring for this bout there is expected to be more bitterness existing between the pair than that which has ever existed between any champion and challenger during the last decade.

Sonnenberg yesterday accepted Lewis's proposal that no seconds be used by either grappler during this bout. He informed Promoter Lou Daro that he was doing so in the belief that it would eliminate any ending such as marred the last meeting here with Lewis. The fact that Lewis was ready to push his demand for such a ruling, however, caused the champion to request that Billy Sandow, manager of Lewis, be prohibited from sitting behind the challenger's corner during the bout, or from assisting Lewis between falls.

The champion, the promoter stated, is ready to push this demand as hard as Lewis was to get the one of no seconds accepted as part of the rules which will govern this bout.

Sandow, according to Sonnenberg, has consistently violated the wrestling rules by signaling the headlock expert information during the progress of every title match he has ever taken part in. It is Sandow's habit to sit behind Lewis in every bout, study and analyze the weakness of Lewis's opponents and signal the headlock exponent holds to use, according to Sonnenberg.

Lewis and Sandow are known to have used a system of passing information to each other without speaking. Many of Lewis's victories are credited to Sandow's work in the wrestler's corner.

According to mat experts, Lewis would be more handicapped by the loss of his manager than Sonnenberg would be by the absence of both his manager and second. The champion stated he would not have his manager in his corner if Lewis would agree to the plan not to have Sandow back of him during this bout.

This is the first time that these two have engaged in such heated arguments before a title battle and, according to mat experts, the bout has great possibilities of developing into the mat classic of the year.

Three other big matches are being planned by Promoter Daro for this card, it was reported.

Lions Wallop Bear Skaters

The Gilmore Lions walloped the Sunfrese Bears in the second game of the Southern California Amateur Ice Hockey League last night at the Winter Garden Ice Palace. The score was 4-0 and the outcome was never in doubt. The Lions tallied once in the opening period, twice in the second, and once in the final session.

Marvin Crast played a sensational game for the Lions, while Hayton's work at goal was outstanding. Scotty Coleman and College starred for the Sunfrese team.

BABE MARINO STOPS SOLDIER BILLY GRAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Babe Marino, San Francisco lightweight, crashed over a right hand in the final round to knock out Soldier Billy Gray of Honolulu and win the six-round main event at National Hall tonight. The knockout climaxed one of the fastest fights seen here in recent months. The boxers slugged toe-to-toe without a let-up throughout the fight and the bout was even until Marino clipped the Honolulu soldier with a straight right.

foursome event will wind up the tournament.

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Southern California Golf Association will play the first eighteen holes of a thirty-six-hole medal-play tournament at the Rancho Golf Club today. Mrs. George Midgley reports an excellent entry, and a fine tournament is expected. Play will be in two classes.

Rancho has been groomed for the event and the course is in remarkably good condition through fairways and greens.

U.C.L.A. Frosh Prep for Troy

Coach Freddy Osters University of California at Los Angeles frosh grid team went through another strenuous practice last night on the Westwood field in preparation for their encounter this Saturday with the powerful yearling eleven of the University of Southern California. The Bruin frosh mentor is drilling his charges with several trick formations with which to dazzle Coach Aubrey Devine's Trojan peagreeners.

The game will be played starting at 12:30 p.m. as a preliminary football fracas to the varsity tilt between the Southern California varsity and the University of Nevada team, and promises to be a better and hotter fought game than the feature entertainment of the day. The freshman teams of the two local universities have never met before on the gridiron, and Saturday's game will decide the mythical city grid title for freshman elevens.

Freddy Oster has uncovered a brilliant backfield performer in Dud Tower, who never played football before this year. Tower was a stellar basketball player at Los Angeles High, but this year he has developed into a good ball carrier, with lots of speed and drive. He is an almost certain choice to start the game against the Trojan frosh.

Anderson Cops Fitzgerald Go

OAKLAND, Nov. 6. (AP)—Babe Anderson, 145, San Jose, won a close decision over Freddie Fitzgerald, 145, Youngstown, O., in ten hard-fought rounds at the East Bay Athletic Club tonight. Anderson's aggressiveness in the early rounds earned him a margin which Fitzgerald's rally failed to overcome.

The San Jose boy bored in steadily during the first half of the fight, scoring with solid rights to the body. Fitzgerald came back strong in the tenth round, pumping both hands to the face and the midsection. It was an impressive victory for Anderson as Fitzgerald recently knocked out Young Harry Wills, San Diego negro, and took a decision from Young Jack Thompson, Los Angeles negro, in this arena. Oakland Frankie Burns, one-time contender for the lightweight championship, refereed the bout.

Max Baer, Livermore heavyweight, decisioned Matty Brown, Los Angeles, in the six-round semi-wind-up.

MILLER BEATS SMITH

CINCINNATI, Nov. 6. (AP)—Freddy Miller, Ohio featherweight, outstepped Steve Smith, Bridgeport, Ct., in a ten-round bout here tonight.

ARMY TEAM PERFECTING DEFENSE

West Pointers Working Hard for Intersectional Classic With Illinois Eleven Saturday; Scouts and Movie Films Helping Soldier Outfit

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

WEST POINT (N. Y.) Nov. 6.—About seventy-five football players of various classifications and degrees of proficiency scuffed up the turf on the plains at West Point for two hours this afternoon, rehearsing a defense against the sort of plays which they have reason to expect to encounter in their game with the University of Illinois at Champaign next Saturday afternoon.

Chris K. Cagle's nose was slightly scuffed also in the course of the scrimmage and he was temporarily retired from the sham battle, being sent to the infirmary for such staunching and mending as the case might require. His hurt seemed to be no worse than a common nosebleed, but these things acquire gravity and dignity in proportion to the importance of the noses concerned. Some moments earlier one of the gentlemen of the scrubs forgot to duck as the regular Army team rolled over him and he came up with his nose in an advanced stage of delapidation, but Mr. Frank Wandle, the lay surgeon who attends the team, pressed an iced towel to his features and this homely remedy seemed adequate.

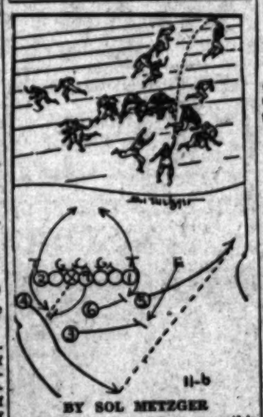
Half a dozen officers assisting Coach Biff Jones began the instruction with a group of cadets down off in a separate sector of the field, for special coaching in the details of their responsibilities which seem quite serious. The Army athletes have played two so-called major games thus far and they have yet to win one, so the urgency of winning at Champaign on Saturday is a little more pressing than it might otherwise be.

Harvard rolled the Army team under in the first half of their game at Boston and the Cadets had to return to primitive football to bang their way through and tie the score in the end. At Yale after Cagle and Johnny Murrell had scored a touchdown apiece, Albie Booth ran on to the field and disorganized them. I believe the Yale game is one of those things which the Army chaps would rather not discuss. One of the coaches today ran off a reel of war-department movies of this game, made with a telescope lens which brought the plays up into one's lap, so to speak, and as the spade of Albie Booth again sifted through the Army line, he could only wag his head gloomily and remark that the tackling on the Army side certainly was verminous that day. He left an impression that their tackling was one of the matters that had been mentioned with great severity and stress ever since that afternoon.

The Army team seems fairly well acquainted with the plays which the Illinois athletes have undertaken in their public demonstrations thus far this season. Not only have the Army scouts been sitting in the press boxes with charts on which they recorded all they saw but there are several cans of movie film in the football office which may or may not furnish such information as the scouts overlooked.

The football detachment for the journey to the Middle West will consist of about thirty-five players and five other cadets for auxiliary duty such as calling the plays to the fourth estate, counting the towels and sweaters and charging the pressure tank of the Army's rolling water bucket, a strange device with nozzles on it, which squirts the athletes in the face, thus eliminating the familiar bucket and sponge.

Middies' Pass Attack Shown



BY SOL METZGER

Of all the teams I have seen this season, Bill Ingram's Navy outfit has as much finesse in its passing attack as any. Navy Bill believes in the man-in-motion-before-the-ball idea, running practically all of his plays from it.

Here's one of the pet passes used by Annapolis. A tall, fast back is placed in the No. 5 position. No. 4 swings back before the ball is snapped to him and then gives ground to the right rear as he threatens a run around the opposite end.

No. 5 swings out to the right and down field at top speed. Note how the ends cut in back of the scrimmage line as though to take a pass. This move tends to hold the defensive backs in that area. Backs Nos. 6 and 3 take the defensive end and tackle, while guard No. 7 disposes of the trailing tackle and end. Thus the passer, No. 4, is protected. He shoots a pass wide on the run to No. 5.

TANBARK STARS CROWD HORIZON

stein, at fullback, is a fine linebreaker, and Armin Waugh, the Atlanta boy, is light, but fast and shifty as a rabbit.

Banker of Tulane, and McEver of Tennessee, still are considered the best backs of the South, but Justus of Clemson and Cawthorne of Florida have been receiving a lot of favorable mention from the experts. Kelly of Kentucky and Holm of Alabama are also first-class ball carriers.

GRADING PLAYERS

The trouble is that the only manner in which backs can be graded is to take into account the opposition they face, and, on this theory, you might also pick Notre Dame's whole backfield and not go far wrong. Notre Dame is sure playing a tough schedule this season and so far has come through nobly.

Aside from the many intersectional games of Saturday there should be other hard-fought contests. It would not be surprising to see Colgate defeat Columbia, in spite of the latter's splendid showing in recent games. Colgate has a strong eleven.

Dartmouth, without Marsters, may have a lot of trouble with Brown. Penn State believes that it can beat Pennsylvania, although this appears doubtful. Georgetown plays Navy and this should be a close game. Fordham and Boston College will certainly be a struggle worth watching. Here are two undefeated teams and it looks as if Boston's record is in danger. Minnesota and Iowa and Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt face each other, with Minnesota and Vanderbilt the favorites.

A study of the season's scores shows some amusing angles. Harvard scored forty-three points in its last three games and only won one of them. In both games, Lafayette scored six points, as against twelve, and lost both. Army scored thirty-three points in two games, tied one and lost the other. Ohio State has scored only thirty-five points, as against its opponents' twenty-four, but has lost only one game out of five. About the best defensive team seems to be St. Mary's of California.

FIRST INVASION

The Harvard-Michigan game will not only be an intersectional game and the resumption of an old rivalry, but will mark the Crimson's invasion of the Middle West. Alumni have been urging Harvard, with its middle-western coaches and its many graduates in that section, to play some conference eleven on its home grounds. Since the game first was scheduled it has created widespread interest.

Michigan, which never has beaten Harvard, will be more than anxious to do well in this engagement. If the Wolverines can win it will soothe the sting of defeats by Purdue, Ohio State and Illinois and prove a silver lining for a cloudy season.

least a tie for the championship for the Quakers.

Coach Eddie Kienholz of the Tigers, however, is out after his second consecutive title, and hopes to take both Whittier and Pomona to leave no doubt as to the best team. He is driving his men hard this week in preparation for the game, and indicated last night he will present his strongest line-up of the year next Monday.

SHIKAT FLOPS HAGEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—Richard Shikat, German wrestler who has been recognized as champion by the New York and Pennsylvania athletic commissions, won his second match within a week tonight in short order. He required only 1m. 16s. to throw George Hagen of Brooklyn, in their match at Ridgewood Grove.

CHARLES OPENS TRAINING

Calm-Looking Little Frenchman to Tackle Hess in Olympic Main Bout Next Week

Gaston Charles, calm-looking little Frenchman in his civilian clothes, opened his training yesterday at the Manhattan gymnasium. He boxes Goldie Hess, best local card around Los Angeles, next Tuesday night at the Olympic.

The visitor is not a calm person in the ring. He has several assets for which French fighters are famous all over the world.

He has a lot of color like Georges Carpentier and Eugene Criqui. He has a ripping left hook. He is as hard to hit as a darting fly. He likes to fight.

The Olympic picked no easy mark for Charles to get by here. Hess is at the top of his game. He has been idle due to a tonsil operation for six weeks, but Goldie more than makes up for this in health and pep.

Hess has caused all sorts of trouble to star performers the last few months. He broke Ted Morgan's ribs. He stopped Wildcat Carter in the final round.

Eddie Mack nosed out Hess with a little more speed and a good left hand, but in a rematch a lot of folks would like the little tow-headed beach boy to outrush the college graduate.

Georges Carpentier is expected to help his countryman, Charles, for the Hess bout. The Gorgeous Georges is making a motion picture at present, but he is 100 per cent loyal to the boxing game and especially for one of Francois Deschamps's proteges.

Matchmaker Wad Wadhams has booked a strong supporting card with Johnny Torres and Jackie Mandell paired in the six-round semi-wind-up. Ray McIntyre and Sammy Seaman meet in the special event. Seaman is a coming star and has attracted much favorable comment every start recently.

Larry Morrison, boy trainer, has been assigned the job of conditioning Charles.

Coombs Lost to Bear Team

BERKELEY, Nov. 6. (AP)—Hard work on the tackling dummy, with a light signal session sandwiched in featured today's workout of California's varsity footall squad.

Both first and second teams worked out on the tackling dummy and some of the work against the sand bags was sloppy. There was no scrimmage session on today's program.

It was learned this morning that Malcolm Coombs, a sophomore, and third-string varsity tackle, suffered a broken ankle in yesterday's scrimmage session. He will probably be unable to participate in heavy practice for the rest of the season.

POWER BOATS RACE AT SANTA BARBARA

The second annual midwinter regatta held under the auspices of the Santa Barbara Power Boat Club will be staged as part of the Channel City's Armistice Day celebration, it was announced yesterday. The power boats will race on the 10th and 11th inst. over an open-water course. Practically all of the outstanding outboard pilots in Southern California are expected to take part in the regatta. Al Thompson, Loretta Turnbull and Johnny Adams, holders of several world's records, have already sent in their entry blanks.

AKERS KAYOES HAWKS

SALEM (Or.) Nov. 6. (AP)—Art Akers, local lightweight, knocked out Johnny Hawks of Seattle in the third round of a scheduled ten-round main event at the Armory here tonight. Hawks was unable to keep track of Akers's lightning left hooks.

Injuries Mar Lions' Hopes

With only four days left before the College of the Pacific game and with five regulars on the sick list, Coach Bill Driver of Loyola University is confronted with a problem which may blast all his hopes for a successful season. Under ordinary conditions the Lions would be favorites to beat the northern team, but under the present prevailing conditions it is problematical whether or not the Loyolans will even be able to furnish decent competition for their opponents.

Capt. Bernie Donahue is out with a twisted back; George Kieffle with an injured neck; Henry Brown has water on the knee and Strutzel and Rago have twisted ankles. Although three of the five injuries might be well by Monday, it is evident that these players will not be able to give their best.

George Kieffle is out for about two weeks and may not even play in the Santa Clara game. His injured neck, which was hurt in the Cal Aggie game, is very serious and must be taken care of. This is George's first year at Loyola and already he has earned a first-string berth. He is a former Poly High star and was on the 1927 and 1928 all-city team.

Should the Lions pass unblemished in the Armistice Day game they will be given a large chance to down the Santa Clara Broncbos at Wrigley Field on Thanksgiving Day.

Driver leaves for Stockton Saturday with forty warriors, stopping in San Francisco to see the Santa Clara-St. Mary's game on Sunday. They will play at Stockton on Monday, only to return and go to San Diego for their game with the submarine base the following Saturday.

WALLENDER WINS OVER BREEN IN BEACH BOUT

Harry Wallender punched his way to an eight-round decision over Hurly Breen in the main event at Ocean Park last night. Homer Jaines outpointed Ralph Leonard in the six-round special event. Pete Gardinas knocked out Ad Hamerly in the first round of the special event. Jimmy De Luccia beat Bert Wagner in four rounds. Dave Leidas knocked out Hector Aguilar in the second round of the curtain raiser.

JORDAN, BOZEMAN MEET IN CUE TITLE FINALS

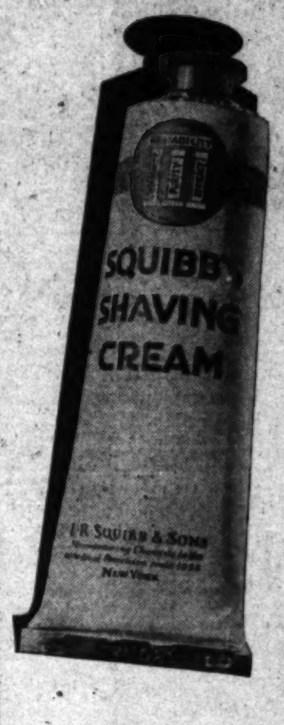
Charles Jordan won his way to the finals of the sectional championship finals of the National Professional Billiard Association last night at Jones Billiard Parlor by beating Arthur Endicott, 95-41, in seventy-four innings. Jordan will meet J. M. Bozeman in the finals tonight. The winner will go East to the national tourney.

OPTOMETRISTS TO PLAY

The Los Angeles Optometrists' Golf Association has reserved starting times for half a dozen foursomes at Sunset Fields Sunday afternoon for the holding of its regular monthly golf tournament. All tournament details for this organization are in the hands of Dr. Louis Jacques.

HERE'S NEWS, LOS ANGELES!

Squibb's gives double-action shave



GIVE your face the once-over with your razor and Squibb's Shaving Cream. Then feel the different shave! It's a distinctly new shave! It's double-action shave!

And all because of a unique ingredient—a balm for the skin recently perfected by Squibb Laboratories. It has two separate actions.

Notice first the smooth, easy glide of the razor.

Then—more important—notice the feel of your face. It's naturally comfortable, but soothed and fresh than ever before. That's this new ingredient in Squibb's Shaving Cream—the skin's protective oils.

Nature keeps your face fresh and healthy with these vital oils essential to your skin's health. They protect—they give suppleness and comfort. But the first action of soap is to remove these protective oils—to rob your face of its natural comfort.

But Squibb's has conquered this. The double-action shave keeps your face soother and more comfortable in exactly the same way as Nature herself. That's why the Squibb shave is so unique and different.

Buy a tube of Squibb's Shaving Cream today tonight. Reasonably priced at 40c in drug stores.

PORTER WILL REFEREE NORCONIAN SWIM MEET

Mayor John C. Porter was yesterday appointed as honorary referee of the big swimming meet to be held Sunday afternoon at the Lake Norconian Club. Mayor Porter was appointed by Morrison Egbert of the L.A.A.C., swimming chairman of the Southern Pacific Association of the A.A.U.

Sunday's meet will feature the Pacific Coast high diving for men and the junior national high diving for women. Mickey and Johnny Riley of the L.A. A.C. and Stan Kistler of the Norco Club are favorites in the men's diving, while Winnie Hayson, Norco Club, is the women's favorite.

Fast women's sprint races will also be held with Olive Hatch, Josephine McKim and Norene Forbes, local favorites, meeting the strong San Francisco trio consisting of Monte Morgan, Lois Grow and Marion Gillman.

Yunevich, Harmeson and White, were given a rest last night while Coach Jimmie Phelan drilled the line and reserves.

Sammy Behr has encouraged Wisconsin by returning to his quarterback position after a week's absence because of injuries, while Bill Lusby, Badger punter, may get into the Chicago game, too. Chicago, meanwhile, is developing an aerial attack upon advice of scouts, who reported the prowess of the Badger forward wall against Purdue and the team's weakness against the overhead attack.

Having virtually ended Illinois's two-year championship reign, Northwestern was busy preparing for Ohio State. Bill Griffin, a light but fleet ball carrier, may be in the backfield for the Wildcats, who will seek to push Ohio State out of the championship chase Saturday.

Bullet Baker Signs Up With Chicago Pros

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—Bullet Baker, former University of Southern California star halfback, has been signed to play with the Chicago Cardinals pro football team, according to Dr. David Jones, owner.

Baker, a light, fast runner, and an excellent passer, will round out the backfield and give the added threat needed to keep the opponent's attention from Ernie Nevers and his plunging possibilities inside the ten-yard line.

Baker has several years' experience in pro football. He was with the New York Yanks and has played two years with the Green Bay Packers.

Roadrunners Face Panthers

The California Christian College Panthers come out of their lair next Saturday for the first time in four weeks to engage the Roadrunners of Santa Barbara State College in the Panthers' annual home-coming day feud at Loyola Field.

Coach Ralph Welch's eleven has been inactive for a month due to the inability to make connections for a game with any Southern California Conference team. The team that meets Santa Barbara Saturday will be considerably weakened by the loss of Lorens (Lefty) Tower, who yesterday went to the hospital with a severe case of what the doctors may diagnose as typhoid. The only hope on the Panther campus now is that he may recover in time to participate in basketball.

Coach Hal Davis is bringing a squad of eighteen players to this city Friday night and will have no one on the injured list. He expects to start the same line-up as played Occidental earlier in the season, with the exception of Denno and Imes at guard and fullback, respectively, in place of Anderson and Kessler.

TALLMAN IN SEMIFINALS

PINEHURST (N. C.) Nov. 6. (AP)—David N. Tallman of Minneapolis, former western golf champion and medalist in the twenty-fifth annual autumn tournament of the Pinehurst Country Club, today advanced to the semifinals by defeating William Alexander of Glencoe, Ill., member of the Skokie Country Club, by the score of 3 and 2, in the first round of match play.

Seek Referee for Race on Legion Oval

With rivalry at a feverish heat among auto racing drivers who will compete in Sunday's 100-lap midwinter classic at the American Legion speedway, A. C. Pillsbury of the A.A.A.A. was yesterday in search of a competent referee to supervise the season's biggest program.

Believing that a man of great experience will be necessary to take charge of the refereeing task, due to the intense competitive spirit among the pilots, Pillsbury is expected to select either Tommy Milton or Harry Harts for the job. Both are famous board track stars.

Peter De Paolo, the Italian ace, was solicited yesterday but declined, stating that he could not be on hand Sunday due to business calling him out of the city.

With pilots and mechanics working overtime in preparation for Sunday's meeting, several records for the Legion oval may fall in both the one-lap helmet dash and the 100-lap feature.

At each successive race at the Legion course the marks made by the pilots have shown an increase in speed. Now with Francis Quinn's Miller Special, Orval Brummier's Upsyloil Special, Johnny Krieger's Fisher Special, and George Smith's Portland car on hand and tuned up for their maximum of speed, all records for the oval may go into the discard.

It was announced yesterday by Dr. Fred Loring of the Legion racing board that the gold-plated Italian helmet, which will be posted for the victor in Sunday's special one-lap dash, will be put on display today in the Italian colony of Los Angeles. A large turnout of Italian fans is expected at the Speedway Sunday to witness the renewel of this event.

Boxing Kings Will Spar in Charity Show

The boxing game will step up Saturday night and do its bit to save Old Ironsides. The followers of the ring game intend to do a lot of fighting with their mitts to save a real fighter from going to the scrap heap. Old Ironsides did a lot of scrapping in her day, but it seems now she needs her face lifted. Sometime ago a movement was started toward this end but it was only three-quarters completed and the old fighting ship seemed destained for the junk pile.

Hearing of her plight the pugs decided that they would do their share toward saving her for future generations. So Saturday night at the Olympic Auditorium Cauliflower Alley will do its bit in its own way to save the famous fighting ship of other days.

Jack Doyle, impresario of the Olympic, has donated the hall for the evening. James Woods and Frank Moran, State Athletic Commissioner and chief boxing inspector, respectively, have stamped their approval on the affair.

Carlo Curtis of Main street is rounding up the talent. Mickey Walker and Ace Hudkins will box an exhibition with sparring partners. Ed "Strangler" Lewis will wrestle a bit for the fans. Joe E. Brown, Betty Compson and Mike Donlin will represent the stage and screen. Will Rogers will be master of ceremonies.

Amateur Puck Teams Tangle

With both sextets smarting from defeats suffered at the hands of the Shell Oilers a desperate collection of amateur ice-hockey players will to clash tonight at the Palais De Glace rink when the Van Fleet-Durkee pucksters meet the Arrowhead Valley Club, led by "Big John" Austman.

Shell Oil took hair-line decisions over both teams in late contests, one point giving the Oilers each victory and shoving them into the leadership of the Southern California senior ice-hockey circuit.

The line-ups:

Van Fleet-Durkee		Arrowhead V. C.
Lister	Goalie	Cantillon
Dewar	Defense	Austman
Howard	Defense	Halderson
H. Proulx	Center	D. Hebert
O. Proulx	Wing	A. Hebert
N. Proulx	Wing	Cooper

BEAR CUB SOCCER OUTFIT TO GAMBOL

BERKELEY, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—Coach Carl Zamloch's University of California freshman soccer team will make its last competitive effort Saturday morning in a match with Stanford's yearlings on the latter's field. The second match of the annual two-game series will be played next Saturday on the local field. The varsity teams of the two schools will compete in their three-game series later in the season.

BOBBY JONES DENIES HE WILL QUIT GOLF

ATLANTA, Nov. 6. (AP)—Bobby Jones, national open golf champion, has no intention of retiring from competitive golf. Denying published reports last night that he would retire, Bobby said he would continue to play the game as long as he "can walk and earn a living as a lawyer."

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

TWO FAMOUS RUNS

TWO news reel pictures which now have their place in California archives will be preserved with conflicting emotions.

One is of Roy Riegels's famous 70-yard reverse run to his own goal line in the game with Georgia Tech last New Year's day.

The other is of Benny Lom's sensational 85-yard spin to a touchdown in the Trojan game last Saturday.

Lom played a heroic role in each instance.

He was the man who chased Riegels 69 yards before he could drag his team-mate to earth—one foot from the goal line—from which point Tech blocked a punt for the safety that won the game.

The less said about that incident the better. Nobody—not even Riegels himself—can explain that queer play. It happened in the heat of battle just as other weird plays have come up in football and other branches of sport.

But that spectacular run of Lom's for the touchdown that cinched the game for the Bears will be talked about forever in Bear history. It will go down in the archives along with the illustrious feats of the old "Wonder Teams."

PERFECT OFFENSIVE FOOTBALL

YOU really have to take another look at this run—perhaps more—to appreciate the manner in which the Trojans were tricked and each Bear functioned perfectly on his blocking job—so perfectly that not a man laid hand on galloping Benny.

I had a peek at the Paramount reel yesterday which shows the run from start to finish—from the moment Lom tucks the pigskin under his arm and heads for the distant goal until he touches it down on the run and, still loping, brings it out for the kick for goal.

The set-up is perfect for the run. It shows Barragar, having rushed through to block a supposed kick, out of things altogether and back of Lom as he begins his run; Arbelbide on the ground; Lom running for his end; Eisan taking Anthony; Pitto heading for Pinckert and Edelson; of Lom running sharply at the two Trojan secondary men, then veering suddenly to the right and leaving them both flatfooted; of Lom heading straight at Saunders, making a feint at him and sidestepping to the left, leaving the only man between him and the goal line wondering what it was all about; of big Ward, slow and lumbering, taking up the hopeless stern chase, and being dumped on his ear by the speedy Bear end, Norton.

You have to see the picture to appreciate the manner in which each Bear functioned perfectly, and to realize the big part deception plays in this game of modern football—

Deception particularly—with the Bears having been penalized five yards back to their own 15-yard line and apparently the whole Trojan team figuring that Lom would kick as he went back into short punt formation.

SOME MORE OF LOM

AND while looking at the news reel of Lom's run don't pass up Saunders's run of 35 yards which took a great effort by Lom to stop from behind, of the lateral from Eisan to Gill to Lom which worked niftily, of Griffith's 19-yard run, paving the way for the first Bear touchdown, etc., etc.

And don't duck the California-Penn news reel of the game at Philadelphia.

It shows Lom on his 55-yard return of the opening kickoff—the run that resulted in a near touchdown, one man finally nailing him with a swift and sure tackle.

It shows Lom cinching the Bears' 13-to-7 victory with two sure-fire forward passes—one to Eisan and the other to Norton over the Penn goal line.

It also shows the two beautiful lateral passes from Gentile to Masters which brought Penn's only touchdown—both masterpiece of execution.

YARDAGE WASTERS

NOW to head off the letter writers:

(1.) I don't believe the schedule had anything to do with the Trojans' defeat by the Bears.

(2.) If it did it was the fault of the early season soft games which were fed to the Trojans, and which left them unprepared to take on two tough foes like Stanford and California on successive week-ends.

(3.) Last year Wisconsin, Carnegie Tech and Georgia Tech defeated Notre Dame. This year the Irish met and defeated these foes on successive Saturdays after having already disposed of two major teams—Indiana and Navy.

(4.) If Notre Dame can do it why not Southern California? What about all this wealth of material at the Trojan institution? Why any palaver over a situation that California and Stanford have faced on alternate years with Washington before their annual "big game?" and Washington in previous years has been as tough as they make 'em.

(5.) I never called the Trojans a "wonder team." I said that had the Trojan team which defeated Stanford 7 to 0 been playing in the Andy Smith days there would have been no "wonder teams" at California. I will go farther now and say that none of the so-called "wonder teams" ever had a thing on the present California team.

(6.) I am not the only so-called football "expert" who figured the Trojans favorites over California. After the Stanford game Pop Warner predicted the Trojans would beat California because they were the better team. I don't believe Pop had seen the Bears play although his scouts undoubtedly had supplied him with plenty of information. I had not seen the Bears in a game this year, so under the circumstances perhaps Pop and I can be excused for our blunder in not taking into consideration the mental pitch to which the Bears might arouse themselves, plus the fact that in the hullabaloo over the Stanford-Trojan struggle the Bears had been underrated.

Golfing Tilt Runs to Form

RESEDA, Nov. 6. — Most of the favorites still remain in the championship flight in the St. Andrews golf tournament which goes to the semifinals this week, according to Jimmy Pike, pro, in charge of the course. Matches for the semifinal rounds follow:

In the previous round, Bill Jelliffe shot 79 to defeat Roger Eaton, 3 and 2. Bud Oakley shot 69, the course record, to defeat W. W. Penfield, 6 and 5.

Women Fencers in Tilts Here

Feminine wielders of the foil from all over Southern California will meet in open competition at the Los Angeles Athletic Club Friday night at 8 o'clock. The contest is for the Los Angeles National Sports Exposition trophy and the list of entrants includes the best women fencers of Los Angeles and the surrounding territory.

The first competitive fencing event of the season, it will be followed on Saturday, the 16th inst., by the women's prep competition. This is also to be held in the Los Angeles Athletic Club gymnasium and is sponsored by Dr. H. G. Feraud, commissioner for fencing of the club.

The men's prep meet will be held the following Saturday at Capt. Duff's Fencing Academy, 1737 North Highland avenue, Hollywood.

BEARS PREPARE FOR TWO CREW BATTLES

BERKELEY, Nov. 6. (Exclusive) Expecting some lively competition from the Sacramento Junior College crews Saturday morning on the Oakland estuary, Ky Ebright and Russ Nagler of the University of California's varsity and freshman rowing shells, today gave their men racing starts for the first time this season. Sacramento's first boat will meet California's first freshman craft and the junior varsity boat. Sacramento's second boat will compete against California's second freshman eight and fourth varsity shell. The Sacramentans received their chief crew encouragemnet from California by means of the donation of considerable equipment, including racing shells.

ACORNS TO TRAIN IN FRESNO NEXT YEAR

FRESNO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Fresno was selected today as the 1930 spring training camp of the Oakland Coast League baseball club, by A. Robert Miller, new president and owner of the club, who inspected the local baseball plant. Miller, en route to Oakland, after the annual league meeting at Catalina Island, was accompanied by Carl Zamloch and Victor De Vincini, his partners, and J. Cal Ewing, former owner of the club.

Work of improving the park and the planting of it to grass was ordered by Miller during his brief visit.

BRUINS TO TAKE REST THIS WEEK

Spaulding Prescribes Light Workouts Before St. Mary's Game

Rest, and lots of it, is the cure for the losing complex of the Bruin football team of the University of California at Los Angeles prescribed by the head grid doctor, Coach "Bill" Spaulding, Bruin varsity mentor. Saturday is a blank date on the schedule of the Westwood team, so the jired pigskinners at U.C.L.A. are enjoying a rest cure this week.

Coach Spaulding says that his men have never fully recovered from the terrific beating they received at the hands of the powerful University of Southern California Trojans way back on September 28. Among other things, the game with the Thundering Herd cost the Westwood eleven the services of Don Jacobson, stellar 200-pound guard, who incurred a fractured ankle in the first quarter of the contest.

No strenuous practises are on tap for the squad this week at all, according to Spaulding. Just enough work is being given the men to keep them busy and in condition, and the two men on the injured list are being given a chance to work back into condition. Ted Duffy, end, received a bad kick in the well-known "slats" in the Oregon game last Saturday, when his padding slipped, and Gene Noble has a bad leg.

Next Monday will see the inauguration of strenuous preparation at Westwood for the game on the 16th inst. in the Los Angeles Coliseum with Coach "Slip" Madigan's Galloping Gaels from up north. The St. Mary's eleven is rated as one of the strongest on the Pacific Coast, and in the country as well. It held Coach "Nibs" Price's Golden Bears to a 0-to-0 score earlier this season, and California handed a 15-to-7 beating to Southern California last Saturday. Local fans will remember the 76-to-0 debacle in which the Trojans and Bruins performed.

Spaulding's crew of gridders are not conceded any chance at all to take a fall out of the Gaels, but the Bruin mentor is not commenting to any track-meet game, either, as yet, and he said some time ago that his men would be able to hold Madigan's men to a respectable score. If the Bruins would play sixty minutes of the kind of ball they have shown off and on this year, the game will be as close and interesting as prophesied by the U.C.L.A. coach.

The season record for U.C.L.A. now shows three victories and three defeats, an even break, with two games left on the schedule. St. Mary's will be met on the 16th inst., and the University of Montana will co-feature with the Bruins in a Thanksgiving Day grid presentation in the Coliseum. The Westwood eleven defeated the Fresno State Teachers' College, 56 to 6; Caltech, 31 to 0, and Pomona, 20-to-0, losing to S. C., 76 to 0; Stanford, 87 to 0, and Oregon, 27 to 0.

SPORT AND NAVARRO TOP PASADENA CARD

Stuits Houk, a new middleweight kayo artist who is fast coming to the front in Southern California, is to be seen tonight at the Pasadena Arena. Houk will fight the special event on a program headed by two great flyweight scraps. His opponent will be Bud Baker, fighting cop from Long Beach.

Heading tonight's card at the arena will be Young Sport and Johnny Navarro, flyweights. Their bout is for eight rounds. Another pair of flyweights, Johnny Jordan, former amateur champion of the Hollywood Athletic Club, and Andy Palmini will meet in the six-round semifinal.

Four-round preliminaries will be Steve Hayden vs. Frank Rudzenski, 190 pounds; Gene Mullen vs. Sid Grigry, 148 pounds.

BEAR FROSH COACH DRIVES ATHLETES

BERKELEY, Nov. 6. (Exclusive) In a desperate attempt to make amends for losing to the University of Southern California's freshmen after they had amassed a 19-0 lead in the third quarter, Coach Clarence (Brick) Mitchell's California frosh football team today put in a strenuous session of practice in tackling and pass defense. In these two particulars the freshmen were woefully weak during that spirited last-half drive of the Trobabes. Mitchell feels that the substitutes rather than the frosh regulars lost the game to the yearlings from Troy, so he will probably start the same team against the Cardinals as that which began against the southerners.

PHI MU DELTA IN LEAD AT BERKELEY

BERKELEY, Nov. 6. (Exclusive) Phi Mu Delta held tenaciously to its lead today in the annual interfraternity track-and-field championships of the University of California. The Phi Mus were ahead of the field with 99 1-5 points. They can lose only by failing to place in the relay on Thursday, and if the Del Rey fraternity wins the relay. Del Rey has 65 3-5 points. Sigma Phi Sigma is third with 80 3-5 points and Delta Upsilon has 72 points. Phi Kappa Tau, winner of the title two years ago, has only 41 points and is in fifth place. Phi Sigma Kappa is next with 37 digits.

ZORILLA AND TAYLOR SIGNED BY DEMPSEY

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., and Santiago Zorilla of Panama have been signed to meet in the ten-round wind-up of Jack Dempsey's boxing show at the Coliseum on the 15th inst. Mike Sullivan, St. Paul, will meet Vince Dundee, Baltimore, in the ten-round semi-wind-up.

PTOMAINE KILLS ONE, OTHERS ILL

Wayside Meal Affects Four in Family on Trip

Twin of Dead Boy, Brother and Mother Stricken

Ill Woman Drives in Agony But Death Wins Race

Ptomaine poisoning is believed to have caused the death of Raymond Harrell, 6 years of age of 21701 South Main street, and left his twin brother, Eugene, another brother, Douglas, 7, and the mother, Mrs. W. D. Harrell, 24, in a critical condition yesterday.

Food the family ate in King City late Tuesday night is believed by Dr. A. H. Nerad, harbor police surgeon, to have caused the poisoning, from which the three surviving members of the family were saved only through prompt action. Leaving Santa Cruz by automobile Tuesday evening, Mrs. Harrell and her children all partook of a hearty meal at King City and shortly thereafter, she told police, all became ill.

Herself in great pain, she tried desperately, she said, to reach home before the children's condition became serious, but Raymond lapsed into unconsciousness while still en route. The child was dead when Dr. Nerad was called to the scene by the police. Dr. Nerad said last night that the other two boys and the mother have an even chance for recovery.

The father of the dead child, W. D. Harrell, a structural engineer, was prostrated with grief last night. The body was taken to the County Morgue, where an autopsy will be performed this morning to determine the cause of death.

PARAMOUNT HOLDS OVER 'VIRGINIAN'

Outdoor Epic Proves Fine Drawing Card With Noted Cast of Players

"The Virginian," the great outdoor film spectacle, starts its second week today at the Paramount Theater. This all-talking version of Owen Wister's novel is proving to be the greatest attraction ever at the Paramount, it is said.

This picture boasts one of the finest casts yet been in a talking picture. Gary Cooper has the title role, which is his first full dialogue part. Mary Brian is seen in the role of the little Vermont school-teacher. Richard Arlen is Steve and Walter Huston enacts the part of the bad man, Trampas.

In the supporting roles are Chester Conklin, Eugene Pallette, E. H. Calvert, Helen Ware, Victor Potel, Tex Young and Charles Stevens. "The Virginian" has set a new attendance record in the first week of its run.

RUGGLES PRAISED

The New York friends and acquaintances of Wesley Ruggles are today keeping the wires busy with congratulatory telegrams, felicitating him upon his, the director's, part in the success of his first United Artists picture, "Condemned," following its world premiere in New York recently. The star, Ronald Colman, and Ruggles were both unavoidably absent from the opening, Ruggles's presence being required here in preparation for his next picture, for Paramount.

UNKNOWN BOY GIVEN FINE ROLE

Universal Signs Lew Ayres for Lead in War Picture; Michael Curtiz to Direct Dorothy Mackaill; Harry Carey Stakes Diamond Miners

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

The suspense is over at last, and it is all decided who is to play the leading role in Universal's talking film version of Erich Maria Remarque's "All Quiet on the Western Front."

LEW AYRES

True to his word, Carl Laemmle, Jr., has decided on a hitherto fairly unknown actor for the role. That actor is a handsome and engaging youth named Lew Ayres.

Not only will Ayres play the lead in this notable film, but he has also signed a long-term contract with Universal.

From comparative obscurity to fame on the screen almost overnight, from a banjo player in a Mexicali cafe to winner of the most sought after role of Paul in Universal's war epic, is the luck of this young actor.

Lew Ayres may be said to be the modern male Cinderella of the film world. Yet so sudden has been his rise, that he is still too young to sign his own contract.

The boy was studying medicine at the University of Arizona but was more interested in the college jazz band in which he was banjoist. He gave up his schooling and went to Mexicali on the Mexican border where he played sobby music in a cheap cafe singing ballads in a tremolo tenor. From there he went to Tia Juana and then to San Diego and Coronado, where he played at hotels.

The movie bug attacked him to such an extent that he decided to come to Hollywood. He played at the Plantation Cafe in Culver City, and spent his off time hanging around studio gates without enough nerve to crash in to see a casting director. He did not even secure extra work, and finally went to Detroit with a band, only to return to join Ray West at the Ambassador Hotel. He played also at the Lafayette and Montmartre and then came his break.

Wide-eyed and curious, he attended a tea dance at the Roosevelt, where he met a manager who introduced himself. He played one bit during the next six months, and then, to his amazement, was signed to portray the juvenile lead opposite Greta Garbo in "The Kiss."

Word reached young Laemmle at Universal that here was a youth with a future. He sent for him, gave him a screen and voice test, and there seems never to have been a moment's hesitation, after that test was over, before Laemmle signed him, secure in the belief that he had engaged the ideal youth for the important role.

Several other players have been added to the cast, including Arnold Lucy, Allan Lane, Pat Collins, Harold Goodwin, Bill Irving, Glenn Summerville and Sammy Blum.

Lewis Milestone, director, will start on rehearsals of the first scenes of the picture today.

MICHAEL CURTIZ TO DIRECT NEW FILM

To Michael Curtiz has fallen the important job of directing Dorothy Mackaill in Humphrey Pearson's story, "Bright Lights," which is to be made one of the big specials of the First National program.

DOROTHY MACKAILL

Curtiz has directed several of Warner Brothers' pictures, but this is the first time he has headed a picture at First National. He is busy assembling a cast.

Humphrey Pearson and Henry McCarty are writing the continuity, adaptation and dialogue.

Basil Rathbone In It

If present negotiations are happily concluded, that very skillful actor, Basil Rathbone, will play the leading role opposite Billie Dove in "Faithful," which will be her next starring vehicle for First National. Rathbone is under contract to Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer.

BASIL RATHBONE

Lloyd Bacon is to direct the picture, which is to go into production as soon as the leading man is signed.

It is likely that the title of the play will be changed.

Carey Out for Diamonds

Wouldn't it just take Harry Carey to go out after the diamonds? That's what he is doing.

According to word just received from Africa, where Carey is now playing the title role in M.-G.-M.'s "Trader Horn," Carey has grubstaked two miners to a diamond claim near Nairobi, British East Africa.

During their work on location, the company came upon the two miners, who had been working their claim and had gone broke. Carey took a half interest in the enterprise, enabling the miners to start again and prospecting is now actively under way.

The "Trader Horn" company, including Carey, Duncan Renaldo, Edwina Booth, Olive Golden and others, is now in the last stages of the picture and is expected to be on the way home within three weeks, according to the director.

They will have covered 24,000 miles, which is the longest location trip on record, in filming the picture.

Schwab and Mandel's Short

While Messrs. Schwab and Mandel, theatrical producers, are, of course, delighted to have the opportunity to produce talkers for Paramount, they are going to try their hand first with a couple of shorts. Their first effort along this line will be a two-reeler called "Where Boobs Come From," and in it they will use a number of players under contract to them and now appearing in New York shows produced by them. These players include Dorothy McNulty of "Follow Thru," Gus Shy of "New Moon" and Frank Morgan, Hugh Cameron, Don Laning and Edwin Saulpaugh.

Mort Blumenstock will direct.

Frank Lloyd to Travel

Frank Lloyd, First National director, is leaving on Monday for New York via the Panama Canal.

He expects to remain in New York about six weeks, visiting shows and reading scripts. Lloyd is to direct Richard Barthelmess in a new picture and will search for stories for him.

"Night Parade" Includes Many Novel Features

Many well-known characters of the sporting world of Hollywood and Los Angeles are seen and heard in Radio Pictures' revel of New York night life, "Night Parade," which starts at the R.-K.-O. Theater today.

Director Mal St. Clair used Dan Tobey, popular fight announcer at the Hollywood Legion stadium, in a similar role; Joe Rivers, ex-lightweight champion, as a referee in the prize-fight sequences; Nate Slott, former amateur featherweight champion, as a trainer of Hugh Trevor, who plays the leading male role.

Aileen Pringle, Robert Ellis, Ann Pennington, Lee Shumway, Lloyd Ingraham, Dorothy Gulliver and Ann Greenway are prominent in the cast. "Night Parade" is an adaptation of the Broadway stage play, "Ringside," written by George Abbott, Edward Paramore and Hyatt Daab. James Green and George O'Hara adapted the story for the screen.

New Team Seen in Picture at Fox Boulevard

Charles Farrell and Mary Duncan will be seen in Frank Borzage's Movietone film, "The River," starting at the Boulevard Theater today for a week's engagement.

"The River" is one of the Fox specials for the fall season. It required two years to produce and is said to be one of the most lavish and powerful dramatic pictures Frank Borzage has to his credit. This is the first time Charles Farrell and Mary Duncan have been teamed together.

The story is an adaptation of the novel of the same name by Tristam Tupper. The entire action of the story deals in the northern backwoods. An added attraction on the Boulevard program is Laurel and Hardy in their latest all-talking comedy, "We Go Boom." On the stage Norman Selby with his band and girls offer "A Modern Revue."

Criterion Will Start Popular 'Dynamite' Run

In anticipation of record-breaking attendance during the popular run, "Dynamite," the management of the Criterion Theater today announced that the daily showings would start one hour earlier than usual, doors opening at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

"Dynamite" is Cecil B. De Mille's fifty-fifth picture, but it marks his first venture into the field of audible films. The noted director delayed the launching of his first dialogue film until he had conducted a complete survey of the field.

Special alterations in the sound-reproducing equipment at the Criterion have been made for the picture. The new hook-up will improve the scene at the climax, it is said.

Stars Plan to Attend Belasco

That Pauline Frederick is just as popular with her fellow-players as she is with the theatergoing public is evidenced, it is said, at the Belasco box office by the number of reservations by professionals for the Monday premiere of her new play, "The Queen Was in the Parlor."

Miss Frederick, herself, selected "The Queen Was in the Parlor" for her starring vehicle while in England last season, and it is reported that the first-night audience will view some gorgeous gowns the star has selected for the Noel Coward play.

Fast Steppers in New Musical

Two fast dancers, Stanley Brown and Sam Harris, are being featured in "The Five O'Clock Girl," current offering at the Lincoln Theater.

These two colored lads are said to be one of the hits of the show with their fast routine of tap dancing and the management is planning to include them in another musical show to be presented in the near future. The cast of "The Five O'Clock Girl" includes Evelyn Preer, Andrew Bishop, Laura Bowman, Billy Andrews and Charles Olden.

GLORIA STIRS IN NEW MEDIUM

Star's Acting in Audible Film Triumphant

"Trespasser" Tearful Story of Mother Love

Miss Swanson Evinces Added Emotional Sway

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Yet another popular star achieves her transition from the silents to the talkies, and this time the march may be justly called triumphal. Gloria Swanson, in her first audible expedition, "The Trespasser," is an actress of both appeal and power. She will perhaps be even a greater success than she was as a personality and a player in the mute cinema.

Miss Swanson's picture came to the United Artists Theater yesterday afternoon, and drew a banner matinee crowd. Women chiefly composed the audience, as was to be expected. It is a well-known fact that Gloria has long had an appeal to the feminine audience, and if there existed any doubt as to whether she still retained this following, it was overwhelmingly set aside.

Miss Swanson's picture is admirably designed to engage the attention of her public, since, in a way, it is a return to the style of her most successful pictures. It deals unequivocally with an emotional problem. It is a study of a woman's somewhat pathetic career.

This production has a clear-cut merit in that it very directly reaches its audience through sympathy and tears. There were many who wept at the themes of devotion and sacrifice, which are very skillfully blended in the Edmund Goulding story. There is no question but that "The Trespasser" is a picture that will effectually touch the heart.

SPEAKS AND SINGS

Gloria evinces a rare command over the feelings of her public. Voice adds immeasurably to her range, and endows her work notably with the human quality. She both speaks and sings in the picture, but the singing is of negligible import in contrast to what she is able to do with the word, and even with the contrasted silences, in conveying the bitterness and sorrow of the character she plays.

From certain standpoints "The Trespasser" is a very conventional idea. It offers the old "Camille" situation of the young man falling in love outside of his social class, and the father interfering with the romance. One is introduced to this familiar conflict in the first few reels.

The son and the girl are married. The parent thinks the girl wants only the family wealth. By threats and by cajolements he manages to break up the match, and in the usual prideful way the heroine takes her leave.

A child is born of the union, but the girl refuses to advise her husband, who has married again after the annulment of their wedding, until the despair of her poverty forces her to do so. Then she is unable to insist upon aid, for she learns that he has been the victim of an auto accident and is at death's door.

Before any solution can be found, she is taken ill, and the employer she left when she wedded, and to whom she has returned, undertakes to care for her. She permits this assistance to go on after her recovery, and until the employer, a wealthy man, dies. Then she becomes involved in a scandal because he leaves her a large share of his fortune.

DRAMATIC FINALE

Newspapers hint that the child is his by an illicit union, and to avoid the stain of illegitimacy affecting her offspring, the heroine calls upon her former husband to assist in clearing up the shadow. Hereupon, as a dramatic finale, enters the question of whether or not she shall give up the child or force her former mate to live with her, thus wrecking the happiness of his family and wife.

Goulding has dealt effectively both in his writing and directing with a complicated set of circumstances, and the picture as made by him, retains interest consistently. Only in the last reel or two does there appear any tediousness in the unfoldment, and that part of the picture, as it happens, exerts a strong emotional sway.

Goulding is one of the earliest to both author and direct a story for the screen, and judging from what he has done with material basically rather trite the system of having one man perform both duties might be most highly commended. Handled with less grace this particular plot would have been terribly flat, but with Gloria as the star Goulding has managed to give it surprising quality and purpose.

Robert Ames, William Holden, Kay Hammond and Blanche Frederici all turn in performances of merit. Henry B. Walthall is capable, too, and little Wally Albright as the child has a pleasing lisp. Mary Forbes, Purnell Pratt and Marcella Carday are others.

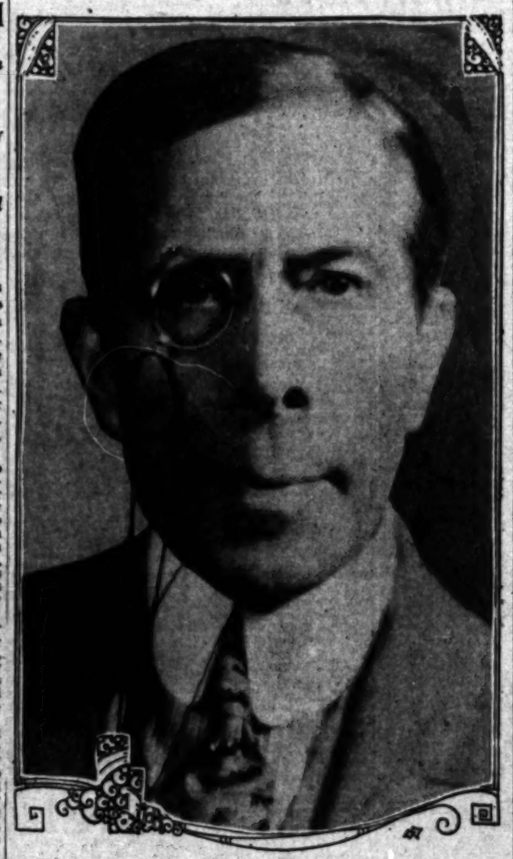
A relieving humor is furnished by Marie Dressler and Polly Moran in "Dangerous Females." Miss Dressler is tremendous in portraying a scene of intoxication. The comedy is head and shoulders above the usual short. Frank Ride is in the cast.

Jazz Tragedian Wears High Hat Only on Head

"High hatted" doesn't always mean what one might think, it is said. In the case of Ted Lewis, the "high-hatted tragedian of jazz," it bears no meaning that might be associated with a supercilious attitude. It is applied to the well-known vaudeville singer simply because he appears on the stage wearing the type of high hat formerly affected by old-time tragedians.

Lewis is now making his debut as a screen star in the Warner Brothers and Vitaphone production, "Is Everybody Happy?" at Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater, in which he sings many new songs in the manner which has made him noted and in which he is accompanied by his jazz band, recognized as one of the finest organizations of its kind.

Star Brings Artistry to Screen



George Arliss

The distinguished American stage player, relives his noted role in "Disraeli" at Warner Brothers Hollywood Theater starting today. Arliss is supported by a fine cast numbering several hundred persons.

Capra Discovers Peculiarity in Aviation Film

The human voice registers on a sound microphone as loud or louder than an airplane motor. This was one of the peculiarities of sound recording discovered after lengthy experiments by Director Frank R. Capra during the filming of "Flight."

The discovery of this fact eliminated numerous problems for Columbia as it was necessary to make nearly all of the airplane scenes up in the air in a plane with the motor going full blast. Even with as many as forty planes in the air at once the voices of Jack Holt and Ralph Graves can be heard clearly, it is said.

"Flight" will be accorded a real premiere reception at the Fox Palace on Wednesday night with stars, lights and many novel first-night features. The magnitude, romance and adventure combined in "Flight" has met with the hearty approval of eastern theaters where it is now in its third month.

Noted Player to Appear at Philharmonic

After an absence of several years Jacques Thibaud returns to Los Angeles as the soloist for the second symphony pair of the Philharmonic Orchestra tonight and Friday afternoon.

For twenty-five years Thibaud's art has commanded the highest prestige in Europe and America.

The demand for Thibaud's appearances abroad has made it necessary for him to confine his American tour to alternate seasons. Under the baton of Dr. Rodzinski, Thibaud will play the "Mozart Concerto for Violin No. 6 in E-Flat Major.

The program for this pair of concerts includes Bizet's dramatic overture, "Patrie," played for the first time in Los Angeles, and the symphony in D Minor of Cesar Franck and Ravel's Ballet Daphnis et Chloe.

Screen Romance of Youth Comes to Loew's State

Drama, comedy, stage variety and stock-market analysis are the varied entertainment features on the new program which starts today at Loew's State.

Richard Barthelmess, in his latest all-dialogue picture, "Young Nowheres," is described as a plaintive, human story of romance, pathos and the struggles of youth for happiness. Marian Nixon is the sweetheart. Frank Lloyd directed.

Hal Roach's "Our Gang" brings laughs in their latest all-talking comedy, "Bouncing Baby," in which the junior members of the aggregation, from 6 months to 3 years of age, are featured. "Black and Gold" is the newest of the Fanchon and Marco stage ideas. An interesting analysis of the stock-market situation is given by B. C. Forbes, financial expert, over Fox Movietone News.

"STREET GIRL" AT RITZ

One of the most noted dance orchestras of the country will entertain patrons of the Ritz Theater when "Street Girl," the all-talking musical picture featuring Betty Compson and Jack Oakie, starts a three-day run tonight. Gus Arnheim and his Cocoanut Grove orchestra appear in all of the night-club sequences.

CHARLES KING STARS

Fanciful Note Found in Play at New House

By a curious twist of the imagination, George Kaiser invented "The Phantom Lover," which Tuesday night opened Paul Spier's Eighteenth Street Theater.

A complication carried out entirely in the French manner, the underlying fanciful note is not struck until the end of the second act. Truthfully, from a first act of long explanation, one wonders what this play can possibly bring the theater. However, explanation over, such action as is consistent to a drama of intrigue commences. No particular literary or dramatic value adheres to this three-act creation other than the novel mentality which makes the girl, Catherine, the central figure.

Staged, directed and partially enacted by Paul Spier, "The Phantom Lover" takes a place as a better type of art theater production. Strength, doubtless, is lacking, tempo uneven, but a keener interpretation and finesse are felt in it than in most.

The male character of importance is undertaken in broad strokes by Spier. A baker boy of boldest peasant type, he accounts for much of the play's humor and liveliness.

A disturbed aristocrat is portrayed by William Moran, who catches rather well the nature of the Frenchman, but becomes at times so intimate as to be unintelligible.

Isabelle Lamore is the quiet, strange and appealing Catherine. Her interpretation is level-headed with a peculiarly attractive lack of emotional depth.

As the uniformed hero, whose faultless boredom turns to love at sight of Catherine, is seen Youcca Troubetzkay. His love scenes are his best. A performance poised and sincere is given by Marion George, who injects into her moments a tone of real professionalism. A servant is William A. Fewson, who, in his entrances and exits, makes himself noticed.

Million Dollar Keeps Broadway

Due to the large attendance and interest shown in Universal's "Broadway" the Million Dollar Theater has decided to hold the picture for a second week. "Broadway," is the first picture to enjoy a second week's showing since the reopening of the Million Dollar.

Glenn Tryon, Evelyn Brent, Merna Kennedy, Robert Ellis, Thomas Jackson and Otis Harlan take the leading roles in the picture. Carl Laemmle, Jr., is responsible for the production of this spectacle of backstage life, and placed the direction in the hands of Dr. Paul Fejos, Hungarian director.

Music Club to Present 'Jinks'

The musical farce, "High Jinks," is to be presented in the Santa Monica Auditorium tonight by the Santa Monica Bay Music Association. The music is by Rudolf Friml and book by Otto Hauerbach. It will be under the direction of Frank N. Rainger, who was the director in the original production in New York. Hans S. Linne is director of the music.

Miss Elvira Tanzi, who sang the leading role in "The Desert Song" during its run in Los Angeles, will sing the lead.

"TID BITS" AT FOLLIES

The current offering at the Follies Theater is "Tid Bits of 1929." The company is a versatile one with Evelyn Myers and Evelyn Ramsay in the leading parts. Foster and Semon, principal comedians, enliven things with their funny sayings and antics. The scenic embellishments together with the complete new equipment of costumes gives this attraction a meritorious aspect.

"DIAMOND LIL" HEADED HERE

Mae West to Bring Rowdy Bowery Drama

Henry Duffy Buys "Holiday" for Coast

Play of Hollywood Written for Dorothy Burgess

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

Mae West in "Diamond Lil," a rowdy drama of the New York Bowery of the nineties, is headed Los Angeles way.

The ebullient Miss West and a company of some fifty odd players, coming from Chicago where they have been appearing this summer, will arrive in San Francisco Sunday to open an engagement at the Curran Theater. They will next proceed south, arriving in about three weeks.

No Los Angeles theater has been announced. It is forecast, however, that the Biltmore will be chosen to house the Bowery flower.

"Diamond Lil," rough and ready piece that it is, flourished for nearly a year at the Royale Theater in New York. Miss West, at once the author and portrayer of the title role, is one of the most amazing characters of the New York theatrical world. Unknown practically until three years ago, she first sprang into the limelight with a play called "Sex," which was raided after it had run quite a time, by the police, and Miss West sentenced to ten days on Welfare Island. Next came "Diamond Lil."

A rough and ready performer, much in the manner of the old burlesque queens, Miss West is also a shrewd business woman, a remarkably prolific writer, and an exceedingly capable producer. Her arrival here should arouse a lot of interest.

Duffy Home Soon

Henry Duffy, in the East to shop for plays, sends word that he has purchased the Pacific Coast rights to "Holiday," Philip Barry's comedy in which Hope Williams starred beginning a year ago in November, during a many months' run in New York. Barry it was who penned "You and I," "In a Garden" and "Paris Bound." "Holiday" is described as an ingenious romance with much amusing conversation.

Duffy, in Boston yesterday, is expected home not later than the first of next week. He will bring with him, according to assurances of Matthew Allen, his local manager, a bag full of manuscripts, names to be announced later.

Jack Benny Returns

The suave Jack Benny returns to the Orpheum precincts Saturday. He will stay positively one week and perhaps two, if proper arrangements can be made with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, for which firm he is making pictures, the management announces.

This is Benny's third visit to the local Orpheum in a year, an unprecedented event in variety history. It is, in fact, a search of the records reveals, his eleventh in seven years. In 1922, a comparative unknown, he appeared locally on the stage of the old Orpheum—now the Palace—and dedicated to the cause of motion pictures.

Jack came back the following year and every year thereafter until 1928, when he doubled for himself, so to speak, and came back twice. In the spring of this year he hung up a record by spending five successive weeks on the bill. In July, he returned for two more weeks, and now, November, his name again decorates the billboards.

Playwrights Collaborate

Zelda Sears and Tay Garnett have written a new play for Dorothy Burgess. It is about night life in Hollywood and is called, at this writing, "All That Glitters."

Miss Burgess, finishing her current engagement in "Lulu Belle" at the Belasco Sunday, plans to go East almost immediately for a vacation. When she returns, in a few weeks, she has picture contracts to fulfill, and the new play may not be staged until along toward spring.

It probably will be seen at the Belasco. Lou C. Wiswell (husband of Zelda Sears, one of the co-authors) has been associated with Edward Belasco and Homer Curran in the production of "Lulu Belle" and undoubtedly will have a hand in the new piece.

"Disraeli" in Anniversary

Singularly enough, the occasion of the premiere today at Warner Brothers Hollywood Theater of George Arliss in "Disraeli" lacks two days of occurring on the fifteenth anniversary of the production of the play locally. Arliss, one of the most distinguished of American actors, then as now, brought his play and company of actors to the Mason Operahouse on the evening of November 9, 1914. The late Henry Christeen Warnack, "Times" dramatic critic, writing the following day, called the Arliss performance, "superb."

"Disraeli," the picture, marks the actor's first appearance on the audible screen. It follows, in the main, the historic old play, the story of the great British Prime Minister and the intrigues which beset him as he builded an empire. Mrs. Arliss has an important role, that of Lady Beaconsfield.

"Skidding" Has Successor

Word from to New York is to the effect that Aurania Rouverol, who wrote "Skidding," seen not long ago at Henry Duffy's President Theater, has a new play soon to be produced. It is called "Have a Heart" and is to come forth under the auspices of a concern named Hyman Productions, Inc. "Skidding," local theatergoers may remember, won the Pasadena Drama League Prize before it went to the big city to seek fame and fortune.

"PETTERS" AT BURBANK

"Petting Petters," now playing at the Burbank Theater, is colorful in its numerous full-stage settings, supplemented by center stairways, silk and velvet drapes, drops and what-nots; in fact, it is the most elaborate seen in burlesque of recent years. "Petting Petters" is a series of well-staged comedy scenes, bits, dialog and singing specialties and dancing ensembles with diversified specialties featuring Virginia Jones, and all the Burbank favorites.

R. W. BLACKBURN HEADS FARMERS

Thermal Man Unanimously Made Farm Bureau Chief

State Convention Closes; at Asilomar Next Year

Gathering Told California Barley Wins World Prize

FRESNO, Nov. 6.—R. W. Blackburn of Thermal, Riverside county, was elected president of the California Farm Bureau Federation here today, and Asilomar was selected as the place of the 1930 convention, at the closing session of the eleventh annual convention of the federation here. Blackburn was elected without opposition. He succeeds A. Ahlf of Colusa, who served for two years as president.

Butte Tyler of Red Bluff was elected vice-president over B. H. Schulte of Carmel and Ray Miller of San Joaquin county. Alex Johnson was re-elected executive secretary and treasurer and Blackburn and Tyler were elected delegates to the American Farm Bureau Federation at Chicago next month.

Mrs. Vila L. Schulte of Carmel was reappointed chairman of the State home department.

Regional directors were elected by their respective groups as follows: J. A. Smiley, Orange, Region 1; Ray K. Colef, Whittier, Region 2; C. R. Swanson, Hanford, Region 3; B. H. Schulte, Carmel, Region 4; Leland C. Stoll, Rio Linda, Region 5; Edwin Van Riper, Auburn, Region 6; J. E. Bandy, Sacramento, Region 7; J. C. Johnson, Ukiah, Region 8. Swanson replaces J. J. Nielsen of Fresno and Van Riper replaces E. E. Burnett of Lincoln.

James Boyd of Glenn county won second place for an exhibit of barley at the International Barley Exposition in London in competition with barley growers throughout the world, it was announced at the annual session of the federation today.

Agriculture has been responsible for placing on the statute books of the United States more constructive legislation than all the other groups combined, but if it had done no more than establish regulation of the railroads, it would have accomplished a great result, Leon O. Whitsell, chairman of the California Railroad Commission, said last night at the annual banquet.

Agriculture not only secured regulation of the railroads, but is responsible for the election of Senators by direct vote, for rural free mail delivery, rural banks and credit system, the national pure-food laws, adoption of the Australian ballot and civil service reform, Whitsell said.

County Farm Adviser J. P. Benson presented cups to winners of the San Joaquin Valley egg-laying contest at Selma, including Charles Sturtevant of Tulare for high pen and high pen production value and to Raymond E. Nelson of Kingsburg for high hen and high hen value.

The banquet followed a general business session at which reports were presented by Alex Johnson, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Viola Lee Schulte, chairman of the State home department; Fred Hart, manager of the publicity department; J. J. Deuel, manager of the law and utilities department, and Von T. Ellsworth, in charge of the tax-research department.

A motion by George Wilson of Yolo county, calling for a special meeting of voting and nonvoting delegates was defeated when Dr. W. H. Walker moved to adjourn. Wilson asked for the meeting because "we have problems in our own organization just as serious as any of the hypothetical ones we have been discussing."

"SWEET ADELINE"

The barroom quartet in Quebec, Can., has suffered a permanent loss of voice, asserts Col. Frederick Palmer in this week's issue of Liberty Magazine.

Col. Palmer, who is writing a series of articles on liquor-control systems in Canada for Liberty, describes the drinking houses of Quebec thus:

"Over doors here and there in big Montreal, and over one door in each smaller town that has a license, is the word 'tavern.' The tavern is the substitute for the old saloon.

"There is no bar, no brass rail. Only wine, ale and beer are served, and they must be drunk seated at a table. No sound of revelry comes from within. Music is not allowed. If it were, the French-Canadians who are so fond of singing would make the taverns rock with song.

"Contrary to the custom of French cafes and German beer halls, women are not allowed in the taverns. So in that man's world men sit and smoke and quaff their wine and ale which Canadians prefer to beer.

"A Quebec tavern is a relatively solemn place. 'You take even your beer and wine in prayer,' said a visiting Frenchman."

BIBLE KNOWLEDGE VALUABLE

The profound literary as well as religious significance of the Bible can be grasped by the average child, if parents will adopt sane methods of explanation, writes Col. Theodore Roosevelt in Liberty Magazine.

"Nine times out of ten," says the colonel, "it is the way a subject is approached that makes the difference between like and dislike in a child's mind. For example, the Bible. Aside from its religious aspect, there is nowhere if the English language a more magnificent piece of writing.

"The trouble is that often the Bible is approached as a penance. It is robbed of its beauty by well-meaning people who feel that it is in some fashion irreverent to treat it as splendid literature. To them religion must be not easy but dour.

"Of course this is all wrong. When children are little they should first be taught the Bible stories as patterns are printed on needlework designs. Then the Scriptures should be read to them as the patterns on the design are blocked in with flaming colors."

Married a Good Treasurer

Ordinarily it would not be a wise thing for a father to give his son $50,000 as Calvin Coolidge did when John and his bride started a home for themselves. But some young men are fortunate enough to acquire wives who are good treasurers. One suspects John Coolidge has been lucky in that respect, and perhaps the distinguished ex-President knows it.

"GET TWO AUTOMOBILES"

IN BOOTH TARKINGTON'S delightful story, "The Magnificent Ambersons," he relates how the "horseless carriage," less than 30 years ago, was derided by cries of "get a horse" from the boys in the street.

That brief span of years saw a miracle of development because the automobile quickly proved itself a blessing and a necessity.

The average length of life, doctors tell us, has been increased by ten yars. These added years may be logically credited to the automobile and its beneficent influence in putting more fresh air, sunshine and out-of-door exercise into the lives of millions. It has stimulated the brain to clearer thinking; given poise and steadiness of purpose in the mastery of its mechanism; awakened the soul of man to a realization of the beauty in the world and the pleasure it may give.

You men who already own one automobile know this, but are you giving this same pleasure—this increased efficiency to your wife and children?

Cost is no longer an argument against multiple—two-car ownership. A market of good cars at moderate cost has been created by those who buy new models every few years, and turn in their other cars. These cars are in good mechanical condition and are wholly desirable. They are advertised in the want-ad "Automobiles" columns.

Put happiness, health, added years and beauty into your life and that of your family by selecting a second good car for their exclusive use.

Make 1929 memorable by this investment.

QUIZ REVEALS PORTER FUNDS

Large Sums Asserted to Have Been Given Campaign

Mayor Not Advised About Money, Witnesses Say

the effect that Albert Sherman, local attorney, was associated with the Porter campaign as the official representative of Pepperdine. Sherman has thus far declined to divulge his knowledge of Porter campaign finances, but other campaign leaders have asserted that he received and disbursed large sums.

LITTLE RED BOOK

Vaughn, in connection with Sherman's purported handling of the election funds, said that Sherman kept the records of the campaign costs in a "little red book" which, Vaughn asserted, was in existence to his knowledge not less than one month ago. On being asked by Nix if he has the book in his possession or knows of its whereabouts, Sherman replied smilingly in the negative.

Salling informed the prosecutor that Pepperdine served as "the finance committee" of the Porter primary election battle and that Sherman "was a one-man finance committee" in the final election. Some of the money used in the Porter effort was received and spent by Charles R. Rowett, witnesses said.

Immediately after the primary election, Salling said, the Porter headquarters in the Hayward Hotel were enlarged to fourteen rooms with twenty-eight telephones. This was done, he said, by Vaughn and himself while Porter was away from the city.

"We liked to have scared Mr. Porter to death when he returned and found what we had done," said Salling, who added that the candidate was worried as to the ability of his aides to get sufficient funds to meet the added expense.

"Mayor Porter knew nothing, absolutely nothing, about payments for advertising and other campaign costs," asserted Salling.

GILMORE TESTIFIES

E. B. Gilmore, president of the Gilmore Oil Company, was the first witness heard yesterday. He produced two canceled checks for $500 each with attached vouchers showing them to have been drawn for the purpose of contributing to the Porter campaign.

One check was made to the order of H. H. Kinney, secretary to former Mayor Cryer, and was indorsed by Kinney. The other check was made payable to Oscar R. Howard and was indorsed by Howard and by Vaughn.

It was the Kinney check which occasioned an uproar during the wind-up of the Mayoralty contest, publication of its existence resulting in refusal of the Porter leaders to accept it. The Gilmore company is understood to have issued a second check on the assumption that the one made payable to Kinney would be returned.

When the company received its canceled checks from the bank at the end of the current month, however, its officers discovered that both checks had been cashed. The ultimate use of the Gilmore company's thousand dollars, it is understood, will be the subject of further investigation by Nix.

VAUGHN ON STAND

Vaughn's testimony was directed largely to conversations he said occurred between himself and Mayor Porter. He said that he discussed the Gilmore check with Porter, who agreed, he testified, to accept it. Vaughn said he also discussed with Porter a contribution of $500 which was received in a single currency bill from Rex Goodcell.

S. D. Beatty, employed during the Porter campaign, and W. J. Mosher, now an investigator for the Mayor's office, testified briefly. Mosher denied knowledge of financial transactions in connection with the campaign.

It was the opinion of Beatty, based, he said, on discussions with Mearl Allen, Porter campaign worker, and one or two others, that the cost for Porter-for-Mayor workers during the final week of the campaign reached $8000.

Incidental to his explanation of moneys received and disbursed by the various campaign managers, Salling asserted that "a lot of money was stolen during this campaign." He admitted, in response to questions by Nix, that he did not know the identity of the supposed thieves or the total amount stolen.

An effort to learn who paid for the publication and circulation of "The Coast Reporter," a curb-circulated journal published by Fred Girneau in behalf of Porter's election, was unsuccessful, Salling contenting himself with a declaration that no one directly connected with the Porter headquarters had paid Girneau.

Ed Otto, Hollywood broker, testified that he had paid from $1000 to $1500 into the Porter headquarters. There is no public record of the receipt of this amount by the Porter headquarters.

The hearing will be resumed today with the testimony of Allen, Prosecutor Nix announced.

CONFIDENCE IN MAYOR PORTER VOTED

Confidence in the ability, integrity and purpose of Mayor Porter was reaffirmed by the California Progressives in a meeting at the City Club, according to a resolution adopted and spread upon the minutes.

The resolution, bearing the signature of Lew Head as chairman and Mattie B. Morse as secretary, sets out the belief that charges against the Mayor "emanate from vicious political motives and designed to unduly embarrass" the official. The efforts are described as "being unworthy of good citizens."

PANTAGES JURY STORY RELATED

verdict in open court, each member was polled and all stated that this was their verdict. It is the law of California that a jury cannot impeach its verdict."

Obviously in support of the contention that the name of Mr. Shuler was used to coerce the women jurors into voting a guilty verdict, affidavits also were presented by Defense Attorneys Ford and Gilbert. The lawyers stated that they were attorneys for Mrs. Lois Pantages at her recent trial and conviction and they recited at length the incidents surrounding the statement of Shuler over the radio at that time that the Lois Pantages jury would be hung and that he could name the man who would hang it; the resultant publicity that was accorded to Ira Gay, juror in the case; the citation of Shuler for contempt of court and his subsequent conviction.

The attorneys' affidavits pointed out that great amounts of publicity about Shuler's attack on the Lois Pantages jury was disseminated throughout Southern California and particularly Los Angeles county, and it was apparent that one of the main points on which the defense attorneys hope to gain a new trial will rest on the assertion that two women jurors were influenced by threats of Shuler's radio.

The second point to be argued by the defense, it is obvious from the affidavits, is the arrest of Biffle. The last two affidavits filed were from Biffle and his wife, Mrs. Floy Biffle. Both recited that they were "hesitant and reluctant" on the witness stand because of fear of arrest or further prosecution.

The jury in the Pantages case was locked up and supposedly knew nothing about the arrest of Biffle, which took place outside of the courtroom, and it is expected that the defense attorneys will argue that the knowledge that Biffle had been arrested for perjury lessened or completely nullified the effect of his testimony. Biffle had testified to overhearing an asserted conversation between Eunice Pringle, who asserted Pantages attacked her, and Nicholas Dunaev, which lent color to Pantages's charge that he had been "framed" by the girl.

WITNESS IN CASE HAS FORGERY HEARING

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 6. (Exclusive)—J. Sheridan, witness in the Alexander Pantages case in Los Angeles recently, appeared today for preliminary hearing in Township Court on a charge of forgery. According to B. L. Comparet, Sheridan deposited a worthless check for $250 in the Bank of Italy. The paper bore the name of G. M. Whitcomb and Comparet expressed the belief that the name was written by Sheridan.

Comparet asserted Sheridan has served time for forgery on two previous occasions, once in Pennsylvania and at another time in Missouri.

Sheridan recently was wanted by Dist.-Atty. Pitts in Los Angeles to testify in the Pantages attack case but Stephen Connell, San Diego county District Attorney, ordered him to appear here to face the check charge. Sheridan was unable to raise the $10,000 required and was placed in the County Jail. It was this incident that caused Pitts to charge Cornell with trying to embarrass him in the Pantages trial.

EUNICE PRINGLE MAY GO INTO SECLUSION

SANTA ANA, Nov. 6.—That Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old Garden Grove dancer, may be taken into a secret hiding place to evade enemies acquired by her prosecution of Alexander Pantages, theatrical magnate, for an attack on her, was rumored today in the wake of a suspected kidnaping attempt at her home late last week.

Her parents, Dr. Pringle of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Lou Irene Pringle, Garden Grove high school teacher, are considering the advisability of secreting the girl from possible harm, it is understood, and may send her into temporary seclusion.

Co-Eds Take a Turn

Mary Helen Stuart and Helen Hart of U.S.C. demonstrate airplane motor starter to be exhibited at aircraft show.

TEN thousand persons are expected to attend the opening of the Western Aircraft Show at Wilshire Boulevard and Fairfax avenue, when it begins its nine-day run Saturday under the auspices of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America.

An electrical display will feature the opening with an attendance of screen and air celebrities. Art Goebel will fly over the city at night and light rockets from his plane.

Some of the smaller planes will be suspended from the roof to give the appearance of flight. The aviation accessories will be advantageously arranged, some of the instruments mounted and ready for use so that the public can see exactly how each device is operated.

The following are some of the notables who will attend: Harry Hawks, Roger Williams, Eddie Rickenbacker, Maj. Clarence Young, assistant Secretary of the Department of Commerce in charge of aeronautics; Col. Harry Bles, director of airports and airways for the Department of Commerce; Luther K. Bell, genera' manager of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America; Paul Brattain, manager of the Washington office of the chamber; Vera Dawn Walker, Florence Lowe Barnes, Margaret Perry and Gladys O'Donnell. All four of the women mentioned were prominent entries in the women's race to the Cleveland air show.

HUGE WILSHIRE DEAL PLANNED in the La Brea-Fairfax-Third-Wilshire Boulevard section.

PEDESTRIAN TUNNELS

Further plans of property owners provide for the construction of five underground pedestrian tunnels under Wilshire Boulevard west of La Brea. Council has been petitioned on the matter and it is declared that 85 per cent of the property owners affected have officially indorsed the move.

While Mr. Ross says he does not feel at liberty to disclose any of the details this far in advance, he declares that preliminary plans for numerous apartments and hotels for the tract have been worked out and that formal announcement of these projects waits only the opening of the tract in 1930.

WILSHIRE CITY BLOCK FRONTAGE CHANGES HANDS

An entire city block frontage on the south side of Wilshire Boulevard, extending from Cloverdale to Cochran, was purchased yesterday by the Domingues Estates Company for $800,000 cash. Hector N. Zahn and Alex Hoffman were the former owners.

While the purchasers are not ready to announce plans for development of the property, it is understood a height-limit store and office structure, costing approximately $2,000,000, will be erected.

Henry W. O'Melveny and H. H. Cotton passed on the property for the Domingues Estates Company. It has a frontage of 233 feet on Wilshire Boulevard and extends 150 feet in depth.

The deal, which was consummated by A. W. Ross, Wilshire Boulevard real estate broker, is believed to set a record for a cash sale of unimproved business frontage.

The property was sold eleven years ago for $15,000, at which time there were few, if any buildings, within a mile. At the present time the district is building up rapidly.

It Seems Ravenous Burglar For Some Time Has Been Raiding Restaurants

A burglar with a ravenous appetite for pie is being sought by police as the result of a report made to them yesterday by M. Kamada, proprietor of a restaurant at 502 East Seventh street. Kamada stated somebody has entered his place through a skylight and rifled it of all the pies available repeatedly for several weeks. Early yesterday the intruder added to his customary haul by taking $15 worth of canned goods, the proprietor said.

MUSIC STRAINS

Chicago Tribune, Nov. 5.

Chicagoans who like their opera better than their morning toast and coffee were in part responsible yesterday for the largest single seat sale in the history of the Chicago Civic Opera for the opening day's selling. Shortly after 6 a.m. the first ticket purchasers were in the lobby heading the lines that waited until 9 o'clock for the box offices to open.

More than 3000 single seats for the first week of the opera beginning with the second night, were sold, opera headquarters reported last night. The first 100 purchasers bought 301 seats, according to the first hour's record.

PS-S-T! PS-S-T!

Kansas City Star, Nov. 6.

Because he believed it lucky to swing a black cat by its tail over his left shoulder, and he was unfortunate enough to have his cast land in the lap of an unsuspecting man reading a newspaper in a house near by, Charles A. Straner, 16 years old, had to answer a charge of disorderly conduct.

Straner was on his way home one night, when a black cat ran from an alley and across his path. He pursued it and captured the animal. Recalling that the way to assure himself of good luck was to throw the cat over his left shoulder, he gave a might heave.

A policeman patrolling his beat appeared at this time and arrested the youth.

Octopi War to Death

When the recent war between octopi in the Bermuda aquarium ended only one badly battered devil fish remained of what was said to be the finest collection in the world. The curator says the "summer grouch" caused the trouble. During the winter months the octopi lived in peace and harmony, but as the water became warm they grew quarrelsome. Now the specimen boat of the aquarium is scouring the Bermuda reefs and shoals for more exhibits.

Lehigh Rail Chief Called to Tell About "Booze Party" Brookhart Attended

Howell Making Inquiry Into Diplomatic Liquors and Drink Arrests Rise

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. (Exclusive)—President Hoover's promised drive to make Washington the model dry city of the United States is getting into full swing.

Notwithstanding a same start, developments during the past few days indicate that the District of Columbia authorities, aided by Federal prohibition chiefs and volunteers from the States, have made up their minds to give prohibition a serious trial.

Following the appearances yesterday of Senator Brookhart of Iowa before the grand jury, Dist.-Atty. Lowe announced today that E. B. Dennis, president of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, has been summoned to testify about the "booze party" described by Brookhart in his Senate speech of Tuesday.

FAHY WAS HOST

The party, according to Brookhart, was held in a Washington hotel and was given by Walter J. Fahy, a Wall street broker, in 1928. Many business men and Senators were the guests. Liquor was served. Brookhart himself was present, under a misconception of the purpose of the party, and sat between Mr. Loomis and Otto H. Kahn, internationally famous financier.

During the course of the dinner, according to Brookhart, Mr. Loomis took a beautiful silver flask out of his pocket and poured some of its contents into a glass. Brookhart declared that it had "a heavy alcoholic content," because he had to dilute it with water before he could drink it. A lot of similar operations went on around the table, Brookhart said.

No explanation was given by Hoover as to why he has not called Mr. Loomis and some of the Senators who were guests at the Fahy dinner. Perhaps they will be summoned later.
